

Ex-husband Goes Money Comes by Yvone Zabielski Chapter 76

“No, don’t worry. I put all the blame on myself. After Mr. Caffrey left, he ordered people to imprison me. That’s why I was seriously injured. I escaped when those people were drunk tonight.”

When Anaya heard his words, she froze. Her eyes were full of astonishment.

“Mr. Caffrey will no longer keep me. He will even pursue my responsibility and punish me strictly. Can you take me in for a while? I am injured and can’t run far. But when I recover, I will leave immediately.”

Anaya was in a daze, and she didn’t say anything.

Seeing this, Lawson added, “Don’t worry. I won’t cause you any trouble.”

“Let me think about it.” Anaya subconsciously took a step back. “I will try my best to deal with it properly.”

Having lost Orlando’s trust, Lawson was of no value to her. However, Anaya couldn’t break all ties with him. If Lawson left and exposed her, it would be even more disadvantageous for Anaya.

In order to ensure that her future plans were foolproof, she could only pretend to care about him and take him in for a few days.

“Of course, there is no problem. Now that you are injured, I can’t leave you alone.” Anaya tugged at his sleeve. “I’ll have to trouble you for the next two days. You can stay in the servant’s room for a few days. Is that okay?”

“If Ms. Callis is willing to take me in and give me a place to live, I will be very grateful.”

Lawson looked at her excitedly with a sincere and adoring expression

Anaya agreed with a smile, but the moment she turned around, her face turned cold.

Lawson had become trash without any value. It was just a matter of time before Anaya dumped him.

Lawson limped behind her. He watched her back closely, and his admiration for her increased a little.

After Anaya brought him into a room, she gave a few simple instructions before returning to her bedroom.

She sat on the bed and dialed again. A malicious look appeared on her face.

“When everything is settled tomorrow, I want you to kill him no matter what method you use. I don’t want to see him again.”

Without waiting for an answer, Anaya hung up the phone and threw the phone on the bedside table.

Early the next morning.

Anaya got up early to get dressed and ensure that she would appear in front of the reporters flawlessly.

All the media reporters had arrived outside the venue, holding cameras and microphones as they stood guard by the door, trying to take exclusive photos at the first moment.

Anaya gracefully and calmly got out of the car and smiled gracefully at the camera.

“I am very happy to see everyone at the scene today. Today, I will fulfill the promise that my fiancé Mr. Caffrey has given to everyone. Because Mr. Caffrey has something to deal with at the last minute, I will hold this conference. I will reveal the truth to everyone.”

Anaya looked around without fear and took out the speech she had prepared.

The reporters started discussing her confidence in low voices.

After Anaya heard the praise from the reporters in the front row, she became prouder.

“Not long ago, my fiancé’s ex-wife, Ms. Zumthor, secretly bribed the thugs and set up a trap to hurt me badly. I was hospitalized for a week, and during that time, she sent the wreath to insult me. I believe everyone knows about it.

“Originally, I wanted to keep the peace, but I didn’t expect her to be so crazy that she took my sister, Brenda, who had become a vegetable, from the hospital and cruelly killed her!”

Anaya excitedly stated Viola’s “crime”. Deep in her emotions, she even squeezed out some tears.

The reporters were in an uproar and began to whisper and discuss.

On the stage, Anaya continued to complain affectionately.

“This conference is not only to prove my innocence, but also to denounce her evil deeds! The Callis family will never tolerate such humiliation!”

Her words were like a boulder thrown into a lake, stirring waves in the venue.

The reporters and onlookers were shocked by her words and began to discuss loudly.

“There must be some basis for Ms. Callis’ speech. Can you show us the evidence? It’s hard to convince everyone here without evidence,” one of the reporters questioned.

“Of course, I have the evidence. Behold...”

Anaya was prepared and showed the evidence she had faked ahead of time on the big screen behind her.

She leaned over and showed the screen to everyone. “This is the transaction record and screenshot of Viola bribing the thugs. This is camera footage when she took my sister away...”

A few pictures had just been released when an indignant reporter stood up.

“This is a society ruled by law. She is too arrogant! We must make her pay! Let’s go to Angle Group and get an explanation!”

“That’s right! With so many people, we are not afraid of them!”

The reporters at the scene all stood up, and the onlookers outside were also infected by their anger.

Anaya stood on the stage, looking at everything that she had done. She couldn't help but smile.

"I'm afraid Ms. Callis is too proud of herself. The so-called truth you presented to everyone is completely different from the truth."

A clear female voice, accompanied by high heels tapping the ground, rang out rhythmically.

Although it was not loud, it was extremely penetrating.

The excited shouts of the crowd stopped abruptly.

Anaya glanced back, and her gentle smile gradually froze on her face.

Viola, wearing a wine-red slim fishtail skirt, slowly walked over like a blooming red rose, which was dangerous and charming

There was a faint smile on her face as viola looked straight at Anaya without the slightest fear.

"What... You're still alive?"

Anaya looked at her in shock.

SALLE

"Where did Ms. Callis find out about my death? There has been no news about me in the past few days. Could it be that Ms. Callis sent someone to kill me?"

Viola seized the loophole in her and immediately retorted.

The reporters and the crowd turned to look at Anaya, waiting for her answer.

The huge venue was silent, leaving only Viola standing outside the crowd and looking at Anaya.

Anaya quickly realized that there were reporters at the scene. She immediately regained her composure. "It's just hearsay. Nothing else.

"But since you have come, there are some things that I can confront you now."

Anaya resumed confidence and brought out the topic of Brenda's death. "That day, why did you take my sister away from the hospital? And without the consent of the Callis family, why did you operate on her without permission, causing her to have an accident?

"If what you did was to target me, please come at me. My sister is innocent!"

Anaya showed a pitiful expression and pretended to be stubborn. Her eyes were glistening with tears.

These words made the crowd who had just been filled with righteous indignation wake up from their dreams, and they all started to shout, clamoring to take Viola's life to make up for Brenda's death!

Viola wasn't angry at all when she was scolded by everyone.

Viola crossed her arms and sneered.

"Ms. Callis's speech is wonderful, but unfortunately, your lie is about to be exposed."