

Ex-husband Goes Money Comes Chapter 371

“What are you thinking, honey?”

Viola waved her hand before Ormand’s eyes and pursed her lips into a smile. “It’s your first time being a father, and you have no experience, so you’re too nervous?”

“Yes, I am too happy,” Ormand said as he dispelled his thoughts.

“Let’s go home,” Ormand said as he gently tucked Viola’s hair behind her ears, squatted down to help her put on her shoes, and left with Viola in his arms.

Along the way, the nurses all stuck their heads out to look. When they saw how sweet the two were, their faces were full of envy. Viola embarrassedly buried her face into Ormand’s neck.

“Ormand, you don’t have to do so much for me. It’s not like I can’t walk.”

Ormand said calmly with a faint smile, “Even the doctor said we should be very careful with the twins. And your morning sickness will get more severe in the future. It will be so hard on you. I want to help.”

Viola was happy. And she let Ormand carry her out of the quiet staff-only passageway all the way into the car.

After returning to Viorin, Viola sat on the bed, looking at the test results, amazed by the way life was produced.

Ormand sat cross-legged beside Viola with a book on his legs. He seemed absorbed in reading, but he wasn't blinking, as if he was lost in thought.

1/7

Viola rested her head on his thigh and asked in a tender voice,

"Ormand, since it's twins, do you want two boys, two girls, or one boy and one girl?"

Ormand didn't reply. He was still staring at the page in a daze.

bonus

"Ormand?"

Viola waved her hand before Ormand's eyes again and finally pulled him out of his thoughts.

"What's wrong with you today? You've been very distracted."

"Viola..."

Ormand grabbed her hand and locked eyes with her. Ormand thought of what Todd said. He took a deep breath and struggled for a while before deciding to ask.

“We... We will have children again in the future. Can you get an abortion this time?”

“What did you say?”

Viola was struck dumb. It took her quite a while to digest Ormand’s words. She pulled her hand out of his. It hit her so hard that a chill washed over her.

“They are twins. We have to be very lucky to get twins. Why are you saying this?”

Chapter 371 They Will Be Lucky

2/7

Viola couldn’t get it. Then she remembered the private talk between

Alina and Ormand a few days ago, so she mocked, "So, you believed your aunt's words and suspected that this child was Jerry's? You don't believe my love for you?"

"Of course, I believe in your love for me. I would never have that kind of thought. Viola..."

Viola dodged his touching, turned over, and was about to get off the bed.

Ormand quickly hugged her from behind and put his head on her shoulder. He hurriedly explained.

"You misunderstood. You got pregnant before the virus in my body was cured. The babies are likely to be born with diseases. Even you may be infected.

“But there is only one tube of Super Serum. Moreover, you are pregnant and can’t get an injection. I... I really dare not put you at any risk.”

Viola gradually calmed down.

Ormand continued, “So the twins... Let’s abort them, okay?”

“How?” Viola turned to look at Ormand with calm eyes.

“There is a drug abroad called Meefis. It is very suitable to abort an early fetus. It is the least harmful to the mom’s body. After resting for a period of time, you will recover soon. Let’s make a baby again after you recover, okay?”

Chapter 371 They Will Be Lucky

3/7

Viola fell silent.

Get Bonus

She looked at the test result and remained silent for a long time.

When Viola first learned that she was pregnant, she was not ready to be a mother. But now, she was really looking forward to the arrival of the two babies....

However, Ormand cruelly demanded a death sentence on them.

“Viola?”

Ormand held Viola’s hands nervously, his eyes filled with worry.

Viola thought for a while and asked, “Did the doctor say that these two children would definitely be infected with the virus?”

“Not definitely. But probably. We can only do the tests to make a diagnosis after they are born. However, I don’t dare to put you at any risk. Aborting the twins is the least risky way.”

Hearing this, Viola had an idea.

“Since it is only probable, then I believe that the babies and I will be lucky! Moreover, when the doctor injected you with the Super Serum, he kept a sample for research. Even if we become infected, unfortunately, I believe that the doctor and Bentley can ensure the safety of me and the babies!”

Viola took Ormand’s hand and let him touch her belly. “Since these two little guys choose to be our kids, we have to cherish and love them. If we lose them, even though I can get pregnant again, they will never be these two babies again.”

Chapter 371 They Will Be Lucky

4/7

Ormand carefully stroked her belly.

At present, Viola’s belly was flat, and Ormand couldn’t feel the existence of the babies at all. This didn’t take any anxiety away from Ormand.

“Viola, I don’t want to take chances...”

Get Bonus

Viola grabbed his chin and forced him to look at her. Then she said seriously.

“But I want to! Even if I will lose, the doctor and Bentley will keep me safe! Ormand, we can’t cruelly deprive the babies of the right to come to this world just because of some probabilities.”

Seeing the determination in her eyes, Ormand sighed and compromised, “Okay, I will take the chances with you!”

“Yes!”

Viola nodded hard. “Ormand, life was so hard on you. It’s impossible for us to be unlucky all the time, right? I believe that we’ll be lucky this time!”

Ormand gently touched the tip of her nose, his eyes filled with love.

“What do you want to eat tonight? I’ll cook.”

Viola didn’t answer. Just now, when Ormand spoke, he seemed to have made up his mind. Something felt wrong to Viola.

Thinking of this, Viola asked, “Ormand, you even know what drug to use. Don’t tell me you already had a plan?”

11

Ormand looked awkward. He didn’t expect Viola to get there so soon.

She really guessed it right.

Ormand dared not look Viola in the eyes. He wanted to lie his way out.

But the phone on the bedside table suddenly rang.

Ormand turned his head to look.

Get Bonus

When Ormand remembered he had asked Todd to go abroad to buy medicine in a few days, Ormand's face was full of guilt. Just as he was about to reject the call, Viola took the phone over.

Viola frowned slightly and looked at him speculatively. "Why are you so nervous? It's Todd. Why don't you answer his call?"

"I..."

Viola didn't give him the time to find an excuse. She answered the call and put it on speaker.

Todd's anxious voice was heard.

"Ormand! I can't do this. It feels so wrong! You want to get the medicine behind Viola's back? If she finds out, you will be finished, and so will I! Besides, it's such a cruel thing to do..."

Ormand lowered his head, his face pale. He swallowed hard, his eyelids trembling.

Get Bonus

Viola stared at him coldly.

On the other end of the line, Todd was still trying to talk Ormand out of it. Viola asked coldly, "What did Ormand ask you to buy?"