

Fall for You 291

Chapter 291

"Hmm, but didn't she know nothing before? How did she suddenly become the president of MY Corporation?"

Zane was silent for a moment, then slowly said, "I'm not very clear about this either, but it's very likely that Maxim gave it to her. Wasn't the Yoder Group acquiring MY Corporation a while ago?"

"Maxim gave the CharmDress to Kiley, and handed over MY Corporation to Briana. What on earth does this mean? Does he like them both?!"

If Maxim really wanted both, Zane could indeed have sent both Kiley and Briana to the Yoder family.

After all, in his eyes, daughters were just bargaining chips for benefits. Only that son, secretly raised outside, was his future heir

"I wasn't sure either. I'll find a time to ask Mr. Yoder."

After hanging up the phone, Zane hesitated for a moment, but still called Briana.

Briana was in a meeting, her phone was mirrored on the big screen, so when Zane called, everyone saw it.

William couldn't help but look at Briana, "This phone call..."

"Hung up directly, the meeting continued."

"Alright."

Zane's call was hung up, guessing that Briana was probably still angry, he decided to go to MY Corporation to see her in person, and incidentally inspect MY Corporation.

Previously, the Schneider Group and MY Corporation had never collaborated. However, now that the Schneider Group is involved in the clothing industry, if both MY Corporation and the CharmDress could assist the Schneider Group, it would surely establish a foothold in the clothing industry quickly.

Thinking of this, Zane seemed to have already seen the continuous expansion process of the Schneider Group, his eyes squinting with laughter.

Briana had just finished a meeting and stepped out of the conference room when another secretary, Sharon, approached her and said, "Your father has arrived. I asked him to wait for you in the reception room."

Upon hearing this, Briana furrowed her brows, "Next time he comes, just say I'm not here."

Seeing her displeasure, Sharon belatedly realized her mistake and lowered her head, saying, "Alright, I understand."

Briana handed the documents to William and briskly walked towards the reception room.

"Mr. Schneider, what brought you here?"

Noticing Briana's indifference, Zane frowned in displeasure.

suppressing his anger as he spoke, "Briana, you haven't been home in a long time. Come home for dinner tonight, your mom and sister miss you a lot."

Briana looked at him incredulously, not knowing how he managed to say such things without changing his expression.

Would Mallory and Kiley miss her?

Did you wish she would never go back?

"Mr. Schneider, it seems we no longer have any connection. This is your first time coming to MY Corporation to find me, and I hope it's also the last."

She turned to leave, not even bothering to further question Zane's real purpose.

"Briana, wait! Dad knows we wronged you before, but no matter what, we are still your family."

A smirk curved up the corner of Briana's mouth as she turned to look at Zane, speaking slowly and deliberately, "Mr. Schneider, you came to see me today because you found out I'm the CEO of MY Corporation and thought you could benefit from me, right?"

Zane's face stiffened, he gritted his teeth and said, "How could you think of me like this! No matter what, you are my biological daughter, how could I possibly harm you?"

"Twenty-three years ago, you abandoned me once, believing in the words of the Feng Shui master. Not long ago, you felt that I had no value to use, and chose to stand with the Ponce family between them and me. As for repeatedly favoring Kiley, I can't be bothered to mention it again."

Seeing Zane's face growing increasingly worse, there was not a hint of fluctuation in Briana's eyes.

"No matter what you wanted to get from me, you wouldn't have your way. Don't come looking for me again in the future."

After speaking, Briana immediately turned around and left.

Zane took a deep breath, filled with anger, yet he didn't know where to direct it.

Chapter 292

Briana raised an eyebrow, "Who?"

"Pamela!"

Briana was silent for a few seconds, "I don't know."

Melody: "Do you still remember when Kiley used Elia's fake signature to give to others, and then got exposed?"

"Remember, what happened?"

"She was the one who publicly exposed Kiley, and also the third-place winner of the national design competition."

Briana nodded, "Oh."

Melody's eyes were filled with disbelief, "Just one?! Do you know that her joining our company could promote our new products, and her clothing designs are pretty good too, it would be a great boost for us!"

After signing, Briana handed the document to her and said with a smile, "Understood, get back to work now."

"Boring, you're not excited at all."

"What's there to get excited about? MY Corporation will bring in even more outstanding designers in the future."

Upon hearing this, Melody couldn't help but curl her lips into a smile, saying, "That's true, I still remember our old dream was to make MY Corporation the biggest clothing brand in Bridenville!"

"To achieve this wish, a lot of effort still had to be made."

Melody nodded, "Alright, I won't chat with you anymore, I'm going back to continue my work."

"Mm-hmm."

After Melody left, Briana was about to continue working when her phone suddenly rang.

Seeing it was Kiley, she frowned and hung up directly.

Unexpectedly, the other party was particularly patient, making four or five calls in a row, and even sent a provocative text message asking if she was afraid to answer the phone.

Briana raised an eyebrow, and when Kiley called again, she directly answered.

"What was the matter?"

Kiley chuckled lightly, "Did you know that I was drugged last night? Maxim rushed over immediately and even personally rented a room to take care of me all night."

A glint of coldness flashed in Briana's eyes as she spoke icily, "I've recorded our conversation. I'll personally send it to Maxim later and ask him if he really took care of you all night!"

"You!"

Kiley was furious, sneering, "Do you know what happened to the business partner who drugged me? I heard his company went bankrupt this morning, and he disappeared from Bridenville altogether."

"So what if Maxim likes you now? In his heart, I will always have a place!"

I thought this would infuriate Briana, but to my surprise, she just responded indifferently, "Are you done?"

“Briana, even if you pretend to be calm, it’s useless. I will always stand between you and Maxim, don’t even think about...”

Before the conversation was over, Briana had already hung up the phone.

When Kiley tried to call again, it showed that the line was busy. It was clear that she had been blocked by the other party.

She was so angry that she almost threw her phone, but then she thought, if Briana really didn’t care, she wouldn’t have blocked her.

Just as Kiley was feeling proud, there was a knock on the office door.

Secretary Letitia walked in, “This is our financial report from the last quarter.”

“Just leave it there, I’ll look at it when I have time.”

Letitia nodded, “That’s right, our clothing sales last quarter were only half of MY Corporation’s. The design drafts for next quarter’s clothes have been revised several times, and I heard you’re not very satisfied with any of them. If we don’t finalize the design drafts soon, we won’t be able to produce the clothes in time for next quarter.”

Kiley frowned, saying coldly, “Those designs were originally very poor, I couldn’t possibly let a bunch of garbage be produced, could I?”

Letitia pursed her lips, the designs weren’t exactly great, but they weren’t bad either. It wasn’t necessary to insult the designers’ work by calling it garbage.

“What did Ms. Schneider mean?”

“Have them redesign a version within a week.”

Letitia couldn’t help but say, “Designing a new blueprint would take at least a month. One week is too tight. Could we possibly extend the deadline a bit?”

Kiley looked up at her coldly, her tone full of impatience.

Chapter 293

“Am I the boss or are you the boss? Otherwise, should I give this position to you?”

Letitia quickly shook her head, “I’ll go notify the design department immediately.”

Soon, the design department of CharmDress was filled with complaints.

What on earth is going on with Kiley?! She’s even more outrageous than Samuel was before. She’s a designer herself, could she produce dozens of design drawings in a week?!

Anyway, she just didn’t treat us like human beings! I saw her win first place in the design competition before, and I used to like her quite a bit, but now I’m growing more and more disgusted with her!

“Forget it, let’s hurry up and draw the design. If we don’t submit it within a week, who knows what awaits us.....”

Kiley was unaware of the dissatisfaction towards her among the crowd. as she was contemplating how to deal with MY Corporation.

The President's Office of MY Corporation.

After hanging up the phone, Briana picked up the document to continue reading, but she just couldn't concentrate

Last night, Maxim was deceived by Kiley once again. He said he was going to work, but in reality, he was helping Kiley deal with business partners.

After much hesitation, Briana still decided to give Maxim a chance.

She picked up her phone and dialed Maxim's number, which was quickly answered on the other end.

"Why did you suddenly call me, did you miss me?"

Briana's hand unconsciously tightened around her phone, she slowly asked, "Maxim, were you really dealing with work last night?"

As her voice fell, there was silence across for a few seconds.

"Why would you suddenly ask that?"

"You just needed to answer my question."

After a moment of silence, Maxim's deep voice came through.

"Briana, I'm sorry."

Briana didn't say anything else, she just hung up the phone.

Half an hour later, Maxim sent a message.

I was downstairs at MY Corporation, let's meet up, I wanted to explain to you in person.

Upon seeing this message, Briana pursed her lips and got up to go downstairs.

Maxim's car was parked by the side of the road. Briana walked up to it, opened the door and sat inside, her expression indifferent as she said, "You explain."

Seeing the indifference on her face, Maxim felt as if something had stung his heart, and his hand resting on his knee unconsciously tightened.

"Last night, I originally didn't plan to go, but after I couldn't reach Rayan by phone, I decided to go. However, nothing happened between her and me. I just called a doctor for her and then left."

Briana raised an eyebrow, her eyes full of coldness.

"Are you sure you just called a doctor for her?!"

Maxim nodded, "Indeed, later when I returned home and found you weren't at the villa, I knew you had gone to Lose Demon, so I rushed over."

“How did I hear that you even booked a room for her?”

Maxim frowned, “That’s because Rayan’s phone was broken, he couldn’t book a room

From his description, Briana was clear that nothing had indeed happened between him and Kiley, but she still couldn’t easily forgive Maxim for deceiving her.

“When we got back together. I told you to set boundaries with Kiley, and you agreed. But just two days later, you deceived me for Kiley”

The disappointment in Briana’s eyes sent a flash of panic through Maxim’s heart.

He fell silent for a few seconds, then began to explain, “I really didn’t plan on having anything with her. This time I helped her because I owed her from before. There won’t be such a thing in the future.”

Briana shook her head, “Promises are always easy, but fulfilling them is too hard. If you really can’t stop associating with her, you shouldn’t have agreed to me in the first place.”

After speaking, she directly pushed open the car door and left.

Maxim stared at her retreating figure, not going after her, but the low pressure emanating from his body proved that he was in a bad mood.

In the following days, using the excuse of being busy at work, Briana went straight back to Elm Bay after work every day, and she didn’t see Maxim again.

The day soon arrived when Norma was to host a welcome party for Isaac.

Chapter 294

Early in the morning, Norma had the driver pick up Briana. After breakfast, Norma held Briana’s hand.

“Briana, you’ll stick with me today. I haven’t attended many parties in recent years, so I don’t know many socialites. You’ll introduce them to me later.”

Briana nodded, “Okay.”

Although the party had only started in the evening, the servants were already busy cleaning the Harmony Villa and preparing the ingredients.

Briana had nothing to do, so she went to the study, picked up a book, and read it in the gazebo in the garden.

Not long after I started watching, a shadow suddenly cast before my eyes.

Briana lifted her head, saw it was Isaac, surprise flashed in her eyes.

“Cousin, when did you come?”

Isaac chuckled, sitting down across from her with a casual demeanor, "It's been a while, grandma told me you were reading in the garden, so I came to find you."

"Did my cousin have something to tell me?"

Isaac nodded, saying, "I understand the purpose of Grandma's party, but I'm not interested in dating right now, so I'd like to ask Ms. Schneider for a favor."

Briana pursed her lips, "What favor?"

"I hoped Ms. Schneider could persuade my grandmother. She has always liked you the most, she would definitely listen to you."

Briana furrowed her brow, remaining silent for a few seconds before finally speaking, "I'm afraid I can't help you with this."

Isaac chuckled lightly, slowly saying, "Ms. Schneider should know better than me what it feels like to be with someone you don't love. I don't want to waste anyone's time, nor do I want to put on a show in front of my grandmother."

Briana's grip on the book tightened unconsciously, her fingertips turning pale.

She was about to speak when a cold voice sounded from outside the pavilion.

"If you really didn't like grandma's arrangements, you should have talked to her yourself. What's the meaning of making things difficult for my wife here?!"

Both of them turned their heads at the same time, only to see Maxim walking into the gazebo with a cold expression.

It was not until he sat down next to Briana that he coldly looked at Isaac, his eyes devoid of any warmth.

"Briana was shy and didn't like talking to strangers. If there's nothing else, you could leave now."

Isaac chuckled, giving Briana a meaningful glance, and said with a smile, "Today, I have offended Briana, I hope Briana won't mind."

Briana's expression was indifferent, "No."

After Isaac left, Maxim turned to look at Briana, his eyes still radiating coldness.

"If he spoke to you again in the future, you should have acted as if you didn't hear it."

Briana frowned unconsciously, thinking that was too rude.

"Mr. Yoder, I haven't forgiven you yet, please stay away from me."

No sooner had the words left his mouth than his waist was grabbed.

"I just helped you out of a tight spot, can't that make up for my previous mistakes?"

Their bodies were pressed tightly together, and Briana seemed to feel his body heat seeping through the fabric.

She pushed Maxim away abruptly, walked to the farthest spot from him and sat down. With a smile that wasn't quite a smile, she began, "Don't forget, Mr. Yoder, I was ridiculed by your cousin, and you played quite a role in that."

Even Isaac, who had left Bridenville for several years, knew that Maxim didn't like him. It was easy to imagine what the other people in Bridenville thought of her.

Maxim

Seeing his silence, Briana stood up and looked at him, saying, "Nothing to say, huh? So whether or not I forgive you depends on your other actions."

After speaking, Briana turned to leave.

She had only taken two steps when she was embraced from behind by Maxim.

He rested his chin on her shoulder, his warm breath tickling her ear. The sensation seemed to travel from her ear straight to her heart, causing Briana's body to involuntarily stiffen.

"What would it take for you to calm down?"

Maxim's seductive voice echoed in her ear, and after a few seconds of silence, Briana suddenly pushed him away, turning and retreating a few steps.

"Mr. Yoder, you should have figured out how to appease me on your own, instead of coming to ask me."

Watching Briana's retreating figure, Maxim's eyes deepened, and he didn't go after her.

Returning to the living room, Norma saw her and quickly said, "Briana, come over here."

Briana walked over and sat down next to her, "Grandma, what's Wrong?"
