

Ex-Wife 1907

Chapter 1907

"Umm..." Renee didn't know how to react as Quinton was rarely this emotional.

She said carefully, "Quinton, you're too anxious- I'm not as weak as you think.

Plus, as Adie's mother, I understand him better, so it'd be more effective if I went to rescue him." She didn't agree with Quinton's idea of sending Chase and others to the island.

She knew he would be safe given his intelligence, and there had to be a reason why he was doing this.

If they went to the island, they wouldn't have been able to bring him back.

Renee didn't want to trouble Quinton and Chase with this.

"What kind of thinking is that?" Quinton frowned and said, "You lost so much blood for that lousy man and went into a coma, and your wounds haven't even healed, but you're telling me you're not weak? Are you trying to drive me insane?" He tapped Renee's head and said in frustration, "Why do you love to make me worry about you? Did I spoil you too much? I think I should get someone to watch you twenty-four hours a day." "I agree!" Leia raised her hand and nodded.

"I suggest getting some people to watch Ren until she recovers so she doesn't leave the ward."

"Why are the both of you ganging up on me? You're scaring me." Renee knew that they were just worried about her, so she wasn't angry.

She hung her head like a child getting scolded, but couldn't help but smile at how much they cared for her.

"Hmph, now you know! I guess there's hope for you after all." Quinton huffed, then turned to Stefan, who had been quiet the whole time.

He narrowed his eyes, then said icily, "Although you're not a good guy, you're not that bad either since you tried to save your son.

I'll force myself to forgive you on Ren's behalf.

You both escaped death together many times, so you both should lead a good life now and raise the kids together to keep the Everheart family alive." He had always regarded Stefan as an enemy since Stefan had almost killed him at sea back then, and the woman who had always been loyal to Quinton also betrayed him because of Stefan.

Though such deep hatred couldn't be resolved with a few words, Stefan was the man Renee loved the most, and the father of Quinton's nephew and niece.

Quinton felt that he could abandon his hatred for Stefan as long as Renee, Adie, and Abby were happy.

Stefan remained quiet, his expression solemn and unreadable.

"Say something, would you? Ren almost went mad looking for you.

You suddenly went missing, then came back with another woman.

If it weren't for the kids, I wouldn't let you get in touch with Ren again.

Why do you look so reluctant to be here Quinton growled clenching his fists

If not for Renee and Adie, he would have beaten Stefan up by now.

He didn't know why Stefan was always so arrogant-acting like the whole world world had wronged him.

"I've discussed things with Renee.

You can ask her if you have any doubts," Stefan said emotionlessly then brushed past Quinton and Leia before getting into the car that was there to pick him up.

Quinton watched the car drive off in bewilderment.

Why is he acting like we did something to him? How annoying!"