

Ex-Wife 1857

Chapter 1857

"You want to find another father for them?" Stefan laughed when he heard that, feeling angry and helpless. "If you think that's the better option, just go ahead then!" Then, he walked ahead to look for the treasure.

"You..." An unspeakable sadness gripped Renee as she watched Stefan walk away. She hadn't meant it-she just wanted to see his reaction. He had always been a very possessive man, and logically, he should have gotten furious at the suggestion of his former partner and children forming a family with another man. However, he didn't stop her, and even seemed to support her plan. At that moment, Renee realized that Stefan might have really given her and the two children up. She naively thought that he would turn around and fight for his family, but it looked like they could not make peace with each other anymore.

Stefan walked ahead absent-mindedly, adjusting his headlamp. He saw an undercurrent in the cave ahead of him, and there seemed to be something shiny beside it. "I think I found the treasure!" Stefan stared at it in surprise, then turned and waved at Renee. "I'll let you enjoy this moment."

Renee calmly walked over to him, but wasn't as excited as Stefan about finding the treasure. She was still thinking about their broken and irreparable family. Stefan, however, didn't seem to care about it anymore. Instead, he seemed more interested in finding the treasure. Hmph! She really felt like a clown.

Renee squatted down and explored the place with her flashlight, and soon found a small box. It looked like the treasure chests from fairy tales, and had gemstones on the outside and some pearls and gold bracelets on the inside. "It's so pretty!" Renee gazed at it in awe, and immediately took out all the items in the box to study them carefully. Coincidentally, there happened to be four bracelets, two large and two small, and the bracelets came with a small lock and keys. The keys could only be used to open the locks of the other bracelets.

"Did they design these for our family? This kindergarten is so kind and considerate," Stefan looked at those bracelets and said admiringly. There were four bracelets and keys, proving that their family of four could not stay apart.

"Let's go!" Renee hugged the box and got up to exit the cave.

The two children had been waiting for them impatiently, and ran to Renee and Stefan excitedly when they saw them. "Daddy, Mommy, did you find the treasures?"

"Yes, we did." Renee handed the box to the children. "Do you like them?"

Wow, there are four bracelets! Each of us can have one." The two children admired the bracelets, and were about to put them on for Renee and Stefan.

"Not for him!" Renee immediately snatched away Stefan's bracelet and snapped, "He doesn't deserve it!"
