11: Chapter 11 Are you envious of such a university?_1

11 -11 Are you envious of such a university?_1

It seems that today, even more students who didn't score well in the College Entrance Examination have arrived to register at Mist City Arts and Science University than yesterday?

Returning to the school, Ding Yue was ready to head back to his principal's office.

"Hello, Principal Ding."

As Ding Yue walked down the campus avenue, he was greeted by four male students coming his way.

One of them even called out a greeting to him.

Looks familiar.

Ding Yue quickly thought back, this student seemed to be Liu Yuhao, wasn't he?

"Hello, Liu Yuhao, right?

Made some new friends already?"

With a smile, Ding Yue nodded, believing that the three people beside Liu Yuhao were his new classmates or roommates that he met after arriving at Mist City Arts and Science University.

"Principal Ding, these guys are my high school classmates and friends.

I invited them to all come and register here at Mist City Arts and Science University, hehe."

Liu Yuhao proclaimed with pride.

"So you guys have registered as well?"

“Yeah, Principal Ding, we just finished our registration, but I have a suggestion, or more accurately a request, could you...”

Zhou Xingjiang somewhat hesitated, looking at Ding Yue.

“Go ahead, say it.”

Ding Yue is about their age, which should make communication with them quite easy.

“Originally, we planned to rent a place outside the school, but after checking, the nearest residential areas for rent are all quite far away.

And right across from our university is the art academy, hehe.

So we decided to live on campus, it’s just...”

“Are you all hoping to live in the same dormitory?”

Being quite observant, Ding Yue instantly figured out what Liu Yuhao and his buddies were hoping for.

“Yes, yes, yes, Principal Ding, we get along great, it would be awesome if we could all live in the same dorm.”

Chen Yang quickly nodded in agreement.

“Sure, no problem.

Here at Mist City Arts and Science University, we’re not like those traditional and conservative colleges.

You guys just meet with housing to discuss whether you want to stay in a four-person room or a suite, both are possible.”

Ding Yue spread out his hands, indicating there was not a problem.

For Mist City Arts and Science University to distinguish itself, we cannot follow tradition when it comes to student accommodation arrangement.

Who knows how many college students have had disagreements and conflicts with roommates due to the university’s forced roommate arrangement?

There have even been incidents that have ended in casualties.

To know, one significant aspect of a college student’s life is to have close and supportive roommates.

Otherwise, one's college life would be considered lacking.

"Principal Ding, you are...really..." Zhang Ziming initially wanted to shower Principal Ding with compliments, but he stumbled over the right adjective.

"You need to read more, are you trying to say that our Principal Ding is... exceedingly understanding and fair?"

"Yes, yes, yes, understanding and fair, and extremely open-minded!"

"Okay, now that you've completed registration, you might as well handle the dorm arrangements while you're at it.

Then rest for a few days to familiarize yourselves with the campus, because military training is starting soon."

Ding Yue gave some advice to the students.

"Okay, Principal Ding, see you, Principal Ding." Liu Yuhao and the others parted, brimming with happiness.

"See you."

The four of them had originally planned to rent a large house off-campus as they are all well-off.

But they only realized after arriving at Mist City Arts and Science University.

The school was so remote in University Town that even the nearest residential area was several kilometers away.

If they rented a house in a residential area, they would be too far from the art academy opposite them.

It would be inconvenient for visiting and hitting on girls.

Then Liu Yuhao and his group realized the amenities in the school's dormitories were quite decent, which had them contemplating staying on campus instead.

But they had one concern.

If they did stay on campus, the dorms would be assigned by the school, and it's highly likely that the four of them would not be placed in the same dormitory or suite.

Liu Yuhao was preparing to find an opportunity to bring up this proposal with the school.

They happened to run into Principal Ding just now, and to their surprise, he was incredibly understanding and open-minded.

He agreed to students choosing roommates or switching dorms on their own accord.

The four friends could now live together in a suite, making Liu Yuhao extremely happy.

He immediately pulled out his phone and posted about his school, Mist City Arts and Science University, on Twitter under the #2020NewCollegeStudent topic.

“Our university actually allows students to freely choose dormitories.

Aside from males not being able to live with females, you can freely choose who you have as your roommate.

Are you envious of my university?

Hahahahaha!

[Silly picture.jpg]”

After Liu Yuhao’s tweet was posted, he quickly received many comments from other users.

Daily Sweetness: Damn, what a fairy tale university!

Jiang Qing, Please Always Be Happy: Aren’t dormitory assignments and roommates usually decided by the university after new students register?

You can freely choose?

Destiny Zhaozhao: Is your school really that good?

A Can of Salt: So envious~ I currently really hate my roommate.

I feel like we are in completely different worlds.

Yet, universities persistently group us together, and it’s very annoying; We have so many disagreements!

Ten Miles Incense Flute: What college do you attend?

It’s so good?

Liu Yuhao’s reply to @Ten Miles Incense Flute: Mist City Arts and Science University!

Many young college students were extremely envious of Liu Yuhao's school.

"You think that's it?

Our school even has cooler rules, like the option to customize your major based on your hobbies!"

Liu Yuhao promoted his own school, Mist City Arts and Science University, again in the comments section of the #2020NewCollegeStudent topic on Twitter.

The comments erupted in a mixture of envy and disbelief.

Vaguely Hear You Say You Love Me: Major customized based on hobbies?

[Is there such an operation meme.jpg]

My Dad is the Richest: Isn't this the previously mentioned Mist City Art and Science University?

An Xiaoyi233: Huh, I think I saw something about Mist City Art and Science University in the College Entrance Exam Bar.

They really let you customize your major based on hobbies?

Zhu Zhu's Honey Tangerine: The various interesting educational ideas this school has are quite good, but it's unfortunately just a private undergraduate university.

The overall quality of the school is probably not that great.

I scored 620 on the exam this year, so I certainly wouldn't go to this university.

Be a Little Braver GO: It's just a worthless diploma mill using these gimmicks to recruit students, only good-for-nothings who can't get into a real university would go there.

Both those who envy and those who look down on Mist City Art and Science University can be found online.

The envious ones are usually those that didn't do well in this year's College Entrance Exam, or those who are dissatisfied with their current university.

Those who look down on Mist City Art and Science University are usually either attending public or prestigious schools.

Naturally, compared to private universities, they have a sense of superiority.

12: Chapter 12: This News is Simply Godsend_1

12 -12: This News is Simply Godsend_1

In fact.

For students in public or key universities, it's quite normal to feel superior to an obscure private university.

After all, in our country, there's currently no private university that can rival the likes of key universities such as those in the '985/211' plan.

However.

Many students from public universities consider the selection criteria for enrolment at Mist City Arts and Science University, as well as its freedom to choose roommates as nothing more than flashy gimmicks.

They think it's simply a strategy to lure more people to apply for enrolment at Mist City Arts and Science University.

How else can a private university turn a profit, if not by these means?

After returning to his office, Ding Yue came across these online discussions about Mist City Arts and Science University.

Exactly!

We are promoting Mist City Arts and Science University in this way to recruit students and make money.

So what?

However.

This is only one of the reasons.

Beyond wanting to make money and complete his task, Ding Yue also wishes to create a university unlike any other.

This includes tailoring majors according to students' interests, and allowing them to freely choose dorms and roommates.

These are the breakouts made by Ding Yue from the traditional university shackles.

After browsing Twitter for a while, Ding Yue made a phone call to Huang Youjie.

“Hello, Principal Ding, what can I do for you?” asked Huang Youjie.

“Huang, aren’t you in charge of our college’s enrolment and dormitory logistics?”

About dormitory allocation, our college’s philosophy is to permit students to choose freely.

Understand what I mean?”

Ding Yue needed to make this clear to Huang Youjie so that upon facing numerous requests from students to change dormitories in the future, he wouldn’t be caught off guard.

“Free choice of dormitory for students?” Huang Youjie seemed not to quite comprehend Ding Yue’s intention.

Realizing this, Ding Yue patiently explained, “It means that if students want to share dorms with their good friends or those on friendly terms with them, we do our best to help facilitate this.”

“That sounds like a good idea, but Principal Ding, what if there’s a boy who wants to roommate with a girl?” Huang Youjie asked, sounding as innocent as a lamb.

“Get lost, of course there will be separate dorms for boys and girls, otherwise, wouldn’t it be a mess?” said Ding Yue, feigning anger.

“Hehe, OK, I understand.

I guarantee to strictly follow Principal Ding’s instructions!”

“Alright, try your best to accommodate the students’ housing needs, I have to go now.”

After hanging up, Ding Yue saw that official Twitter and TikTok accounts administrated by Mist City Arts and Science University, which he had applied for the night before, had been verified.

Then.

Ding Yue began to campaign on both Twitter and TikTok via the official accounts of Mist City Arts and Science University.

The goal is to “deceive” more College Entrance Examination dropouts to apply.

The promotional copy has long been thought through by Ding Yue.

The selling points would be these three.

The first one being the customization of majors according to students' interests.

The second one being the ability to freely choose roommates after enrolment, although genders are divided.

The last one being that during military training for freshmen, the school will arrange for all-female military training instructors.

This is definitely a plus!

Although Ding Yue hasn't received accurate news from Mist City Military Art College regarding the third part.

He added it anyway for promotional purposes.

Shortly after releasing this promotional copy on Twitter and TikTok, Ding Yue received a call from Principal Chen of Mist City Military Art College.

"Hello Principal Chen."

"Xiao Ding, we have held a school committee meeting, Mist City Arts and Science University after all, is a local university of Mist City.

If you have a demand for training instructors, then we of course, should offer strong support in response."

"You mean your college has agreed?"

Hearing this, Ding Yue was pleasantly surprised.

"Xiao Ding, how many training instructors do you need?"

You can come directly to our university to choose the best candidates."

Principal Chen asked courteously.

"Principal Chen, as for the exact number of instructors we need, that's uncertain for now.

It all depends on enrolment numbers and class allocation."

"That's alright, it's not a big issue.

As for the training fee...."

Finally, Principal Chen had arrived at the critical point.

Why would the Mist City Military Art College agree to let Ding Yue choose female military students from their school to be training instructors?

The One-million-dollar fee obviously plays a key role.

Why not, if it's as simple as dispatching some students to provide military training?

"Principal Chen, rest assured.

I'll sign a corresponding cooperation agreement with your college soon to maintain our good relationship in the future."

Ding Yue assured that paying a million dollars in fees was not a problem.

As long as they could get beautiful training instructors, one million would be a worthwhile expenditure for Ding Yue and the Mist City Arts and Science University.

"Alright, Xiao Ding, I look forward to welcoming you to visit Mist City Military Art College once again."

"Sure, Principal Chen, goodbye."

Ding Yue finally breathed a sigh of relief.

With beautiful military training instructors, he believed the training efficiency will be boosted during the military drill and that Mist City Arts and Science University will be a unique sight among national universities during the military training period.

Ding Yue opened the Twitter app again on his phone.

He was curious to see how many comments the netizens had made on his university promotion on Twitter.

However.

Just as Ding Yue logged into Twitter, a trending news story caught his eye.

Trending #1——[Female university student attacks roommates with a knife before graduation!]

Huh?

This news headline successfully caught Ding Yue's attention.

Therefore, Ding Yue immediately clicked to check out the details.

It reported that a senior female student from Guangcheng University, due to long-established conflicts with her roommates, attacked her three roommates with a knife before graduation!

Hissh!

This news chilled countless college students to the bone.

In the comment section, many people repeated the phrase “Thanks to my roommate for sparing my life,” while others commented on the difficult issue of dorm conflicts and the educational philosophy of free choice of roommates adopted by Mist City Arts and Science University.

Ding Yue found it interesting that among the top comments, there were discussions sparked by Mist City Arts and Science University’s choice to let students freely choose their roommates.

Undoubtedly, this brought even more attention to the efforts made by Mist City Arts and Science University in dormitory culture.

Truth be told.

This news event, featuring a female university student attacking her roommates before graduation, served as a free ad for Mist City Arts and Science University’s enrolment campaign this time.

Because many netizens in the comments section praised the housing arrangement of Mist City Arts and Science University!

“It seems an incident like this occurs almost every year, like a problem with no solution.”

“Yeah, it reminds me of the year when the roommate poisoning incident happened.”

“Honestly, it’s fine if you have good roommates.

If you have annoying ones, prepare to suffer for four years.”

“If the conflict is too strong, perhaps even I could take such a crazy action.”

“I seriously can’t stand my roommates now, but I can’t change my dorm.

I don’t even want to study anymore.

I feel like I’m getting depressed (T_T)O”

“I think the idea of letting students freely choose their roommates at Mist City Arts and Science University is quite good.”

“Mist City Arts and Science University seems to be doing quite well in many areas, except for perhaps the teaching quality.”

“Why do I keep hearing about Mist City Arts and Science University from netizens recently?”

13: Chapter 13 Lesson From The Past_1

13 -13 Lesson From The Past_1

Mist City Arts and Science University.

In the Administration Building, a spacious office, Ding Yue was standing in front of a huge glass window, looking out at the campus.

This was originally a meeting room.

Seeing the spacious and well-lit room with a large glass window, Ding Yue decided to turn it into his office.

Out of the over two hundred people he hired yesterday, Ding Yue selected a few who were efficient and hard-working.

Today, he continued to employ them to assist Huang Youjie and Xu Bin in recruiting students.

In addition, he had them clean up the Administration Building.

After all, this Administration Building hadn't been used for several years since the original Mist City Siyuan University collapsed.

If it was not cleaned up, it would be impossible to use.

But they couldn't always rely on these temporary workers, could they?

Therefore, Ding Yue asked Huang Youjie to recruit some internal staff for the logistics department.

Looking out of the big window and seeing more and more students on campus, Ding Yue felt a great sense of satisfaction.

Each student was a walking “RMB”!

Knock knock knock!

At that moment, there was a knock on the door of the president's office.

“Come in.”

Feeling a bit hot, Ding Yue turned around and walked back to his desk, slumping comfortably into his chair.

He turned on the newly installed air conditioner.

The person who walked in was a familiar face: Liu Changwen from the Siyuan Group.

“Mr.

Liu, welcome.”

“Xiao Ding, your office is magnificent!

With so many people in the university today, are you planning to continue renting it?”

Liu Changwen walked over with a smile, taking out a pack of cigarettes and offering one to Ding Yue.

“I quit, thank you.”

Ding Yue reached out his hand, signaling the other chair in front of his desk: “Mr.

Liu, please have a seat.”

“Thank you.”

After sitting down, Liu Changwen instinctively wanted to light a cigarette, but seeing that Ding Yue didn't smoke, he put it back.

“Mr.

Liu, I don't plan on renting anymore.”

“Oh?

You're not renting anymore?

Then today's situation..." Liu Changwen was puzzled, thinking that if Ding Yue didn't want to rent, he should have given him advance notice yesterday.

Otherwise, the rent for today should still be charged.

"Ahem, what I meant is, I plan on buying it outright." Ding Yue declared magnanimously.

Hearing Ding Yue's words, Liu Changwen's eyes widened in disbelief, then his heart filled with excitement.

"Mr.

Liu?"

Seeing Liu Changwen's stunned expression, Ding Yue slightly furrowed his brows and called him.

Regaining his senses, Liu Changwen said: "Xiao..."

I mean, Mr.

Ding, do you mean to say that you want to buy this campus?"

This news was undoubtedly the most exciting thing for Liu Changwen.

Because the Siyuan Group had been wanting to sell off this campus for a long time, but unfortunately, no one had been willing to take it on.

Now that someone finally wanted to buy it.

How could they not be thrilled?

Liu Changwen's title for Ding Yue had also changed, from Xiao Ding to Mr.

Ding.

"How much?"

Ding Yue cut to the chase.

"Mr.

Ding, you're really generous.

The asking price for this campus is one billion RMB.

This is already a very low price.

If we were not in need of funds, we would definitely not be selling it at such a low price.

After all, this campus is 2500 acres.”

Liu Changwen stated sincerely.

One billion RMB, it sounded like a high price.

But considering this 2500-acre campus, it was undoubtedly a bargain sale.

Perhaps Siyuan Group didn't spend much money when they bought this land in University Town, but to build a university on this land, that must have cost several billion.

Right?

Not to mention the teaching buildings, experimental buildings, library, Administration Building, two cafeterias, more than ten dormitory buildings, a sports field, basketball court, and so on within the campus.

Although they were a bit old, they were still usable after some cleaning.

“Mr.

Liu, since I sincerely want to buy, can you give some discount?”

Ding Yue even tried to bargain.

Liu Changwen was a bit at a loss, and gave an awkward laugh: “Mr.

Ding, the price I just mentioned really is the lowest...”

“Alright then.”

Hearing this, Ding Yue shrugged: “Then Mr.

Liu, please prepare the necessary documents and contract when you get back.

We'll sign it when it's ready.”

“Great, Mr.

Ding is indeed a straightforward person!”

The heavy stone hanging over Liu Changwen's heart finally fell to the ground.

Finally, someone was willing to take over this campus.

"By the way, Mr.

Liu, there's something I'd like to ask you.

Do you know where I could find services like campus sanitation, utility maintenance, security, and so on?"

Ding Yue suddenly asked.

The school definitely needs basic staff.

Otherwise, who would take care of the sanitation?

You surely don't want the students to do it, right?

This is a university, not a middle or high school.

You have to hire people to do these things.

And there's also maintenance for water and electricity pipes; those jobs need specialized workers.

You need school security staff as well, and dormitory supervisors, etc.

"That won't be a problem.

Mr.

Ding, don't worry.

I'll contact the staffing company we've worked with before.

Err, Mr.

Ding, are you planning on opening a university?"

Liu Changwen had wanted to ask this question for a while.

Because when he arrived today, he saw many students registering on campus.

At first, Liu Changwen thought that Ding Yue was just like the previous educational institution that rented this campus, merely renting a space to recruit students for show or something.

But now, Ding Yue said he wanted to buy this campus outright and also recruit staff.

Isn't this the pace of opening a university?

"Yes."

Ding Yue didn't beat around the bush, and directly answered.

"Mr.

Ding, nowadays, it's not easy to run a private university.

The quality of the students you can recruit may not be as good as those of public universities.

Even though they get the diploma, the employment rate of graduates is too low.

Low employment rates make recruitment even harder, leading to a vicious cycle.

In the end, the fate of our Mist City Siyuan University is a lesson to be learned."

Liu Changwen kindly reminded Ding Yue.

Running a private educational institution may be profitable initially, but it could become unsustainable and collapse.

After all, the social status of private universities is lower than that of public universities, without government educational funding!

If you look at the whole of Xia Country, almost no private university can compete with the first-tier public universities.

"Really?"

No problem."

Ding Yue laughed lightly, looking relaxed and at ease.

With the system in hand, he could earn a reward of a billion just by completing the recruitment task.

As for such a "lavish" system, why would he be afraid of the school going bankrupt?

“Alright then, I’m sure Mr.

Ding has a lot of confidence.

I will go back and prepare the contracts and related documents.

Once they’re ready, I’ll come and find you, Mr.

Ding.”

Liu Changwen didn’t wish to say more.

While their experience could serve as a cautionary tale for others, it doesn’t mean that others won’t succeed.

All he could say was – Good luck!

14: Chapter 14 The Number of Admissions is Kind of Exploding_1

14 -14 The Number of Admissions is Kind of Exploding_1

The recruitment work on the second day went quite smoothly.

It just wore Huang Youjie out.

Because on the first day, the recruitment work was done by Ding Yue, Huang Youjie, and Xu Bin together with their team.

But Huang Youjie was the main person in charge on the second day.

Xu Bin was assigned a new task by Ding Yue, which was to urgently create the official forum for Mist City Arts and Science University.

The third day was supposed to be the last day of enrollment, but many netizens sent private messages to the official account of Mist City Arts and Science University, asking if they could still register?

Given this situation.

Ding Yue decided to extend the enrollment for another day.

In fact, after the enrollment work on the second day ended, the system’s [5000 Student Enrollment Task] had already been completed.

That's right.

In just two days, more than 5000 students came to register at the Mist City Arts and Science University.

Most of them were students who failed the College Entrance Examination this year.

They did not receive their university admission notices during the summer vacation this year, but they all longed to go to university.

When the "Unrestricted Imagination" enrollment philosophy of the Mist City Arts and Science University suddenly appeared, it immediately gave these examinees, who had no colleges to attend after failing the College Entrance Examination, a warm university harbor.

Ding!

"Congratulations to the host for completing the 5000 Student Enrollment Task, awarded 10 reputation points."

This is a task of the [University Development Task System], as Ding Yue's Mist City Arts and Science University continues to develop, various tasks will be generated for Ding Yue daily.

As long as they are completed, reputation points can be earned as a reward.

Aside from this, there is also an enrollment task, which to be precise, should not be considered a task.

But it's a direct reward.

As long as the "enrollment" task is completed, there will be a reward of one hundred million yuan cash.

After the completion of a certain military training, there will be a reward as well.

Ding Yue could see these reward details on the system's virtual panel.

In addition, there are various "events" also with rewards, like [Completion of the Opening Ceremony Speech], [Official Opening of The School], [First Vacation] etc.

It's much easier to get these, Ding Yue at least feels that it's definitely easier than the [University Development Task], just needs to follow the process, barring any unexpected situations, he could basically get these rewards.

The fourth day of school's enrollment was coming to a close.

In the evening, in the Chancellor's office of Mist City Arts and Science University, Ding Yue was chatting with a WeChat friend named "Jian Zihao".

Jian Zihao: Is the Mist City Arts and Science University mentioned online established by you?

"Yes."

Ding Yue replied to Jian Zihao, and then asked: "Many students who failed the College Entrance Exam are interested in gaming, so our school is planning to set up an E-Sports major, so I was thinking, you've retired, right?"

Can we invite you to come over as a lecturer, just teach a few classes a week, it won't take up much of your time."

Jian Zihao: This...

Ding Yue sent him a super rocket to be the top donor during Jian Zihao's live stream last night, and then added Jian Zihao's personal WeChat.

Ding Yue did this with a purpose, of course.

That's right.

Ding Yue planned to invite this famous League of Legends professional e-sports player in the Parallel World, no, to be precise, he was a former professional player, who just recently announced his retirement, Jian Zihao to take on the role of a lecturer responsible for teaching e-sports gaming operations at Mist City Arts and Science University.

"Of course, there will be compensation, how about an annual salary of one million?"

Ding Yue quoted directly.

For Jian Zihao, one million might not be much, but for just giving a few casual lectures, and no classes during winter and summer holidays, it does have quite an attraction to earn a million just like that.

Jian Zihao: Actually, I'm quite interested, and there's compensation, how about I think about it?

When Jian Zihao retired, apart from live streaming, he also felt quite bored, he wanted to do some other interesting jobs, being a university lecturer sounds quite nice, it sounds quite interesting.

"Great, then I'll wait for your news."

Ding Yue was somewhat taken aback.

Originally, he just asked Jian Zihao hoping to give it a try, but he didn't expect him to actually be quite interested in the e-sports major his university is setting up.

Clang!

The office door was suddenly pushed open.

Then that silly Huang Youjie rushed in, and Xu Bin followed closely behind.

"Our recruitment has finally come to an end!"

Huang Youjie flopped onto the real leather sofa across the desk, completely exhausted.

"Mr.

Vice Principal Huang, you've worked hard."

Ding Yue said to him with a smile.

Huang Youjie waved his hand: "What's the trouble?

The key is, how much is Principal Ding going to pay me, his Vice Principal?

We've received quite a lot in tuition and accommodation fees from this round of enrollment!"

"Oh right, how many students did we enroll in total?

How much money did we collect?"

Ding Yue asked with great concern.

"Hold on, let me check."

Xu Bin took the laptop out of the computer bag, typed a few keys after opening it, moved the mouse a bit, then looked up at Ding Yue and said: "After four days, a total of 9612 students were enrolled, and the tuition fees totaled 289 million yuan.

I've never seen this much money in my life!"

What the hell!

More than 9600 people!

Ding Yue was quite surprised.

The system enrollment task target was only 5000 people, but now the enrollment number nearly doubled, it's a bit explosive!

Ding Yue did a quick calculation again.

If the tuition and accommodation fees for an average student amount to 30000 yuan, then over 9600 people amount to about 2.8 billion upward.

That's a lot of money!

Ding Yue had never seen this much money in his life.

"This money is in our university's account, and will be our operation funds for the future.

The teacher's salaries, the staff's wages, scholarships, university maintenance...we're going to have to spend quite a bit in a year."

Ding Yue planned and said.

"To be honest, Yue, have you been planning this university gig for a long time?" Huang Youjie shot a thumbs up at Ding Yue.

Ding Yue smiled and didn't say much, then turned serious and said to Huang Youjie and Xu Bin: "Tell me, what do you two want?"

From now on, you two will be my right-hand men, so you better work well for me."

"Yue, what are you saying?"

Car shopping, haha!" Huang Youjie laughed happily.

Xu Bin nodded too: "Well, money isn't that important, but if a car comes along, I think it's not bad."

Huang Youjie and Xu Bin both understood, as long as they mix up with Ding Yue, their future is certain to be bright.

The Mist City Arts and Science University has just started, and if they rush to divide the profits now, it would be somewhat plastic bro.

"Hmm, buying a car is a good idea, and after all you two are at the vice principal level, you guys deserve a car, let's go to the 4th son's shop tomorrow!"

"Yes!"

Huang Youjie and Xu Bin clapped hands and showed their happiness.

Ding!

“Enrollment completed, cash reward of one hundred billion yuan!”

At this moment, an electronic prompt sounded in Ding Yue’s mind.

The reward for completing the enrollment has credited.

At this moment, Ding Yue’s mood cannot be described as anything but great, tonight he would be sleeping with nearly four hundred million RMB!

Nearly four hundred million yuan!

Ding Yue estimated he might even wake up laughing in his dreams.

15: Chapter 15: Congratulations to the Three Principals on Receiving Luxury Cars_1

15 -15: Congratulations to the Three Principals on Receiving Luxury Cars_1

Jiangbin Road.

At the entrance of an Audi dealership.

Ding Yue, Huang Youjie, and Xu Bin arrived by taxi, ready to each pick up a car today.

After discussing among themselves,

They decided to set a budget of around one million for each.

Any luxury cars costing several million would be too extravagant and completely unnecessary.

Ding Yue didn’t want to buy a supercar for showing off.

It’s simply pointless, and in the congested city traffic, such cars can’t go full throttle anyway.

So, Ding Yue decided to get a car from his favorite factory.

What’s not to love in getting the car and the wish together?

Huang Youjie decided to get a BMW, and Xu Bin preferred a Mercedes-Benz.

Each member of their group now had one of the German “big three” luxury brands.

They are just ordinary guys who appreciate the simpler things!

“Gentlemen, please come in.” Just as the three of them reached the entrance of the Audi dealership, the sales staff warmly invited them in.

“Are you gentlemen looking for a car?”

The salesperson hastily asked.

Ding Yue nodded: “Yes, we are.”

“Do you have a specific model in mind, sir?”

Our Audi A4L has a big discount right now...”

The salesperson briefly took in Ding Yue’s appearance.

From his professional point of view, Ding Yue was dressed quite ordinarily with no sign of luxury brands on his accessories, so presumably, he should be interested in models in the 200,000 to 300,000 range like the Audi A3 and the A4L.

“Let’s skip the A4L.”

Ding Yue shook his head.

The A4L was far from what he had in mind.

No second thoughts about it,

It was simply too cheap.

As the principal of a university, driving a luxury car worth one million wouldn’t be excessive, would it?

“Do you have the A8 in stock?”

Ding Yue promptly asked.

If his budget is one million, and given his status as the principal, the Audi A8 would be a slightly more business-oriented choice.

“The A8, yes, yes, of course, we have it!” The salesperson’s eyes lit up in response.

He just underestimated this client's purchase capacity; he wants to buy the Audi A8 worth over one million.

"Xiao Li, quickly, serve some tea for these gentlemen.

How about West Lake Longjing?" The salesperson's enthusiasm clearly exceeded their initial greeting.

"Anything will do."

Ding Yue didn't really care much about the tea.

The salesperson then led Ding Yue and the others to an Audi A8,

With its black body, the classic Audi twin grille on the front, and striking headlight design.

The lamp array behind the transparent glass matched perfectly with the radiator grill, and the tail lights and indicators using LED technology appeared tasteful and advanced.

The car lights were an absolute highlight of the Audi.

The smooth, rounded roofline of the A8 easily led one's gaze towards the back, reminiscent of the style of a two-door sports car.

So far, Ding Yue was quite happy with the overall exterior of the Audi A8.

"I would like to test drive it."

Ding Yue had just gotten his driver's license in the summer.

However, in his previous life on Earth, Ding Yue had years of driving experience and could even be called a seasoned driver.

However,

He had never driven a luxurious car like the Audi A8 before.

"Of course sir, let's arrange a test drive," the salesperson promptly agreed.

Subsequently, Ding Yue took this Audi A8 for a test drive, and the overall feeling was pretty good.

The comfort and driving sensations both met Ding Yue's satisfaction.

"Alright, I'll take this one."

“Fantastic choice, sir.

This Audi A8 suits you perfectly...” Upon hearing Ding Yue’s quick decisiveness in booking the top-tier Audi A8, the salesman’s face was beaming and he immediately prepared the car purchase contract for Ding Yue.

“I don’t know what it is, I just can’t get into the four rings, maybe it’s because I don’t particularly like the front face of this brand, it looks like a fence.”

Huang Youjie critiques Ding Yue’s purchase of the Audi A8.

“It’s quite normal, everyone’s taste in cars is different.

For example, some people like the sharp-face, round-cheek model of Japanese cars, some like the neat and tidy models of Volkswagen, you prefer BMW, I like Audi, Bin prefers Mercedes, there’s a ‘Hamlet’ for each reader.”

Ding Yue said, laughing.

About ten minutes later, the salesman brought the car buying contract, and Ding Yue, without a word, directly paid the full amount for the Audi A8.

“Wishing you a delightful car buying experience, sirs.

Would you like to check out other Audi models?”

The salesman turned to Huang Youjie and Xu Bin and asked.

Being able to accompany someone able to afford a luxury car worth over a million suggests considerable financial strength.

“No need, they both aren’t fans of Audi.”

Ding Yue directly told the salesperson, then went with Huang Youjie and Xu Bin to the neighboring BMW store.

In the end, Huang Youjie purchased a BMW 7 series.

Then Xu Bin went to the Mercedes store and picked up a Mercedes S-Class, both luxury cars worth more than a million.

After buying three cars and spending several million, to Ding Yue with nearly four hundred million yuan, this was just loose change.

But the car is definitely a must-have.

As the principal of Mist City Arts and Science University, with Huang Youjie and Xu Bin as vice-principals, and also serving as directors of logistics and politics, having a car is essential.

Driving their first cars ever, Huang Youjie and Xu Bin were thrilled.

The three of them drove towards University Town.

After returning to Mist City Arts and Science University, Ding Yue called Huang Youjie and Xu Bin into his office to get updates on their respective responsibilities.

“Let me get this straight, you and your master have been working on the forum, and it’s been live since this morning?”

The school’s official forum was launched so quickly that it left Ding Yue amazed.

“Yes, the reason it’s so quick is because we’re using the same server as our school’s official website.

However, this server is a bit cheap, so with more people, it might lag a bit.

Should we rent a better server later?”

Xu Bin suggested renting a new server.

“No problem.” Ding Yue nodded in agreement.

“Yue, Liu Changwen from Siyuan Group previously gave me a recruitment firm’s contact info.

We’re currently conducting employee recruitment for our school.”

After finishing up the student enrollment, Huang Youjie immediately started recruiting foundational staff for Mist City Arts and Science University.

Security guards, dormitory management, cleaners, logistics, electricians, etc., all need to be hired.

“Speed up.”

“By the way, Yue, of the new students we admitted, nine thousand six hundred, around six have chosen traditional majors based on their interests and hobbies.

The three thousand others’ interests and hobbies are mainly video games, National Arts, football, animation, writing novels...

The majority are interested in playing video games, I'll send you the statistical table."

As Xu Bin spoke, he sent the compiled statistics data to Ding Yue's computer.

Ding Yue opened it and took a look.

Basically, it was close to what Xu Bin had said.

Out of the existing 69 undergraduate majors in Mist City Arts and Science University, all of them had students enrolled, adding up to over six thousand people.

An average estimate shows about a hundred students per major.

However, some popular majors do have larger enrolment numbers, such as the highly practical Accounting major.

Ding Yue looked at the unpopular majors, where enrolment numbers were relatively low, the least popular major had only 9 enrollees.

Surprisingly, there were quite a few who chose high-end majors like Engineering Physics, Chemistry, and Biomedical Sciences.

Others enrolled in Aerospace majors.

These high-tech majors are actually just for appearances at Mist City Arts and Science University, it's virtually impossible to achieve concrete outcomes with them at present.
