

F.D Emperor 951

Chapter 951 Their Turn

Now that this situation has been settled, Wang Wucheng decided to change the topic. "Have you thought who will be responsible for breaking the 12 Emperor Curse?"

He had absolute confidence that Wang Tian would win the next Heaven Will Battle. In his long life, Wucheng has experienced countless geniuses of the sect, and Wang Tian's talent was one of the few individuals who reached the level of the founders.

Sadly, he suffered the same fate as the others—his luck and destiny were too weak.

Luckily, Wang Tian gave birth to a monster of a son, thus changing his destiny and luck; without these two as a barrier in his cultivation journey, his accomplishments would not be lower than the Ancestors.

"Do you want either Cai Song or Jin Mengyao to be the 12th and 13th Emperor?"

Or do you want to use one of the sleeping geniuses of our sect? With the new bloodline, they now have the talent and destiny to compete for these positions."

"What do you think?" asked Wang Wei, sipping his wine.

"The 12th Emperor does not matter, but the 13th must be unparalleled in strength if they want to break the curse. Honestly, the best option is to wait for your father and have him be the 13th."

Wang Wei agreed with this idea.

Unfortunately, due to his mother's situation and other factors, his factor cannot wait for so long.

"If I were to choose between these two, I think Cai Song is the best for the 13th," continued Wucheng. "However, personally, I would recommend Li Wenling."

"Oh, who is that?"

"He's a Heaven Chosen from the Middle Emperor Era," explained Wucheng. "He cultivated Time Dao, even creating his own Acquired Physique."

"He passed the Outlaw Trial?"

"Yes," nodded Wucheng before sighing.

"Did something happen?"

"His trial led him to the Chrono Chaos Realm. We tried to get him but to no avail.

Although his Soul Jade indicated he was alive, we thought he was dead or in a state between life and death.

"However, he eventually walked out of that forbidden place."

"But?" asked Wang Wei, knowing there were more.

"By the time he returned, it was too late.

The Heaven Will Battle had already ended, and he missed it."

"That's unfortunate."

"Indeed. Li Wenling's talent was indeed monstrous, and the fact he passed the trial is also an indication of his ability. Alas."

Wucheng sighed.

"Did he say what was inside that place?"

"He refused to say anything on the subject after returning. We didn't press him, and he sealed himself soon afterward."

Wang Wei nodded; he did not expect the sect to have such a talent sealed.

"So, what do you think?"

"I have someone in mind for the 13th Emperor. However, there are some things to fix first before making a decision. If things don't work out, I will meet Li Wenling to see if he can take on this task."

Wucheng nodded, and they continued to drink and chat. A few hours later, Wang Wei returned home, but his parents were either asleep or cultivating. Wang Wei looked at the stars, thinking deeply.

"The next meeting of the court is still a few hundred years away. Before then, I need to act. So, what should my next task be?"

He contemplated deeply.

"It's about time I see her, but before then, I should deal with these Forbidden Lands.

No, my first priority should be the environment.'

After making a clear plan, Wang Wei decided to act starting tomorrow. Today, he wanted to sleep like a mortal. He turned around to walk to his bed but suddenly stopped. He felt a sensation in his blood.

"As she succeeded? So fast?"

He closed his eyes and felt his body. As expected, he felt some change in his bloodline. Wang Wei looked in the distance and noticed the members of the Li and Yan Clan began to have drastic changes, while the Wang Clan members had mild changes.

Wang Wei and the sect had already prepared for this occasion, so no one panicked and did as they planned.

Meanwhile, Wang Wei only needed to supervise things.

Suddenly, he sensed a call from his bloodline, and he immediately entered his Bloodline Source.

"Ancestor," he saluted.

"Have the changes begun?" asked the Sword Empress directly.

"Yes."

"It's good that there is no issue," she nodded with a smile, "Okay, I'm leaving. I only wanted to check if there were any problems."

She looked at him kindly, "Kid, I don't know what you're doing to make our sect's luck so prosperous, but keep doing it."

"Are my actions helpful to your situation?"

Could it be that the Ancestors can revive with the luck I bring to the sect?" analyzed Wang Wei.

She glanced at him; talking with these Dao Overlords is something tiring.

"You're right. I have gathered enough luck to revive the first brother, and soon, I can revive the second brother. If you continue to develop like this, I might revive everybody."

"Don't you have things up there to revive them?"

"I do, but I don't dare return to the sect," replied the Sword Empress with a sigh.

"Even mobilizing the sect's luck has to be done with the utmost prudence."

Every time she thinks about how she is forced to run away from these weak rats, hiding away from her own him, she almost vomits blood in anger. Unfortunately, that's how the current situation is.

Wang Wei understood the ancestor's plight.

Although Maitreya is on her side, the latter is still balanced out by Supreme Unity. In the current weakened state of the Ancestor, these parasites are more than enough to do damage to her or the current Dao Opening Sect.

"I understand," nodded Wang Wei.

"Well, I'm leaving."

"Hold on, I have a few quick questions.

"Alright, but we don't have long."

Wang Wei first told her about Supreme Unity interfering with the lower dimension.

"Maitreya warned me about this, and she also said she would take a closer watch on him."

"That's fine." Wang Wei did not want one of these big guys coming to his realm and interfering with his plan.

"The second thing is about the Taboo Battle Realm you previously mentioned. Can you tell me more? Is it one of the 13 taboos?"

"No, the name has no relationship with the 13 taboos; it's just a name," replied the Sword Empress. "In some Chaos Worlds, it's called the Ultimate Battle Realm, the Limit Battle Realm, and some just called it the 11-Fold Battle Realm.

"As for more knowledge on it? It's simple.

As long as you can fight Emphyreans with only a cultivation of 20% Grand Dao Source, you've reached the Taboo Battle Realm.

"However, achieving such a feat is more difficult than anyone could imagine, especially since there is a bottleneck between the Great Emperor and the Emphyrean Realm."

"Bottleneck?"

"Yes, and it's the kind that even someone like me spent years trying to reach 70% Grand Dao Source," she explained. "Back then, we did not have the foundation we have now, so we could not access the rare cultivation resources that can help with that bottleneck."

"I see."

"I don't know about the Taboo Battle Realm, so I can't help you much. I can give you a direction, but I don't know if it will work."

"What do you mean?"

"According to my research back then, I only found two people who succeeded, and they had one thing in common—they had a unique Dao Body and Awakening."

"What does that mean?"

"I don't know, but that's the information I gathered, so I also tried to improve my Dao Body, but I failed."

"I see; thanks for the tip."

Sword Empress nodded, "Anything else?"

"Yes, do you have a pill recipe that would allow an Emperor to have the battle prowess of an Emphyrean temporarily?"

"Huh? I do, but you won't find the materials for this thing in the lower dimension, so such a thing should be useless to you."

"It doesn't matter since I need it for something else."

"That's fine, I guess," she said before waving her hand, sending a message to his mind directly from their bloodline connection.

"Is there anything else?"

"No; send my regards to her for me, and don't forget what you promised me."

"What a cheeky kid," said Sword Empress with a smile; the more she got to know this kid, the more she liked him.

"Don't worry, I won't," she uttered before disappearing.

Wang Wei opened his eyes and took a moment to check the information in his mind. His gaze then shifted to the sect, focusing on Li Jun and Yan Liling, who were in retreat.

A terrifying battle intent emanated from Li Jun's body; meanwhile, Yan Liling exuded a power that seemed to contain everything, that seemed to be the source of all things.

However, her aura soon changed to that of flame, wood, and intense spiritual power.

'The Origin Bloodline seemed more adaptable and malleable than my Void Bloodline,' analyzed Wang Wei. He did not dwell on this for long as his body also underwent subtle changes because of the connection between the three clans.

His strength even increased by 1 Infant Fiendgod Force, reaching 75

Chapter 952 Innate Environment

The Li and Yan Clan were in a state of euphoria that lasted way too long. Wang Wei understood their thinking. He promised them he would have their bloodline, but some time has passed, and nothing has happened. Although they knew the sect master would not lie about such a thing, some people could not prevent their minds from wandering.

Luckily, they finally saw the fruits of their desire today. Now, they no longer have to listen to the Wang Clan bragging and looming their new strength over them.

Wang Wei watched all of this while shaking his head. He proceeded to place the same seal in these people's bloodline, forcing them to walk the same path as the Wang Clan. As for establishing their Awakening Ceremony, they have to wait for Li Jun and Yan Liling to prove the Dao.

Wang Wei went to bed as planned, completely relaxing for a long time. He woke up the next morning all refreshed and had dinner with his mother.

"Back to work," uttered Wang Wei as he took the last bite of his meal. He wiped his mouth out of habit, said goodbye to his mother, and disappeared from the sect.

Wang Wei appeared above the sky in the Central Continent. He immediately noticed countless eyes paying attention to him, making him secretly shake his head. His every word and actions will fundamentally affect the entire world, so people pay attention to his every deed.

As such, as soon as he showed up, as long as he did not purposely hide things, these lineages would know and pay attention.

Wang Wei ignored these people and began his work. He activated his Space Grand Dao Source to create five small pocket dimensions, each with an anchor on the five continents. These pocket dimensions are closely connected to the Myriad Emperor World, and Wang Wei ensured they were protected.

He made it impossible for other people to enter while also reinforcing the space to the best of his ability, meaning even if countless Eternal Emperors attacked these spaces, they would fail miserably.

The next step was to activate his Spirit Flower Ability. Under his control, five lotus flowers the size of a planet appeared in each of these dimensions. The flowers proceeded to release a unique light, and the world trembled slightly.

Immediately afterward, a great deal of Spiritual Qi appeared in these dimensions.

Few top powerhouses in this world realized these flowers directly connected to Source Qi Space, drawing Spiritual Qi for the world.

Such an act seemed simple, but only these powerhouses knew how difficult it was to access energy from the Source Qi Space without causing trouble. Dao Ancestor Insurgents can access the Source Qi Space, let alone Great Emperors. However, it is dangerous to open space tear that leads to the Source Qi Space because it will create what cultivators call Qi Catastrophe.

Too much energy will be released from the Source Qi Space, causing damage to the world and the people in it. Many Emperors have tried to find the perfect balance where only a small portion of the energy is released,

Some have succeeded, thus creating special secret realms for their factions full of Spiritual Qi and even some Innate Qi and Immortal Qi Secret Realm. However, no one could succeed on such a large scale as the Heavenly Emperor.

Wang Wei did not know what these people were thinking; however, it did not matter since he was too focused on his work.

People thought his actions finished after accessing Spiritual Qi from the Source Qi Space, but it was just the beginning.

The five flowers' purpose is not only to take energy but also to compress it into Innate Qi. So, under the entire world's watch, the Spiritual Qi between Heaven and Earth in all five continents drastically increased at a speed noticeable by even the lowest cultivator.

After more than an hour, the world's energy reached a critical point.

"Acquire Qi," muttered Wang Wei as he observed everything. Acquire Qi is still Spiritual Qi, but it's also the pinnacle of its concentration; it is the line between Spiritual Qi and Innate Qi.

In ancient times, the purity and concentration of energy decreased with each passing day until the first ray of Acquire Qi appeared; that's also when humans first appeared in the world. In some ways, the first generations of humans in this world were Innate Creatures since they were born from Heaven and Earth.

However, these humans were not nourished by Innate Qi or the laws of Heaven and Earth, so they were born weak according to the standard of the Innate Demon Gods. However, Wang Wei and many modern scholars could imagine how terrifying the talents of these Innate humans were.

If they had the chance to practice cultivation techniques, their achievements would have been unparalleled.

'In this environment, mortals can live between 200 to 300 years even without practicing martial arts or becoming Extraordinary Citizens,' thought Wang Wei.

'And once the environment contains Innate Qi, it's not impossible for them to live for thousands of years after practicing martial arts and spiritual power.'

As soon as he had these thoughts, he frowned; his eyes changed, and he saw something.

'I see. This era is different from ancient times before the Path of Emperor opened.

In this era, the road of longevity is strictly controlled, so the lifespan limit of mortals is five hundred years.'

Many truths flashed in Wang Wei's eyes as he saw the essence of the world.

'This also means that the Innate Demon Gods below Tier 10 cannot have unlimited life spans even in this environment. Even humans who awakened Innate Laws will only have longer lifespans than expected, but they cannot be immortal unless they become Primarchs.'

Wang Wei became jealous of these ancient creatures for a moment; they could so easily achieve immortality—albeit a conditional one. However, he soon realized it made no sense for him to be jealous since he was truly immortal.

So, he focused on his work. The first ray of Innate Qi appeared in the world, and Wang Wei ensured it appeared in the Dao Opening Sect, giving such achievement to his sect and central continent.

After the first ray, more and more Innate Qi appeared all over the world. Under Wang Wei's control, 50% of the world was full of Innate Qi before slowing down.

'Now, is it only a water-grinding process?'

The world will eventually be filled with Innate Qi, but it cannot be done overnight.

The fact it reached 50% so quickly was due to his active effort.

'Let's finish the last step,' thought Wang Wei. he pointed his finger in the sky, and an array that resembled a magic circle covered the entire world. Wang Wei flicked his finger as he fused countless resources into the array, most of which were Emperor Grade.

Once he finished, the world trembled slightly for a second time, and more Spiritual Qi entered, which then prompted the five flowers to work even harder to make Innate Qi.

Wang Wei's plan to change the environment started when he was a mortal after visiting the Heavenly Tree Village after the Spirit Road Trial. Back then, he did not have his Spirit Flower Ability or know he would get it.

Therefore, his original plan to change the environment was to get outside energy and convert it into Spiritual Qi. So, he asked his sect to create such a formation. As for the source of this outside energy? Wang Wei's choice was obvious—the void or chaotic space energy outside of the Myriad Emperor World in the Endless Void.

Such energy is basically limitless in the Endless Void, and it's the reason why weak cultivators cannot travel outside their worlds or planes. Wang Wei felt it was wasteful not to use it, hence the plan.

The formation had to function, convert void energy into Spiritual Qi, and compress Spiritual Qi into Innate Qi. However, compared to the Spirit Flowers, the compressing was subpar.

Regardless, under Wang Wei's control, the Innate Qi in the environment soon reached 80%. Furthermore, he knew after reaching 100%, the first Innate Demon Gods would once again walk the earth.

Wang Wei's job was finished. He dispersed the five pocket dimensions, making them invisible and inaccessible to everyone. As the foundation of the world, he did not want any enemies to attack them and weakened the Myriad Emperor World.

He fused the [Void-Qi Array] into the world's core and granted Heavenly Dao control over it.

Swish!

The sky changed as countless visions enveloped the world. Purple merit manifested above Heaven before splitting into different portions. 80% of it descended on Wang Wei's hand. Of the remaining 20%, 15% went to Miscellaneous One for creating the formation, and the remaining 5% went to the people who helped in the process.

Wang Wei smiled in satisfaction; he knew this was not the end of the merit. As the world evolved and became more prosperous, Heavenly Dao will reward them again.

Without hesitation, he cut off the majority of the merit and sent them to the Emperor Enlightening Academy and the Western Bliss Sect, paying part of his debt.

"The environment has returned to Innate.

All the court's Gods must ensure nothing happens to their area during the transition."

Wang Wei's voice echoed throughout the world, and these Gods and Emperor Lineages guessed what they meant. The entire world was about to experience drastic change due to the introduction of Innate Qi.

Mountains, forests, lakes, rivers, and spiritual veins will appear out of nowhere in a matter of days. Already existing mountains will grow taller, and more earthquakes, volcano eruptions, hurricanes, and tsunamis will occur as new spiritual materials begin to grow rapidly in dangerous areas that can affect the weather.

New secret dimensions will be born and appear, releasing spatial fluctuations that are extremely dangerous. Animals—who are more sensitive to energy than humans—will become demon beasts. If not properly controlled, they could cause chaos and mayhem.

Furthermore, many animals will awaken hidden bloodlines in their bodies, which is good news for the demon race and the sea race. However, humans will also benefit.

Many people will also awaken dormant bloodlines. More talented humans will be born under the nourishment of Innate Qi, and some people who were previously mortals without a [Leakless Body] will acquire cultivation qualifications.

Lastly, as the protagonist of this world, the majority of the lucky fortunate encounters that just appeared in this world will belong to humans.

After Wang Wei's orders, all the Gods began to work together to ensure their mortal civilizations could survive this change without any issues.

Chapter 953 Comparing The Two Systems

After instructing the sect's people to deal with the current situation, Wang Wei returned home as he had a few things to do. Firstly, he finally took the time to check the formula the Sword Empress gave him.

As expected, it was extremely complicated, and the materials were things he had never heard of.

Wang Wei waved his hand; he used his power of fate to divine these materials to learn about their uses, growing environment, and even some of their history. In a few minutes, he knew these materials better than an alchemist who spent countless Yuan Epochs studying them.

"This went better than I expected," muttered Wang Wei. The next step was to stimulate refining this pill in his mind.

However, he soon discovered with his current Alchemy Grand Dao Source, he could not refine such a high-level Emperor Tier Pill.

'Well, it doesn't matter. As long as I successfully stimulate the refining process, my plan will work.'

He placed on the agenda to raise his minor Grand Dao Source like Alchemy and Weapon Refining.

After that, Wang Wei took out a bunch of cultivation techniques, all from the Ancient Era. With the new environment, it's about time for him to update the Origin System.

However, he decided to wait a while and observed the world's reaction.

He first wanted to see if the Ancient Clan would be stupid enough to secretly spread the Primordial God System, trying to encroach on the Dao Opening Sect's [Daofather Luck]. Although they appeared to have changed, he was still skeptical.

Secondly, he wanted to see how the current Origin System would fare in the current environment before his intervention. The changes in the environment are a perfect time for geniuses born at the wrong time to innovate their technique, thus entering the Duyi Realm.

So, he wanted to see what they would come up with and see if some would inspire him for the upcoming upgrade. Although Wang Wei had an outline, he was not satisfied with the final result, so he wanted some inspiration from the Ancient System.

The first stage of the Ancient System, also called the Primordial God System, was the Blood Qi Realm. This realm was the same as the current era Body Refining Realm, cultivating the body's blood qi.

'The blood qi cultivated by the Ancient System should be purer than the Origin System as they used Innate Qi and Acquire Qi to cultivate,' analyzed Wang Wei. He waved his hand to condense a mortal clone of himself.

Then, the clone began to cultivate the first stage of the Origin System but using Innate Qi.

"The blood qi is indeed purer and more potent based on the environment," commented Wang Wei before creating a second mortal clone. But this one used the Ancient System to cultivate his blood qi.

"The purity and potency are the same no matter the cultivation system."

His clones have the same physique, soul, memories, and spirit and absorb the same amount of Innate Qi. The result was their blood qi was the same, meaning the starting point of these two systems was the same.

After seeing this result, Wang Wei focused on the second stage—Iron Bone Copper Skin Realm. The Ancient System did not open their dantian or Divine Sea; they continued on the path of training the body, training the skin, muscles, tendons, bones, and organs.

Wang Wei had his clones reach the second stage and battle it out. The result was that the Ancient System Clone was the final winner; the latter could completely ignore the damage from the Origin Clone's Origin Qi. So, it was a brutal defeat.

"That's concerning," muttered Wang Wei, who quickly discovered the crux of the issue. The Origin Qi condensed by the clone was purer as it used Innate Qi, but it did not sublimate to a higher level.

Wang Wei continued his observation for the third stage: Rune Body Realm. In this realm, the Ancient Clone condensed runes with his powerful blood qi and spiritual power, and these runes resonated with Heaven and Earth. After fusing these runes into the body, it reached another level.

"The Heaven Opening Emperor probably created this realm after seeing that female Primordial God's cultivating. He saw the Dao Rhymes releasing from her body, but he could not understand them. So, he copied them and created a lesser version in the form of Dao Runes.

"By then, he should have been only in Tier 2, so his understanding must be quite high to pull off such a feat. Worthy of my ancestor," muttered.

After praising the Heaven Opening Emperor, he had the two clones fight, trying to see the result between the Divine Altar Realm and Rune Body Realm. The final result was still a win for the Ancient System; however, it was not because of strength difference but because the Ancient Clone had unparalleled endurance, so he forced the Origin Clone to use more Origin Qi than it could replenish from the environment.

"The Divine Veins is a brilliant method that actually improves a cultivator's control of Spiritual Qi between Heaven and Earth.

However, the Dao Runes also have a similar effect. One walked the path of Qi, and the other walked the path of Essence(body)."

The fourth stage was the Bloodline Seed Realm, where Ancient Cultivators implemented their first bloodline. In this stage, the bodies and spirits of ancient cultivators are strong enough to survive the infusion of Innate Demons or Primordial Gods's bloodlines. Their strength will reach another level after the baptism of their chosen bloodline, they will also awaken Divine abilities.

However, the bloodline used can only be considered a seed of potential because cultivators cannot bear high bloodlines. So, they must continue to develop the strength of their bloodlines.

Wang Wei stimulated a battle between the clones in this realm. The Origin System finally showed an advantage because of the versatility of Origin Source, which allows them to use different spells. Meanwhile, the Ancient Clone can only use a few Divine Abilities based on their bloodline. However, based on how powerful the bloodline is, it's possible to overwhelm the Supernatural Cultivator.

However, the Origin Clone can also use unique Innate Talents, and in a worst-case scenario, they can destroy their potential by using their Good Fortune Flame.

The fifth stage is the Bloodline Awakening Realm. In this realm, the ancient cultivators have achieved a second awakening of their bloodline, thus tempering their bodies to a higher level and awakening more potent Divine Abilities.

The battle simulated by Wang Wei between the two clones was barely a tie. The Divine Body Realm clone suffered from a weaker body despite tempering it again in the Human Stage. The Origin Clone had a slight advantage after opening his orifice, sublimating his spirit and soul in the Earth Stage.

As for the Heaven Stage, where he controlled the power of Heaven and Earth, the Ancient Clone did the same thing with their bloodline.

The sixth stage was the True Spirit Realm, where the ancient cultivators fused their souls or spirits into their bodies, achieving a True Spirit. In this realm, they gained incredible regeneration. As long as a part of their flesh exists, they can regenerate and revive themselves because of their soul.

The battle result in this stage was relatively equal. The Ancient Clone was difficult to kill, while the Origin Clone could save his life by abandoning his body and running away with his Primordial Spirit.

The seventh tier is the Law Awakening Realm, where the ancient cultivators awakened the Law in their bloodline; it's in this stage where they can awaken their Innate Law.

In this stage, the Origin Systems won as Void Shattering Cultivators already comprehended the law while the Ancient Systems were still in the process of awakening.

The eighth tier is the Law Comprehension Realm; the name revealed its purpose. The battle between these two systems became somewhat unique. The Origin System's Saint will dominate the ancient system with their Domain, rendering it useless.

However, that's only applicable to people who have not awakened Innate Laws; by then, the domain's power becomes useless, and the final winner will depend on the individual's comprehension. Logically speaking, Saints should have a deeper understanding than Law Comprehension Realm, but that was not completely true. The time the ancient cultivators spent awakening their law was not in vain, as it allowed them to become extremely in tune with the law, granting them higher control over it than the Origin System.

The ninth stage is the Law Body Realm. The ancient cultivators would use their laws to modify their physical bodies to resemble Innate Demons or Primordial Gods.

The system's version of the Quasi-Emperor Realm was once the Law Body reached a certain size and its power reached beyond the normal Law Body or Supreme Realm.

The clones' confrontation in these two realms was also relatively equal. Wang Wei preferred the ancient system at the Supreme Realm as the body of a supreme is too weak and fragile before they fuse with their Dharma Body. However, the strength of each system was relatively the same.

"Each has their own advantage," commented Wang Wei. "In the early stages, the ancient system had a clear advantage.

In the middle stages, the Origin System only shines because of the Innate Talent and suicide method of the Good Fortune Flame.

"However, I'm not a big fan of the ancient system because of their overreliance on bloodline.

"The Origin System's Law Path is better, in my opinion, than the Ancient System.

However, it's worth learning how the Ancient System became extremely in tune with the law at Tier 7."

In the Law Path, the Ancient System relies more on better control supplemented by a powerful body. Meanwhile, the Origin System focuses more on a deeper understanding of the law and sublimating it.

"I have many ideas on how to improve the Origin System, but let's wait; maybe I can find more inspirations from the genesis of this era and from other cultivation systems."

Chapter 954 The Sovereign of Dream

The simulations took Wang Wei a few days, and such a time was enough to see how the world was dealing with the recent changes.

He scanned the entire world with his Divine Sense and nodded in satisfaction.

These factions knew this was an opportunity to acquire merit points, so they went all out to protect their domains and areas. In the past few days, a few new Immortal Lineages appeared in the world as these Supreme Lands used their merit point to exchange for an Immortal Mansion. Although they exchanged all their savings in the past few hundred years, it was worth it.

'I don't know whether this exchange is good or not,' thought Wang Wei. After the mortal civilizations reach their peak, it won't be so easy to acquire Merit Points.

Moreover, Wang Wei could foresee Heavenly Dao increasing the price of Immortal Mansions and Grand Dao Source Seed in the future.

'Well, it doesn't matter to me,' thought Wang Wei as he focused on something else.

He waved his hand and sent something to the Eternal Dream Sect. Afterward, he disappeared from the world, reaching another World Community; this community was ruled by the Heaven-Will World called Desolate Point World.

Wang Wei looked at this Heaven Will World, thinking of the information he knew. Before the Heaven Will Battle, this world suffered a terrible catastrophe in the form of an Eternal Emperor Tier Void Beast, almost destroying their cultivation civilization.

Wang Wei looked at it before heading somewhere else; this was not his destination. He appeared in a world on top of a mountain. The first thing he noticed was how vast this world was. According to his scan, this world was 30% the size of the Myriad Emperor World.

Such a size was shocking. Most Great Thousand Worlds were the size between 5 to 10% of their World Community's Heaven Will World.

The second thing Wang Wei noticed was the majestic Qi Luck Dragon of this world, traveling around the entire world. Without anyone seeing it, the dragon seems to be checking up on its territory, ensuring the people are satisfied and there are no people causing problems.

'This Qi Luck Dragon is so spiritual; it's almost like a living creature,' thought Wang Wei before sighing. 'Every time I think this place originated from the small Great Xia Dynasty, I can't help but think of the vicissitudes of life.'

Wang Wei teleported to a beautiful white and black palace at the center of this world.

He did not barge in with his cultivation power, but he also no longer hid his aura, waiting for the owner to invite him in.

As expected, a few minutes later, a eunuch came out of the palace, looking at him.

"Is your excellency, Wang..."

The eunuch did not dare finish his words as he suddenly felt it was a great offense to utter this being's name; his intuition told him he would suffer great karmic calamity if he uttered the latter's name.

"I'm sorry for the offense," said the eunuch swiftly in his shrill voice.

"It's fine," replied Wang Wei.

"Your Majesty is waiting for you." He did not even dare to look this person in the eyes.

"Lead the way."

Wang Wei calmly followed him while observing the surroundings. Meanwhile, the eunuch was trembling in the front; he suddenly felt it was a great offense to walk before the being before him. Unfortunately, this was his job.

Wang Wei noticed the eunuch's behavior, but there was nothing he could do about it.

His life form was entirely on a different dimension than this person. So, even if he did not release any aura or was malicious, that's how most people would behave before him.

However, the main reason for the eunuch's situation is psychological problems or state of mind. If his willpower were firm enough, the situation would not have developed to such a state.

"You can leave, I will go the rest of the way alone."

The eunuch felt relieved before becoming entangled.

"Don't worry, she won't blame you."

He sighed in relief, bowed ninety degrees to Wang Wei before basically running away as fast as possible. Wang Wei did not mind and continued to his destination—the Palace Garden.

He smiled after arriving at his destination, thinking how he would bring people to the court's garden when he wanted a more peaceful and relaxed atmosphere.

'It seems all great rulers think the same,' he made a small joke before reaching his destination.

In a small pavilion next to a flower garden was a beautiful woman dressed in a white Monarch Robe with nine golden dragons and nine red phoenixes embroidered in.

She had a strange aura that seemed to mix many things together, some of which should not be fused but were perfectly done so.

She was beautiful, noble, proud, and domineering, like a supreme ruler who decided the lives of trillions of lives. She also was ethereal, like a sweet dream that no one could ever forget; underneath that etherealness was an eerie darkness akin to endless nightmares.

"Ms Dong, long time no see," said Wang Wei as he approached the pavilion. He sat down on the cushion opposite her.

"Yes, it's been a long time," nodded Dong Lifen as she poured tea; her facial expression was calm, but her pale face indicated her injury had not completely healed.

After serving the tea to both of them, she started the conversation:

"As expected, you were the final winner."

She had secretly watched the Desolate Point's Emperor proving the Dao. The latter was only peak First Class Emperor, slightly short of becoming a Pseudo Eternal.

However, the aura he released was nothing compared to the person before him.

"Indeed," nodded Wang Wei before sighing.

"If you were not stubborn, you could have proven the Dao in this generation as well."

"Stubborn? Yes, I was a little too headstrong," she nodded, which surprised Wang Wei. He thought she would refute his words and continued her obstinate determination.

"Surprised?"

"A little," replied Wang Wei, who felt his chances of accomplishing his task had drastically increased.

Dong Lifan shook her head, "After almost dying, I also realized the shortcoming of my path."

Wang Wei sighed; Dong Lifan's cultivation journey was legendary. Her accomplishment will forever be remembered in the annals of history of the entire Eternal Ascension World.

And that's because she opened a new path of Immortality.

After giving her control of the Great Xia Dynasty and the entire Warring Kingdom World, she began her path of a Supreme Sovereign. With her cultivation in the Divine Altar Realm and control over the dynasty's Qi Luck, her strength was unrivaled.

Therefore, Dong Lifan had no problem controlling things, even suppressing the people who thought they had a chance now that the king had left. Afterward, she focused on cultivating.

Wang Wei left her a technique from the Eternal Dream Sect that led directly to the Quasi-Emperor World. He also previously told her to use luck to fix her foundation, making up for the fact she only reached the 9th Layer in the Body Tempering Realm.

After reaching the Supernatural Realm and ensuring she had battle strength above her realm, she began her plan—invalidate a Middle Thousand World.

Dong Lifan sent Supernatural Realm cultivators to ascend. These people's task was to gather information and resources and set up a base for her invasion. She secretly ascended and cultivated. After reaching the Divine Body Realm, she was already confident to conquer the world, and that's exactly what she did.

With the Great Xia Dynasty's more modern way of warfare using constructs, it did not take long to conquer a world called the Six Yuan World and fused it with the Warring Kingdom World.

The next step after the conquest was simple: recuperate, rule the world with benevolence, and ensure the prosperity of the people. With excellent governance that focused on the livelihood of the people and strict control of cultivators, Dong Lifan was able to assimilate the people of this world into Great Xia.

Then, the luck of her dynasty prospered, and her cultivation soon broke the limit of a Middle Thousand World and entered the Void Shattering Realm. So, the next step was obvious—a Great Thousand World.

Dong Lifen only needed to repeat the same step. Even better, with her cultivation of Tier 7, she could suppress the entire world, defeat all the True Monarchs (Tier 9), and even kill ordinary Quasi-Emperors (9.5).

With her strength, Dong Lifen was more aggressive in conquering the Great Thousand World Black Ocean World.

Sadly, fate was against her. Or maybe her path was too smooth, so she needed to pass a calamity. The world she targeted happened to one of the rare Great Thousand Worlds who gave birth to a Dao Ancestor.

So, one day, while Dong Lifen was planning the next territory to take over, a giant palm descended from the Heavens. Luckily for her, she borrowed the luck of the Dynasty to boost her strength to a higher level; furthermore, the opponent did not seem to want to kill her; therefore, Dong Lifen ran away with severe injuries after losing all her troops and foundation in that world.

Of course, such a defeat was not enough to stop the Sovereign of Dream. After recuperating both from her injuries and previous loss, she targeted another Great Thousand World; she only needed to be cautious.

The end result was a success. So, Dong Lifen's ambitions grew, targeting a Heaven Will World. However, she learned from her mistake, so she chose to conquer countless Great Thousand Worlds and fused them with the Warring Kingdom World, elevating them to a higher level.

She also took into consideration Wang Wei and the Dao Opening Sect, so she moved the Warring Kingdom World to another World Community.

While conquering the Great Thousand World, Dong Lifen also began to temper herself by fighting with the Heaven Chosen of the Desolate Point World. Sadly, she found them mediocre and suppressed all of them before disappearing. Even the current Great Emperor was easily suppressed by her back then.

After returning from the Desolate Point World, Dong Lifen had an interesting thought: Could Qi Luck be used as a medium to control the Grand Dao Source?

Great Emperors used their souls while Dao Ancestors used their Inner World, so why couldn't she use the Qi Luck of her dynasty?

After years of research and cultivation, she successfully created the Fortune Dynasty Immortal Path.

After that, her ambitions grew, and she wanted to know what would happen if she could swallow or conquer a Heaven's Will World. Luck was on her side as the Desolate Point had experienced a catastrophe, thus drastically weakening them.

Unfortunately, Dong Lifen's strength was far from reaching the level of conquering a Heaven Will World with Insurgents. Luckily for her, Wang Wei guessed her intention and sent someone from the sect to protect her.

Wang Wei looked at her and could tell her strength. Her physical body was already on par with 2-Root Dao Ancestors. After borrowing the power of the Grand Dao Source, her strength would reach the limit of 5-Root with 4.999% Grand Dao Source control.

'If not for the limitations of True Heavenly Dao, she might have achieved an alternate Ten Supremacy Foundation,' he analyzed before sighing. If Dong Lifen had better luck and was born into a top Emperor Lineage, she could have achieved an alternative Ten Supremacy Foundation, just like she achieved an alternate Nine Supremacy Foundation.

Her faction only needed to help her destroy a weak Heaven Will at all costs, allowing her to swallow it. Such a price was nothing to create a potent Eternal Supreme.

"I want to take this opportunity to thank you for saving my life," she said.

"No problem. After all, we are considered old friends."

"Maybe," she nodded. "So, what brings you here? I have a feeling this was not just a normal sentimental visit."

Wang Wei smiled, "I guess I will be direct. I came to recruit you?"

"Recruit?"

"Yes, I want you to join the Dao Opening Sect and become our 13th Emperor."

Dong Lifan frowned as she felt this short sentence contained much information. So, she decided to get clarification first.

Chapter 955 Recruitment

"Why are you recruiting me, and why am I the thirteenth Emperor? If I remember correctly, you should be the tenth?"

Wang Wei raised his hand to condense a talisman with a bunch of information.

Although he could directly input them into her mind, he still showed her respect, not only because of their former friendship but because of her accomplishments.

Dong Lifan took the talisman and used her Divine Sense to review everything.

"Nine Emperor Curse, Immeasurable Emperor, Heavenly Emperor, Heavenly Court, Twelve Emperor Curse, Balance Mechanism."

As she muttered these key terms, she began to look at Wang Wei with a little bit more awe. Previously, she only thought he was a powerful Eternal Emperor but did not care much. With her current strength, she had absolute confidence to prove the Dao and also become an Eternal.

But now, she understood that her old friend's achievements were even more legendary than hers.

"I guess I should not be surprised since it's coming from you."

She was no longer than the ignorant little girl they met. Over the years, she has traveled far and wide and knew how unique many of Wang Wei's ideas and thoughts were. So, she's not that surprised that someone like that would create miracles and wonders during his cultivation journey.

Dong Lifen took a moment to think about the entire situation, "I owe you and the Dao Opening Sect a great karma for saving my life and taking care of my master."

Although she had not seen her master in nearly a million years, she still remembered her, and Dong Lifen considered her one of the few people close to her heart. As the saying goes, a master-disciple relationship is as strong as any daughter and mother.

"However, it's not enough to just join you.

So, what can you offer me?"

Wang Wei took a sip of his tea; he was not surprised by her words. With Dong Lifen's current achievements, few things could interest her. So, things that any Emperor Lineage could offer, like resources, unique techniques, backup protection, or secret knowledge, she can acquire all of them after proving the Dao.

"It depends on what you want," replied Wang Wei. "What is your pursuit? Do you want to continue the Great Xia Dynasty or have other goals?"

Dong Lifen did not answer him immediately. She looked in the distance, her eyes overseeing the entire dynasty. In an instant, she saw the lives of countless citizens.

"For a long time, I was obsessed with the dynasty, believing it was my duty to make sure it prospers," she uttered in a soft voice.

"However, what happened, I realized I had long accomplished that goal. Even worse, my ambitions and greed often led my people to danger."

"So, you've let go?"

"You could say that."

"So, what are you pursuing now?"

"I just want to be happy," she replied calmly.

Wang Wei swirled his tea before taking a sip.

"A simple goal, but not easily achieved."

"Yes," agreed Dong Lifen, looking him in the eyes. "The cultivation world is cruel. Even if I step out from the world, at any moment, someone could come to ruin my happiness."

"So, you need strength to protect your happiness."

Wang Wei resonated with that sentiment; his desire is only to be free from all constraints and fetters. However, his desire opposed the very nature of society, which is full of rules and regulations. So, even back on Earth, his goal could not be fulfilled, let alone the cultivation world that is a million times more complex.

"Do you know the realms after the Great Emperor?" asked Wang Wei.

"I don't," admitted Dong Lifen; one of her weaknesses was her lack of background, so she did not have access to such information. However, it did not matter since changing the situation was one of her agenda after proving the Dao.

"At Tier 11, there are normal Emphyreans who can create world and life with a wave of their hands, followed by Everlasting Emphyreans who understand their [True Self] and escape the shackles of reincarnation.

"Tier 12, there are Paragons and Boundless Paragons. I don't know much, but in this realm, these beings treat the River of Time like their back garden, and the influence of fate on them reaches the lowest level possible."

Dong Lifen took a moment to savor these words. She could fathom how powerful these realms were just by the short description. So, her eyes showed a look of desire.

"Do you think this is the end?" continued Wang Wei. "Paragons used to be the rulers of the universe until my Ancestor did some world-changing events in the upper dimension, bringing the world the realm of Half-Step Transcendence."

"Transcendence," muttered Dong Lifen. As she uttered these words, she immediately felt the power contained in them; she had a feeling that all sentient beings, all cultivators, should pursue that single word.

Wang Wei secretly smiled when he saw her reaction, "If you want to protect your happiness, you need strength. I will admit the Dao Opening Sect cannot give you much help in the lower dimension.

However, it's another thing after you ascend.

"After your experience, you should understand how much easier cultivation can be with the correct background."

Dong Lifen greatly agreed with that last statement. As a self-made, successful cultivator, she knew how hard it was without the appropriate background. She was not arrogant to the point she could not admit part of her success was due to the help of her friend before her.

Had he not given her control of the Warring Kingdom World, she did not know what path her life would have taken. But the chances of it being as glorious as now were very small.

"I must say, I'm tempted," said Dong Lifen.

"But I cannot make such a decision lightly."

"If you have any concerns, you can ask me."

She looked at him, "My intuition is telling me you're not telling me everything."

"What do you mean?"

"How do I explain it? I feel like your promise is real, but at the same time, empty inside. I don't understand why I have this sensation."

Wang Wei laughed after hearing this, "Your intuition is correct."

"Oh, is there any secret?"

"The current situation of the upper dimension is not ideal," replied Wang Wei before condensing more information for her. So, Dong Lifan knew about the blockage of the lower dimension, the confrontation between the two suns, and the involvement of the eight parasites.

"How could this be?" she muttered; she did not expect such a drastic thing to happen in the upper dimension. Although she knew little about the place, she also did not expect things to be so bad.

"How is the Dao Opening Sect?" she asked, going directly to the crux of the problem.

"Already caring about your future sect?"

"I see you're as shameless as I remember."

"It's called being thick skin, no, being strategically minded," replied Wang Wei with a smile. "To answer your question, it's probably sealed, not allowing anyone entry or exit."

Dong Lifan nodded, but she became quiet, thinking about what choice to make.

"You don't have to worry about them," added Wang Wei.

"Oh, why do you say that?"

"According to my predictions, True Heavenly Dao will change the time flow rate after I ascend, making the time of the upper dimension pass faster. So, by the time you ascend, I should have taken care of these parasites."

"Destiny?" she asked.

"Yes."

"I thought you would reject such a thing."

"I'm not pedantic," replied Wang Wei.

"These people will stand in my way one way or the other. If I can use Heaven and Earth's help to get rid of them, why not bear the burden of destiny?"

"True," nodded Dong Lifen, analyzing the situation.

'Changing the time flow rate is a good move to prevent the lower dimension from being too affected by this battle.'

If these seven individuals are not dealt with, more Great Emperors from the lower dimension will ascend and get entangled in this messy situation. So, it's best to deal with them as soon as possible and reduce their influence.

"So, what do you think?" asked Wang Wei.

"I am tempted, but I also have reservations."

"Tell me, and we'll see if we can come up with a solution."

"Firstly, I do not know whether I will fit in with the other people of the Dao Opening Sect," said Dong Lifen. "Secondly, there is the issue of trust. I did not grow up in the sect nor show any signs of loyalty. So, will they truly trust me and treat me as their own?"

Dong Lifen knew there was a reason sects accepted young disciples; it's easier to cultivate loyalty and obedience at such an age. But it was different for her.

"These issues are not much of a problem," said Wang Wei. "Your master has agreed to become the sect's protector, so you already have a foundation of loyalty.

"Trust can be slowly cultivated. I have a lot of plans, some of which will require a talent like yourself. So, as long as you contribute to the sect, trust will no longer be an issue.

"As for things like betrayal, I'm sure you won't do anything stupid like that."

Dong Lifen's eyes squinted as she understood his meaning. If she betrayed the sect, there wouldn't be a place in the world for her; her fate would be to be hunted down, and if she dared ascend, that would be her end.

"Of course, I also acknowledge your side of the situation," continued Wang Wei. "I promised to leave you with something in case the sect is the one who betrays you."

Wang Wei did not think the members of his sect were infallible. Therefore, he also took into consideration Dong Lifen's perspective.

"In that case, I agree," replied Dong Lifen.

"I admire your decisiveness."

"I wouldn't achieve what I have if I did not have such a trait."

"True," nodded Wang Wei, who felt relieved after hearing the positive answer. Before coming here, he was unsure because he knew Dong Lifen was extremely attached to the Great Xia Dynasty.

Luckily, fate was in his favor.

Chapter 956 Heavenly King

"So, what's next?" asked Dong Lifen. "Do you want me to leave with you now?"

"Depends. What's your plan for Great Xia?"

Dong Lifan pondered for a moment,

"According to my original idea, the next step was to fuse with the dynasty."

According to the Fortune Dynasty Path she created, once the ruler reached the minimum standard of borrowing the strength of the Grand Dao Source with their Qi Luck, the next step was to permanently fuse with the dynasty, becoming something akin to a Dao Ancestor's Inner World.

"You have reservations about this path?" asked Wang Wei.

"Yes. It's fine if others do it, but the dynasty will become a major weakness to me," explained Dong Lifan. Her path has its advantages compared to Dao Ancestors, the main one is the base strength of people in her path will be stronger than Dao Ancestors because of the blessing of Qi Luck Dragon.

Additionally, with a vast enough dynasty and prosperous luck, it's easier for the people in her path to become Insurgent.

However, there is also a major downside to the dynasty.

If a Dao Ancestor's Inner World is destroyed, their strength will be decreased drastically, but they can also rebuild it.

However, it's different for a dynasty. After losing so many civilians, the dynasty's Qi Luck will be extinguished, and it's virtually impossible to return to the peak.

In other words, the people who walked her path would be severely restricted by their dynasty. If they lose it, they will also lose their strength and maybe immortality.

Wang Wei understood her hesitation,

"Losing the dynasty would indeed be a major blow. Although the people in your path won't lose their immortality, they probably won't be able to regain their strength after a very long time. Their only choice might be to change to the Dao Ancestor Path."

"That's what I'm worried about," nodded Dong Lifen. If she loses access to Great Xia, she is still powerful because of her fleshy body and because she has been exposed to the Grand Dao Source. However, the people who followed her path won't be so lucky unless they follow her example and temper their bodies to a high enough level.

However, there is a reason why few people can accomplish great things in the Body Refining Path.

Additionally, she has special authority as the founder of this path. True Heavenly Dao won't have a problem if she changes to the Emperor Path. However, it's not the same for others.

Just like Immortal Venerables and Dao Ancestors cannot participate in the Heaven Will and become a Great Emperor.

"My suggestion for you is to fuse the dynasty with your soul," said Wang Wei.

"Oh, why?"

"The process can turn all citizens into Spiritual Lifeforms bonded to your soul.

After you prove the Dao and become eternal, your soul will also become eternal."

Dong Lifen's eyes lit up as she understood the benefit of such a method. As long as she is alive, these people will also be alive, achieving another form of immortality.

Even if her soul were destroyed, as long as she healed or revived herself, these dead people of the dynasty would also return.

"There are even more benefits to this path," continued Wang Wei. "With an entire dynasty in your soul, you might achieve 7 to 8% Grand Dao Boosts after proving the Dao. If you add the boost of Qi Luck, that's another 2 to 3%."

Wang Wei knew this was not the limit since Qi Luck's boost could continue to increase.

"You can walk a unique path of a Spiritual Fortune Dynasty," he continued. His eyes became excited. "You can convince other Immortal Venerables, Dao Ancestors, and other paths to fuse with your Spiritual Dynasty, granting them pseudo-eternal characteristics."

Dong Lifan squinted her eyes as she understood the implications of these words. There is a great divide between the Emperor Path and all other ways of immortality, and that disunity is the eternal characteristic.

Great Emperors and Eternals have too many ways to escape death. Meanwhile, no matter how powerful an Immortal Sovereign or Dao Ancestor, they will die after being killed once.

However, now, they can achieve the same eternal characteristics as long as they fuse with her. Although their new 'immortality' is based on Dong Lifan's survival, many people will be tempted by the offer—especially if she can become a Boundless Paragon, which is almost impossible to kill.

"This idea is excellent," she uttered. "The higher the cultivation, the more afraid of death most people are. If they can find a way to save their lives, many people will agree."

Her eyes shone brilliantly. "I can even recruit other people by making contracts.

They will fuse with me, and I can use their strength, but they won't be under my control. In return, they will acquire the eternal characteristics they desire.

"These contracts can even be limited to a certain number of years."

Wang Wei secretly praised her as he had the same thought. "Of course, all of this lies in your inability to die easily. So, you must become an Eternal Emperor, followed by Everlasting Empyrean and Boundless Paragon.

"Lastly, if you have a lineage like the Dao Opening Sect as your backer, people will be more confident in your survival ability."

Dong Lifen nodded.

'It's indeed a good choice to join the Dao Opening Sect.' Although she had let go of her obsession with Great Xia, she felt a pain thinking about completely abandoning it. However, with this method, the dynasty can continue accompanying her journey of the Dao.

"So, the way forward for my Heavenly King Way is to fuse with the soul and Sea of Consciousness. The citizens will become Spirit Lifeforms bound to the ruler's soul.

Although Heavenly Kings won't have eternal characteristics, they can revive their dead citizens as long as they survive and their souls heal from any damage."

"Heavenly King? Is that the name you chose?"

"Yes, is something wrong?"

"No, I just thought all these paths with different but similar names were too confusing."

Wang Wei just thought how a normal mortal would try to keep all these names and paths in their minds. There are Heavenly Primarchs, which is Tier 12, now, there is the Heavenly King, the Tier 10 of another system; not to mention Immortal Kings, the Tier 12 of another system.

If you add the Soul Path he is going to create, there are too many names with synonyms of the words [King], [Ruler], or [Emperor].

Dong Lifen glanced at him but did not say anything, so Wang Wei changed the subject: "How much time do you need to finish everything here?"

Dong Lifen took a moment, "I will announce the fusion and give people the choice to fuse or leave. I will leave a few Void Boats for the ordinary people who do not want to refuse, taking them to another world.

"The entire process should take a month."

"That's not long," nodded Wang Wei; he could wait for such a short period.

"I remember you once mentioned a destined woman for you," Dong Lifen suddenly said. "Did you find her?"

"I did," said Wang Wei with the most brilliant smile ever.

"She must be a wonderful woman."

"That she is."

"Well, I can't wait to meet her."

"In that case, you will be disappointed," said Wang Wei with a smile. After seeing her confused look, he explained, "Things are complicated, so she's not here now."

"I see," she nodded, dedicated not to pry further.

"What about you? Anyone special?"

"Yes, my husband," replied Dong Lifen with a gentle smile.

"Oh." Wang Wei was slightly surprised as he only asked randomly; he did not sense anyone in the palace who had dragon destiny, so she thought she did not have a king.

"Who is the lucky man?"

"A scholar with the purest heart I've ever met," replied Dong Lifen, a brilliant smile hanging on the side of her mouth. "He reminded me of the young me before you arrived."

She remembered when they met. One day, she went on one of her strolls to tour the dynasty and check the people's lives. Then, she met a young scholar who was famous in the town and was serving as the Town

Chief. The people loved him because of his benevolent rule, but the merchants and aristocrats around saw him as a stupid man and took advantage of his kind nature.

Dong Lifen was intrigued and wanted to meet a scholar; she wondered how a civil servant of the dynasty could be so stupid.

She checked on him and realized the latter was not stupid but too kind; he knew these people took advantage of him, but he did not care.

Dong Lifen reprimanded him and told him to be tough when needed. She left after the tour, but a few months later, she could not help but want to check on the scholar. She discovered he remained the same despite her warning.

So, she began to check on him regularly.

Ultimately, they got to know each other and fell in love.

"He sounds like a great guy. I would love to meet him."

Dong Lifen's eyes dimmed a little, "He's dead."

The hardest day in her life was the failure to conquer the Black Ocean World, and not because she almost died. One of the reasons she survived that palm was because of her husband.

The man had the purest soul she had ever met, so when he sacrificed it to protect her, he managed to block the palm and buy enough time for her to mobilize the dynasty's luck; he also left great protection in her body, granting her great vitality for healing.

"Do you want me to revive him for you?" asked Wang Wei.

"He's already reincarnated, I'm just waiting," she said.

Wang Wei looked at her, "Feeling guilty?"

"A little," she replied with a sigh. "My ambitions got him killed, and even afterward, I did not stop. I'm a little scared to meet him again."

"If he is as kind as you said, I'm sure he'll forgive you."

"I know he will, but I'm not ready to forgive myself."

"I cannot help you with such a thing as self-forgiveness," commented Wang Wei.

"My advice to you is to see him and tell him the truth; maybe he can help you work through it."

"Maybe...you're right."

Chapter 957 Preparations

Dong Lifen did not waste time; she sent the news about the fusion and allowed the citizens to choose their own path. As expected, more than 96% of people chose to follow her. These people knew their majesty was the source of their prosperity, so without her, their lives might return to the terrible state before the Great Xia took over.

As for the ones who chose another path?

They had multiple reasons. Most of these people were not true supporters of Dong Lifen and only wanted to use the dynasty for their own ambitions. The others rejected the idea of relying on someone else for their life or immortality. Some simply wanted to live a normal or ordinary life.

No matter what choice these people made, Dong Lifen did not stop them. She left a Void Boat to transport these individuals to another world. Afterward, she proceeded with the fusion.

A terrifying swallowing power emanated from Dong Lifen's Niwan Acupoint, and the entire world was rapidly shrinking as they entered her head; it was like there was an invisible black hole in the middle of her forehead that was swallowing everything in its path.

A mighty aura spread out from Dong Lifen's aura. A river of chains manifested before her as she raised her to mobilize her Grand Dao Source-the power of dreams and nightmares condensed in her hand before disappearing.

"How do you feel?" asked Wang Wei.

"Complete and flawless," she replied. The dynasty was no longer her weakness. Even the Qi Dragon in her Sea of Consciousness was now a fundamental part of her body; it was like she had awakened a unique physique related to dragons.

With a thought, a purple-gold dragon appeared around Dong Lifen.

"Controlling the Qi Luck so much easier now; it's like it was another part of my body," continued Dong Lifen. Before, she had to fuse with the dragon to bless her strength or defense. However, now, she can materialize the dragon and use it as a defensive weapon.

"It seems that the dynasty has mutated because of your Dream Soul," commented Wang Wei.

"Yes; the citizens could be considered Dream or Nightmare Lifeforms instead of pure Spirit Lifeforms," nodded Dong Lifen.

Such a change was beneficial to her, so she did not mind.

Wang Wei's eyes lit up after hearing this.

"You should take some time to control your leaking soul power," he warned. After the fusion, her soul drastically increased; therefore, she could not properly control its power.

"I will." Dong Lifen could tell her soul's transformation was unfinished and required some time. So, she was not in a rush.

"In that case, let's go," said Wang Wei. With a wave of his hand, they disappeared and returned to the sect. "I will take you to see the ancestors."

He had already sent news, so many people were already waiting for them once they teleported to the secret realm.

"This is Dong Lifen, our 13th Emperor," introduced Wang Wei before also introducing everyone to Dong Lifen. These people were surprised by her achievement.

Origin One was the only calm one since he was the one who saved her and knew about her new path. He did not say anything to everybody else because he knew she did not officially preach her new path, so he did not want to affect her or bear the karma of this new immortal path.

"Thank you, senior, for saving me," said Dong Lifen to Origin One.

"Your master is part of our sect, so you're already one of our one. There is no need for pleasantries between us."

Wang Wei secretly gave a thumbs up to this old fox; he could get into the role so quickly. Of course, such a method won't work on a person like Dong Lifen, who was a ruler and used to see through people's facade. However, such an act showed the sect's attitude towards her, and that's all that matters.

"A new immortal path? I'm suddenly interested," said Hell One. "What would happen if we took one of our Quasi-Emperors and had him set up a dynasty, then we forcefully conquer countless worlds and fuse them? Could we fast-track a new Heavenly King?"

"Of course not," replied Miscellaneous One.

"The threshold for the Qi Luck Dragon to bear the Grand Dao Source should be very high. Such a dynasty would never meet the standard."

A vast territory was not the only indication of a thriving or prospering dynasty.

People's livelihood, happiness, the development of culture, art, and technology are all parts that make a powerful dynasty.

Furthermore, a fortune dynasty also requires powerful cultivators as its backbone, cultivators that are loyal to the dynasty. Not to mention the foundation like powerful artifacts or arrays to be used in time of need, development of professions like alchemy, and training of elite troops.

All these things must reach a high enough standard to condense a Qi Luck powerful enough to bear the power of the Grand Dao Source and become a Heavenly King.

"This path should also have to experience tribulations like Immortal Venerables and Dao Ancestors. If the Qi Luck is weak, the process would probably fail," added the Steward.

"Yes, any path to immortality is valuable in the lower dimension, so things would not be so simple," nodded Hell One.

"We have plenty of time to analyze this new path," chimed in Origin One. "We need a proper plan for her Emperor Path."

Despite Dong Lifen's strength, Origin One wanted to be careful to ensure that no accident occurred. "Do you have any idea?"

"Yes," replied Wang Wei. "We will hide her in the Deception Array to ensure True Heavenly Dao does not know when she will participate in the Heaven Will Battle. That way, it cannot scheme against her and create an opponent with Nine Extremity Foundation or of equal strength for her."

"Just like Battle Maniac," uttered Origin One softly. Qiyuan himself predicted the fate of Battle Maniac. He proved the Dao, followed by the Sword Empress, so it made sense the Balance Mechanism would not easily allow a sect to have three Eternals—especially back to back.

So, it was not surprising that it cultivated a Heaven Chosen that could defeat the latter in the form of the Sword Casting Villa's founder. Back then, Battle Maniac's strength had reached 2-Root after re-establishing his foundation with Qiyuan's help. After all, he had no aversion to tempering his body, unlike his third sister.

Furthermore, he could fight 3-root Dao Ancestor for a short period with his battle skills. Regardless, he still lost to the Sword Casting Emperor; However, the latter also paid a price. Heavenly Dao used so much luck and destiny to cultivate the Sword Casting Emperor to such a state that he owed karma to Heavenly Dao.

So, when he proved the Dao, he could only become a Pseudo-Eternal Emperor.

Wang Wei nodded after hearing Origin One's words; he worried this would happen, so he took precautions for Dong Lifen. His plan is that True Heavenly Dao won't know until the last second when she will fight for the Heaven Will Battle.

The second will send Heaven Chosen to acquire the entrance token, if necessary, and give it to her. Then, she will show up and suppress everybody with overwhelming strength.

Wang Wei secretly sighed. The way True Heavenly Dao operates the lower dimension is contradictory. It wants to cultivate powerful and talented Great Emperors, but it also does not want any factions to be too powerful and dominate the situation.

"With this method, the inception will be in our hands," nodded Origin One. They could choose a generation without talented Heaven Chosen and sent her.

"This is a good plan. We only need to watch out for any fake out from Heavenly Dao, and everything will be fine," added Miscellaneous One. One of the worst-case scenarios would be a situation where they believed there were no talented individuals in a generation and chose this time for her to prove the Dao. Then, out of nowhere, comes a monstrous-level genius.

"True," nodded Wang Wei before looking at Dong Lifen. "What do you think? After all, this is regarding your proving Dao experience."

Dong Lifen hesitated.

"If you have something to say, go ahead."

"I don't know. I feel like it might not be a bad idea to have a talented rival to push me, just like Di Tian did to you."

Wang Wei's lips twitched. It was indeed a good idea to have a rival or opponent in the Emperor Path. However, that's only if you become the final winner.

"If you want a powerful opponent, I have a way of tempering you, so don't worry."

"If you say so."

"Let's go, we have work to do," said Wang Wei. Dong Lifan went through the process of becoming a member of the sect, like placing her name in the registry, creating her Soul Lamp, and other minor things.

Afterward, she went to see her master and spent a few days.

"How is it? Have you checked that I did not bully your master?"

Dong Lifan smiled but did not say anything.

She could tell her master's life was very fulfilling. Her dreams and ambitions have always been to pursue immortality, and soon, she will accomplish her goal.

Afterward, she can take her time to enjoy life and pursue the Dao.

"Alright, let's go," said Wang Wei, and the two went to the Eternal Dream Sect. Wang Wei thought he could visit one of the Forbidden Lands, but he soon lost track of time. So, a few hundred years passed, and it was already time for the third court meeting.

Chapter 958 Third Court Meeting

The court members came extra early today; they wanted to use the merit they gathered in the past thousand years to exchange things. A few people had already exchanged things beforehand, but a few lineages predicted the list would update, so they saved their merit.

As expected, when they checked the list today, a few new things were added, mainly two unique Grand Dao Source Seeds.

According to the description of the list, these seeds will allow the people to cultivate Insurgents up to the Second Class.

Heavenly Dao blessed the seeds with its will using a system similar to Primarchs. As such, after creating an Inner World with that unique seed, a Dao Ancestor will receive a Will Blessing that makes them on par with Third and Second Class Great Emperors.

Sadly, this thing was extremely expensive, and so far, only the Dao Opening Sect can afford it. However, these top lineages who waited did not care. The Mortal Civilizations have only developed for a thousand years and have plenty of time to continue to develop.

Another unique thing on the list originated from the Heavenly Emperor. It's a cultivation Blessed Land full of Chaos Qi.

After paying a certain price, these lineages can borrow them to cultivate.

Energy is also important to Immortal Cultivators. It's easier and faster for Immortal Venerables to convert Chaos Qi into Immortal Qi than using Innate or Spiritual Qi. Dao Ancestors and Great Emperors can absorb it to speed up their comprehension of the Grand Dao Source.

The higher the quality and intensity of the energy, the faster their cultivation is.

It's one of the reasons many Great Emperors did not need to ascend as soon as possible during the Beginning Emperor Era. The environment still provided them with opportunities to make progress, unlike modern times, where it is so slow that it makes people despair.

After these people saw the thing on the list, they could not help but be speechless. They could detect many areas in the court full of Chaos Qi, yet the Heavenly Emperor asks them to pay for these Blessed Lands.

His objective is obvious—he wants them to move the court. After so many years and seeing how the world changes every day, many people are not too averse to the idea of moving to the court.

Although it would symbolize a more concentrated power of the court, which means less power for their faction, they could still accept such a change because they will benefit from this system once the current Emperors leave and they put their people in the court.

However, staying close to the Heavenly Emperor is like a mortal living in close proximity to a tiger. Even if you know the tiger is not targeting you, the mortal will still be afraid because this beast is powerful and can kill him anytime.

Because of this mentality, most people resist the urge or desire to stay in the court. But now, they realize they may soon not have a choice. The world is rapidly changing, and opportunities are everywhere. If someone does not take it, someone else will.

'After I get enough luck to become the Academy's official Emperor, I will move to the court,' thought Xu Shi. She has to spend a lot of time understanding the [Existence Reconstruction] Technique, and she needs to use all the available help.

Additionally, Chaos Qi is very suitable for her physique. The benefits she will acquire after absorbing it are more than even the Heavenly Emperor. Furthermore, she can also condense them into Primordial Qi.

Using merit to buy these Blessed Lands is a waste of time, so she decided to move to the court and take full advantage of their service.

Time passed, and it was finally the hour of the meeting. The Heavenly Emperor appeared, and everyone saluted.

"At ease," said Wang Wei as he observed everybody. There were some changes, but the only noteworthy one was Han Shun, the ruler of the Great Jin Dynasty, became a Dao Ancestor.

Wang Wei could see the light of ambitions in this man's eyes. He guessed the latter's plan was to become a First Class Insurgent, maybe even Eternal Class Insurgent, allowing him to have more power in the court and the world in general.

'Worthy of the Human Emperor's chosen successor,' thought Wang Wei.

"We have a few things to do during today's meeting," he declared, his voice calm yet authoritative. "Firstly, the Sea Race: why hasn't the Mortal's Sub-Space not connected to your territory yet?"

The Panlong and Sea Lion Clan's Immortal Sovereign looked at each other and prepared to explain:

"Your majesty"

"Okay, you don't need to explain. Since you think my words can be ignored, prepare to suffer the consequences. For the duration of this meeting, you can kneel."

Wang Wei waved his hand; a terrifying pressure suppressed these two, forcing them to kneel on the ground. Countless immortal lights flashed in their bodies as they tried to resist, but it was futile.

Afterward, they realized they could not even speak.

Shame and humiliation appeared on their faces. No matter how weak they are in the lower dimension, it does not change the fact they were Tier 11 and deserve respect.

"My patience is limited, so this is my last warning," said Wang Wei; he did not release any killing intent, but the room felt freezing. The other Sea Race representatives realized the severity of the situation. If they could not integrate into the world of land, their race would suffer a terrible catastrophe.

Wang Wei focused on the crowd, "I'm very happy with how the mortal civilizations turned out. Although most of you did it only out of your own interest and benefit, I'm still satisfied with the final result."

These representatives were speechless. The Heavenly Emperor always reveals the ugly truth to the public. Couldn't he be more tactful with his words? They secretly shake their heads.

"Our next court affairs is the establishment of ruling departments," continued Wang Wei. "There will be the Department of General Affairs, in charge of creating rules and regulations for the world, mostly to protect the mortal civilizations.

"We need a Department of Law Enforcement to reinforce the rules.

Heavenly Dao will supervise this department to prevent abuse of power.

"Lastly, we need a Department of Foreign Affairs responsible for dealing with the Myriad Emperor World's interaction with the Lower Realm and World Communities."

Wang Wei paused to give these people time to process this information and analyze things. A few seconds later, he continued: "We need to develop the Divine Legions. I can tell all of you our next meeting will be about foreign expansion. Now, our main objective won't be about conquest, but we also must be prepared for war at any time."

"Many people will not accept the spread of new ideas, so force must be used."

The representatives looked serious after hearing this. This sentence contains much information, but it can be summarized into one sentence—prepare for eventual war.

Wang Wei looked at these people reactions. He knew none of them would truly help establish the Divine Legion.

However, his main objective was to tell them to prepare to fight for their interest.

"That's it for now, but there should be more departments as we develop. Each department will have a Department Head and Deputy, along with other lower positions. I will use a unique test to choose these positions. Interested personnel can participate."

The representatives became excited after hearing this. These positions are very valuable, not only because of the cultivation blessing and merit for serving the court but also because of the political power that comes with them.

Wang Wei ignored these people and focused on Ao Shen.

"I once said I owe your demon race for going back on my word and taking the racial Luck Condensing Artifact. As repayment, I give you two choices: guarantee positions in these departments or merit points."

Ao Shen swiftly analyzed the pros and cons.

Although the position would increase the demon's political power and influence on the world, he could foresee many people using the fact they bypassed the test to get their positions to make trouble for them.

So, it would be best to acquire them using the official method.

"I choose merit points."

Wang Wei nodded and transferred 3.5 million merit points to the demon race; this amount was more than enough for breaking a promise.

"Oh, before I forget, don't kill Xiao Songxi," added Wang Wei. He still had his Great Trafficking Plan. Although Xiao Songxi was not a top Heaven Chosen in this generation, he was still a great talent.

Now that he was in such terrible shape with his bloodline destroyed, the Sea Race might make the stupid decision to kill him, and Ao Shen won't have any issue once he finishes his dealing with the Baishe Clan.

Ao Shen nodded calmly; he never expected to hide his actions and whereabouts from the Heavenly Emperor. Since the latter never stopped him, he knew he would encounter no problem with his plan—at least not from Wang Wei.

"Now, let's discuss the main subject of this meeting," declared Wang Wei.

Chapter 959 Dream World (I)

"For my demonstration, you only need to concentrate and use the words: Dream Incarnate," said Wang Wei. Many people were confused, but they knew this was not the time to ask questions, so they followed orders.

The world changed, and the representatives found themselves in a strange world; everything was bright, ethereal, and illusory; additionally, the ground on their feet seemed to be clouds.

"Welcome to the Dream World," said Wang Wei, who stood before them. "I know you have questions. Wait a while before I explain."

Everybody nodded and waited; some people felt something momentous was about to happen.

"As I said, this is a world made of dreams.

So, what is its purpose? Many things; this is a world of communication and unique experience," explained Wang Wei.

"This Dream World will be accessible to everyone in the Myriad Emperor World using the password I told you before. In other words, from now on, this place can be used to communicate with anyone worldwide, including mortals."

Wang Wei looked at some of these people's reactions and secretly shook his head, "I know most of you don't care about such a thing. However, have you thought about communicating with other World Communities?"

"Your majesty, you mean?"

"Yes, once we spread our wings to the lower dimension, the Dream World will be accessible to other World Communities. By then, a mortal in the farthest corner of our world can easily communicate with someone from the farthest World Community from us."

The representatives finally showed excitement as they understood the implications behind these words. Communication is key for everyone; learning from other people's Dao and experience is a fast way to improve.

Additionally, the Heavenly Emperor showed them the advantage of learning other cultivation systems as he used another Heaven Will's system to prove the Dao on his own and achieve the status of Immeasurably Emperor.

The Myriad Emperor World has been cut off from the Endless Void for too long, so even the top Emperor Lineages were careful in re-establishing communication.

But now, with the Dream World, most of their restraint and danger have been eliminated.

"Your majesty, I have a question," said Xu Shi.

"Are you going to ask if we can use the Dream World as a platform to exchange resources with other World Communities?"

"Yes."

With the revival of the environment, the Myriad Emperor World will enter a prosperous age where cultivation resources are everywhere. However, it did not mean exchanging with other worlds was useless.

On the contrary, they had more rare things to exchange with others, thus increasing the resources in their world. No one would think they have too many resources.

"Yes, it will be possible," said Wang Wei.

"However, this ability is temporarily not activated. You have to wait a while."

Xu Shi's eyes squinted lightly as she nodded her head; she tried to analyze why this ability was not available, but she had too little information.

"Let's continue," said Wang Wei after seeing no more questions. He waved his hand, and a small square appeared before every representative with a rune inscribed at the top; each rune was different and unique.

"This is your Dream Imprint. If you exchange imprints with someone else, you can contact each other directly."

Everyone nodded. They understood the need for this thing. If so many people will use the Dream World, it's imperative to establish a way to communicate with the people you wish to.

The representatives checked the Dream Imprint and learned they could leave recorded messages to their friends in case the latter is busy or not in the Dream World.

They can create [Chat Groups], inviting multiple people to appear in a safe space and communicate with each other. Many people felt this imprint might have other ideas, but only the basics are introduced.

"The next function I will introduce is the [Home]," continued Wang Wei. "You can buy your own home in the Dream World and customize it as you wish."

Wang Wei waved his hand, and a towering mountain appeared behind him. Under his control, the lonely mountain soon turned into an Immortal Palace shining with Dao Rhyme, exuding luxury and nobility.

He turned to these people and asked, "What do you think?"

People were in deep thought before someone muttered, "This doesn't seem to be useful besides being aesthetically pleasing."

"Not really," countered Ao Shen. "May I ask, do we have the power of unlimited creation in our [Home]?"

"Not unlimited, but yes, you can create whatever you want."

Ao Shen's eyes lit up as he figured out the use of this thing. His demon race is brutal by nature, making them very belligerent.

He opened countless battle colosseums in this territory, allowing them to fight and exercise their nature; he did not want them to become aggressive towards humans and generate another calamity.

Unfortunately, the Colosseum has a major flaw—too many people died in the process.

Although such violent battles allowed him to cultivate elite demon races, the process also killed too many people. Their population has only recuperated in this generation, so Ao Shen felt pain after losing any of them.

However, now, he saw another way. He can create the Colosseum in the Dream World, allowing these demons to fight and kill each other without fearing death.

"It seems some of you have already figured out the use of this [Home] setting," said Wang Wei.

"Many of us have hidden desires or ambitions, some of which we cannot accomplish because of our lack of ability, the devastating effect our actions can have, the fear of failure and death, or restraint by our morality.

"But in your home in the Dream World, you can do whatever you desire.

"If you want to be an Emperor that rules the lives of trillions, you can."

He waved his hand, and the place changed; Wang Wei sat on a throne, looking at all sentient beings.

"If you want to be a mighty general that slaughters all its enemies, you can be."

The setting changed, and he was on a battlefield, commanding a mighty legion.

"If you want to be lost in carnal desires, you can."

As he said these words, one of the representatives was surrounded by hundreds of beautiful women with different temperaments. Some were cold and indifferent, some were doting and loving, some were domineering, some were shy, and some were extremely open and proactive.

The representative almost broke his Dao Heart after seeing these beautiful women, some of whom were on par with the Time Void Empress. Luckily, he was also an immortal and had lived for some time, so his mind was not easily shaken.

"If you have someone in your mind you have lost, and time has diluted their presence and memory in your mind, this setting is perfect for you," continued Wang Wei.

A beautiful woman appeared before him, wearing her iconic long cheongsam and showing her long legs; as soon as she appeared, she immediately stole the limelight from beauties like Xu Shi and Huo Fenghuang simply by her aura and temperament.

Wang Wei raised his hand to caress her face, looking at her with tender eyes; she smiled at him in response. A few seconds later, she vanished in a puff of smoke.

"Now, you should understand the use of this setting," continued Wang Wei, ignoring the strange eyes some people were giving him. He knew with his status and strength, everything he did was major news to be discussed or gossiped; this is why there are still rumors he had a hidden relationship with Xu Shi. However, he did not care.

"I have a question; no, it should be a concern," said Huo Fenghuang.

"Please."

"Could a cultivator use their home to recreate someone they have affection for but could not get in real life, then do something disgusting to them?"

As soon as she said that, many of the women in the room realized the possibility of this happening and began to discuss it.

"Why are you guys acting like it's something only man would do?" said one of the representatives. "Some female cultivators would do the same thing."

"That's true."

"No, we won't."

"Bullshit. Look at our handsome and suave your Majesty is; I'm sure many of you would secretly recreate him and fulfill all your fantasies."

Wang Wei secretly gave that guy a thumbs-up, especially after seeing a few female representatives blush. In the end, when he saw an argument was about to happen, he coughed lightly, stopping everybody:

"This is indeed an issue, but the [Home] setting is the private property of anyone who buys it. So, I will not interfere. After all, whatever they do in their homes will not affect the real person.

"However, there will be rules and regulations for people who cannot distinguish between reality and dream. So, if someone begins to harass the 'real' individual, they will be warned and punished."

Huo Fenghuang nodded and frowned; this was the best in the current situation.

Anyway, she did not have to worry about such a thing. Tier 10 Cultivators are higher dimensional life forms, so if someone tried to recreate them and defile their image, they would immediately know.

The situation is even more favorable for Eternal Emperors who have comprehended their [Existence]. If someone recreated them in this Dream World, they could take control of this Dream Avatar with a single thought.

"Your majesty, this poor monk notices you use the word "purchase," chimed in Feng Heng.

"Yes, the Dream World will use a currency called Dream Coins," said Wang Wei.

"Dream Coins can be condensed by using a small portion of your spiritual power," said Wang Wei as he showed them.

The representatives followed his example and condensed Dream Coins. Many people frowned as this system indicated that they could have endless wealth and resources to use in this Dream World. However, would things be so simple?

'Of course not,' thought Wang Wei. He calculated how many Dream Coins every tier and class of cultivators can condense in a day. The data was based on the weakest of a tier to the most talented individuals, including the Great Emperor World.

Afterward, he priced the things in the Dream World based on that data.

So, even Eternal Emperors like Xu Shi and Feng Heng could be said to be somewhat wealthy and do not have infinite wealth. He made Dream Coins so easy to condense because of mortals and because he only wanted one thing from them—circulation.

This thing is the biggest fraud of the Dream World and hides many secrets.

Chapter 960 Dream World (II)

Wang Wei did not explain the secrets of Dream Coins to them. Instead, he introduced the next setting of the Dream World. A beautiful, small creature with wings appeared before him, landing on his palm.

"Xin, say hi to everybody," said Wang Wei, and the little elf bowed to the representatives:

"It's a pleasure for Xin to make all your acquaintances."

"She's so cute," muttered someone.

"Isn't she?" nodded Wang Wei. "Xin is the Dream World's Dao Heart Spirit. If you have any problem with your Dao Heart, any trouble that is affecting your state of mind, or any Heart Demon, you contact her, and she will help you through it.

"Of course, it's not free."

"Your Majesty, are you serious?" asked Xu Shi. There were no pills or herbs in this world that could help someone with the issue of their Dao Heart. Therefore, the only way to deal with the situation is to become enlightened and deal with the issue individually. Sometimes, the advice of an elder, family, or close friend might help, but in the end, every cultivator with a problem with Dao Heart has to rely on their own.

But, if Xin's abilities are real, the situation might change.

"I would not joke about something like that," explained Wang Wei. Xin, or the Dao Heart Spirit, is the culmination of two different civilizations. He went to his Science and Technology World to learn about psychology or the human mind or psyche.

He visited human civilizations that are based on futuristic versions of Earth, along with civilizations that focus deeply on mental health. After acquiring their knowledge, he combined it with his understanding of the Dao Heart and the state of the cultivation world to create this world's version of a therapist.

From now on, when cultivators have problems with their minds, they can talk to Xin, and she will help them with their problems.

Wang Wei looked at the little elf in his palm.

'Now, she only lacks experience dealing with cultivators. After gathering data for a few thousand years, she will be perfect.'

"Does anyone want to give her a try?"

People hesitated for a moment before a few volunteered.

"Look at your Dream Imprint," continued Wang Wei, and all the representatives looked at the screen before them. The rune was still at the top, but in the middle of the screen were two smaller squares with small characters written at their bottom:

[Communication], [Home], [Dao Heart Spirit].

The volunteers knew what to do, so they used their minds to access the [Dao Heart Spirit]. Immediately afterward, they disappeared from everybody's sight.

However, in less than five minutes, they reappeared.

"You," said Wang Wei, pointing at a middle-aged man who was a representative of the Worshipping Dao Academy. "Tell us your experience."

The man was slightly startled but soon calmed down and talked about his experience:

"I found myself in a white room, and Xin asked me whether I wanted to use Room 1 or Room 2. Room 1 contained two cushions that faced each other, while Room 2 was this strange bed that Xin explained I could use to lie down, making communication easier.

"I chose Room 1, and we had a conversation. I felt like I could tell her my deepest secrets, and she would understand me and not judge. She did not tell me what to do but, through conversation, guided me to figure things out on my own.

"In my life, I have never felt at peace and in tune with myself. Although we only conversed for five minutes, I can feel my spirit become more condensed and my state of mind more peaceful than ever."

Everyone was surprised that such a change could happen in a mere five years.

However, they did not doubt this person's words because they could feel the changes in his aura. Furthermore, the other volunteers had a similar experience.

"Let's continue," said Wang Wei. "The next setting is [Cultivation Simulation]. As the name implies, you can simulate different aspects of cultivation.

"If someone is stuck at a bottleneck or feels their chances at breaking into the next realm are low, they can stimulate their breakthrough in the Dream World before attempting it in the world.

"This setting is not just for cultivation. You can simulate refining a pill, weapon, talisman, array, puppets, and even certain techniques that you want to create but are not sure which direction to take."

No one could remain calm after hearing this function. The Emperor Lineages might not completely care about the cultivation simulations since their sect cultivates Heaven Chosens, but it's not the same for the Supreme, Holy, and Law Lands.

The happiest of this group was the Loose Cultivators, who had no or flawed cultivation inheritance; such a function is their version of God.

But the function of this thing goes beyond what is stated. The Emperor Lineages wished to cultivate Immortal Sovereigns in this generation, but the breakthrough to Tier 11 involved a bottleneck for all Immortal Paths.

But now, the success rate for breakthroughs can drastically increase after simulating countless times.

"Our Profession Dao will enter an age of prosperity," muttered the representatives from the Origin Pill Dao Sect. Alchemists, or any professions, have high status because of their rarity, and there are not many of them because too many resources are required to cultivate even the most talented professions.

Now, the issue of resources has been dealt with. Factions can use the Dream World to cultivate professions without wasting too many resources.

"Your Majesty, how accurate is the simulation? Can I simulate refine Emperor Tier Pill that requires the Grand Dao Source?"

"The accuracy is 99.9%, and yes, you can simulate Emperor Tier Pills."

He spent a lot of effort in this Dream World, using the help of Dong Lifen, the Eternal Dream Sect, and even countless profession Insurgents in his factions, ensuring there was nothing wrong with the simulations. He also infused it with his Fate Dao, which can control Myriad Daos, along with Heavenly Dao's Heaven Dao.

As such, the simulations were perfect, but he did not say that because he knew there was no absolute in this world.

"I'm assuming we have to pay to use this simulation. But do we also have to pay for the simulated materials for refining?" asked Ao Shen; he was also very excited about this setting. His demon race does not have much talent for professions. However, he can now pile up a bunch of professions using simulations.

No matter how untalented his clan is, after trying to refine a pill or weapon more than 10,000 times, they should succeed. If 10,000 times is not enough, then try a hundred thousand times.

"It's free to refine anything below the Immortal Tier," explained Wang Wei. "For Immortal Tier creations, you must pay a fee for every ten materials."

Everyone thought this was fair; after all, the value of Mortal Items paled compared to Immortal Tier.

"I'm in a good mood, so I will tell you a secret way to use this setting," said Wang Wei. "You can simulate what it would be like to be a Great Emperor, including an Eternal. I don't need to tell you the benefit of doing this."

The representatives' eyes lit up. After experiencing the power of a Great Emperor, it's easier for their Dao Ancestors to create Insurgent Tier Techniques.

"I have another concern," said Huo Fenghuang. "Does the Dream World fall into the jurisdiction of the court?"

Wang Wei looked at her, and he knew what she wanted to ask: what will happen to the Dream World after he leaves? Will the court control it or the Dao Opening Sect?

"The Dream World is the property of the Dao Opening Sect, but the court has some power over it," explained Wang Wei.

"Members of the court have discounts for certain products of the Dream World, and the Heavenly Emperor of each generation has the power to make certain changes to the Dream World, but it's limited."

"Your majesty, can you elaborate."

"Whoever sits on the throne cannot do as they please, like banning people from entering the Dream World without any reason or making it so that the factions do not have to pay for any of the functions.

"However, I also understand the situation is ever-changing, and I cannot calculate everything. So, if there is a situation where it's necessary to make changes to the Dream World, the Heavenly Emperor will have the power to do so."

"What if an Emperor makes a decision and the Dao Opening Sect disagrees?"

"Heavenly Dao will be the tie-breaker," replied Wang Wei, and people would accept this decision. Heavenly Dao will make decisions based purely on rationale and facts and will prioritize the world instead of any singular factions, so it's the best tie-breaker.

Wang Wei looked at these people and could see some of their worries and hesitation, "The Dream World is more of a neutral existence. It belongs to the Dao Opening Sect because I created it, and it provides the sect with luck and destiny. Under most situations, it will remain intact and unaffected by the political landscape of the Endless Void.

"I will perfect the rules and regulations before leaving, so there is no need to worry."

Everyone felt relieved. So far, the Heavenly Emperor has displayed his fairness to ensure the Dao Opening Sect does not completely dominate the Heavenly Court and the world. Therefore, they felt relieved by his words.

"Let's talk about the final setting of the Dream World." As Wang Wei said these words, a magnificent tower appeared in the distance, rising from the ground all the way to the clouds.

"The [Battle Tower of Ten Thousand Worlds]," he said with a smile. "As you can guess, this is a place where you can fight with anyone without fear of death."

The bodies used in the Dream World are composed of Dream Power, so it's not a problem for it to die. Mortals will experience short periods of dizziness due to their lack of spiritual power, but they can quickly recover after a short nap.

"The tower has many functions, including my favorite—Emperor Imprints," continued Wang Wei. "I have recreated the imprints of all the Great Emperors of the world, meaning you can fight a projection of them during any stages of their cultivation—including after proving the Dao."

These people's eyes lit up after hearing this; many people wanted to fight a Great Emperor. Some Emperors were mediocre in their youth or early stages of cultivation, so it's possible to maltreat them and gain a sense of achievement.

"This is just the beginning," said Wang Wei.

"In the future, geniuses, Heaven Chosens, powerhouses, and Great Emperors from all the World Communities will appear in the tower so that you can battle them.

"There will be countless lists ranking the geniuses and powerhouses—including Great Emperors—of different worlds. I even plan to create a list to rank all the races in the Endless Void."

The representatives' eyes shrunk as they realized the implications behind these words.
