

Ex-husband Goes Money Comes Chapter 290

The party was about to begin.

Guests gathered in the garden, and it was very lively. The sound of violin and piano came slowly and leisurely.

In the villa.

Stanley was in the quiet corridor, facing a difficult choice.

Rebecca decided to push him again. "Stanley, drink it. I've already done it. You have no way back. If Ormand and Russell know it in advance, how will they take revenge on the Falcon family?"

"But if you succeed, Ormand will dislike Viola and break off the engagement with her. The McGraw family will also feel ashamed and will no longer ask for an explanation from the Falcon family. The initiative will be in our hands! By then, Viola will be at your disposal!"

"Stanley!"

Stanley was cornered, and his eyes became firm.

Stanley took the champagne from Rebecca and drank it up.

Rebecca was satisfied and smiled happily. "Go upstairs now. She is your bitch tonight. Enjoy her!"

With mixed feelings, Stanley walked slowly up the stairs.

Looking at Stanley's back, Rebecca took out her phone and sent a message. "It's done."

Then she sent another message.

"Check again the drug I prepared for Sherlyn. Carry out the plan later. I want her to lose her reputation entirely!" Chapter 290A! Naive Tricks

At the same time.

Viola was carried to Stanley's room.

Chad placed Viola on the bed and was about to take off her dress.

Before he could touch it, his wrist was gripped by a pair of slender hands.

Chad was stunned. He looked up and found that Viola had woken up.

Her starry eyes shone brightly and coldly in the colorful lights from the garden outside the window.

Her enchanting red lips smiled particularly flamboyantly,

"When? When did you wake up? You were not drugged?"

Chad was stunned for a second and then came to his senses in an instant. With a malicious look in his eyes, he quickly broke free from Viola's grip, put his fingers together, and fiercely pointed them at her neck, intending to knock her out.

Viola squinted her cold eyes and was about to attack, but someone was faster than Viola.

Bang.

Chad was knocked unconscious from behind. Half of his body was lying on the bed, unconscious.

As soon as Chad was down, Nolan's sunny and handsome face appeared.

Viola was a little surprised. "Why are you here? Did Ormand send you to follow me?"

Nolan nodded and squatted to check Viola's condition. Nolan found that her neck was slightly red, and his face was full of fear.

"Oh my! Am I too late? You are injured? Ah! Mr. Hobson is going to kill me!"

Viola was amused by Nolan's crying face.

LLLL

"No, I'm not hurt. The red marks will disappear soon. You come at the right time. Help me again."

Nolan scratched her head and asked, "What are you going to...?"

Viola raised her eyebrows, with a meaningful look in her eyes. "You'll know later!"

In the garden, the banquet had begun.

John was giving a speech on the stage.

Ormand sat alone at the table.

Ormand's brows furrowed. His aura was so cold that no one dared to come to his table.

The party had already started, but Viola hadn't come back for such a long time. And there was no news about Nolan.

Ormand was restless.

Before long, the chair next to Ormand was pulled out.

"Viola

Orniand turned his head and asked in a sullen voice, "It's you. Why are you here?"

Max was wearing a fancy dress today. With delicate makeup, she looked simply breathtaking.

Many boys from the rich clans kept their eyes on Max when they saw her.

Get Baper However, when they saw Max sitting next to Ormand, their hearts sank.

Ormand didn't even look at her.

Max was like a magnet for cameras. As she sat down, many cameras surrounded her and shot wildly.

Max was calm under the cameras. She smiled gently and said in a low voice, "Mr. Hobson, the cameras are right over there. Don't be so angry."

Ormand pursed his lips and ignored Max.

Max didn't feel embarrassed. She poured herself a glass of wine and clinked it with Ormand's.

"Mr. Hobson, are you looking for Ms. McGraw? I saw her just now."

Max took a sip of wine and continued, "She seems to be talking with Mr. Falcon in the corridor."

Ormand's black eyes were so deep that he completely ignored Max.

"Mr. Hobson, do you believe her so much? She said she wouldn't get along with Mr. Falcon alone, fearing that you might misunderstand her. On the other hand, she met Mr. Falcon secretly. It seems that the two of them went upstairs together. Mr. Falcon, are you not curious? Why did they go upstairs?"

Ormand's face gradually turned cold. He glared at Max with his eagle-like sharp eyes and said sarcastically.

"I know what you're trying to do here. Your moves are all naive tricks that I used to use in front of Viola. Cliche!"

Max's face froze.

Ignoring Max, Ormand stood up and walked toward the villa.

Todd happened to come over and whispered to Ormand. Chapter 290 All Naive Tricks

Many of the cameras followed Ormand as he stood up. They clearly captured his colder and colder expression under the silver ghost mask.

Ormand gradually lost his temper. He picked up the glass on the table and smashed it to the ground.

Crack.

The sharp sound startled everyone.

John, who was still giving a speech on the stage, was also attracted by the voice.

In the garden, the music stopped and the speech stopped.

Everyone stared blankly at the angry Ormand, and no one dared to speak.

Ormand looked at John coldly and said, "You Falcons, good job!"

John and Melinda were both confused.

The other guests were intimidated by Ormand's anger.

Is he going to... Ruin the Falcon family in public?

Rebecca had a bad feeling. Before Todd could speak, she winked at the maid next to her.

Then a maid ran out of the villa in a hurry. "Oh my! Something bad happened!"

She ran so fast that she fell to the ground.

Rebecca pretended to ask, "What's wrong? Today is my birthday. It's a good day. How dare you say no!"

The servant's lips trembled. "Ms. Falcon. Just now, Ms. McGraw drank too much. She entered Mr. Falcon's room and is having sex with him."

"What?"

John, Melinda, and Russell spoke almost at the same time.

All eyes were instantly focused on Ormand.

Ormand's face darkened, and his whole body was like a storm. He took Todd into the villa with a murderous look.

Russell followed him closely, and Rebecca also followed him with several strong bodyguards

John and Melinda were forced to stay to comfort the guests. They braced themselves to perform a not-so-funny talent show, trying to distract everyone's attention.

Max was the calmest one.

Max took a sip of the wine, with a faint smile in her beautiful eyes, as if she were watching the performance in the arena.

Ormand took Todd to Stanley's bedroom.

The sound insulation effect of the room was very good. There was no sound coming from inside, but the closed door made people feel what was going on inside!

When they arrived in front of the door, Ormand stood there for a while until he heard the sound of hurried and mixed high-heeled shoes from the staircase.

Hearing that, Ormand squinted his eyes and ordered Todd, "Knock it open!"

"Wait!"
