

Fall for You 1051

Chapter 1051

Mallory, on the other hand, was contemplating how to make Briana Cameron forgive her, and she had absolutely no feelings for Kiley, who caused her miscarriage.

She was like a drop of water falling into the ocean, disappearing without a trace, yet no one cared.

Evening arrived quickly, and Briana Cameron packed up and left as soon as she finished work.

Just as she reached the bottom of the building, a somewhat frail figure started walking towards her.

Seeing Mallory, a flash of impatience crossed Briana Cameron's eyes. The last time she refused to sign for Mallory, she thought Mallory should have understood her meaning. Unexpectedly, the other party could still continue to pester her.

Meeting Briana Cameron's icy gaze, Mallory shivered, standing a few steps away from her. She carefully handed the box in her hands to Briana Cameron.

"Briana..... this was the birthday gift I prepared for you, I hoped you would like it."

Watching Mallory's cautious demeanor, Briana Cameron felt absolutely nothing, as if she was looking at a stranger.

"Mrs. Schneider, you really didn't have to do this. No matter how much you do now, it can't make up for the damage caused back then. I've already accepted the fact that you and Zane didn't love me, and I've moved on. Let's just be strangers from now on."

A flash of disbelief crossed Mallory's eyes, and she unconsciously took a step back, tears falling from her eyes.

Compared to Briana Cameron's indifference at that moment, she would rather Briana Cameron hated her, because at least that could prove she still had feelings for her...

"Briana, I'm sorry, I really wanted to make it up to you..."

Briana Cameron looked at her calmly, saying word by word, "If I hadn't exposed Kiley's true face, if you didn't know that Kiley caused your miscarriage for the Schneider Group, your most beloved daughter would still be Kiley, not me."

"Since you chose to abandon me in the first place, even if you regret and suffer now, you shouldn't appear in front of me again. Don't bother me anymore. I don't want to recall those unpleasant memories every time I see you."

After speaking, Briana Cameron didn't look at her face to see what expression she had. She just brushed past her, like a stranger.

Mallory's trembling voice came from behind, "I won't appear in front of you again... Can you, at least, accept this birthday gift? I've never prepared a birthday gift for you before. This is the first time, and it might be the only time."

Briana Cameron's steps faltered, but she didn't look back.

"No need, I didn't require it."

Since it was never given before, there is no need to give it now.

Watching Briana Cameron's gaze gradually fade away,

Mallory's vision also blurred, unable to help but cover her face and start crying.

Once, she had a very outstanding and filial daughter, but this daughter was lost by her own hands...

Hearing the crying behind her, Briana Cameron's steps didn't pause for a moment. She quickly walked towards Maxim, who was waiting by the roadside, with a relaxed smile on her face.

Finally reaching Maxim, Briana Cameron asked with a smile, "Where are we eating tonight?"

"You would know when you got there."

"Good."

On the way, Briana Cameron wondered where Maxim would take her to eat.

However, when Maxim was about to arrive, he suddenly pulled out a blindfold and handed it to Briana Cameron.

"Briana, put this on first, I'll help you out of the car later."

Briana Cameron couldn't help but chuckle, "So mysterious? I'm already looking forward to it."

"I wouldn't let you down."

Chapter 1052

Briana Cameron took the blindfold and put it on, a smile of anticipation playing on her lips.

Soon, the car had stopped.

Under Maxim's guidance, Briana Cameron felt as if she had stepped into a sea of flowers, where she could smell several of her favorite floral scents.

She unconsciously tightened her grip on Maxim's hand, the smile on her lips deepening. She couldn't help but say, "Maxim, did you have someone arrange my favorite flowers at the scene? I can already smell their fragrance."

Maxim chuckled softly, "Hmm."

Several minutes later, Maxim helped her sit down, smiling as he said, "Alright, you can take off the blindfold now."

Briana Cameron eagerly removed her blindfold, only to see a world decorated with yellow roses, champagne roses, baby's breath, and other flowers. It was so beautiful that she could hardly take her eyes off it.

"So beautiful!"

"Happy Birthday, Briana!"

Maxim suddenly stood up and walked in front of her, kneeling on one knee. He looked at her with a devout face, and gently and passionately began to speak, "Briana, since the moment we reunited, I have been in unbelievable joy every day, because I am afraid that one day I will suddenly wake up and find that everything now is just a dream."

"I was too foolish in the past, I made many mistakes that wronged you, and I made you angry many times. But I truly love you, and I want to spend the rest of my life with you. I will be patient with you, and become a shelter for you from the wind and rain. Will you marry me?"

The moment his words fell, Maxim pulled out a ring box from his pocket and opened it in front of Briana Cameron, a heart-shaped pink diamond ring appeared before her.

Briana Cameron's eyes turned red, filled with emotion.

She took a deep breath and slowly said, "I do."

"Bang! Bang! Bang!"

The moment she agreed, fireworks erupted outside the window, illuminating the entire night sky. It was so beautiful that one couldn't take their eyes off it.

Maxim took out the ring and carefully put it on Briana Cameron.

The moment the ring was put on, Briana Cameron took a glance, a smile curling up at the corner of her mouth. She was about to speak, but suddenly felt a darkness before her eyes, and she fell straight towards Maxim.

When I woke up again, a strong smell of disinfectant rushed into my nostrils.

Briana Cameron slowly opened her eyes, seeing Gemma crying by the bedside, her eyes red and swollen, she couldn't help but open her mouth.

"Mom..."

With a hoarse monosyllable, Briana Cameron felt a sharp pain in her throat.

Hearing the sound, Gemma quickly looked her way.

Realizing that Briana Cameron had woken up, Gemma quickly wiped away her tears, her expression becoming excited.

"Briana, you're finally awake! I'm going to find the doctor!"

After the doctor had come and checked Briana Cameron, saying there was no problem, Gemma finally breathed a sigh of relief and hurriedly called Sean to tell him about it.

Seeing that Gemma had notified everyone in the Cameron family, guilt flashed in Briana Cameron's eyes.

"Mom, I'm sorry, I made you worry."

Gemma put away her phone, giving her an annoyed glance, "We are family, I will really get angry if you act like a stranger!"

Briana Cameron couldn't help but curl her lips, "I see, by the way, where is Maxim? Did he go to work at the company? How long was I unconscious?"

Thinking back to when I fainted as he proposed, I must have scared him then, right?

Upon hearing the name Maxim, Gemma's face changed slightly. She tucked in the blanket corner for Briana Cameron, lowering her voice and said, "Hmm, you just woke up, the most important thing is to rest well."

Chapter 1053

Briana Cameron felt that her attitude was somewhat inappropriate and was about to speak when the door to the ward was suddenly pushed open.

Astrid walked in holding a bouquet of flowers, a flash of surprise and delight in her eyes when she saw that Briana Cameron was awake.

"Briana, were you awake?!"

"Mm-hmm."

Seeing Astrid, Gemma breathed a sigh of relief and stood up, saying, "I'm going to make some soup for Briana, you stay here and chat with her."

"Good."

After Gemma left, Astrid placed the flowers on the table before she went to sit by the bedside.

"Do you know that your fainting scared me half to death? You were unconscious for a whole week, but the doctors couldn't find anything wrong. They could only give you nutritional injections every day. If you didn't wake up, Uncle Xiao and the others were ready to send you abroad for treatment."

Upon hearing that she had been unconscious for over a week, shock flashed in Briana Cameron's eyes, "I was unconscious for that long?!"

No wonder she didn't feel much, it turned out to be because she had taken a nutritional injection.

"Um, thank goodness you're okay."

Briana Cameron pursed her lips, looking at Astrid and said, "Astrid, could you lend me your phone for a moment? I want to call Maxim. I haven't been able to find my phone since I woke up."

Upon hearing the name Maxim, Astrid's face changed. She then laughed it off, saying, "I think I left my phone in the car. Anyway, there's no rush. We can talk about it after you've rested for a day or two."

If initially Gemma's attitude had only made Briana Cameron feel puzzled, now, with Astrid's reaction, she could almost be one hundred percent certain that something must have happened while she was unconscious.

She took a deep breath, looking at Astrid slowly, "Astrid, you know my personality. Even if you don't lend me your phone, I can still find a way to contact Maxim. Please tell me what happened this week."

Astrid fell silent for a moment, a struggle flashing in her eyes.

"Briana, stop asking for now, focus on getting better. Once you're feeling better, I'll tell you, okay?"

Briana Cameron lifted the covers to get out of bed, "Since you won't tell me, I'll go ask someone else."

However, as soon as she stood up, her body fell straight to the ground.

Having been unconscious for too long, her legs were now somewhat unable to support her body.

Astrid quickly supported her, saying angrily, "Even if you have to ask others, you should take care of your health. Look at how pale your face is now! Stay in bed and rest properly."

"You wouldn't speak, so I had to ask others. I believed someone would surely lend me their phone."

Astrid held her down, gritted her teeth and said, "I can tell you, but you have to promise not to run around after hearing it, and continue to rest well in the hospital!"

Briana Cameron's face changed, "Did something happen to Maxim?!"

Her heart sank. If nothing had happened to Maxim, given his character, he would have stayed by her side until she woke up.

Briana Cameron didn't dare to think any further, her hand holding Astrid's was somewhat trembling.

Astrid sneered, rolling her eyes and said, "You're overthinking it, he's doing very well now! He might not even remember who you are!"

Thinking about what Maxim had done during the days when Briana Cameron was in a coma, Astrid was so angry that she gritted her teeth, wishing she could rush to the Yoder Group and slap him right now!

Hearing this, Briana Cameron finally breathed a sigh of relief, "It's good that he's okay. Do you have any misunderstandings about him?"

She had never seen Astrid dislike someone so much before, and she was becoming increasingly puzzled about what had happened during the days she was unconscious.

Astrid's expression was icy cold, "I have no misunderstanding about him. It's just that during the days you were unconscious, he came once on the first day, and then never came again. Now he even wants to get engaged to Aurora! What a jerk!"

Chapter 1054

“What did you say?!”

Briana Cameron suddenly widened her eyes, her face full of disbelief.

Maxim had only proposed to her before she fell into a coma, how could he possibly be getting engaged to Aurora in just a few days?!

“There must be some misunderstanding here, I need to go find him and clear it up!”

Seeing Briana Cameron excitedly trying to get out of bed, Astrid quickly held her down, saying irritably, “Didn’t you promise me you wouldn’t get excited?! And everything I said is true, his engagement party with Aurora is being held at the Crystal Restaurant today, and many reporters have gone to cover it. If you don’t believe me, I’ll turn on the TV for you right now!”

Astrid hadn’t wanted to tell Briana Cameron about this so early, but she also knew that given Briana Cameron’s personality, she wouldn’t let it go unless she got a clear answer today.

She picked up the remote control, hesitated for a few seconds, but eventually pressed the power button firmly.

No matter how painful, Briana Cameron had to go through it sooner or later.

The television had just been turned on, and the first scene that popped up was Maxim and Aurora getting engaged in a church.

Maxim, dressed in a black suit, stood tall and expressionless.

Aurora, who was by his side, was holding his arm, wearing a white strapless wedding dress, and smiling with a face full of happiness.

The two stood together, like a perfect couple.

Briana Cameron originally held a glimmer of hope, but upon seeing the ring on Aurora’s hand, identical to the one Maxim had proposed to her with, her expression gradually turned to despair.

She slowly lowered her head, her right ring finger was bare.

Seeing her lower her gaze without any expression, a wave of panic surged in Astrid’s heart.

“Briana, were you okay?”

Briana Cameron wiped the tears from the corner of her eyes, a flash of determination in her gaze. She looked at Astrid and said, “Astrid, take me to Maxim.”

She wanted to ask him personally, why he had been so cruel to her.

She had clearly believed that he would bring her happiness, she had thought she could spend her entire life with him. Why was it that after she had been unconscious for just a week, he was already engaged to another woman!

Astrid frowned and said angrily, "You're still very weak now. If you really want to settle the score with him, wait until you're fully recovered. I'll go with you then. It's not worth it to do this for a jerk like him now!"

Briana Cameron took a deep breath, looking at Astrid slowly, "You know my personality, even if you don't take me, I will find a way to go."

Astrid stared at her for a long time, couldn't help but grit her teeth and said, "I must have owed you in my past life!"

Knowing that she had agreed, Briana Cameron forced a smile, "Astrid... Thank you!"

Astrid couldn't help but roll her eyes, "I'm telling you upfront, if you're still entangled with that jerk after today, we're not going to be friends anymore!"

Briana Cameron gave a bitter smile, slowly saying, "I just wanted to put an end to this relationship."

The pain she felt at that moment was as great as the happiness she had felt when Maxim proposed to her.

It was he who personally picked up the pieces of her broken heart and mended them, yet at this moment, he shattered it once again, causing her unbearable pain.

She wanted to ask him in person, why on earth he had to do this!

On the other side, after the engagement ceremony, Maxim got into the car alone.

Aurora wanted to follow, but was stopped by Rayan.

"Ms. Fredrick, please respect yourself."

Chapter 1055

Aurora pushed him away, coldly saying, "Get out of my sight! I am now Maxim's fiancée, and I can fire you whenever I want!"

Rayan frowned, about to stop him, when the rear car window suddenly rolled down.

Joy flashed in Aurora's eyes, just as she was about to step forward, Maxim's cold voice came from inside.

"Aurora, I just completed a deal with Cosmo. I will cooperate with you in this act, but I will not touch you, nor will I ever fall in love with you. Don't even think about bossing my subordinates around!"

Aurora's face stiffened, "Maxim, I'm not..."

However, Maxim had no interest in hearing what she wanted to say and simply rolled up the car window.

The black car window reflected her currently unpleasant expression, and Aurora couldn't help but tighten her grip on the bouquet, a flash of anger flickering in her eyes.

Why.....

Even though they were already engaged and were going to get married in the near future, Maxim still treated her with such indifference, like an unmelting iceberg. Whenever she got close, he would freeze her to the point of shivering, and no amount of warmth could melt him...

In his eyes, she was even less than a secretary.

After Rayan—opened the driver's seat door and sat down, the car drove off. I Watching the receding car, Aurora felt particularly ridiculous at that moment, like a clown.

She clutched the hem of her dress tightly, a flash of determination in her eyes. No matter what, she would not let go. One day, she would make Maxim fall in love with her!

Thinking of this, she felt an endless surge of motivation in her heart again!

On the way to the banquet hall, Rayan hesitated for a long time before finally saying, "Mr. Yoder, we received news from the hospital. Ms. Cameron woke up today."

Maxim's face showed no expression, he just lightly hummed in response, but the tightly clenched fists on his knees. betrayed the turbulent emotions he was experiencing at that moment.

"The engagement party later... Ms. Cameron might come over, should we send someone to stop her?"

Maxim's icy gaze shifted towards the window, his voice indifferent as he spoke, "No need."

Rayan didn't speak anymore, he just sighed softly. Once Briana Cameron arrived, she would definitely cause a scene at the party.

But it would be better to mess up the party, after all, this engagement banquet was forced by Cosmo on Maxim!

An hour later, Aurora had changed into a red cheongsam, her long hair pinned up at the back of her head, and she was following Maxim from table to table, toasting with a smile on her face.

Listening to everyone praising the two as a match made in heaven, a perfect combination of talent and beauty, Aurora couldn't stop smiling, her face full of joy.

Maxim, on the other hand, remained expressionless throughout, exuding a cold aura. When people met his icy gaze, they didn't dare to utter a single unnecessary word.

Aurora had also noticed, she couldn't help but gently tug at his sleeve, "Maxim, don't keep such a stern face, or else people will think you're not willing to attend today's engagement party!"

Her voice carried a tone of annoyance, but Maxim, without any change in his expression, dodged her hand and walked straight to the next table, not leaving her any dignity.

The smile on Aurora's face suddenly froze, and it took several seconds before she put on a smile again and caught up.

If Maxim thought he could use this embarrassment to deter her, then he had seriously underestimated her!

When the two had toasted to the eighth table, the banquet hall's main door was suddenly pushed open, and the figure of Briana Cameron appeared at the entrance.

Upon seeing her, there was not a hint of surprise in Maxim's eyes, but the hand holding the wine glass unconsciously tightened, his fingers faintly turning white.

Aurora, who was standing by the side, also changed her expression, but she quickly calmed down.

She flashed a triumphant smile, looking at Briana Cameron and provocatively said, "Ms. Cameron, are you here to attend my engagement party with Maxim? Welcome!"

Chapter 1056

Briana Cameron didn't look at her, her gaze was on Maxim, her eyes full of coldness.

She slowly walked towards the banquet hall, with each step forward, the pain in her heart increased.

Finally, he stopped a few steps away from Maxim and Aurora.

She stared hard at Maxim, uttering word by word, "Why did you do this to me?!"

Maxim looked down at her, at that moment her face was pale, her eyes full of hurt, yet she stubbornly stared back at him, as if she wouldn't rest until she got an answer.

The overwhelming pain inside him was almost drowning him, and his hands hanging by his sides were clenched tightly, to the point where he didn't even notice the pain when his palms started to bleed.

He wanted to hold her in his arms, to tell her that all of this was fake, but he couldn't.

From the moment he promised Cosmo to get engaged to Aurora, their lives became two parallel lines that never intersected, with no possibility whatsoever.

Finally, Maxim spoke.

"There was no reason, just got tired."

The word "tired" fell into her ears, and Briana Cameron's body shuddered.

She bit her lower lip hard, steadied herself, and then suddenly laughed, "So all that before, it was all pretense, you never thought about getting back together with me?"

"No, I stopped loving you a long time ago. You're boring and rigid. You can't seriously think I would spend the rest of my life with you, can you?"

No sooner had the words fallen than Briana Cameron raised her hand and slapped him.

“Bang!”

The crisp sound of a slap echoed in the quiet banquet hall, everyone widened their eyes in disbelief, Briana Cameron actually dared to slap Maxim?!

Aurora snapped back to reality, forcefully pushing Briana Cameron away, and angrily said, “Briana Cameron, are you out of your mind?! Maxim is now my fiancé, if you dare to bother him again, I won’t let you off!”

Briana Cameron had just woken up and was already weak. When Aurora pushed her, she fell directly to the ground.

The body was in pain, but it was nothing compared to the heartache.

She clutched her chest and suddenly burst into laughter.

She was really foolish, mistaking Maxim’s momentary warmth for deep affection and naively falling for it. Why, after being fooled so many times, would she still believe him?

She was really stupid, she brought this on herself!

Astrid, standing at the door, quickly ran over to Briana Cameron and helped her up, coldly looking at Aurora, “You’re nothing but a homewrecker, what right do you have to make a fuss here!”

What Aurora hated the most was when people said she was interfering with Maxim and Briana Cameron’s relationship. She immediately exploded in anger, saying, “Astrid, watch your filthy mouth! Maxim and I are now engaged. If Briana Cameron continues to pester, she is the one interfering with our relationship! She is the homewrecker!”

Astrid had never seen such a shameless person. She let go of Briana Cameron and was about to slap Aurora, but Maxim grabbed her wrist.

“Ms. Remington, please stay away from my fiancée.”

Astrid was so angry that she wished someone would kill this pair of despicable man and woman. She coldly stared at Maxim and said, “Maxim, if you had been with Aurora from the start and hadn’t messed with Briana, I wouldn’t have said a word today. But you toyed with her feelings and then conspired with Aurora, you’re simply not fit to be a man, I despise you! I hope you two despicable people rot in hell, don’t go and harm others anymore!”

Aurora had been secretly pleased about defending Maxim, but when she suddenly heard Astrid cursing her and Maxim as a disgraceful couple, her anger surged up instantly.

“Astrid, watch your mouth! Otherwise, I won’t let the Xie family off the hook!”

Chapter 1057

interlude, everyone please don’t mind, let’s continue toasting.”

In the following segment, Maxim’s face was even colder than before, casting a chill over the entire banquet hall. Everyone could tell that his mood was extremely foul at that moment.

After toasting, returning to the main table, Cosmo said with a stern face, "Maxim, don't keep a straight face, or everyone will think you are being forced!"

Maxim sneered, looking at Cosmo mockingly, "Wasn't I forced?"

"Don't forget, you promised this yourself!" Cosmo said angrily, his face grim as he glared at him coldly.

"Of course, I agreed myself, but did I have any other choice?"

"You!"

Maxim didn't speak again, he simply picked up the wine on the table and took a sip, then stood up and said, "I've played along with this charade, can I leave now?"

Having said that, he turned around and left directly, regardless of the expressions on everyone's faces.

Benjamin gritted his teeth in anger, glaring at Cosmo and exclaimed, "Cosmo, isn't he going too far! It's as if Aurora has to pay him to marry her, and you're not doing anything about it!"

Cosmo quickly apologized with a smile, "Don't be angry, you know I didn't know about his existence before, nor have I ever raised him. How could he possibly listen to me now? Young people these days, they all have a bit of rebelliousness. But once they get married and have children, they will change."

Aurora bit her lower lip, slowly saying, "Dad, this is my choice, I will definitely make him fall in love with me."

Benjamin wanted to say more, but Aurora had already lifted her skirt and chased after.

Watching his daughter's retreating figure, Benjamin sighed, his eyes filled with helplessness.

Under the circumstances of the Fredrick family, Aurora could have found any kind of man she wanted, but she had to fall for Maxim. It was really headache-inducing.

Outside the hotel, Aurora only caught up with Maxim at the door.

"Maxim, we are already engaged, your past with Brianal Cameron is over, whether you like me or not, we are going to be together for the rest of our lives, we..."

Before she could finish her sentence, Maxim's icy, terrifying gaze made her forget her next words, and she even took a fearful step back.

After all... Maxim's gaze was too terrifying, as if he would reach out and strangle her neck the next second....

Chapter 1058

"Aurora, I should have made myself clear, it's impossible for me to fall in love with you. If you change your mind and break off the engagement, it would be a relief for both of us. Otherwise, we're just torturing each other."

Seeing the coldness in Maxim's eyes, the grievance in Aurora's heart finally erupted.

"Where exactly am I inferior to Briana Cameron?! Family background, ability, appearance, I don't think I'm lacking in any of these compared to her!"

Maxim's cold gaze briefly swept over her, his voice devoid of any warmth.

"In my eyes, you could never compare to her, not in the past, not in the future. So, stop doing pointless things!"

There was defiance in Aurora's eyes as she stared intently at Maxim, declaring word by word, "I will not give up. One day, I will definitely make you fall in love with me!"

Maxim had no reaction to her confidence, he just coldly instructed the driver to start the car.

The other side.

On the way back to the hospital, Briana Cameron stared out the window, her face devoid of any emotion.

Astrid's eyes were full of heartache, she couldn't help but say, "Briana, if you want to cry, just cry, it's good to let it out."

"Astrid, you don't need to worry about me, I'm fine."

It was just a sham of a relationship, not worth her shedding tears over.

"Did you know that you are now surrounded by an aura of sadness? I should have stopped you from being with Maxim back then!"

Briana Cameron's eyes flickered, finding it amusing to think that she had once told Astrid that Maxim was sincere towards her.

She was really too stupid!

"Astrid, I'm really okay, I just need some time to accept this. You don't have to worry about me, I won't do anything foolish. In my heart, nothing is more important than myself."

Since she was a child, she had always been a person with little sense of security. After falling in love with Maxim, she trusted him wholeheartedly time and time again, but each time, all she got in return was hurt.

From then on, she would not trust anyone anymore, nor would she let anyone into her heart again!

Astrid had wanted to comfort her, but didn't know what to say to make her feel better.

"Alright then."

Briana Cameron was taken back to the hospital, Gemma was already waiting downstairs.

Seeing Briana Cameron in a state of disarray, Gemma's eyes reddened again.

"Briana....."

Briana Cameron looked up at Gemma, reaching out to wipe her tears, managing to muster a smile.

"Mom, I was fine, you didn't need to worry about me, I just needed some rest."

Choking back tears, Gemma pulled her into her arms, her voice hoarse, "I should never have listened to you and found that doctor to restore your memory. That bastard Maxim, I will never let him go!"

Briana Cameron lowered her gaze, gently hugged Gemma, and slowly said, "Mom, I'm fine. You and dad don't need to look for him. I don't want to have anything to do with him anymore."

"Alright, Mom won't go find him. In the future, Mom will introduce you to someone better."

Briana Cameron slowly curved her lips, "Okay."

Three days later, Briana Cameron was discharged from the hospital.

The next day, Briana Cameron had the Cameron family's nanny go to Maxim's villa to tidy up.

Upon seeing the nanny, Maxim said coldly, "If she wants to pack, let her do it herself!"

The nanny hesitated for a moment, then called Briana Cameron in front of Maxim.

Briana Cameron was in the study, drawing design sketches. After hearing the nanny's words, she fell silent for a moment, then said softly, "Then you come back. Tell him I don't want any of it. He can just throw it all away."

The nanny relayed Briana Cameron's words verbatim to Maxim, his body temperature suddenly plummeted, making it feel as if one was in a world of ice and snow.

Frightened by his cold demeanor to the point of turning pale, the nanny quickly left.

Chapter 1059

After being left alone in the villa, Maxim's eyes filled with sadness. He stood in place for a long time before finally turning around and returning to his study.

It seemed that she really didn't want to see herself again.

That's fine, anyway, they couldn't possibly do it.

the Cameron family.

After hanging up the phone, Briana Cameron continued to draw the design, but her heart just couldn't calm down.

She took a deep breath, simply put down her pen, and prepared to rest for a while.

Just as I got up, the phone started ringing.

Seeing it was Hector, a flash of surprise crossed her eyes.

"Mr. Baldwin, did you need something?"

"Briana, since you've regained your memory, stop calling me Mr. Baldwin. Just call me Hector, like you used to."

"Good."

"I happened to be off today and wanted to ask if you had any time to go out for a meal and do some shopping on the side."

Detecting the cautious probing in Hector's tone, Briana Cameron pursed her lips, "No need, I don't want to..."

Before he could finish speaking, he was interrupted by Hector.

"Briana, you once told me that staying at home all the time wouldn't make you feel better. Do you remember?"

Briana Cameron's hand unconsciously tightened around her phone. It seemed that she had indeed said such things to Hector in the past, but the sunny and optimistic her, who was not afraid to move forward despite difficulties, seemed to have been lost over the years.

Now... it seemed like the time to let myself step out.

Without almost any hesitation, she said, "Alright, can you come pick me up?"

"I was already at the front door of the Cameron family's villa."

A flash of surprise crossed Briana Cameron's eyes, "I'll be out after I change my clothes."

After hanging up the phone, Briana Cameron opened her wardrobe, took out a goose-yellow dress to wear, applied some lipstick, and then grabbed her bag, ready to go out.

As soon as she came downstairs, Gemma, who had been sitting in the living room watching TV, turned her head to look at her.

Seeing her holding a bag and wearing lipstick, Gemma was taken aback.

"Briana, were you going out?"

There was worry in her eyes, could it be that she was going to see Maxim?

Briana Cameron nodded, "Yeah, Hector asked me out for dinner."

"Hector?"

A flicker of confusion passed through Gemma's eyes, but she quickly remembered. Wasn't Hector one of the blind date candidates she had introduced to Briana Cameron before?!

Although she had heard that the best way to forget a past relationship was to start a new one, she wondered if it was a bit too soon to do so.

“Briana..... I believe, no matter what kind of hurt we’ve experienced, we should still treat relationships with consistent sincerity. Only by treating others with a sincere heart can we receive sincerity in return.”

Briana Cameron looked bewildered, it took her a while to realize that Gemma was subtly reminding her not to take advantage of Hector’s forgetfulness about Maxim.

She couldn’t help but laugh, “Mom, don’t worry, I’m not that kind of person. Hector and I are just friends at the moment, going out to eat is just normal interaction.”

Hearing this, Gemma finally felt relieved, “That’s good, go out and have fun, but come back early.”

“Mm–hmm.”

Briana Cameron stepped out of the Cameron family home and saw a white BMW parked at the front. She walked up, opened the passenger door, and sat down.

The next second, a bunch of sunflowers was handed to her.

Chapter 1060

Briana Cameron was taken aback, it took her several seconds to react.

“Why did you suddenly give me flowers?”

“Because in my heart, you were like a sunflower, always so full of life. Even if you encountered countless setbacks, you could still keep moving forward.”

Briana Cameron pursed her lips, accepting the flowers and said, “Thank you, I will try my best to get through this.”

“I believed you could definitely do it.”

“Thank you!”

Half an hour later, Hector’s car stopped in front of a private restaurant.

The two got out of the car and walked in. Just as they reached the entrance, they ran into Aurora who had just finished eating.

Seeing Briana Cameron with Hector, she sneered, her voice dripping with sarcasm: “When you disrupted my engagement party with Maxim the other day, I thought you were so in love with him. But just a few days later, you’re entangled with another man. It seems your love for him isn’t as great as it seemed!”

Briana Cameron looked at her, “Aurora, did being the other woman make you feel superior?”

Aurora’s face stiffened, she gritted her teeth and said, “What nonsense are you talking about?! I am Maxim’s legitimate fiancée, you are the little... Ah!”

Before she could finish her sentence, Briana Cameron had slapped her across the face. Aurora staggered back several steps before regaining her balance.

She covered her face, looking at Briana Cameron in disbelief, “You actually dared to hit me?!”

Briana Cameron shook her slightly aching hand, looking at her expressionlessly, "Can't I hit you? As a mistress, you should be living low-key, not flaunting around. You'd better not appear in front of me in the future, or I'll hit you every time I see you."

"You dare! Ah!"

Briana Cameron slapped Aurora again, who fell directly to the ground, both cheeks swelling severely.

Watching Briana Cameron approach her step by step, a touch of fear unconsciously rose in her eyes.

Briana Cameron was too strong, she knew very well that she was no match for her!

A few steps away, Briana Cameron stood towering over her, her eyes full of contempt.

"You just stole a man I've used for years, picked up a second-hand good. Is it worth your bragging?"

Aurora's face stiffened, she gritted her teeth and said, "You are the second-hand goods, now all of Haseton is laughing at you. Do you think any man from any family would still be interested in you?"

Briana Cameron chuckled, "Considering being fancied by someone from a certain family as your honor, I advise you not to show up in public anymore. Just stay at home, take care of your husband and teach your children. That should be your greatest value."

"Briana Cameron, shut up!"

Aurora's face twisted in anger. If it weren't for the fact that she couldn't beat Briana Cameron, she would never let this bitch off the hook!

"Did you get so angry because I voiced out what you were thinking?"

"I won't let you off the hook! You just wait!"

Briana Cameron chuckled lightly, ignored her, and walked straight in, leaving Aurora so angry that her face contorted.

Her icy gaze followed Briana Cameron relentlessly, only retracting in anger when the other's figure disappeared from view.

This scoundrel!

No, she couldn't be let off so easily!

Aurora stood up, suddenly let out a cold laugh, and dialed a number.

"Send out the news that Briana Cameron and Hector dined alone, make sure Maxim knows."

Once Maxim found out that Briana Cameron was such a fickle woman, she didn't believe Maxim would still like her!