

Ex Convict 4041

Chapter 4041

Mason's moves are fast, fierce, and accurate, with no unnecessary fancy moves, going straight for the vital parts.

Naturally, Pearl's moves also have this flavor.

Fortunately, Pearl is not the kind of child who acts recklessly. On the contrary, at a young age, she is sensible enough to make Jasper, an adult, amazed.

"By the way, I see that Pearl seems to really enjoy being a big sister. Have you considered having another child?" Jasper asked.

"I want to, but Mason doesn't want to," Veronica said. It's probably because of her traumatic experience during childbirth that he worries about any accidents if she were to have another child.

Especially after Nancy almost lost her life giving birth, Mason became even more opposed to having another child.

This has caused Veronica a lot of headaches.

She hopes that at least one family can have two children, and Pearl also wants a younger brother or sister.

But unfortunately, her husband disagrees. Every time they have S, Mason takes full responsibility for contraception.

"Our men are just cowards, but this is proof that they love their wives," Jasper laughed.

It seems that the matter of Veronica having a second child is still a long way off!

As for the eldest brother... I'm afraid he is even less willing to have a second child than Mason, given what his wife went through during childbirth.

Who knows, maybe this heavy responsibility will fall on my shoulders.

But how many children does she want to have? Two? Three?

Jasper used to like children, and as the number of the next generation in the family gradually increases, she also has the urge to have a baby.

If she had a child with William, it would definitely be very cute!

Time passed day by day, Nancy's body gradually recovered, and Sophia grew up day by day, becoming stronger and healthier. Although she seemed to cry more easily at night than other children, she was still getting better.

The little one's big movements also kept up with her developmental level, and every check-up received good feedback from the doctor, which finally made Nancy feel more at ease.

Half a year passed in the blink of an eye, and the wedding was getting closer and closer.

Naturally, this wedding also received various attention from the outside world.

After all, this was the wedding of the eldest son of the Reed family.

Although it is still unknown who Jason of the Reed Group will hand over to, Mick's outstanding ability alone has already stabilized half of the Reed Group's power.

Many people even believe that with Mick's talent, even if he goes solo, he could create a business that is no less than the Reed Group.

Just the countless patents in Mick's hands are enough to make people envious.

As a computer genius, Mick established the computer system and cloud computing strategy of the Reed Group during his university years. There are always many hackers who like to challenge the Reed Group's firewall, but so far, no one has succeeded.

Based on these things alone, Mick's reputation as a genius is already established.

On the day of the wedding, when Nancy put on that pure white floor-length wedding dress and looked at herself in the mirror, she suddenly felt a sense of trance.

Did she really...marry that man who was once out of reach?

She once thought that her life was only dark, and even when she chose to jump off the cliff, she was determined to die.

However, everything that happened afterwards seemed like a dream.

She gave birth to a daughter and married Mick. It was so beautiful, yet so unreal.

Chapter 4042

"What's wrong?" a voice asked.

Nancy turned abruptly and realized that they were alone in the dressing room. Everyone else had left without her noticing.

"I just feel like I'm dreaming," she said with a smile.

"What feels like a dream? Our wedding, being married to me, or falling in love with me?" he asked.

"All of it, and the fact that you love me too. It all feels like a dream," she replied.

"It's not a dream! And don't you dare think it is!" Mick held Nancy's face in his hands. "I love you because you're worth loving. I only regret that I didn't realize it sooner."

If only he had understood his feelings earlier, would she have suffered less?

"It was my mistake back then," Nancy said.

She shouldn't have taken advantage of his feelings for her just to seek revenge for her mother.

So, his subsequent coldness towards her was her own fault.

"Let's not dwell on the past," Mick said. "Thank you for marrying me and giving me such a lovely daughter."

Her response was a passionate kiss.

The wedding begins.

As the eldest son of the Reed family, the wedding is naturally grand.

Most of the guests present are also well-known celebrities.

This kind of scene is probably hard to come by on a regular basis.

Nancy holds the bouquet and walks step by step towards Mick on the stage in the banquet hall.

He is the man she loves, the man who is willing to give everything to love her!

"Mother, can you see me now? I am doing well and I am happy!" Nancy silently says in her heart.

Her mother passed away unexpectedly.

And now, the Schultz family, who had buried the truth about her mother's death, has also been punished.

Her mother can now rest assured and leave peacefully.

Mick stands on the stage in the banquet hall, looking at Nancy with a gentle expression.

As she approaches him, he reaches out his hand to her.

Nancy walks up to Mick and places her hand in his.

He takes her hand and they approach the officiant.

"I, Mick, will love Nancy for the rest of my life, through thick and thin, and she will be the only one for me!" Mick speaks his wedding vows.

Although it was short, no one would question the authenticity of his oath.

People like him, once they make a promise, always keep their word!

"I, Nancy, will love Mick for the rest of my life, never leaving or abandoning him, he is the only one for me!" Nancy made the same oath, but added one more sentence at the end, "Being able to spend my life with you is the greatest happiness for me, I love you!"

After saying this, Nancy tiptoed and hugged Mick's neck, kissing him.

Mick naturally held her waist and kissed her back passionately.

Anyone could see the love between the two.

When the newlyweds bowed to their elders, Mick and Nancy also bowed deeply to Miss Fowler.

This bow was to thank Miss Fowler for saving Nancy and her unborn child.

This bow represented that Miss Fowler was like family to them.

This bow also showed everyone that this old woman had a high status in the Reed family.

Chapter 4043

Miss Fowler nodded repeatedly, tears in her eyes.

Originally, she just pitied Nancy and did everything she could to save her, knowing that every life was precious.

But who could have thought that she would receive such a reward.

Although she had no children of her own, she now had Nancy's child, which was worth it!

At one of the tables at the wedding banquet sat Grace's friend Lina and her family, including their daughter Tina, who is now a 20-year-old young woman.

Tina's appearance is a blend of Lina and Hadwin's features. Her oval face and dark round eyes, tied up in a simple ponytail, make her look cute and lovely.

There is a hint of elegance in her eyebrows, but her eyes soften that elegance.

However, if she were to enhance her eyes with eyeliner to make them look narrower, it would highlight that elegance.

Recently, Tina has taken a liking to cosplay. Because of her height, which is 170cm, she cross-dresses as a man, and she can't get enough of it, thanks to her friends' encouragement.

As a result, Tina has been doing well in this circle. Whenever she has free time, she takes a few cosplay photos or videos and posts them online, and she has gained quite a few fans.

However, Tina's personality is completely different from the beautiful men she cosplays as.

In the words of her friend Eugenia Ma*sy, if Tina's fans knew what her true personality was like, half of them would probably be disappointed!

The real Tina is nothing like the characters she cosplays as, who are either cold, arrogant, or crazy.

Instead... she loves beautiful people, regardless of gender. For Tina, as long as they are beautiful, that's all that matters.

And once she gets to know a beautiful person, she likes to tease them. Eugenia herself has not escaped Tina's clutches and has been teased by her countless times.

Fortunately, Eugenia has gotten used to it over time.

Tina also likes to have a crush on beautiful people. Even though she already has a stunning fiancé like Chandler by her side, she still likes to idolize celebrities.

Eugenia once said, "If God gave me an unmarried husband like Chandler, I wouldn't look at any other man."

But Tina replied, "Wouldn't that be too boring? Beauty is meant to be appreciated in abundance!"

"Aren't you afraid your fiancé will get jealous?"

"Chandler is very understanding, he can handle it!"

"Understand my a*s!" Eugenia thought to herself. In Eugenia's eyes, Chandler was extremely good-looking and treated Tina well, but deep down...well, he was sly!

This kind of man could only be a friend. If he became an enemy, it would be too scary!

If Chandler ever started to care, Tina would probably suffer!

At the moment, Eugenia was sending messages to Tina, reminding her, "Don't forget to get Kit's autograph for me. If you don't get it for me, we're done tomorrow!"

Kit was a member of a new idol group and also Eugenia's current favorite idol.

Kit's real name was Kit Ingram, and his family was also a prominent one. He was invited to attend the Reed family's wedding, so Eugenia asked Tina to get his autograph for her.

"Got it, don't worry. I want Kit's autograph for myself too!" Tina replied to her friend's message.

"Thanks, sis. But aren't you afraid Chandler will get jealous if you also get Kit's autograph?"

"Haha, impossible. If Chandler really gets jealous, I want to see it!" Tina replied.

Chapter 4044

Just then, a low and rough voice came from beside her, "Who are you texting?"

Tina turned her head and saw a handsome face that she had been looking at for 20 years. He had been by her side since the moment she was born.

After she had memories, there were three people who were the most familiar to her: Daddy, Mommy, and Chandler!

"I was texting with Eugenia!" Tina said, putting away her phone and looking back at the newlyweds toasting along the table.

"I never thought Mick would get married so early. I thought he would be at least 30 years old before getting married."

Even if Mick didn't get married, Tina wouldn't be too surprised. After all, Mick had never shown any interest in girls before, and she always thought he was quite ascetic.

"When you meet the right person, it doesn't matter when you get married," Chandler said.

"But how do you know if the person you meet is the right one?" Tina muttered.

Chandler furrowed his brows slightly, his eyelids drooping. "Everyone has different standards of judgment, so everyone's answer may not be the same."

So what are his standards of judgment?

Tina really wanted to ask Chandler this!

Chandler had always been the person she was closest to besides her parents.

Their engagement had been arranged before she was born.

Although her parents and he didn't explain it to her in detail, she could piece together some of the past from her elders.

It was said that her mother had a difficult delivery when she was born, and the doctors were helpless.

At that time, they had to choose between saving the mother or the child.

Her mother still wanted to save the child, but her father wanted to save her mother.

Of course, Tina had no objections to this, as she understood that even though her father loved her, the person he loved the most was her mother.

It was because her father loved her mother that he had her with him.

And it was at that time that Chandler suddenly appeared, offering to help her mother keep the child, but only if her father agreed to marry him and promised that the child in her mother's womb would marry him in the future.

This strange request was not only strange to her father at the time, but even Tina found it strange.
After all, Chandler was only 8 years old at the time.

An 8-year-old child... thinking of finding a bride for himself was a bit strange no matter how you thought about it.

But for her father at the time, this was the last straw, so he agreed.

And so, she had been engaged to Chandler since birth.

Of course, Tina also found it strange why Chandler wanted to be engaged to her. He even firmly believed that she was a girl in her mother's womb.

And every time she curiously asked him about it, he just sneered, "You'll understand in the future."

What kind of future was he talking about?

She had heard this sentence so many times that she gradually stopped delving into this issue.

Chapter 4045

Speaking of which, this was also a good trait in Tina's character. When she didn't have an answer to something, she wouldn't obsess over it and wouldn't try to understand it immediately.

She believed that there would be a solution when the time came, and she would understand it in the future.

As the wedding reception drew to a close, Tina began to feel restless. Her gaze began to follow Kit, who was not far away. When she saw Kit stand up, Tina immediately stood up as well and said to her parents,
"Mom, Dad, I'm going to find someone. I'll be back soon."

"Huh? Who are you going to find?" Lina hadn't finished her sentence before her daughter had already rushed off.

Meanwhile, Chandler also stood up and followed Tina's figure.

With Chandler following her, Lina breathed a sigh of relief.

"With Chandler here, nothing will go wrong," Hadwin said to his wife.

"Tina is impulsive. If Chandler wasn't here, who knows how many people she would offend. I just hope she can behave herself today and not cause any trouble," Lina muttered.

After all, many of the people who came here today were important figures. If her daughter really got into a conflict with someone, it would not end well.

“Even if she does offend someone, there’s nothing to be afraid of,” Hadwin didn’t seem to care.

After all, he was the head of the Stephenson family and had the White Maple Group in his hands. He naturally wouldn’t be afraid of others.

If his daughter really made a mess, he would help clean it up!

In no time, Tina had reached her target – Kit.

“Hi Kit, I’m Tina. I’m a big fan of yours and I’m so happy to meet you here today!” Tina greeted him.

“Hello,” Kit politely smiled and responded.

Most of the guests who were able to attend this wedding had some background, so even though Kit didn’t know Tina, he didn’t treat her like an ordinary person.

“My friend and I both really like you. If it’s possible, could you give us your autograph? One for me and one for my friend,” Tina continued.

“Of course,” Kit said.

Tina quickly took out the autograph paper and pen she had prepared beforehand.

“Write “TO Eugenia’ on one, and “TO Tina’ on the other.” Tina smiled sweetly.

Kit skillfully wrote on the autograph paper according to Tina’s request.

Meanwhile, Tina naturally admired the “beauty” of the person in front of her.

Kit’s appearance is different from Chandler’s strikingly deep and handsome looks, leaning more towards delicate and elegant.

The two can be described as one having a bold makeup style, and the other having a light makeup style.

At the moment, Kit did not wear heavy makeup like on stage to highlight the stage effect. He looked a bit more approachable, like a boy next door.

“Why are you staring at others?” Suddenly, a voice sounded in Tina’s ear.

Tina looked up and saw that Chandler had walked up to her without her noticing.

"I want an autograph!" Tina said confidently.

At the same time, a middle-aged man who had been standing next to Kit spoke up, "Mr. Hunter, nice to meet you."

Chandler looked up and said to the middle-aged man, "Mr. Ingram, nice to meet you."

While the two were chatting, Kit had already finished signing and handed the autograph paper and pen to Tina.

Chapter 4046

"And who is this..." Mr. Ingram's gaze turned to Tina.

"She's my fiancée, Tina." Chandler introduced.

"So this is Miss Stephenson!" Mr. Ingram seemed to know about Chandler's engagement to the Stephenson family, but had never met Tina before.

Hearing Chandler's introduction, he finally felt like he was meeting her in person.

"Hello, Uncle Ingram. You can call me Tina," Tina greeted him gracefully.

Mr. Ingram immediately responded with a smile, "I didn't expect Tina to be a fan of our Kit. If you ever want tickets to Kit's concert, just ask."

Tina's eyes lit up at the mention of Kit, but Kit's eyelashes trembled slightly and his eyes drooped, hiding the disgust that flashed across them.

"We have the autograph, let's go," Chandler said to Tina.

"Oh," Tina replied, but before leaving, she didn't forget to say to Kit, "Kit, I will continue to support you!"

After Chandler and Tina left, Kit no longer concealed the disgust in his eyes.

"I didn't expect the Stephenson family's daughter to be your fan," Mr. Ingram looked at his son with satisfaction. "I heard Hadwin dotes on his daughter!"

"She's just a fangirl," Kit said, ignoring her completely if it weren't for the occasion.

"She's just a little girl. It's natural to get excited when she sees her idol," Mr. Ingram patted his son's shoulder. "If you have the chance, you can get closer to this little girl. If she speaks well of our company, we might be able to collaborate with the Stephenson family in the future."

"I understand," Kit said calmly.

For him, building a good relationship with this little girl was not difficult.

Since he was young, he knew how to use his appearance to achieve his goals faster, and as he grew older, he became more skilled at it.

"You're really my good son," Mr. Ingram said with a smile. "But while you're building a good relationship with that girl, remember not to get too close. After all, she's Chandler's fiancée, and Hunter is someone we can't afford to offend."

Hunter from the Crypt families is not well-known. He has always been behind the scenes and rarely appears in public.

However, in recent years, Chandler has gradually stepped into the limelight and attended many events. This has led some people to speculate whether Hunter intends to move from behind the scenes to the forefront.

But the industries that Chandler manages for Hunter in public.

are only a part of Hunter's true wealth, and no one knows exactly how much it is.

That's why Mr. Ingram reminded his son not to get involved with Chandler because of Tina's relationship.

Kit sneered. He has no interest in Tina, so he naturally won't get involved with Chandler.

But... Chandler's image flashed through his mind.

Reserved and unfathomable! This was his first impression of Chandler.

If even his father said not to mess with him, then Chandler must be extraordinary.

Why would such a man choose a shallow woman like Tina as his fiancée?

Is it because of Tina's background?

It seems that having a good birth is really better than anything else.

Chapter 4047

Tina and Chandler returned to their table, but Iladwin and Lina were not there. They must have gone to chat with friends.

Tina sat in her chair, holding her phone and happily taking a picture of the autograph she just received to send to her friend Eugenia.

"Are you really that happy with just one autograph?" Chandler asked.

"Of course, Kit's signature is now worth a fortune! If it were sold online, it could easily fetch several thousand dollars," Tina said.

Despite the Stephenson family's wealth, Tina did not have the habit of spending money recklessly like a spoiled rich girl. Her concept of money was actually quite similar to that of an ordinary person.

Of course, this was also due to the education she received from her mother, Lina. Lina herself came from an ordinary family, and even though Hadwin was very wealthy, Lina still insisted on spending money where it was necessary and saving where it was possible.

Even when Tina was in elementary school, Lina had set a rule for her allowance. At first, she gave Tina 100 yuan per week to spend as she pleased, but she wouldn't give her any more if she went over that amount.

Later on, although Tina's allowance increased as she grew older, it was still only at the level of an ordinary person who was slightly better off. She never reached the point where she could spend money recklessly.

Of course, Tina's daily expenses for food, clothing, and other necessities were not paid for with her own allowance.

So whenever Tina was "broke," she would go to her father and Chandler, the two big wallets, to help her out of her financial difficulties.

"Several thousand dollars is worth getting so excited about?" Chandler asked.

Tina sighed and looked at Chandler with a limited understanding of the value of things. "You don't know how much money means to us poor people."

It was a bit funny to hear this from the mouth of the Stephenson family's daughter.

But Chandler knew exactly how much money Tina had in her pocket. "Just tell me what you want to buy. You don't have to pay for it."

"Hehe, I knew you were the best to me, the most generous. Love you!" Tina said happily.

Chandler's eyes flickered. He knew that Tina's "love you" was just a figure of speech. Over the years, she had always accepted his identity as her fiancé so naturally, stayed by his side so naturally, and called him "Chandler brother" so naturally.

He was by her side from the moment she opened her eyes.

Later on, no matter how busy he was, he would visit her at the Stephenson family every few days.

They were intimate and never avoided anything, but...today, he still couldn't figure out what kind of feelings she had for him.

Regardless of what those feelings were, he wouldn't let go of her.

"Tina, I'm not generous," Chandler suddenly said, "I'm quite petty about some things, so no matter what happens, don't cross my bottom line, okay?"

Tina blinked, "What...is your bottom line?"

He raised his hand and gently stroked her forehead, "No matter how many people you're interested in, the one you'll truly fall in love with can only be me."

His deep voice made Tina feel a bit dazed.

It was like he was telling her that no matter how she messed around outside and got entangled with other people, it didn't matter as long as she eventually returned to him.

But...why was he so persistent about this?

Was it because he loved her?

But their engagement wasn't initially because of love, was it?

After all, an 8-year-old boy couldn't possibly fall in love with a tiny baby, who hadn't even been born yet.

Tina only knew that he wouldn't tell her these answers now, so she would wait until the day he was willing to say it, and then she would understand why!

Chapter 4048

Mick and Nancy's wedding ended, and their new home was set up in Mick's private villa.

As for their daughter, she was taken care of by Grace and the nanny at the Reed family's place tonight. When it was quiet late at night, the new home finally calmed down.

"Finally, it's just the two of us." Mick said softly, "You must be tired today. Your body has just recovered not long ago, and we've been busy all day."

"Even if I'm a little tired, I'm still very happy." Nancy smiled.

With such a grand wedding, she felt like a princess, welcoming her prince charming.

Everything felt like a dream.

Mick suddenly picked up Nancy.

"Ah!" She exclaimed, instinctively wrapping her arms around Mick's neck.

He carried her to the bed.

Nancy turned her head to look at the bed, her face blushing slightly.

"Today is our wedding night." Mick's voice became hoarse, "So you need to be mentally prepared."

"What kind of mental preparation?" Nancy was confused.

"It means..." He paused, gently placing her on the bed and pulling down the zipper of her wedding dress, "Tonight, I won't just want you once."

Nancy's face instantly turned even redder!

During this period, he restrained himself and refrained from having Sual relations with her, fearing that it would affect her recovery. Sometimes, they could go for a week or two without any intimacy.

As a result, she even thought that he had lost interest in her, and her mind was filled with various unfounded thoughts.

Fortunately, the misunderstanding was eventually cleared up.

Although she assured him that everything was fine, her doctor had checked her physical condition and confirmed that normal Sual activity between husband and wife was completely possible.

However, he still restrained himself.

Even during S, he was always gentle and considerate, and after she was satisfied, he would quickly end it.

It was as if he was just trying to please her.

At this moment, Nancy's wedding dress slipped off in no time.

Her skin was exposed under the light, and it caught his eye.

He was completely absorbed, kissing every inch of her skin.

Every inch belonged to him, and he was so infatuated with her.

He had never thought that he would be so infatuated with a woman before. Even his father and younger brother had their own loved ones, but he still thought he would be the exception.

Because he didn't think there was a woman who could truly make him fall in love.

But when he met her, he realized that a person could quickly enter his heart, make him worry, make him feel pain, and make him want to do something for her.

When she fell off the cliff, his pain almost engulfed him completely.

If she didn't survive, then perhaps even if he lived, he would only be a madman.

Chapter 4049

"Nancy, I love you!" he whispered.

"I love you too! I will only love you for the rest of my life." She responded, holding his face and kissing him actively.

That night, Nancy witnessed Mick's great energy, which made her want to take back her previous words.

She had actually doubted whether her husband's "energy" was lacking due to work before.

It was simply impossible!

The next day, Nancy woke up with a sore back.

"Do you want to sleep a little longer?" Mick asked. He seemed to be full of energy compared to her, who felt sore even lifting her arm.

"No, I'll freshen up. We have to go back to the mansion today." Nancy said.

They had the wedding yesterday, and if they arrived too late today, it would seem like she didn't understand etiquette – even though the Reed family didn't really care about these things.

"Okay, you decide." Mick didn't say anything more.

Nancy got out of bed and headed to the bathroom.

But she had only taken two steps when her legs suddenly gave out, and she almost fell. If Mick hadn't supported her waist, she would have fallen.

"What's wrong?" Mick asked nervously.

"It's just... my legs are a bit weak," Nancy muttered apologetically. "It's because of what you did last night..."

Mick immediately understood what was going on. "Okay, it's my fault. I didn't control myself yesterday," he said, carrying Nancy to the bathroom and helping her freshen up.

When they came out of the bathroom, Mick helped Nancy change her clothes.

They had been living together for a while now, and they had seen everything there was to see.

Besides, when she had just given birth, Nancy couldn't move much, and Mick had personally taken care of her, helping her bathe and change clothes, and even preventing the caregivers from doing it for her.

So even though Nancy was a bit embarrassed now, her arms were still sore, so she let Mick take care of it.

After changing into casual clothes, Mick started to comb Nancy's hair.

"You know how to do this?" Nancy was a bit surprised.

"It's not that hard," Mick said.

He wasn't planning on doing a simple ponytail, was he? If it was just a regular ponytail, then it really wasn't that hard.

But to Nancy's surprise, Mick didn't do a ponytail. Instead, he braided her hair in a more complex way.

But when he finished, Nancy's eyes lit up.

It had a classical feel to it, but also gave off a youthful and sweet vibe.

"How did you learn to braid hair?" she asked in amazement. She had no idea he had this skill!

"I learned recently. I figured since you and the baby are both girls, it'll come in handy someday," Mick said.

"How long have you been learning?" Nancy asked again wondering if he was working hard on braiding every night going to sleep.

"I just check the video time and watch a few minutes every day."

Mick said.

Huh?

Nancy blinked, "A few minutes?"

Chapter 4050

"A few minutes is enough for one hairstyle. Sometimes, there are several hairstyles in a few minutes," Mick said. "At the beginning, I didn't learn too many hairstyles because I was afraid of getting confused. So, learning one hairstyle a day was enough."

Nancy blinked again, "So, how many hairstyles have you learned now?"

"I've learned about a dozen hairstyles in half a month," Mick modestly replied.

Nancy swallowed the saliva suddenly secreted in her throat, "Can you really learn a hairstyle in just a few minutes every day?"

"Why not? It's not that difficult," he replied with a matter-of-fact attitude.

“...” Nancy suddenly didn’t know what to say.

She had also watched online videos teaching braiding, but usually, it was easy to understand while watching, but it was a completely different story when trying it out.

That’s why many people joked that they had learned with their eyes, but not with their hands!

However, from the level of braiding he had just done for her, he must have learned with both his eyes and hands!

“Your hands are so amazing,” Nancy exclaimed, looking at Mick’s hands.

His fingers were slender, fair, and quite attractive. With good maintenance, even his nails gave off a delicate feeling.

Such hands were like those of an artist, especially when he held a cigarette between his long fingers. The smoke drifting away had an indescribable charm.

However, she had not seen him smoke since they reunited.

When she asked him about it, he simply said, “I quit,” in a calm tone.

And now, those hands could even braid hair, which was a bit unexpected but made Nancy feel warm inside.

This man was the right choice for her.

When Nancy and Mick returned to the Reed family, Mason’s family, Jasper, and William were all there.

They had a meal together and chatted about daily life.

Although Nancy and Mick were newlyweds, they had lived in the Reed family mansion for several months and had become familiar with everyone. Therefore, the conversation was casual.

As they chatted, they brought up Chandler and Tina’s topic.

“Speaking of which, Chandler has to wait for Tina to graduate before they can get married. Tina is only a sophomore now, so Chandler has to wait for at least two or three more years. He’ll be 30 by then,” Jasper said. “I thought my brother would get married later than Chandler. Poor Chandler, but who asked Tina to be so young.”

During Nancy’s hospitalization, the Stephenson family of three also came to visit her, so Nancy had a good impression of Tina.

“The tall man standing next to Tina on the wedding day was Chandler, right?” Nancy recalled.

After all, on the day of the wedding banquet, she met too many people, so she was afraid of confusing them.

“Yes, it’s that tall one with a slightly feminine appearance, but very beautiful!” Jasper enthusiastically added, “Tina has boasted about Chandler’s looks countless times!”

“She’s quite beautiful,” Nancy recalled and nodded in agreement.

A man using the word “beautiful” to describe someone’s appearance without sounding awkward shows that Chandler’s looks are indeed pleasing to the eye.

“Right, Tina used to encourage Chandler to participate in some idol talent shows, hoping he could make his debut,” Jasper joked.
