

Ex-Wife 1880

Chapter 1880

It was like that name set off a bomb, and the others became furious.

"Stop thinking about that ungrateful jerk!" Quinton snarled.

"It's useless trying to rely on others, we can only rely on ourselves at times like this. I can still find Adie even without Stefan's help."

"What...do you mean?"

Renee didn't know why Quinton was so agitated.

"Where is he now? Is he at the hospital? Does he know that Adie is kidnapped?"

"Stop talking about him!"

Leia gritted her teeth and sighed in frustration.

"You almost bled out for him, but what did he do? He turned around and left once he recovered.

He's a cruel scumbag!"

She was tired of watching Stefan and Renee separate then get back together.

Initially, she had supported their relationship, then, she grew to hate Stefan, and now, she was just indifferent about it.

She knew how dramatic they were, so there was no point getting emotional over their relationship because things might change again eventually.

However, it still infuriated her to see Renee worry about Stefan despite his disloyalty.

"Maybe..."

Renee clenched her fists, unwilling to see Stefan as a bad person.

"Maybe he had something urgent to deal with, which was why he left."

She stopped hating Stefan when she realized he might die on the island.

Now, she just wanted him to live well; it didn't matter if they were married or not.

Justin pocketed his hands and leaned against the bed with a chuckle.

"Yeah, I guess for some men it's pretty urgent to be with their new lover."

"New lover?"

Renee looked up at Justin with confusion.

"He got into Briar's car the minute he exited the hospital. Isn't he going to be with his new lover?"

Justin scoffed.

"Oh, I see..."

A pained expression crossed Renee's face for a second before she calmed herself and said casually, understand.
"I The

It's normal." "How can you say that?"

Leia demanded incredulously.

"You're too forgiving! If I had risked my life saving Xavier and he went to okavier and his mistress the second he mistress recovered, I would have killed him!"

"I don't think it's a big deal..."

Renee shrugged and said calmly, "The first person people want to see after a near-death experience is the person they care most about. He's been entangled with Briar for many years but he still thought of her first, which means she's the one he cares about the most. Isn't it logical that he went to meet her first?"

Leia, Quinton, and Justin were at a loss for words.

Only a saint like Renee could be as forgiving as this.

'Okay, let's stop talking about irrelevant people. We'd better try to find Adie,"Renee said anxiously.
