

Chapter 11

Hailey hastily helped up Etchen and limped toward the door. They were so arrogant when they first arrived, but they left as a disheveled pair.

Yet, just before stepping out, Hailey glanced back at Liam and Lucy. There was a mixture of venom and hatred.

She exclaimed as soon as she was out, "I knew this useless waste had an audacious streak! Turns out, he got involved with this despicable woman. He even watched as I was humiliated and as Etchen had his leg broken!"

"He's addicted to living off women!" Hailey gritted her teeth, her voice dripping with scorn. "Heartless and despicable, he even dared to call me 'mom' before! Sooner or later, I'll make him repay every bit of suffering he's caused me!"

"And that despicable woman, don't think you can escape! Thinking you can do as you please just because you have a few bodyguards? How dare you challenge our Lloyd family in South City, acting so arrogantly! I'll ensure you regret ever setting foot in this world!" she continued.

She saw the pitiful state of Etchen and could not help but lament, crying out, "Oh, what a tragedy! How could that heartless Liam bear to see Etchen suffer like this?"

"Etchen was perfectly fine, and now he's been beaten into a cripple! If this is permanent, I'll make Liam pay with his life!"

"Etchen, don't be afraid! I'll take you to the best hospital in South City, Golden Cross Hospital!"

She forcefully dragged Etchen into her Mercedes-Benz, saying, "The Lloyd family have connections there. With the best medical conditions, they will definitely make sure you are as good as new!"

Hailey even harbored resentment toward Serena and said, "When that happens, I'll make Serena compensate you with whatever you want! Anyway, she caused this mess! She married such a despicable husband. It even affected us!"

Although Etchen spent his days laying around at home, never doing anything productive, Hailey's heart still ached most for her son!

Just as Hailey was about to start the car, she suddenly noticed something.

On the other side of the hotel parking lot were more than ten black Maybachs with license plates from the provincial capital. The imposing presence of the Maybachs caught everyone's attention!

A Maybach costs over 750,000 dollars. Hailey unexpectedly saw so many of them in one place! What's more, the license plates were all consecutive numbers from the provincial capital!

Hailey trembled at the sight. Although the Lloyd family wielded considerable power in South City, buying so many Maybachs was beyond their means!

"Could these cars belong to that despicable woman from the hotel?" A thought flashed through her mind. Soon enough, Hailey shook her head.

Ridiculous! She knew well what kind of trash Liam was. He was useless even before prison. He had even spent four years behind bars. He had no friends in the provincial capital, let alone acquaintances capable of buying so many Maybachs!

Hailey did not care how Liam knew that despicable woman. A despicable woman he met in prison? What good could come from that?

"Mom! It hurts..." Just then, Etchen uttered a painful groan.

"Etchen, don't worry, we'll go to the hospital right away!" Hailey hastily started the car.

Meanwhile, in the hotel room, Lucy stood behind Liam, still apologizing earnestly.

"Grandmaster Burrey, I apologize sincerely for our tardiness. You've been subjected to some undue disturbance."

As she spoke, Lucy could not help but marvel at Liam's youthfulness. In her experience, most highly skilled doctors were elderly with graying hair, certainly not young like him!

If it were not for a photo kept by the Hill family, Lucy would not have believed that the handsome young man before her was the miraculous doctor they had heard of!

Moreover, according to their records, Grandmaster Burrey had been living in prison all this time!

"No worries." Liam waved his hand. Reflecting on what had just happened, he could not help but let out a soft sigh.

"I apologize for downing your mood, Grandmaster Burrey," Lucy apologized sincerely again.

Liam shook his head. Instead, he spoke up, "We should go now since Mister Hill's condition isn't optimistic."

Lucy's eyes lit up with a hint of excitement. She gestured to Liam and said, "Grandmaster Burrey, after you!"

With a graceful turn, her dress outlined perfect curves as she led the way out for Liam.

Under the escort of the bodyguards, Liam and Lucy got into the waiting Maybach parked outside. The vehicle started smoothly, heading toward Golden Cross Hospital.

Inside the car, Lucy began briefing Liam on Julian's condition and situation.

"Ever since you cured my grandfather three years ago, he hasn't had even a slight cold. Three days ago, he suddenly fell into a coma. We've checked every hospital and consulted numerous doctors in Qyn Province, only to conclude that my grandfather has been poisoned. However, we have no idea what kind of poison it is."

As she spoke, Lucy stole glances at Liam. Until now, she could hardly believe that this young and somewhat unconventional miracle doctor before her had saved her grandfather from a serious illness. Someone with such remarkable medical skills should be renowned worldwide, so how was it that she had never heard of Liam?

Everything about Liam made Lucy feel that he was shrouded in mystery. Even more so, she felt a bit uneasy. Lucy wondered if this young man before her was truly as miraculous as her family elders had described him.

Suddenly, Liam turned to look at Lucy and asked, "How did they conclude that it was poisoning?"

Startled, Lucy quickly averted her gaze, earnestly replying, "They conducted numerous complex tests, and it took over twenty doctors to reach a consensus."

"Is that so?" Liam narrowed his eyes, lost in thought.

"Grandmaster Burrey, you must have a way to cure my grandfather, right?" She became nervous. "As long as you can cure my grandfather, our Hill family will never forget your great kindness! We will give you whatever you need!"

Due to her nervousness, she subconsciously bent over and bit her lip, revealing a hint of skin from the center of her dress. This small gesture unexpectedly added a touch of charm to Lucy.

However, Liam remained calm and unaffected by her.

"Let's go and take a look first," he said, resting his eyes.

Noticing this, Lucy dared not continue the conversation with Liam. She took out her phone and started contacting the hospital, "Grandmaster Burrey will be here shortly. Please temporarily close off the ninth-floor intensive care unit and ensure that no one disturbs him while he treats the patient!"
