

Ex Convict 3361

Chapter 3361

Lomell frowned and let out a cold hum before leaving with the children. Nearby, the bodyguards who had come with the children also left with them.

Next, each mother checked their own child's wound and provided necessary education.

Grace and Jason are probably the busiest, as all four of their children were involved in the fight.

Fortunately, the youngest Jasmine only acted as a messenger and did not actually join the "battlefield".

Of course, according to Jasmine, she had originally called for backup and wanted to join the fight, but her sister held her back.

Her sister said that if she participated in the fight, she would be a hindrance and they would have to divide their attention to protect her, which was not worth it.

She thought about it and found it reasonable, so she didn't participate and instead cheered on the sidelines, waving her flag and shouting words of encouragement.

Grace, upon hearing this, couldn't help but feel a mix of amusement and frustration.

However, the youngest daughter didn't rush in to fight, which was a relief for her. After all, Jasmine has always been physically weak, and who knows what the outcome would have been if she had actually joined the fight!

Among the children, Mick was the most seriously injured, while William wasn't doing much better. On the other hand, Mason and Jasper were less severely injured.

Jasper was only slightly injured, thanks to William's protection.

Mason was lightly injured because he is very agile.

Grace was surprised to see Mason joining in the fight, and when she asked her second son why, he simply replied, "Jasmine asked me to help.”

Grace suddenly felt a warmth in her heart. Although Mason is now very aloof towards Grace, he is gradually accepting his family little by little.

Perhaps as Jason said, Mason’s situation will gradually improve with age.

However, although Mason joined the fight, he was not able to completely suppress the other side. This only shows that among those children, there are also some who are skilled in fighting.

“Jasper, you should thank William properly. If he hadn’t protected you today, you could have been hurt!” Grace said to her daughter.

“I got it. Not only do I have to thank William, but I also have to thank my two brothers!” Jasper said, sticking out his tongue and adding, “But today, it was my first time getting into such a big fight!”

To speak of it, it’s quite fresh.

After all, usually just mentioning the name of the Reed family is enough to deter people from laying a hand on her.

Today is also considered as a life experience!

Grace let out a tired sigh and said, “Today, I finally understand how it feels to be a mother when your child gets into a fight with others.”

So, having more children means the amount of worry and concern for them also increases exponentially!

On the other hand, Harley was still lamenting her amusement park.

Chapter 3362

After returning to the villa, when Valda was giving her a bath and washing her hair, she pitifully said, “Mommy, I got into a fight today. Does that mean I can’t go to the amusement park? I really want to go. How about...you give me another task to do? I promise I’ll complete it!”

The little one started bargaining.

Valda looked at her daughter’s pleading expression and said softly, “Mommy and Daddy will take you to the new amusement park, just like we said before.”

“Really?” Harley’s eyes suddenly lit up.

“Yes, really,” Valda said. “Although it was wrong for you to fight today, you did it to protect Mommy. Mommy is very happy. Our Harley is braver than Mommy thought.”

Harley’s little face turned red and she seemed a bit embarrassed. “Mommy really thinks...I’m brave?”

“Yes, our Harley is a brave little one,” Valda said. She was truly impressed that a three-year-old child would rush forward like that to protect her.

“But you can’t fight like that in the future, okay? Because if you get hurt, Mommy will be heartbroken. It will be even more painful than if Mommy gets hurt herself,” Valda added.

Harley immediately said, “I...I won’t fight anymore. I won’t let Mommy be sad.”

“Good girl,” Valda smiled and kissed her daughter’s tender little face.

Of course, how long Harley’s promise would last was anyone’s guess.

In any case, her daughter always made promises very decisively, but could never keep them forever.

After cleaning her daughter, Valda walked out of the bathroom and saw Brian waiting outside.

The little one, upon seeing his father, immediately exclaimed with excitement, “Daddy, mommy promised to take me to the amusement park!”

Brian looked at Valda and asked, “Did you agree?”

“Okay, let’s take her out to play this weekend,” said Valda.

Brian helped his daughter dry her hair and applied medicine afterwards.

The doctor has already examined the little one before, and there are no major issues, only some minor skin injuries.

When getting medicine, the little one kept humming and muttering, saying “Daddy, it hurts, please be gentle, even more gentle...”

Brian looked helpless, his gestures were already as light as possible.

“How come you never thought about the pain when you were fighting?” he asked.

“It hurts, but they were talking bad about mommy, so of course I had to make them apologize to mommy!” In short, even if it hurts, I have to stand up for mommy!

Brian looked at his daughter with a hint of approval in his eyes. Although her fighting caused him headaches, her defense of Valda was commendable.

“So, from now on, let’s protect mommy together,” Brian said to Harley.

The little one blinked and then grinned widely. “Okay, I want to protect mommy with daddy!”

After their daughter fell asleep, Brian and Valda returned to their room. Valda’s face was slightly gloomy, and Brian asked, “Are you still thinking about the fight between the kids today?”

Valda nodded and said, “My leg...I’m afraid it will bring a lot of criticism to Harley in the future.”

Today may have been just the beginning. In the future, how many people will say that her mother is disabled on her daughter’s path to growth? Will Harley have to fight every time?

Valda was actually very distressed by the injuries her daughter suffered today. Fortunately, they were only minor injuries. If they were serious, she didn’t know what to do.

Her leg was incurable and would be like this for the rest of her life!

She thought she had overcome her psychological problems and bravely faced them, but now it was affecting her daughter.

Chapter 3363

"Don't overthink it," Brian said, afraid that Valda would get stuck on the fight. "Harley will know that fighting is useless. There are better ways to make others shut up. And also..."

Brian's voice trailed off as he stared deeply into Valda's eyes. "You are Harley's mother. Without you, there would be no her. She is your daughter, and it's your duty to protect her. Valda, your leg is proof that you saved Jasmine and that you love me enough to sacrifice for me. So don't dwell on it, don't regret it...will you marry me?"

He was afraid that she would feel insecure about her leg and regret being with him.

He had worked hard to open her heart, and he couldn't let her close it again.

Valda looked at Brian's worried face and smiled gently, holding his face in her hands. "Brian, I won't regret it. Marrying you is the best decision I've ever made in my life. I feel happy to have given birth to Harley."

She kissed him on the lips and continued, "Although I know that in the future, Harley may be laughed at because of me, I hope she can become stronger and fearless. And I will also become better, so that fewer and fewer people will laugh at me and more and more people will admire me. They won't laugh at me anymore."

Brian was surprised by Valda's words. He didn't expect her to say that.

Valda had been changing and becoming stronger over the years.

"We will, we will definitely do that in the future!" Brian said softly, picking up Valda and carrying her to the bed.

He carefully placed her on the bed, his eyes burning with love. "Valda, I love you. Whatever happens in the future, we will face it together!"

"Okay, let's face it together," she smiled, her face blushing slightly.

And the rosy hue on her face was undoubtedly the most fatal temptation for him, and he suddenly kissed her lips.

A passionate kiss, completely different from his usual cold and distant demeanor towards others.

His passion was only given to her and his family.

Valda lifted both of her hands and wrapped them around Brian's neck...

The kiss deepened continuously, just like their love for each other, which also grew deeper with the passing of time.

Due to the fight, Tina has been punished for several days. Not only did her parents scold her, but even Chandler scolded her.

And Chandler is also the most well-trained one.

In short, Tina feels very miserable.

"How old are you? You're already thinking about fighting with others. Do you know that asking Jasmine to call for help is not the right thing to do? Why didn't you think about asking Jasmine to directly call us adults for help? All she does is call for people to fight." In the living room of the Stephenson family, Lina is scolding her daughter again.

Chapter 3364

Before, she always thought her daughter just loved to join in the fun, but when faced with danger, she definitely ran faster than anyone else.

However, after this incident, she realized that she had some misconceptions about her daughter.

"I...I'm just trying to help Harley. I can't let him suffer any losses," Tina defended herself.

"Harley is only three years old, how old are you?" Lina said irritably.

"I'm only eight years old," Tina said with a very aggrieved expression, looking at her mother with a "I'm just a baby" look.

Lina was choked and suddenly didn't know what to say.

"Okay, okay, Tina knows she was wrong, so please don't scold her anymore," Hadwin finally spoke up and defended his daughter.

This fight ended relatively peacefully, fortunately it didn't escalate into something bigger.

If things really escalate, it may end up with a direct confrontation between their families and the Crypt families on the other side, and it could get out of control.

“Tina, do you know what you did wrong?” said Hadwin, while gesturing towards his daughter.

Tina, who often makes mistakes, has already reached an understanding with her father in this regard. She quickly nodded her head and said, “I understand, I understand.”

“What should I do if I encounter this kind of situation again in the future?” Hadwin asked again.

“We should fight while asking Jasmine to go find an adult to help!” Tina replied smoothly.

Hadwin wiped his forehead with a sweat, reluctant to admit the fact that his daughter’s intelligence may not meet the standard of being smart.

“Do you still want to fight?” Lina said. “What you should do is stop the fight and take the opportunity to find an adult to resolve this matter.”

“Oh.” Tina quickly obediently responded.

In short, it’s best if Mom doesn’t get angry. But if she does, she’s definitely the one in charge!

“Fortunately, none of you kids got seriously hurt today. Otherwise, you would have seen me beat you up,” said Lina.

When she said those words, Chandler, who was also in the living room, furrowed his brow and spoke up, “This is my fault. I brought those people to the birthday party and I didn’t keep up with Tina.”

At the beginning, he should have realized that those people were usually reckless and taking a few people without anyone to restrain them could easily lead to trouble. However, at that time, Tina and Harley, along with a few other girls, were together, so he didn’t follow them.

If he had been walking beside him at that time, then this incident wouldn’t have happened.

“Right, if Chandler had followed me, this wouldn’t have happened,” Tina quickly agreed.

Her agreement only earned her a bigger eye-roll from Lina. “You have the nerve to say that? Come on, tell me, how many times has Chandler bailed you out of trouble from all the mischief you’ve caused since childhood?”

Tina pouted and said, “Mommy, I’m only 8 years old, I’m not considered grown up yet!”

Lina feels like she’s about to be driven crazy by her daughter. When she tries to teach her daughter a lesson, her daughter even corrects her choice of words.

“In short, you are not allowed to go to the Sleeping Cat Cartoon Exhibition!” Lina concluded bluntly.

Tina suddenly burst into tears!

You should know that Sleeping Cat is a cartoon character that she has been obsessed with for two years. She watches the Sleeping Cat animated series every day and has a lot of Sleeping Cat merchandise at home.

This time, Sleeping Cat is hosting a themed exhibition in Emerald City, and Tina is very excited about it!

Many classmates in her class also planned to go see it, so she naturally didn’t want to miss out.

I also plan to bring all my pocket money from my savings jar, so that I can buy lots and lots of Sleeping Cat merchandise.

If we were to describe Tina as an idol or a fan favorite, she would undoubtedly be a crazy fan of Sleeping Cat.

Chapter 3365

“I’ve already told my classmates that I’m going to see the Sleeping Cat Cartoon Exhibition!” Tina emphasized.

“So you can tell your classmates tomorrow that you’re not going,” said Lina.

“Mummy, you can’t do this. You’re always chasing after those handsome guys yourself! Why won’t you let me go see the Sleeping Cat exhibition?” Tina shouted.

Lina’s expression changed and she glanced at her husband from the corner of her eye before saying, “Nonsense, my mom doesn’t go around chasing after handsome guys!”

“Why not? Just a few days ago, I saw Mom secretly taking out a photo album of handsome guys from the safe in the closet!” Tina retorted bluntly.

Lina is sweating profusely. Please, when did your daughter see it?

"I remember there was a name on the cover, in the middle of the word, but I don't recognize it," Tina said, trying to recall.

"Hubery Fidel," said Hadwin. He glanced at his wife and then smiled slightly. "Lina, come with me to the study. Let's talk about something important."

Recently, within the past year, my wife has gained another idol named Hubery Fidel. He only became popular in middle age, and although he is already in his thirties, he looks young due to good maintenance. He is talented in singing, dancing, and acting, and my wife praises him as a great example of hard work paying off.

Over the years, Hadwin has become somewhat numb to his wife's idol worship.

Anyway, my wife has this hobby and there's no way to change it. He knew about this little hobby of hers since the beginning of their relationship.

Sometimes, it just leaves a bad taste in your mouth!

Lina had a pained expression on her face as she followed Hadwin to the study. As they walked, she said, "Hadwin, Tina actually didn't see the whole picture. The truth of the matter is this..."

When they arrived at the study, Hadwin closed the door and calmly asked, "Oh? So what's the truth? I remember you promised me not to buy Hubery's photo album a while ago."

"Well...one day I happened to pass by a bookstore and saw it, so I bought it," she said with an awkward smile.

"Oh, you didn't buy it on purpose?" Hadwin raised his eyebrows.

"Absolutely not!" She quickly assured him.

"Then tell me, which day did you buy it and from which bookstore? I remember Hubery's photo album this time was a limited edition, and it was sold out as soon as it came out. Which bookstore is so powerful to still have stock?" Hadwin asked.

Lina was dumbfounded, "You...you know about this too?" She had originally wanted to brush it off, but it was clear that her husband knew everything!

Hadwin approached Lina and said, "My wife loves Hubery so much, so as her husband, I naturally have to know more about it."

Lina chuckled dryly.

Chapter 3366

Hadwin approached Lina, and one hand wrapped around her waist. "Alright, now tell me, how did you get this photo album?"

"Um..." Lina had to confess honestly, "I bought it from a scalper." She couldn't get it otherwise.

"A scalper?" Hadwin couldn't help but laugh, "How much did you pay for it?"

"I added...um, 3800. You have no idea how difficult it was to bargain. The scalper had raised the price so high, but I managed to negotiate and bring it down by 200 yuan. The original price was 4000 yuan, can you believe it? It wasn't easy for me to chase after a celebrity like this." As Lina continued speaking, she began to ramble on about the difficulties of bargaining.

Tina tends to digress into other topics while speaking, and this trait has actually been inherited by Lina as well.

"You're quite generous, letting the scalpers earn 3800 from you for Hubery," said Hadwin in a soft tone.

Lina suddenly stopped talking and looked at her husband like that. Could it be... he's jealous!

"Oh, it was just a small amount of money," Lina said sheepishly. "I promise, I won't spend money on Hubery anymore. From now on, the only man I'll let spend money on me is my husband!"

"Really?" He stared at her.

She thought for a moment, then licked her lips and added, "And my dad too, hehe."

He looked at her appearance and felt helpless again.

After being married for many years, how could he not see that she was just trying to coax him with her words? She wanted him to stop spending money on those idols in the future, which was simply too difficult!

And he also didn't want to deprive her of that little bit of fun.

For him, that's the complete Lina, right? She's a fan of celebrities, she's clever in her own way, sometimes she says surprising things, and other times she stubbornly throws tantrums...

Whether it's what he loves about her or what makes him angry, he can't bear to erase that part of her true personality.

"Promise me that if you ever become a fan of someone, you won't hide it from me or secretly collect photo albums. If I catch you doing it again, I'll have everything sold online," said Hadwin.

"I promise, I promise, I won't hide anything from you in the future,"

Lina quickly said, and hugged her dear husband's neck with both hands. She stood on her tiptoes and gave him two big kisses on his cheek, "I knew my husband is the best, so generous and understanding! I'm so lucky to have you as my husband, it's like a blessing from several lifetimes!"

Hadwin couldn't help but laugh and cry at the same time.

However, he felt quite pleased with the flattery from his wife!

In the living room, Tina looked at Chandler pitifully and said,

"Chandler, would you take me to the Sleeping Cat exhibition?"

Anyway, as long as Chandler agrees, then Mom and Dad will definitely agree in the end.

Chandler looked at the pitiful figure in front of him, with dark eyes that now seemed to have a layer of watery sheen. "I didn't let you go to the exhibition to teach you a lesson. Next time, think before you act and don't rush into a fight."

"I...I didn't act without thinking. I thought it through before rushing up there. Besides, didn't I also ask Jasmine to call for help?" she muttered quietly.

Chapter 3367

"Is this the result of your thinking?" he said, raising his hand and poking the still visible bruise on her face.

"Ah, it hurts... hurts..." she couldn't help but cry out in pain. She was already so pitiful, yet he still poked her!

"I know it hurts. In the future, when you encounter situations like this, don't rush into it easily. If you want to protect Harley, there are other ways to do it," he said. These days, every time he saw her injuries, he felt guilty.

If he had followed her closely at that time, this incident would not have happened.

"Oh." Tina obediently responded, then snuggled up to Chandler and began to act cute. "Chandler, can you take me with you? I know you're the best to me, you'll definitely say yes, right?"

Chandler pursed his thin lips. He is now 15 years old and no longer a little boy. Although Tina is only 8 years old, she is his destined wife.

From the moment she was born, he has been tirelessly caring for her.

He originally thought that he would marry her in the future because she was the one who was most suitable for him in the world, according to the prophecy of their family!

But over the years, he realized that he had unknowingly invested much more emotions in her than he had thought, under the guise of care.

Her wishes, he will find a way to help her achieve them. If she gets into trouble, he will clean up the mess for her. All of these things are actually quite different from what he initially expected.

But he doesn't reject it, in fact, he even feels grateful that she is the one destined to spend her life with him. It's wonderful!

If he had her by his side for his whole life, he wouldn't feel too lonely.

"Will you fight again next time?" Chandler asked.

"No more fighting, I promise!" Tina quickly replied.

"What will you do if something like this happens again?" he continued.

"Find mommy and daddy, find an adult!" she answered quickly.

He raised an eyebrow, clearly unsatisfied with her answer.

She looked at his expression and suddenly thought of something, quickly adding, "And find you!"

Only then was he satisfied, raising his hand to tap her forehead. "Don't forget next time."

Tina pouted and rubbed the spot where he tapped her, "I won't forget..."

But inside, she was overjoyed. Oh, she was going to the Sleeping Cat exhibition!

During the weekend, Chandler took Tina to the Sleeping Cat exhibition, and Hadwin and Lina didn't have any objections to this.

After all, Chandler is now 15 years old and has always been mature and responsible. Hadwin and Lina, as his parents, trust him to take care of their daughter.

Moreover, Chandler has Hunter's bodyguard by his side, so if anything happens, Hunter's bodyguard can also intervene.

Tina was very excited early in the morning. She even changed into her new dress and brought a small bag with her. The bag was filled with the pocket money she took out from her piggy bank.

In order to prevent her daughter from developing poor money habits and spending recklessly from a young age, Lina has always been quite restrained in this regard. She has not given her daughter any credit cards or similar items, and instead follows the typical approach of providing her daughter with a set amount of pocket money each month. If the money runs out, her daughter can apply for a portion of the next month's allowance.

However, on the other hand, next month's pocket money will be deducted by this amount.

Chapter 3368

So compared to other wealthy kids, my daughter is quite restrained when it comes to spending money. She doesn't spend recklessly and even saves her extra pocket money in a piggy bank every month.

Of course, if Tina comes across something she wants but can't afford with her pocket money, she'll naturally act cute and ask her dad and Chandler to buy it for her.

Lina probably doesn't buy into Tina's act, so Tina didn't want to bother her dear mother.

As soon as Tina arrived at the exhibition hall, her eyes lit up.

There were so many cute Sleeping Cat items, she didn't know what to do. She wanted so many things! But since she only had her pocket money, Tina felt she needed a sponsor.

And her friend Chandler was the best sponsor she could ask for!

"Chandler," Tina flashed him a bright smile.

Seeing her expression, Chandler knew she wanted something. "What is it? Do you want me to buy you some Sleeping Cat items?"

"I knew it! Chandler is so smart! No wonder so many girls in our class like you. They even asked me for your phone number so they could call you!" Tina quickly flattered him.

Chandler's face darkened at the mention of the other girls. "So you accepted their gifts and sold me out?"

Tina immediately denied it. “No, I didn’t! I didn’t give them your phone number.”

“But you gave them my email address!” He pointed out the fact mercilessly.

She shrunk her neck a bit, but still tried to explain, “They all gave me Sleeping Cat toys.” She just couldn’t refuse!

You should know that Sleeping Cat is just too tempting for her.

“However, Laura Mond also wants your email address, but even if she gives me more Sleeping Cat stuff, I won’t give it to her,” she said.

Chandler is speechless.

He naturally knew that she and the daughter of Mond Group were not on good terms, and the two even got into a fight at school.

However, fights between little girls naturally don’t have much impact.

But if we talk about the person she dislikes the most in school, then it’s definitely Laura Mond!

As the two were browsing, they came across a display case. Tina spotted a set of limited edition Sleeping Cat stamps inside the case.

Tina’s eyes lit up. She had seen this set of stamps online before and had wanted it badly.

However, due to its limited edition, when she saw the price, she was taken aback. The price was not something she could afford with her pocket money.

“Chandler, can you help me buy it? I really like this set of stamps!

But it’s so expensive, I can’t afford it,” Tina said, acting cute towards Chandler.

The price of this seal is nothing to Chandler. "If you buy it, you can't tell your classmates any of my information anymore," he said.

"Okay, I promise!" She quickly reassured.

Anyway, it's as simple for her as eating vegetables.

Chandler walked up to a nearby staff member and said, "Can you help me pack up this set of stamps...?"

Just as he was about to finish speaking, another little girl's voice rose up, "I want this stamp set!"

Chandler turned his head and looked at the other person. He squinted slightly and recognized the little girl as Laura Mond, whom Tina had mentioned earlier.

As soon as Tina saw Laura Mond, she reacted like a startled little kitten, "Laura Mond, why do you always have to take my things!"

"What are you doing with that thing? You haven't paid for it!" Laura Mond said, her eyes fixed on Chandler.

Chapter 3369

Tina's older brother is famous throughout the class! Many girls in the class like him because he is even more handsome than a movie star!

If only she had a big brother like this too!

She would definitely become the envy of all the girls in the class... no, the whole school.

Unfortunately, she has a brother, but he doesn't look as good as she does!

Last time she was thinking of giving Tina something for Sleeping Cat, and asked Tina to give her this big brother's email address.

But Tina accepted everyone's Sleeping Cat except hers! She was really angry about it!

"If big brother likes it, then I can give this set of stamps to Tina!"

Laura smiled at Chandler, hoping to appear cute and obedient in his eyes.

Chandler seemed uninterested after just glancing at Laura Mond, saying “Let? Why do you need to let Tina have what she wants?” Just a simple sentence, and Laura’s expression froze instantly.

“Wrap it up,” Chandler said to the nearby staff member.

The staff was about to respond, but Laura interrupted loudly, “Since you don’t want to give it to me, then I’ll buy this set of seals.

No matter how many sets there are, I want them all! Lonny, help me buy them!”

Today, the butler of the Mond family is accompanying Laura.

Upon hearing this, Lonny stepped forward and said to the staff, “My miss wants all the sets of this stamp that are left in the venue.”

The staff looked hesitant and said, “There is only one set of this stamp, and it’s a limited edition. Many people have bought it, and it’s unlikely that we can get more from other places.”

In other words, it’s sold out.

Laura became even more determined to get this stamp, and Tina was also nervous, afraid that someone else might take it.

If someone else took it, it would be fine, but they couldn’t let Laura take it!

In Tina’s opinion, Laura always tries to cause trouble. Once during an exam, Tina kindly showed her the answer, but because she used a different method from the teacher for that question, although the answer was correct, it was different from the other students’ methods.

Only she and Laura had different answers on their exam papers, so the teacher asked them about it. However, before Tina could say anything, Laura accused her of copying her answers.

That incident caused a rift between Tina and Laura!

Fortunately, later on, Tina explained her thought process to the teacher, and Laura couldn't explain hers, so the truth was revealed!

But since then, Tina never looked at Laura kindly again.

"I'll take this set of seals for my young lady," Lonny said to the staff. "My young lady's father is in charge of Mond Group and is an old friend of Vice President Gary from your company. We've already discussed this set of seals with Vice President Gary before and asked him to help us reserve it."

Chapter 3370

Lonny is saying this right now to both assert his dominance and to strengthen his relationship with the other person.

As expected, upon hearing these words, the staff's expression immediately changed. They turned to Chandler and Tina and said, "I'm sorry, but this set of stamps has already been reserved by another customer."

How could Chandler not see that the so-called pre-order was just a cover-up? "When I asked for this set of stamps before, I never heard you say it was a pre-order."

"That's something we forgot to mention, sorry," said the staff member.

Laura looked smugly at Tina and even lifted her chin, which made Tina so angry that her cheeks puffed up.

Lonny watched Chandler and Tina calmly. The Stephenson family's White Maple Group has many businesses that often overlap with Mond Group. The two companies frequently compete for business in the entire industry.

Simply put, most of White Maple Group's business was not in Emerald City before. Therefore, even though there were some conflicts, they were not too severe. However, in recent years, White Maple Group has shifted many of its businesses to Emerald City, making the competition with Mond Group even more intense.

The master is aware of the tension between Laura and Tina, but has never considered resolving it. He intends to let it be and not interfere.

And now, Laura wants to compete for the seal. Although it's just a small thing, getting it would make Laura happy and put pressure on the Stephenson family. Surely, the master would also approve!

However...the Mond family has never been able to figure out the background of the young man beside Tina.

The Mond family sees the Stephenson family as their competitors and they have naturally gathered information about the people and events related to the Stephenson family.

So Lonny knows that the boy in front of him is named Chandler and has a close relationship with the Stephenson family. He has been with the Stephenson family since Tina was born.

Moreover, Chandler and Tina are very close. He even heard a rumor that Tina is Chandler's stepdaughter, but he doesn't know if it's true or not.

But thinking about a family like the Stephenson family, would they really give away their only treasure to be someone else's child bride? It seems highly unlikely!

The staff is now packing up the seal to give to Laura.

Even though Tina was angry, she could only reluctantly accept it. She hung her head low, like a defeated little animal, and pulled Chandler away.

Chandler glanced at Tina and then looked up at Lonny. "So, if it's pre-booked, it's all good, right?"

"Of course!" Lonny replied.

Chandler said to the staff, "So, can you ask your Vice President Gary to come over and clarify whether this set of stamps has been reserved or not?"

When the staff heard this, they were immediately overwhelmed.

Bring Vice President Gary over? Who is this boy to summon Vice President Gary with just one word?

Even Lonny was taken aback for a moment, but then couldn't help but burst out laughing, his eyes full of mockery. "Young man, you really don't know your place!" he said, and then prepared to take the seal handed to him by the staff.

"Wait a minute," said Chandler. "I said, let's wait for Vice President Gary to come over and tell us whether this box of seals has been reserved or not."

"Joke, do you think just because you said Vice President Gary will come, he will actually come?" Lonny scolded, reaching out to grab the stamp.

But in the next moment, a stranger suddenly appeared and directly stopped Lonny's hand.
