

Ex-Wife 1816

Chapter: 1816

Knowing she couldn't dissuade Quinton, Renee braced herself and called Stefan upstairs.

"Okay, wait. I'll call him over and ask him to call you later."

Stefan was helping the children with schoolwork in the study, but when he heard Renee call him, he hurried upstairs.

"What's the matter, master?" Stefan asked teasingly.

"Stop messing around. It's serious," Renee grumbled, "I was on the phone with my brother, and I told him that I found a good helper, but he thinks you have ulterior motives and wants to interrogate you. So, you've got to talk to him nicely when you call him later. Don't expose yourself, okay?"

Stefan frowned.

"Why do you want to keep me a secret?"

"It's just better to avoid trouble. I told him long ago that I would cut myself off from you, and I've already broken my promise. Forget about my brother being disappointed in me, I'm disappointed in myself!" Renee complained.

She thought that she was someone who always kept her word and stuck to her principles, but it seemed like she broke all her rules when it came to Stefan.

"I'm sure he can recognize my voice. How can I not expose myself?"

"Well, you can try to talk in a feminine voice, I'm sure he won't be able to tell... It's perfect since you're a helper too," Renee suggested mischievously.

She did want to fool Quinton, but she also wanted to hear Stefan talking in a feminine voice. It would be hilarious.

"Okay." Stefan raised his brows and agreed. He took Renee's phone and called Quinton.

"Hello, you're the new helper my sister hired?" Quinton asked sternly, hoping to intimidate the helper.

"Yes." To Renee's shock, Stefan spoke normally and said, "I'm Stefan."

"What? Who... are you?" Quinton was astonished.

Renee's jaw dropped, and she didn't know what to do. "Stefan, what... are you doing? Didn't I ask you to use a different voice? You..."

Nonchalantly, Stefan said, "Ren is now my responsibility. Our goals are the same regardless of our past feud-we both want to protect Ren and make her happy. So... I hope you won't meddle too much in this." Before Quinton could say anything, Stefan spoke first.

His tone was sincere and formal, but it was undeniably very touching.

After a brief pause, Quinton asked icily, "Are you serious this time?"