

Ex Convict 781

Chapter 781

His game with her ended here!

On her 28th birthday, she realized God's cruelty to her was far deeper than she had imagined!

Her slender body dragged her two suitcases behind her as she descended the stairs with some difficulty. Finally, on her way out of the main house, she met Reed Residence's butler.

The butler was surprised to see Grace dressed in plain old clothes, looking like she was leaving as she dragged her suitcases.

"Miss Cummins, where are you going?"

"I'm moving out. Jason and I have broken up, so there's no reason for me to stay here," said Grace.

'What?'

The butler looked surprised. 'Broke up? With Young Master Reed?

'However... isn't it Miss Cummins's birthday today? Young Master Reed made a point of ordering the birthday menu for the evening.

Even so, looking at the way Miss Cummins spoke now, she did not seem to be lying. The butler was in doubt for a moment.

On the other hand, Grace said nothing but continued to drag her suitcases out of Reed Residence step by step.

Behind her, the butler hastily called Terrence, Jason's private secretary, to report the situation and ask whether he should get her back.

Terrence, who received the phone call, was completely shocked. He looked at his boss who was beside him, unable to stop the shock in his heart.

‘They broke up?’

‘Young Master Reed broke up with Grace?’

Anyone who was not blind could see how much Young Master Reed cared about Grace. He had never seen Young Master Reed so abased and so protective over a woman.

‘This place is...’ Terrence looked at the corner. If Grace was here, she would recognize this was where she first met Jason.

It was also... where Jason’s father froze to death!

He would come here every year on his father’s death anniversary.

However, Terrence knew that today was not Young Master Reed’s father’s death anniversary and that it was one of the first times in his many years of following Young Master Reed that he uncannily came here on a normal day.

‘Could it have something to do with Grace?’

Terrence asked, “Young Master Reed,

Miss Cummins is now dragging two suitcases, saying... she has broken up with you and is leaving Reed Residence.

Are you going to let her go?"

Jason's body gave a sudden jolt as his eyelashes quivered a little. His drooping eyes were still staring at the concrete floor where his father had closed his eyes forever.

'I mustn't end up like my father! I mustn't!'

"Let her go," Jason's thin lips spat these three words out coldly.

Terrence was stunned and hesitant for a few seconds before responding, "Alright!"

Grace walked out of Reed Residence with two luggages and found that she did not know where to go in the huge Emerald City. Nowhere was her home, and that nowhere held her place.

She thought she finally had a home, but she did not after all!

Chapter 782

Therefore, Grace dragged her suitcases to the nearest bus stop near Reed Residence. She just sat on the bench at the bus stop until her phone rang.

She was stunned for a while before taking out her phone. The caller ID showed that it was Lina. ·

'Lina... Grace only found her nose starting to feel faintly sore again.

When she pressed the answer button, her best friend's familiar voice sounded from within. "Grace, are you at Reed Residence now? Hadwin Stephenson and I are coming over now."

Grace suddenly remembered. 'Oh right. Today's my birthday and I've invited Lina and Hadwin Stephenson over to celebrate.

'However... there's no need for it now!

"You don't need to come over. I... broke up with Jason. There won't be any birthday celebrations today," said Grace.

Now, it was as if even saying one word would leave a strong bitterness in her mouth.

Lina Sweeney was immediately stunned.

"Broke up? You and Jason broke up? What's going on here? No, where are you now?"

Lina Sweeney was anxious. It was too sudden.

Besides, Grace's voice... sounded calm on the phone!

However, this only made Lina Sweeney even more nervous! She knew her best friend's character, and it would be better if Grace was crying right now.

This calmness now only meant that Grace was holding back all the pain.

Just like when she was in prison, Grace kept the pain deep in her heart and never complained or vented it out to her about it.

It also dimmed the shine in Grace's eyes.

Grace was finally starting to recover back to how she used to be little by little.

Lina Sweeney did not want her best friend to go back as she was when she just got out of prison!

“Grace, where are you now? Tell me!”

Lina Sweeney said hurriedly.

However, there was silence on the other end of the line.

“If you don’t tell me, I’ll ask Hadwin Stephenson to help me check all the traffic surveillance in the city. I’ll even call the police and have them look for you all over the city. Besides that, I’ll publish it in the newspapers...”

Lina Sweeney said non-stop. She needed to get her best friend’s whereabouts no matter what.

She finally let out a long sigh of relief when she finally heard her best friend’s voice from the phone.

“Alright, wait for me. Don’t walk away!” With that, Lina Sweeney put away her phone and anxiously turned on the navigation system on her phone. Then, she pointed to the destination on the phone’s map and said to Hadwin Stephenson who was in the driver’s seat, “Quick. Hurry and drive here. Grace is there!”.

Hadwin Stephenson immediately started the car and drove in the direction indicated by the navigation system.

“Grace broke up with Jason?” he asked.

After all, he had overheard part of the conversation.

“Yeah.” Lina Sweeney tensed and said worriedly, “I don’t know what happened exactly, and it’s hard to say over the phone. I can only ask Grace when we see her later. Nothing... must happen to Grace!”

‘I thought my best friend’s misery was over, but what’s this? Does God feel that Grace hasn’t suffered enough, so he has to do it again?’

Lina Sweeney felt as if her chest was under heavy pressure. She was so scared!

On the other hand, Grace called Kyla Corbyn on the phone. “Kyla, something happened at the birthday party today. Don’t... bring Nelson over. I’ll come and see you some other day.”

Chapter 783

Kyla Corbyn was startled. She could tell something was wrong from Grace’s voice. “What’s wrong? Did something happen?”

“Yes. I’ll tell you about it some other day.”

Grace tried hard to make herself sound natural. “Please tell Nelson I’m sorry that I can’t treat him to cake today. I’ll buy him a cake some other day.”

“If you’re facing any difficulties, come to

1. I may not be able to help you much, but it’s good to have one more person for advice,” said Kyla Corbyn.

She thought of Grace as a friend.

Since her release from prison, she had left her hometown to avoid Martin Weiss and cut off ties with all her former friends. It was safe to say that she only had a few friends around her now.

The only person she could call a friend was Grace!

“Thank you, Kyla. Don’t worry. I’ll be alright,” said Grace before finally ending the call.

‘Yeah, I’ll be alright. I just got my heart broken again. I just fell from heaven to hell yet again.

'No, it's not hell. At least it's better than the last time I was wrongly imprisoned.

'Now, at least I'm free to go wherever I want and do whatever I want!

'Instead of just sitting in jail where I get punched and kicked, having to live every day in fear!'

Grace looked at the phone that was in her hand. It was her old phone from before.

She had broken the new phone Jason bought her on the hill yesterday, so she put her sim card back into the old phone

she had switched from but could not bear to throw away.

Look, in the end, she left as she came, Her phone, clothes, luggage, shoes, and socks were all her old belongings.

She was like Cinderella, getting beaten back to her true self once it was past midnight!

Just then, a silver-grey Porsche pulled to a temporary stop near the bus stop. Lina

Sweeney got out of the car quickly and ran up to Grace. "Grace, you..."

Lina Sweeney's eyes turned red as she looked at her friend who was dressed in old clothes and had two suitcases at her feet!

'It's Grace's birthday today! It's supposed to be a happy day for Grace!

'However, why did this happen to my best friend?'

Grace slowly raised her head and looked at Lina Sweeney with a faint smile.

"There you are. I... moved out of Reed Residence, but... I don't know where to go.”

Her smile made Lina Sweeney even sadder. “Come on. Get in the car first,” said Lina Sweeney. After all, the bus stop was not a place for conversation.

Hadwin Stephenson got out of the car and helped Grace carry the two suitcases into it.

Lina Sweeney pulled Grace into the backseat of the car.

In the car, Lina Sweeney said nothing but squeezed her best friend’s hand tightly.

Grace’s hand was so cold when it was clearly the hottest season of the year.

Grace had nowhere to go. Her rental house had long since been surrendered.

Hadwin Stephenson found a hotel for Grace to let her stay at temporarily.

However, Grace asked Hadwin Stephenson to book her a cheap inn instead.

Chapter 784

“Inns don’t have a nice environment. Hotels have a better environment,” said Lina Sweeney.

“I can only afford an inn with the money I have right now,” said Grace.

Lina Sweeney hurriedly said, “If you’re worried about not having enough money, I can-”

“Lina, thank you for your kindness, but I want to do this on my own,” said Grace.

‘Yes, I have to rely on myself to survive in this world!’

Lina Sweeney opened her mouth, but in the end, she said nothing. She knew that her best friend had her pride!

After booking the inn, Lina Sweeney asked Hadwin Stephenson to buy some food. Then in the room, she asked her best friend what exactly happened and why she broke up with Jason for no reason.

“He said he was tired and didn’t want to love me anymore. He never really believed me throughout this relationship.” Grace smiled bitterly and said in self-mockery, “I guess I’m not suited for a relationship after all!”

“Grace, don’t smile like that. It makes me sad when you smile like that.” Lina

Sweeney suddenly hugged her and said,

“Grace, just cry if you want to cry. Aren’t we best friends? I’ll be on your side no matter what!

“Jason hurt you. I’ll help you find a better boyfriend and you can piss him off when the time comes!

“Don’t keep all your grievances and sadness in your heart. Vent it out whenever you have to!”

Lina Sweeney kept saying.

Grace leaned on her best friend’s shoulder and felt that the coldness in her body was finally fading away now.

‘My lifeline is Lina after all!

‘How am I ever gonna repay Lina for being so kind to me?’

“I... can’t cry. I must’ve finished all my tears,” murmured Grace.

“You...”

“Alright, Lina. I’m not as fragile as you think. It’s just having my heart broken. It’s not like it’s never been broken before,” said Grace.

Lina Sweeney sighed and looked at her best friend who was in front of her. Then, in a tone of mock relief, she said, “You’re right. It’s only having your heart broken. It’s no big deal! It’s just losing one guy. There’ll be a better one!”

‘A better one?’ Grace’s eyes dimmed. ‘I’m afraid I’ll never have the courage to date for the third time.

‘I may be doomed to a lonely life.!

Lina Sweeney helped Grace pack her bags and waited until Hadwin Stephenson came with the dinner he bought. They then ate dinner with Grace.

When Hadwin Stephenson came up, he even bought a cake and birthday candles.

Lina Sweeney put the candles on. The candles formed the digits ‘28’, and the colors looked so bright.

“Alright, we can finally eat your birthday cake together. Make a wish, Grace!” said

Lina Sweeney. Even though today was a bad day, she still hoped that Grace could spend her birthday well.

At least she had someone to share the cake with on her birthday.

‘Wish... Grace looked at the candles. ‘My wish was to grow old with Jason, have children with Jason, and have a happy family together.

‘But my wish now...’ She closed her eyes

Chapter 785

'I want to forget about him and this relationship from the bottom of my heart.

From now on, I want to forget about the man named Jay. Emerald City only has Jason!'

Having made her wish, Grace slowly opened her eyes and looked at the burning candle before blowing the flame out.

"I'll cut the cake," she said as she cut three slices of cake and gave them to Lina Sweeney, Hadwin Stephenson, and herself.

Picking up the cake, Grace ate it mouthful by mouthful.

The cake... should be sweet, but it tasted so bitter in her mouth.

After eating the cake, Lina Sweeney cleaned it up. She planned to stay, but Grace said, "You don't need to accompany me. I want to be alone and have a good rest."

Lina Sweeney hesitated a little before saying, "Alright then. Have a good rest! I'll see you tomorrow."

"Yes." Grace nodded. Looking at her best friend's worried expression, she smiled again and said, "Lina, I'm fine."

37

This smile made Lina Sweeney feel even more bitter.

After leaving the hotel, Lina Sweeney got into Hadwin Stephenson's car with a frown on her face.

"What's the matter? Still worried about your friend?" asked Hadwin Stephenson.

“Can I not worry? She said she’s alright, but how could she be alright? How could she be alright?” Lina Sweeney was more dissatisfied with Jason as she thought of
She even thought Jason was great. Now, she just wanted to slap herself hard!

“Take me to Reed Residence. I want to see Jason!” Lina Sweeney said angrily.

“Now?” Hadwin Stephenson raised his eyebrows slightly.

“Yes, now! If it’s inconvenient for you, I’ll take a taxi myself,” said Lina Sweeney, about to open the door and get out.

He grabbed her arm and said, “It’s not inconvenient, but... are you mentally prepared for it? You’re going to get justice for your friend and stand up for her, but you might offend Jason by doing so.”

“Then I’ll just offend him. I’m only a small citizen. What’s there to be afraid of?”

Lina Sweeney trembled with anger at the thought of Grace’s forced smiles.

Hadwin Stephenson said nothing more and started his car, driving toward Reed Residence.

The night was dark. At Reed Residence’s entrance, Lina Sweeney banged the gate desperately and pressed the doorbell, shouting to the inside, “Come out! Ask Jason to come out! I want to ask him something!”

No matter how noisy or how loud she was, Jason did not come out. Instead, a group of Reed Residence’s security guards came out, warning that if she did not leave, they would report her to the police directly.
Lina Sweeney

Therefore, Hadwin Stephenson pulled Lina Sweeney into the car. "Do it some other day. If you really want to see Jason and say a few words for Grace, then I'll find you a chance."

Lina Sweeney was stunned and stared somewhat blankly at the man in front of her. Suddenly, she came back to her senses. He had taken her here to see Jason. If Jason did show up and got his head bit off by her, then she would have offended Jason. However, what about him? He would have offended Jason too.

"Are you going to find me a chance to prer scold Jason? Have you ever thought that by doing this, you'd be offending Jason too?"

"So what?" He chuckled. "I've prepared myself for that by accompanying you here today."

Chapter 786

"Why?" She wondered. He did not have to get into this mess at all.

Moreover, in terms of business, the Stephenson family's business had now begun to extend to Emerald City, and it should be the time for them to establish a good relationship with Jason. If he offended Jason, then the development of the Stephenson family's business in Emerald City would become difficult.

“Would you believe me if I said I don’t care who I offend?” he asked as he stared at her.

For a moment, Lina Sweeney felt her mind in a trance, as if something was pouring out of her heart.

‘What part of what he’s saying is true and what part is false?

‘However... now I seem to be tempted to believe him.’

Listening to the butler’s report, Terrence knew that Lina Sweeney and Hadwin Stephenson, who were outside, had left. His expression finally seemed a little better.

joining in the mess!

However, one of Terrence’s biggest concerns at the moment was his boss, who had been in the kitchen for three whole hours after coming back.

He was just standing still in front of the half-finished cake, looking at it and making people wonder what he was thinking.

Terrence also did not understand why
Young Master Reed, who obviously loved Grace so much, had suddenly broken up with her today.

‘Is it because of... the psychiatrist from before that made the two of them

‘Or is there... something else?’

However, he knew in his heart that whatever the reason was, it was not for him as a subordinate to inquire.

Suddenly, Terrence saw his boss, who had been standing still in the kitchen, suddenly lifting his hand. He refilled the pipe with cream, and... continued to pipe the unfinished cake with cream flowers.

‘What’s Young Master Reed... doing?’

Terrence looked on in shock until Jason finished piping the cake and put candles on it one by one...
There were a total of 28 candles on the cake.

‘He lit the candles!’

It was like he was celebrating someone’s birthday!

‘Is Young Master Reed lighting the candles for Grace? The question is, didn’t they break up? Besides, Grace isn’t here either!’

Then, Terrence saw Jason blow out the candles before removing them from the cake one by one.

He took a small spoon and began to eat the cake, spoonful after spoonful.

Terrence could not help saying, “Young Master Reed, this cake has been left at room temperature for a little too long. If you eat it like that, what if you get sick-”

“Yeah. It has been a little long indeed,” mumbled Jason before he continued to eat the cake mouthful by mouthful.

It was like some kind of ritual.

The rest of Terrence’s speech seemed to be stuck in his throat, and he was unable to utter a single word.

Time passed little by little, and Jason finally ate the whole cake. "Terrence, tell

1. Is there anyone who can control my life or death?"

"Huh?" Terrence was stunned, not expecting that his boss would suddenly ask such a thing. "Of course... not."

"I think so too. There can't be," said Jason.

'Therefore, I need to stop missing and thinking about that woman. Just as if I had never loved her.

Chapter 787

'From now on, I don't have to worry so much about whether she would go to Brian, and I don't have to guess how much of her heart is with Brian.

'I won't repeat my father's mistakes. I won't let myself become as awkward and embarrassed as a lost dog just to love someone.

'I surely won't!'

With that, Jason finally left the kitchen and walked up the stairs to the second floor alone.

'From now on, I don't have to worry so much about whether she would go to Brian, and I don't have to guess how much of her heart is with Brian.

someone.

'I surely won't!'

With that, Jason finally left the kitchen and walked up the stairs to the second floor alone.

Terrence looked at the back of his boss with mixed feelings.

'If there really is someone in the world who could control Young Master Reed's life and death... Somehow, Grace's name came to his mind.

Grace woke up the next day to see a beautifully wrapped gift box at her bedside. It was a birthday gift from Lina and Hadwin Stephenson.

It was just that she did not open it last night.

Slowly sitting up, Grace opened the box, and inside was a tiny, exquisite doll that looked a bit like her. It was dressed in a lawyer's suit, looking so cute.

Inside the box was a handwritten card from Lina. 'Grace, I wish that you'll be happy every day and that you'll move closer toward your dreams!

'PS: Press the doll's left palm for a surprise!'

'Happy? Dreams?

'Will I still have these things?'

Grace's hand reached to the doll's left palm, which had a small protruded button..

She pressed it gently, and a voice rang from the doll's body. "I want to be a good lawyer for the sake of justice in my heart. Haha. I hope that those who come to me for help in the future will find it a good thing to have me as their lawyer after their lawsuit is over!"

'It's... my voice!

'It's what I had said!'

Grace looked at the doll in her hand in shock.

She vaguely remembered Lina celebrating her first day at the law firm, and she had taken a video of her on her phone when they started talking excitedly.

At the time, this was what she said in the video.

'However, I didn't expect... Lina to keep the video and cut out my voice from the video and put it in the doll.'

Grace only felt the doll getting heavy in her hands.

'It's probably my greatest luck to have met Lina!'

When Lina Sweeney came to the inn to look for Grace, the latter had washed up and changed into clean clothes.

"It's a normal working day today. You don't have to come and accompany me.

I'm fine," said Grace.

"What are you talking about? Besides,

I've asked for leave today. Even if I go back to work, they'll still deduct my wages for today's leave," said Lina Sweeney. Then, she saw the unwrapped gift box and the doll on the bedside table.

Lina Sweeney said, seemingly regretfully, "You've seen the gift? Hey, I thought I could unwrap it with you!"

Grace chuckled. "I love the gift. Thank you, Lina!"

"It's great that you like it!" said Lina

Sweeney. She saw that her best friend seemed alright. At least she did not have two panda eyes. "What are you going to do?"

"I'll look for a place to stay first. After all, I can't stay in this inn forever. I think I'll go to the real estate agent today and look for a suitable house to rent. When I've settled down, I'll go to a law firm and see if I can find a suitable job." Grace told her about her plans.

Chapter 788

At least now she had a lawyer's license, so she could go back to doing the job she loved!

"Then I'll go with you. I drove here today, so it's more convenient," said Lina Sweeney.

The pair went to a real estate agent. Since Grace did not have high requirements for the house she wanted to rent, it did not take her long to find a suitable one.

They went to see the house in the morning and signed the rental agreement with the landlord in the afternoon.

It cost 1,700 dollars a month. The transportation was also relatively convenient, and there was also a supermarket and eateries nearby.

However, Lina Sweeney found the people in the neighborhood a little complicated and worried that her friend would run into safety issues.

About that, Grace said, "It's not like I'm going to live here for the rest of my life. It's just a temporary transition until I have a more stable income. Then, I'll find somewhere else. Besides, I'll go out as little as possible at night. I'll be alright."

Lina Sweeney thought about it. 'It'll have to do for the time being.'

In the afternoon, Lina Sweeney drove again to help Grace move in. They bought some necessary cookware and cleaned up the rental house. Finally, after much work, they were almost there.

Before Lina Sweeney left, she said, "If you need anything, just call me. Don't be shy and don't take care of everything yourself, alright?"

"Got it," replied Grace. When Lina Sweeney was about to step out of the house, she could not help but rush forward and hug Lina Sweeney.

"What's the matter?" Lina Sweeney was stunned.

"Lina, I'm glad I have you," murmured Grace.

'If it's not for Lina, maybe I would've broken down at that bus stop yesterday.

'Every time I find myself in a desperate situation, it's Lina who appears by my side!

'It's Lina who pulls me out of the abyss again and again.

Lina Sweeney patted her best friend gently. "I told you we're gonna be friends forever, so no matter what happens, you should always remember that you have me by your side!"

"Yes," replied Grace with a slightly heavy nasal sound.

'I owe Lina too much. As long as Lina needs me, I'll use all I have to repay Lina's kindness!'

After seeing Lina Sweeney off, Grace looked around at the rented house that was about the same size as her previous one, only with an extra separate kitchen.

One bedroom, one living room, one kitchen, and one bathroom. 1,700 dollars was a bargain.

'Now I'm back to being alone again!

'There's nothing different!

'Just think of this time with Jason as a dream-an absurd and flashy dream.

After I wake up, I'm still me!'

Grace got out of her rental house and took the bus, heading to Kyla Corbyn's small restaurant.

She did not let Kyla and Nelson come over yesterday and only said a few words on the phone. 'Maybe Kyla is still worried. I don't know if Nelson was

She heard from Kyla that Nelson had gone to great lengths to help her choose a birthday present!

When she thought of Nelson, Grace's heart burst with pity. When she looked at Nelson, she could not help feeling the surge of maternal love. She even thought that it would be great if she could give birth to a child as smart, intelligent, and adorable as Nelson.

Chapter 789

'However...' Grace lowered her head and looked at her flat stomach.

'I might never have children of my own. In the past, it was because of my body that I thought I was unable to give birth.

'Now, my body may heal, but I've been physically and mentally exhausted that I no longer have the courage to believe in the so-called love!'

Grace got to the small restaurant, and it was already past seven o'clock. She had avoided the dinner rush hour.

"There you are!" When Kyla Corbyn saw Grace, she immediately went up to her. Looking at her gaunt face, she asked, "Have you eaten? Why don't you eat something at my place?"

Grace thought about it and said, "Then give me a bowl of noodles. I haven't had that for a long time."

"Sure, wait a minute," said Kyla Corbyn before ordering the kitchen staff to do it.

Before long, a bowl of noodles with lots of ingredients appeared. "Eat. Think of it as we're celebrating your birthday a day later!"

"Thank you," said Grace as she lowered her head and began to eat the noodles quietly.

Kyla Corbyn did not bother her anymore and greeted the other customers. She cleaned up and went on with the restaurant's chores.

Once Grace finished her noodles, Kyla Corbyn sat down at the table again.

"What happened yesterday? Did something happen to you?" Kyla Corbyn asked with concern.

"Yeah, something happened. I broke up with Jason and have now moved out of Reed Residence," Grace said calmly.

After one night, she could now speak about it calmly. She thought she could put the relationship behind her.

Kyla Corbyn was shocked when she heard about it. Grace's calm manner made her feel sorry for her.

She had also experienced dating. How could she not know the pain? If it was true love, how could breaking up be so...

peaceful?!

Her current calmness was nothing but the repression of her pain.

However, Kyla Corbyn did not know what to say to Grace when she was like this!

After all, she was a loser in love herself!

At such times, she did not know what comfort she could offer.

Perhaps only time could really heal all this pain?

“Don’t worry, Kyla. I’m not as weak as you think!” Grace saw the worry in Kyla Corbyn’s eyes and tried her best to bring a smile to her mouth.

“By the way, this is the cake I bought for Nelson. I didn’t have a chance to treat him to cake yesterday. Please take this cake to him first. I’ll take him to the amusement park when I’m free someday and treat him to a bigger cake.”

“Nelson will be happy to hear that. He was even going to give you the birthday present he chose for you,” said Kyla Corbyn.

“Kyla, you’re so lucky to have such an adorable child as Nelson,” Grace could not help saying with admiration.

“Yeah, I feel lucky too.” Mentioning her son, gentleness flashed in Kyla Corbyn’s eyes. Her relationship with Martin Weiss had hurt her to the bone.

However, it was enough for her to have Nelson in her life.

In this life, she only wanted to grow old with her son by her side!

Once Grace left, Kyla Corbyn looked at the time. It was almost closing time, so she cleaned up the restaurant, closed the doors and windows, and pulled down the shutters. Taking the box of cake that Grace wanted her to give Nelson, she turned around when she suddenly received a great shock.

Chapter 790

The next moment, the cake in her hand had fallen to the ground.

Not far from the restaurant’s door, a tall figure had stepped out of the car and was approaching her in the moonlight step by step.

His hair was still meticulously combed, and he was wearing a crisp suit. His cold and stern face gave people a sense of abstinence, while his deep and narrow eyes seemed to see through people.

When you were stared at by those eyes, others could not help but feel scared as if they were being stared at by a beast.

Now those eyes were upon her!

Kyla Corbyn only felt that the blood vessels in her body seemed to have frozen suddenly, and the only thing left was the suffocating cold!

Martin Weiss!

Did the man finally appear in front of her?

Perhaps when she fled from the mall that day, she had a vague premonition that she might not escape him this time.

He would eventually find her.

'I just didn't expect it to be... so soon!'

Everything had happened too quickly that she felt breathless.

"It's been a long time." A cold voice rang in the night.

Her body could not help but shiver. 'It's been a long time? Indeed, I haven't seen him for a long time, except for a glance at his profile at the mall the other day.

'When was the last time before that?

Right, when he appeared in court as a witness and testified against my 'crime!!

He used his testimony to push her into the depths of hell.

He said, "Kyla Corbyn, make amends for your sins!"

'Sins? What am I going to make amends for? I'm not guilty at all!' However, no matter how much she complained, he said she had 'sinned', so she needed to suffer for it.

'If I was really guilty, then my greatest sin was to have loved him!'

Now, the man who sent her to prison said that it had been a long time.

Subconsciously, she just wanted to get away from the man.

'I want to get far away from him and never see him again!'

Kyla Corbyn immediately walked to get past Martin Weiss.

However, only after two steps, her arm was gripped hard by a hand. "I haven't asked you to leave yet.
Where are you going?"

Kyla Corbyn stiffened and turned to meet Martin Weiss's cold eyes. "Mr.
Weiss, you don't seem to have the power to decide whether I can leave or not."

He stared at her, and the air around them seemed to be oppressive. "I haven't seen you in a few years, but you've become quite eloquent. Looks like you had good food in prison."

It was a light sentence, but it made Kyla Corbyn feel like a sharp weapon had thrust into her heart.

'Good food?

'Does he know how hard it was for me to get a proper meal in prison?

'Does he know that when I was pregnant with Nelson, I was afraid that I didn't have enough to eat and the baby in my tummy would be malnourished, so I did many humiliating things in return for other people's leftovers?

'Does he know that after I gave birth to
