

Forced Marriage with CEO

6 # YES!!

Myra's POV

"Now I'm in the cafe near the park, we will meet in the park after half an hour," I lied to Mrs. Ariana, as I didn't find anything to say to her. The fact is that I'm not ready to meet her. I have seen lots of expectations in her eyes last night.

I got ready as I have to meet her after half an hour. If I try, I can convince her that I'm not ready for this marriage and they are forcing me. I can tell her the truth that I can't leave Delhi, India because of my mother.

I was in my trance when the door of my room was cracked open and I saw four figures standing there. I gulped as I know what will be going on.

I'm not weak but I can not fight with them as I'm in their debt.

"Dear, sister, Myra... You know that we are cousins, yet till today, we have always considered you as our family, paid for your studies, paid the medical fees of your mother. From where?" Aarjav emerged and viciously smirked.

"The amount was the income of our company, and we need a huge amount of money to save our company. Only Austin can pay and save us from the obligation," Aarjav continued with the same smirk.

"Listen, my son, you need not talk to her politely, she is a bitch! You need to plead with her," Mrs. Kapoor entered the room then harshly ground her teeth, "Ask her, where is she going? To meet Mr. Black or Mrs. Ariana Black?"

I gulped hard with the thought, "How does she know?"

I just nodded.

"You are ungrateful to your family, how could you let sink the hard work of your grandpa in our business? Don't you wanna save the empire built by your grandpa?" She harshly pulled my hair back, Even though I screamed my screams didn't affect any of them. My screams were overcome by their laugh. I didn't want to make a fool of myself in front of those stone-hearted people.

I was starting at the four heartless people that had made my life worsen till now and felt pity for Natalie also, who is going to be caged in their jail. These greedy people will make her life hell too.

Raima was always in search of an opportunity so that she could use me and this time they got it. I ran away from her till now but my Mom's health is dependent on their mercy.

"Leave mom," Aarjav came between me and my aunt. I sighed and felt susceptible as she left my hair.

"Stop paying the medical fees of her mom, right now," Aarjav hardened his tone as I looked up in disbelief.

"No..." I joined my hands kneeling in front of them.

"Call at the hospital, Dad..." Aarjav laughed evilly. Sometimes I truly feel that he can not be my brother.

"No... Please..."

"Look, Myra. You are forcing me to do this," He knelt and lifted my chin. Meanwhile, tears already ruined my face.

"If Raima didn't create a scene, she would marry Austin. She announced you as a bride, now I can't change the statement. Even if I try, I will not get success because Mrs. Ariana already likes you. If you will say 'no', there are more than a hundred percent chances of breaking our wedding too. I want money and for that, I can never let go of Nate, I want her by hook or crook," He gritted angrily as the rage was dripping from his eyes.

"Dad, will you call, or do you want me to call?" He asked while his eyes were boring my green Emerald orbs. I cried helplessly.

"No matter what, you will say 'Yes' to Mrs. Arianna. Do you get it?" Aarjav threatened me and Raima pinched my waist harshly as I howled in pain and stumbled at my place.

"If you will say anything about us to Mrs. Ariana Black, trust me, I will drag your mother out of the hospital by pulling her hair," she tightened her hold on my waist with a wicked smirk on her face. There is no doubt she will do this. She left my waist squeezing hard for the last and got up. I winced in pain and my hand abruptly rubbed the skin where she pinched me, pinch... It was minor, she tore my skin.

"Dare to say, anyone that we are forcing you," My aunt laughed wickedly and they left. Aarjav whirled, "Be a good girl and meet Mrs. Ariana, convince her that you are ready to meet Austin, otherwise the consequences will not be good for your mother," He threatened me for the last time before emigrating it of my room.

I took my phone immediately and called the hospital to confirm that they didn't stop the payment.

"Hello," I shrieked as the nurse who was hired for my mom picked up the call.

"Hello, Myra, I was about to call you," The head nurse retorted.

"Why?" I stammered.

"Mr. Kapoor ordered to stop the treatment, despite the fees of this month being already paid. What happened, is everything alright?" She asked me as I stumbled. They really stopped it.

"Hello... Hello... Myra, are you there?" I wiped off my tears immediately and thinned my lips to stop my sobs.

"Yes, I'm here. I will do something, give me a few minutes," I retorted and hung up the call while running towards the living hall.

All of them were sitting on the sofa with winning smirks on their faces. I rapidly asserted, "I'm ready and I will not say anything to anyone."

Raima clapped laughing loudly as I lowered my gaze as I'm again failed, I can not fight with them. Is Austin my destiny?

"Please, don't stop my mom's treatment," I begged while kneeling down and again my eyes flooded.

"It will be done, but first go and meet Mrs. Ariana, I want a call from her that she agrees to Austin and your wedding," Aarjav smirked and ordered me.

"I will convince her," I got up and ran out of the house. Because I know how much time it will take, it will be worse for my mother. I can not play with her health. I can die but can not let her cry and never let her suffer.

I booked the cab and set my location to the Park. As the cab stopped, I paid the bill and went to the washroom area. Turning on the tap, I splashed water on my face. I don't use makeup so I'm sure that I'm not looking horrible. I removed a hat and made free my hair and also stroked them to give a final touch, so I need not comb them again.

I looked here and there if she came or not, I scolded myself, "I'm a big fool, how could I ask her to come to the park? She is so rich, how can I do this stupidity?"

I pulled out my phone to call her when suddenly small hands wrapped my midriff. I was startled by the sudden hug and my phone slipped from my hand.

I whirled to see who is there, and I found a little boy. I chuckled thinking who is he? Then, he lifted his gaze to match mine.

"Aaron," I chuckled seeing him. I forgot all the pain seeing his smile. I broke the hug as he was behind me. I took my phone and slid it into my pocket. Then, I whirled to face him, "What are you doing here, baby?"

"I came to play with super granny?" He answered with his dimple smile. He is so adorable. I hugged him as I couldn't stop myself from hugging this adorable kid.

I checked the surroundings to find his guards only. I sighed as I have to leave, I want to meet Mrs. Black urgently.

"Okay, enjoy your day, I need to go, honey," I pecked on her forehead leaning forward.

"Wait, Myra, this is for you," He forwarded his hand to his head bodyguard and the man handed him a small box. He took the box and handed me, "Thank you for helping me yesterday."

He is so cute and his tone was so melodious, I was almost in his musical voice. I couldn't deny him, so I accepted the box from him.

"I brought this for my Mom, but granny said, I should give it to you and grateful for you," He said politely. He is rich and spoiled but he has also so some good manners. He must have a good mother.

"May I leave, honey?" I asked but he held my hand and pouted unhappily.

"Please, play with me. I don't have anybody to play with," He made his face as if he will cry anytime. I couldn't deny him and I couldn't stay here as it is urgent to meet Mrs. Black. What to do?

I pulled out my phone to call Mrs. Black, but Aaron held my hand and pulled me with him. I trailed behind him as there was no option for me.

We started playing games, and catch-catch, then we went to the see-saw, enjoying ourselves there, we moved towards the swings. It has been an hour, I was frequently checking up the time, with every second my heart was plopping as there was no sign of Mrs. Black.

Maybe, she came and doesn't like the place so she left without meeting me. Thousands of negative thoughts came into my brain. When Aaron was tired of playing, I requested him, "Baby, I have important work. Please, may I go?"

"Okay, but meet my granny at least, she will be glad to meet you," He wished and again my heart surrendered. He led me towards the other side of the park. Every corner of the park was covered by his guards.

As he led me, I was dumbfounded and walked behind him mindlessly. Abruptly, he stopped me and I lifted my gaze to greet his granny but what I saw...!

Mrs. Black...!

"Hello, Myra," She smiled at me.

"You are here," I asked with opened mouth. Is she his granny?

"She is my super grandma and she is Myra, who saved me yesterday," Aaron hugged her super grandma.

"Please, sit..." She gestured for me to sit next to her. I shut my mouth and sat next to her.

We started with normal gossip and then she raised the topic of the wedding when Aaron moved to play with his sentinels.

"Myra, would you like to marry Austin? No force, if you like him you say yes if you are not willing to do this wedding, you can say 'No', " her tone became heavy. She was expecting a yes from me as my answer.

"My grandson is a little arrogant but trust me he has a pure and innocent heart inside. You should meet him, but there are so many secrets in his heart. You have to bring him back to his pleased life. He suffered a lot to reach this position, so he became rude and arrogant but he is not so bad," She was blabbering so many things but my mind was not stable to understand what she was talking about as I'm only worried about my mom.

"I'm willing to marry him, Mrs. Black," I asserted immediately, and with a huge smile plastered on her face, she hugged me instantly.

"One more thing, Aaron is Austin's son, with marrying Austin, Aaron's responsibility will be yours, are you ready for that?" She asked something but I couldn't concentrate on her words.

I gave her a fake smile and answered, "Yes."

Something was about to Aaron, after all, he is also in Mr. Black's family, of course, I have to take care of him.

"I'm so happy," Mrs. Ariana pulled out her phone and dialed someone. I wish she would call Aarjav.

"Jason, she said - Yes," she chirped happily and there was no limit to her happiness. But my happiness was lying on the hospital bed.

She talked on the phone call and once she hung up, I pleaded, "Will you please call Aarjav that the wedding is final?"

'Yes," She dialed again.

As I heard her words, "Hello, Aarjav. Now, start the preparation for the wedding. Myra said Yes and Austin is already ready for this wedding. I'm so happy, and you have such a lovely sister."

She caressed my cheeks and hung up the call. I excused myself and called brother Aarjav.

"I have done as you said, please don't stop her treatments, " I begged as he picked up the call.

"It will be continued until you will do as we say," He warned me in his stern and Democratic tone.

"Okay," I agreed and then I again called the hospital. The nurse told me that they allowed us to proceed with her treatments. She asked me what was going on, but what to say to her. I haven't any answer for it.

Aron didn't leave me for a while and my half-day passed with them. We went to have lunch together. And there he sat with me and I fed him with my hands as it was insisted by him. I don't know why but I couldn't deny him for his any demand.

"May I go home?" I wanted to ask but before I could ask, After lunch, she asked me, "Umm, can we go shopping? As I don't know anything about Indian culture. So I need help and I will call Nate also. Can you come?"