

Ex-husband Goes Money Comes Chapter 362

“Stop guessing. Sooner or later, you will understand.”

Todd knocked Tanya on her head and said seriously, “However, I have never taken care of anyone and will not raise you for free. If you want to stay by my side, you have to show me the meaning of me keeping you.”

Tanya was slightly startled, and she seriously pondered for a moment.

Seeing that Tanya didn't know what to do, Todd pursed his lips into a smile and led the way.

After a while, Tanya caught up with Todd, grabbed his arm, and said seriously, “Why don't you teach me martial arts? I can help you kill people in the future and be the sharpest knife in your hand!”

Todd was speechless.

Todd thought, why would I kill someone for no reason?

Did Tanya really believe that I was a psycho killer?

“Since you know that I am not a good guy, are you really not afraid of me?”

Tanya looked into Todd's eyes and said seriously, “I only know that you saved me. You are the first person in the world to be so kind to me! Even if you are really a bad guy, I am willing to follow you!”

It was the first time Todd had heard such words. Chapter 362 Everything seems to Become Better

Speaking of that, Todd realized that Tanya was also the first stranger to be nice to him.

Tanya and Todd looked at each other and saw the kindness in each other's eyes.

"Orin!"

Viola suddenly let out a cry in front, drawing Tanya and Todd's attention.

Ormand fainted without warning.

With his last gasp, Ormand carried Viola to the back seat of the car, but he had no strength to sit in himself and fell to the roadside.

Todd immediately ran forward and helped Ormand into the car, sending Ormand to the lab together with the Super Serum.

Kolby examined the ingredients of the serum, while Bentley carefully examined Ormand.

Half an hour later, Bentley entered the ward with the test results.

“Bentley, how is Ormand?” Viola immediately asked.

“Pretty bad. Ormand overloaded himself with the trip to Portugal. If the serum had not been brought back in time, in less than three days, he would definitely die.”

Viola and Todd looked at each other with solemn expressions.

Bentley handed the test results to Viola and carefully observed her expression. “Viola, you don’t look alright. Is there anything wrong?”

Viola lowered her eyes and tried her best to reply with a natural expression, “Maybe it is because of the jet lag. But don’t worry. I’m sure I am fine.”

At that time, Jerry had blocked the news that Viola was pregnant. Except for the nobles at the banquet that day, no one back in the United States knew that she was pregnant.

Viola thought, if Bobby knows that I am pregnant and have to marry Ormand, will he be furious at me?

“Bentley, don’t worry. I’m really fine. Quickly go and see if Kolby needs any help?”

Bentley didn’t say anything more and turned to leave.

Kolby was pleasantly surprised by the results of the inspection of the Super Serum. He entered the ward to share the good news with Viola and Todd.

“Ormand is so lucky! The Super Serum is really great. For you to be able to take back this medicine, you have made a great contribution to our country’s future biochemical experiments!”

According to the proportion of the medicine, Kolby left 0.1 ounces of the Super Serum for research and injected the rest into Ormand.

The serum could only cure the virus which had been in Ormand’s body for a long time. And it had no healing effect on the complications that the virus brought to the body and the overload of the body.

Ormand was too weak and could not withstand the fierce medicine.

As a result, Kolby divided the serum into three doses.

Bentley was also busy making up a prescription to improve Ormand’s health while Ormand was in a coma.

This time, Ormand slept for a long time, and his body was recovering

Three days after the injection of the serum, Viola brought Ormand back to Viorin. Bentley, Russell, Todd, Tanya, and Sherlyn all came. A group of people sat in the living room chatting.

Sherlyn told Viola about her past and the news that the Felton family was going to hold a return banquet for her in seven days. When that time came, Sherlyn would officially be renamed Sherlyn Felton.

Viola was very happy for Sherlyn. Viola felt that this time, everything around her seemed to become better and better.

Viola looked at everyone one by one and found Ormand and her, Russell and Sherlyn, as well as Todd and Tanya, were all couples. However, Bentley was still single.

“Bentley, look at you. You are the only one single here. When are you going to bring me a sister-in-law?”

Bentley turned his head and glanced at the person next to him, the tip of his ears becoming slightly red.

Bentley said to Viola coldly and went upstairs to take a look at Ormand.

Noticing Bentley was shy, Viola burst into laughter.

Everyone in the living room laughed.

Just as everyone was in great joy, Jimmy suddenly knocked on the door in a hurry.

“Ms. Zumthor! Something bad has happened!”

Todd went to open the door, and Jimmy hurriedly said with an anxious look, “Cristina has accused you of murdering your groom at the wedding site and fleeing back to the United States out of fear of punishment. She has already sued you in the International Court and has requested that you be sentenced in court three days later!”

In the living room, everyone fell into a short silence because of what

Jimmy said and the atmosphere became particularly heavy.

Then everyone began to discuss what should be done next.

Russell’s face darkened and he said first, “Jerry has done so many evil things, and it is good he has died. Cristina is being unreasonable.”

Todd lowered his head and hid the strange look in his eyes. He tried to hide from the others' looks and sat back on the sofa without saying a word.

Next to Todd, Tanya had been staring at him. Noticing the unnatural look in Todd's eyes, Tanya said nothing and sat down with him.

"If Cristina wants to play, then play with her until the end." Bentley, who heard the noise, went downstairs.

Russell agreed. "Yes. Jerry himself is an illegitimate child. And if that is exposed, it will have a great impact on the reputation of the royal family of Portugal. I don't believe Cristina dares to send you to prison at the risk of destroying the whole royal family."

Viola lowered her eyes and said lightly, "Cristina doesn't want to send me to prison. She demands a life for a life."

Hearing what Viola said, Russell became even more furious. "Anyway, don't be afraid. The legal team of the McGraw family is not to be trifled with. Since Cristina doesn't care about the reputation of the royal family, we will play with her to the end."

Viola lowered her head and became silent. No one knew what she was thinking

Todd, who had been silent all this time, spoke, "Since Cristina dares to sue us in the International Court, she must have obtained all the evidence needed. My master is still in a coma. If he is here, it will be easy to resolve the case."

Bentley sat on the sofa on the side, and his face seemed cold. "Ormand is recovering. We can't count on him."

Todd paused for a moment.

Then Todd tried to say something but stopped himself several times. In the end, he lowered his head and just kept silent.

The living room suddenly fell into a strange silence.

Viola had to go to the International Court in three days, and there was limited time to get ready.

Cristina had probably predicted this and wanted to catch Viola and the others off guard.
