

Ex-husband Goes Money Comes Chapter 282

In a simple study room.

Ormand took the cigarette that was handed over by Todd and placed it in front of his nose. He gently sniffed the cigarette.

If it was someone else, the move would probably look a little wretched.

However, Ormand's every move was noble and elegant. He was cold and domineering. People would feel that he was tasting champagne.

After sniffing for a minute, he threw the cigarette into the trash can without hesitation.

Todd had taken out his lighter.

When Todd saw the cigarette in the trash can, his eyes widened and he looked at Ormand in shock. "Mr. Hobson, you are... not smoking?"

Ormand touched his forehead and said in a faint voice, "The smell of cigarettes will be left in the room if I smoke. She's too smart and can always detect something. Besides, smoking is not good for me."

Ormand felt satisfied that he could smell it.

Todd nodded meaningfully.

"When you leave, remember to take away the trash in the study."

“Yes, Mr. Hobson.”

Perhaps it was a kind of self-consolation. After Ormand smelled the cigarette, he felt much more comfortable.

Ormand felt that this method was quite good, and it was not easy to be discovered by Viola. Ormand felt that he could do it a few more times.

“This brand’s cigarette smells good. When you have time in the afternoon, help me buy some cigarettes and hide them in a drawer.”

“In the villa?”

“Mr. Hobson, you’re so bold! You’re going to do something against Ms. Zumthor’s will even if you live with her!” Todd took a deep breath and stared at Ormand.

Ormand would be beaten up by Viola if his secret was exposed.

“Viola has a lot of things to do during the day, and she doesn’t open the drawer when she comes back at night. You can find a drawer in the corner. She won’t find it.” Ormand rubbed his forehead with his slender fingers as he said casually

Todd wondered if Ormand made sense.

Todd didn’t buy Ormand’s words.

Todd thought that Ormand was secretly saying that he would like to be beaten by Viola since he seemed to have fun.

Ormand hadn’t been beaten up by Viola for a few days and he might expect that feeling again.

Ormand gave Todd a raise when he was beaten up last time. That experience was still fresh in Todd’s memory.

Todd secretly sighed, but he did not dare to ask Ormand bluntly. How could a proud and outstanding man like Ormand admit that he had that special hobby?

However, Todd felt that he had to help Ormand as his subordinate and friend since Ormand liked to be beaten up by Viola.

Ormand didn’t hear any reply. He glanced at Todd with his dark eyes and raised his eyebrows. “Am I not clear enough?”

Todd noticed Ormand’s subtle gesture of raising his eyebrows and nodded furiously.

“Mr. Hobson, don’t worry! As long as you like it, I will definitely live up to your expectations. Mr. Hobson, you really have to think it through. I’m afraid that when the time comes, Ms. Zumthor will go berserk and you might be beaten up badly.

Todd was very worried and he had mixed feelings.

Ormand was baffled when he heard that. He coldly glanced at Todd with his dark eyes.

Todd knew what Ormand meant right away. “I get it! I am on my way. I promise you that everything will be fine!”

Todd left the study and helped Ormand close the door.

Ormand glanced at the door.

Ormand felt that Todd was unreliable today for some reason.

Recently, Sherlyn was filming a new drama.

It was an ancient drama about female growth. The script was very good, and the director was also a well-known person in the industry.

Sherlyn became the female lead in this drama because of Russell. If she could grasp this chance, she would have a chance to compete for the title of the best actress by the end of this year.

Viola was quite happy for Sherlyn. She went to Salt Lake City's set to pay a visit to Sherlyn in the afternoon.

When Viola arrived at the set, Sherlyn happened to take a rest.

Sherlyn was still in the gorgeous and exquisite ancient dress. When Sherlyn saw Viola, Sherlyn smiled brightly and waved at her. The jade ring on her head made a sound.

Viola smiled as she walked over and sat down by the side.

As the two of them chatted about the recent events in the past few days, Sherlyn suddenly thought of something important.

"Viola, this morning, the team of Butterfly Girls received an invitation from the Falcon family. It's a birthday banquet for Rebecca. The Falcon family invited us to perform. Do you know this?"

“You got the invitation this morning? Your agent hasn’t reported it to me yet.”

“For a person like Rebecca, I think things will be a lot more complicated. What do you think?” Sherlyn looked down and pondered seriously.

“Rebecca has always been proud and arrogant. She looks down on celebrities in the entertainment industry. This time, she took the initiative to invite you to celebrate her birthday. Apparently, she came for you.”

Sherlyn lowered her head and stopped talking.

Viola patted Sherlyn’s shoulder and comforted her, “Don’t be afraid. It’s good to go and take a look. Russell and I will protect you.”

“I know. I am not afraid. I believe in you.”

Viola smiled. When she thought of Rebecca, her eyes shone brightly. ‘It’s been a long time since I was invited to a party. If Rebecca really dares to make a mess at her banquet, I’ll help her turn the Falcon family upside down!

Sherlyn stared at Viola and was deeply attracted by her arrogant look.

Viola came back to her senses and remembered what happened between Sherlyn and Russell. She asked, “Sherlyn, tell me honestly. Do you really like Russell? Do you really... want to be with him?”

Sherlyn lowered her head and remembered her agreement with Russell. She nodded, "I will listen to him. If he gives up his identity in the future, I will give up mine."

Viola did not say anything else and sighed softly.

Viola's father always thought that his children should marry someone with similar family background. Back then, when she got married to Ormand in Washington, her father also strongly opposed it. However, because her father doted on her, she did not suffer because of this.

If Viola's father found out what happened between Russell and Sherlyn in the future...

Viola wondered if Russell could be as lucky as her.

After a busy day, Music returned to the villa on time.

Ormand's custom-made stone was sent over and stood in the garden. There were four elegant and bright red words, Viola and Ormand's House.

Viola suddenly felt very warm in her heart and unconsciously walked faster.

Viola didn't see Ormand for the whole day and missed him.

As soon as Viola opened the door of the villa, she did not even see what was inside the living room clearly. A tall and handsome figure came to her from behind the door and hugged her waist tightly, his chin gently resting on her shoulder.

"Viola, I miss you..."

The man said those words in a magnetic and soft voice.

Viola felt sweet in her heart. She touched his back with her long and fair hands and patted him gently. "Then I'll rest for a day tomorrow and stay with you at home, okay?"

The corners of Ormand's lips twisted.

"That's great. It would be better if I could hug you to sleep at night."

But Ormand was happy that Viola could stay with him.

After dinner, the alarm clock rang, and it was time for Ormand to take his medicine.

Viola went downstairs from the bedroom and helped him pour water. She found and took out the pills from the piles of medicine boxes in the storage cabinet. She placed them in a transparent medicine box.

Viola inadvertently glanced at the drawer of the storage cabinet at the bottom and saw a crack.

Viola frowned.

The things inside seemed a little strange.

Viola was curious and opened the drawer.

It was a cigarette box.
