

Fall for You 751

Chapter 751

"Mr. Yoder, did you board the plane with the old lady?"

Maxim lowered his gaze, subconsciously asking, "Would you like to see grandma?"

"Um, I was at the airport, when did your plane take off?"

"We were in the VIP waiting lounge, you came directly, I had someone bring you in."

"Good."

After hanging up the phone, Maxim immediately contacted the airport staff to pick up Briana Cameron.

Norma, who was standing nearby, heard his words. Her expression changed from initial disappointment to anticipation and excitement. As soon as Maxim hung up the phone, she hurriedly asked, "Is it Briana who's coming?!"

Maxim nodded. "Hmm."

Norma visibly perked up, "I knew Briana wouldn't refuse to see me 1 even brought her favorite snacks, they're in the bag. Let me find them."

Saying so, Norma began rummaging through her bag.

Before long, Briana Cameron arrived in front of the two under the guidance of the staff.

On the way to the airport, she had wondered what kind of person Norma would be.

However, when she saw him in person, a wave of indescribable feelings suddenly surged in her heart. It was somewhat warm, and there was also a feeling of wanting to cry.

"Grandma..." she couldn't help but cry out.

Norma's eyes were red-rimmed, yet a smile played at the corners of her mouth, "Briana!"

She handed the snack she was holding to Briana Cameron, her voice choked up, "This is your favorite snack, do you remember?"

Briana Cameron cast a glance and found that it was indeed what she liked, which instantly made the old man in front of her seem even more amiable.

She crouched down and took the snack from Norma's hand.

"Thank you, Grandma, they were indeed all the things I like to eat."

Hearing this, Norma breathed a sigh of relief, "That's good... I've been forgetful for the past six months, I was afraid I might have remembered Briana's favorite food incorrectly."

Briana Cameron shook her head, her nose suddenly stinging, "No, you remember very clearly."

Norma chuckled, "Briana, I'm glad you could come."

Briana Cameron's hand, clutching a snack, unconsciously tightened, suddenly feeling a surge of desire to retrieve her memories.

Even if she had loved Maxim humbly in the past, this old man in front of her must have been very good to her.

Moreover, she had so many friends, and to resist past memories because of a Maxim, was a kind of harm to these people who were good to her.

At that moment, Briana Cameron slowly made up her mind.

The two of them continued their conversation until an announcement came over the loudspeaker that the flight Briana Cameron was on was about to take off. Reluctantly, she bid Norma farewell.

Although they hadn't been together for long, she could feel that the old man truly liked her.

After seeing the two off on the plane, Briana Cameron went straight back to the Cameron family.

When she entered the villa, Gemma was making dumplings, preparing to send them to Briana Cameron.

Seeing Briana Cameron return, surprise flashed in her eyes, "Briana, how come you're back all of a sudden? Did something happen?"

Briana Cameron walked up to her, her expression serious as she said, "Mom, I want to regain my memory."

The dumpling wrapper in Gemma's hand fell onto the table. After a good while, she frowned and said, "Why would you suddenly want to regain your memory? Those past memories are not good ones for you."

"I knew, I didn't like that humble self who was in love with Maxim either, but apart from Maxim, there were many other precious memories. I didn't want to deny all of the past just because of him."

Looking at Briana Cameron's determined expression, Gemma knew that persuasion was useless. With a serious expression, she said, "Are you sure you've thought this through?"

Chapter 752

Briana Cameron nodded, "Yes, I'm sure."

Gemma was silent for a moment, then slowly said, "Alright, but the doctor who hypnotized you initially is abroad. It would take about a month to bring her back."

"Alright, Mom, thank you!"

Gemma glared at her and said irritably. "I'm your mother, what's there to thank? I was originally going to make dumplings to bring to you, but since you're here, just stay with me for a while. After the dumplings are done, you can take them directly."

Briana Cameron nodded, hugging Gemma and said. "I knew Mom was the best to me!"

“Alright, stop acting cute, you’re not a child anymore.” Although her tone was one of annoyance, she couldn’t help but smile at the corners of her mouth.

“I packed with you.”

“No need, your wrapping was hideously ugly.”

Briana Cameron:

.....

It was past eleven at night when Maxim and Norma finally got off the plane.

As she was walking out of the airport, Norma’s steps suddenly faltered.

“Maxim, was that Briana’s heartless parents you saw?”

Maxim followed Norma’s gaze, Zane and Mallory were preparing to board the plane a dozen meters away from them.

His eyes narrowed slightly, a flash of coldness passing by.

“Min—hmm.”

Norma’s gaze fell on Mallory, finding her loose clothing somewhat strange.

However, she didn’t think much about it. Mallory was of that could she possibly be pregnant.

“Let’s go,” we said.

age,

how

After taking Norma to the hospital, Maxim immediately called Rayan, “Investigate where Zane and Mallory went tonight.”

Soon, a message from Rayan came back.

“Mr. Yoder, it was found out, their flight at midnight was headed to Haseton.”

Had someone keep an eye on them to see what they were doing in Haseton

If they dared to appear in front of Briana Cameron again, he would definitely not spare them!

Three years ago, when the news of Briana’s death in a fire spread, Zane and Mallory acted as if they didn’t know, they didn’t even attend the funeral, and later they even openly stated that they never had this daughter.

This kind of person was simply not fit to be a parent.

Late at night, after Zane and Mallory arrived in Haseton, they immediately took a car to Haseton First Hospital.

She went for a prenatal check-up yesterday, the doctor said a few indicators of the baby in her belly were not very good, it would be best to have a re-examination at Haseton.

The two were so frightened that they booked a flight overnight. It was Kathy, the younger sister, who pulled some strings to get them a check-up in the middle of the night, and even had a primary doctor with them.

Just as she arrived at the hospital entrance, Kathy stepped forward.

“Bro, sister-in-law, everything has been arranged, just go for the check- up.”

After Mallory went with the nurse for the check-up, Kathy looked at Zane and said. “You guys haven’t told Kiley about her sister-in-law’s pregnancy yet?”

When Kiley was three years old, Kathy had already married into the Haseton family, so she didn’t have much affection for this niece.

After learning about what she had done in Bridenville, she despised Kiley even more. Therefore, even though she knew that Kiley had come to Haseton with Maxim, she never took the initiative to contact Kiley, nor did she allow her children to associate with Kiley

The expression on Zane’s face stiffened for a moment, and he said unnaturally, “Your sister-in-law said the child is only three months old now, we’ll tell Kiley in five or six months.”

Chapter 753

A hint of mockery flashed in Kathy’s eyes, she knew Mallory’s thoughts without even guessing.

The child that Zane’s little wife outside had given birth to had already become an idiot. The child in Mallory’s belly was very likely to be the heir of the Schneider Group in the future. For Kiley, the birth of this child would only threaten her position as an heir, so Mallory was on guard against her.

However, Kathy didn’t really want to get involved in the matters of the Schneider family, as long as they didn’t affect her.

“Right, I heard Victor was scared silly, weren’t you planning to take him to Haseton for a check-up?”

Mentioning Victor, a flash of impatience flickered in Zane’s eyes. He said coldly. “We’ve already consulted many famous doctors before, all of whom said it’s impossible for him to recover. Now, your sister-in-law is pregnant. If she finds out that I’ve been secretly treating Victor, it might lead to another argument.”

Kathy pursed her lips, didn’t say anything more, and asked about Lacey and Desmond’s recent health conditions.

“Mom and Dad were in good health, they just missed you a lot.”

“I’ve been too busy with work at my company recently. Once I get some free time, I’ll bring them over to hang out.”

Speaking of the company, Zane tentatively said, "Kathy, The Schneider Group has been doing quite well in Bridenville these past few years. Since your sister-in-law is planning to rest and recuperate in Haseton, I'm thinking of shifting the focus of The Schneider Group to Haseton. What do you think?"

Kathy frowned, "The market in Haseton has basically been divided up. It would be difficult for the Schneider Group to come over and get a piece of the pie."

Zane looked at her, implying, "Don't you have yourself? Although you are now in control of the Bynes family's branch company, the main Bynes family still refuses to let you get involved. In the final analysis, it's because you have no backing in Haseton. If the Schneider Group could enter Haseton, once it gets established, would the Bynes family still dare to underestimate you?"

"By then, reaching into the headquarters of the Bynes Group wouldn't be as restrictive as it is now."

Upon hearing this, a glint sparked in Kathy's eyes. Zane's words had indeed touched her heart.

She married into the Bynes family, one of the eight great families of Haseton, seemingly glorious on the surface, but only she knew the hardships and endurance of these decades.

If she hadn't forced herself to grow, she and her two children would have been kicked out long ago.

If she had supported the Schneider Group, it would have also become her strength.

Thinking of this, she said solemnly, "After settling sister-in-law down, let's find a place to talk about this matter."

"Good."

Briana Cameron had originally thought that Maxim would stay in Bridenville for a few days before returning, but to her surprise, she saw him sitting in the restaurant eating breakfast as soon as she came downstairs the next morning.

She paused for a moment, "When did you come back?"

"At five in the morning, I returned home after taking my grandmother back to the hospital."

"So, are you still going to work today?" Judging by his suit and tie, he didn't look like he was planning to rest.

"Um, there was an important meeting today."

"Oh." Briana Cameron didn't ask any further, after all, she had no interest in Maxim's company at all.

"Come have breakfast, I'll take you to work after we finish."

Briana Cameron was just about to head towards the dining room when the doorbell rang.

She walked to the door and saw Kiley outside, she couldn't help but frown.

After all, seeing a chain that is almost identical to oneself, anyone should not be able to feel happy.

She opened the door, turned back to look at Maxim, and said lightly, "They must be looking for you."

Maxim's gaze shifted towards the door, and upon recognizing the person standing at the entrance, his face instantly turned icy cold.

"What did you come for?"

Kiley felt a tightening in her chest under Maxim's icy gaze, biting her lower lip, she said, "Maxim... Denise... she's sick, she's been asking to see you...."

Chapter 754

Denise Yoder was Kiley's daughter, who had a quirky personality. Therefore, even though Maxim detested Isaac, he was still quite fond of this niece.

Just...

The expression on Maxim's face didn't change at all as he looked at Kiley and spoke indifferently, "Kiley, why are you coming to me when your own daughter is sick? I'm not a doctor."

Kiley's face stiffened, a flash of annoyance in her eyes. Before Briana Cameron returned, Maxim would immediately drop his work to check on Denise at the slightest sign of discomfort. Now, he was so indifferent.

"Maxim.....she insisted on seeing you, I couldn't calm her down.....you should go see her....."

Looking at Kiley's pleading eyes, Maxim's gaze was icy cold, "It's better for us to keep our distance in the future, I don't want to give Briana the wrong impression."

Back then, it was because he didn't completely cut ties with Kiley that he kept disappointing Briana over and over again, eventually leading to them drifting further and further apart.

Given the chance to change everything now, he certainly wouldn't give Kiley any opportunity to ruin their relationship again.

Kiley's face was pale, her eyes already glistening with tears, "Maxim, I know you love my sister. I won't compete with her for anything, I just want you to meet with Denise."

No sooner had the words fallen than Briana Cameron raised an eyebrow, "If you really don't fight or scramble, you should stay away from Maxim, instead of using the child's illness as an excuse to get close to him."

Kiley bit her lower lip, almost hating Briana Cameron to death in her heart.

"Sister, I really didn't..."

Briana Cameron interrupted her impatiently, "I'm not interested in watching you make tea here. Do you understand that it's your freedom to flirt with Mr. Yoder, but I hope you come when I'm not around next time. Seeing your face makes me lose my appetite."

Tears fell from Kiley's eyes as she looked at Briana Cameron with a face of disbelief, as if she had suffered a great injustice.

The villa fell into silence, several minutes passed before Kiley cautiously looked at Maxim.

"Maxim. I really didn't intend to steal you from my sister. I'm happy that she's back. It's just that Denise has been insisting on seeing you, refusing to take her medicine otherwise. That's why I came here, hoping you could visit her. Even if you don't like me, the child is innocent."

A hint of mockery flashed in Maxim's eyes, "In the past three years, how many times have you used the child as an excuse to get close to me?"

He had thought Briana Cameron was dead before, so he turned a blind eye to some of Kiley's actions.

If she still wanted to ruin his relationship with Briana Cameron, he wouldn't let her off the hook!

Kiley took a deep breath, wiped her tears and said, "Maxim, since you don't believe me, there's nothing I can do. I won't bother you anymore."

After speaking, Kiley turned around and left directly.

Stepping out of the villa, Kiley glanced back at the mansion's gate, a flash of hatred in her eyes.

Maxim, I would definitely make you pay for your heartlessness today!

Half an hour later, Kiley arrived at Haseton's First Hospital.

Regarding Denise's illness, she indeed did not lie to Maxim. It's just that she wouldn't take her medicine unless he refused to see Denise.

Having parked the car in the basement, Kiley had just turned off the engine when suddenly two familiar figures walked past the front of the car.

She paused for a moment, took a closer look, and to her surprise, it was indeed Zane and Mallory!

How could they have appeared in Haseton?!

And she had absolutely no idea that the two of them had come to Haseton!

Why did you hide it from her?

Kiley was full of doubts, seeing Zane get into a white BMW with Mallory, she quickly fastened her seatbelt and followed.

After following for over an hour, the white BMW stopped in front of a villa.

Chapter 755

Zane opened the car door and carefully helped Mallory out, then the two of them walked in together.

Kiley bit her lower lip and dialed Mallory's number.

"Mom, where were you?"

There was silence on the phone for a few seconds, then Mallory's cautious voice came through, "I'm shopping, what's up?"

Kiley's grip on her phone tightened unconsciously, she said calmly, "I just called home, the servant said you weren't there, I thought you had gone to play cards."

"No, did you need something from me?"

"Can't I see you if there's nothing wrong? I miss you."

"Kiley, I had something going on here, so I couldn't talk to you then. I would call you again in the evening."

After speaking, without waiting for Kiley to respond, Mallory quickly hung up the phone.

Kiley threw her phone onto the passenger seat, her eyes filled with gloom. Zane and Mallory must be hiding something from her!

After pondering for a while, she immediately contacted a private detective, asking him to keep an eye on Zane and Mallory.

Driving back to the hospital, it was already past ten in the morning.

Denise saw Kiley, a flash of fear crossing her face, her gaze expectantly looking behind Kiley.

Not seeing Maxim, her expression turned desolate, and her head drooped.

With Maxim gone, Kiley couldn't be bothered to play the caring mother. She walked over and sat by the sickbed, irritably saying, "You're really useless, always getting sick. Even your uncle is fed up with you and refuses to come see you anymore. If you get sick again, I'm going to abandon you!"

Denise's body shivered, her eyes already filled with tears, but she dared not cry out, looking pitiful.

"Mom, I'm sorry..."

"You just know how to say sorry, do you know that a bad aunt took your uncle away from us? If you don't find a way to make your uncle like you, everything we have now will be taken away by that bad aunt!"

"Wah wah wah, I don't want, I don't want the bad auntie, I want to see uncle!"

"Cry, cry, cry! That's all you know how to do. How did I end up with such a useless thing like you!"

Kiley was filled with anger, and hearing Denise's crying made her even more irritated. She slapped Denise, but she was smart enough not to hit her face, instead, she slapped Denise's bottom.

"Mom... don't hit me, I will definitely behave in the future, don't hit me..."

Seeing the fear in Denise's eyes, a strange sense of satisfaction arose in Kiley's heart. She pinched Denise's ear, her face full of cold laughter.

"If you wanted me not to hit you, you had to win your uncle's favor.

Only then could we, mother and daughter, live a better life. Understand?"

"I... I understand... I will definitely try hard to win my uncle's favor..."

Hearing this, Kiley finally showed a satisfied smile and let her go, saying, "Alright, wipe your tears. I'll take you to your uncle's company later. When you see him, just tell him that you insisted on seeing him in tears, so I had to take you there, understand?"

Denise hiccuped through her tears, "But... but... I'm feeling bad now, can we wait until I feel better to go..."

"Go now! Don't make mom angry!"

Seeing Kiley's cold face, Denise was filled with fear. She shakily climbed out of the sickbed, but due to dizziness, she fell directly onto the floor, instantly developing a large bump on her forehead.

"Ouch... It hurts so much..."

Seeing the bump on her head, Kiley first frowned, then couldn't help but let a smile creep onto her lips.

"No crying! You can cry in front of your uncle later!"

Chapter 756

Denise was silenced instantly as her shout her gaze filled with fear. terrified that she might hit her again if she got angry

Kiley lifted her up from the ground dusted her off and slowly said "Denise when you go to your uncle's later, you need to say this

She taught Denise many cute and coquettish phrases had Denise demonstrate them several times in front of her, and then took Denise to the Yoder Group

Unexpectedly, as soon as I got downstairs. I was stopped by the receptionist

"Ms Schneider the president said that you can no longer enter the Yoder Group at will."

Kiley paused a flash of embarrassment in her eyes Maxim had actually treated her this way for Briana Cameron?"

She took out her phone to call Maxim, but the call waiting tone sounded from inside

It seemed that Maxim really intended to completely cut ties with her

However, she would not just give up like that!

She put away her phone and directly pushed Denise towards the front desk

“He refused to see me, but he should at least see his own niece. I have an urgent matter to attend to now, so I’m leaving Denise with you. Take her to Mr Yoder’s!”

Without giving the receptionist time to react, Kiley quickly turned around and left after finishing her wraide

The receptionist wanted to chase after, but was held back by Denise who ching to her leg

“Sister, you took me to find uncle

In Denise’s eyes was a plea. If she were sent back to her mother her mother would surely scold her for being useless, might even hit her and lock her in the dark room

Thinking of the small dark room, Denise’s petite body couldn’t help but shudder, her face also turned pale

The receptionist looked helpless, “I’ll call Mr Yoder first ”

Soon, Ravan came down

Seeing Kiley really left Denise alone at the front desk of the Yoder Group, a flash of anger passed through his eyes

She had used this method more than once or twice. To get in touch with Mr. Yoder, she even exploited her own daughter. She simply did not deserve to be a mother

Upon seeing Rayan, the receptionist, as if seeing a savior, hurriedly said. “Rayan please take the person away quickly. Just now, several people asked if it was my child

Heaven knows, she was only twenty-one and didn’t even have a boyfriend!

Rayan nodded, “Hmm”

Even though he despised Kiley deeply in his heart, Rayan still couldn’t express any malice towards a three-year-old child. After all, the child was innocent.

“Denise, come here, I took you to find your Mr. Yoder ”

“Alright...”

Just after answering this character, Denise’s small body fell forward.

Rayan’s expression darkened, and he quickly stepped forward to hold her.

Seeing her face turn red, I reached out and touched her forehead, which was burning hot.

He hastily called the Yoder family’s family doctor, then solemnly carried Denise upstairs.

In Maxim’s office. just after he had finished processing a document, there was a knock at the door.

“Come in.”

Rayan pushed open the door, carrying Denise with a gloomy expression as he entered the office.

“Mr. Yoder, Miss Xiao was still running a fever, and Kiley just left her alone downstairs. It’s not just about Miss Xiao’s fever, if she hadn’t suddenly fainted, I’m afraid I wouldn’t have been able to find out in time!”

Upon hearing this, Maxim’s face turned incredibly ugly. He asked coldly, “Did you call the family doctor?”

“Called, was on the way.”

Chapter 757

Rayan carefully placed Denise on the sofa, his eyes filled with worry.

It was really hard for this child to have a mother like Kiley. Kiley only saw her as a tool to get closer to Maxim, she didn’t consider her as her own daughter at all.

“Go ask others if anyone brought something like a fever patch. If not, bring a wet towel over.”

“Alright.”

Half an hour later, the family doctor gave Denise an IV drip, and couldn’t help but say, “Mr. Yoder, why has Miss Denise’s fever been dragging on for so long? Her temperature just now was already 39.3 degrees. If it continues like this, it might cause permanent damage to the brain.”

Maxim’s face was gloomy, “I understand, Rayan, please escort Dr. Olson.”

After dropping off Dr. Olson, Rayan could clearly feel that the entire office was shrouded in low pressure.

“Mr. Yoder.....”

“Call Kiley immediately and tell her to get over here! If she refuses to come, Denise will have nothing to do with her ever again, and she can forget about ever seeing Denise!”

Rayan was startled by his cold tone and hurriedly called Kiley, only to find that her phone was turned off.

“Mr. Yoder, the machine was turned off.”

A cold glint flashed in Maxim’s eyes, “No need to fight anymore.”

Rayan didn’t dare to speak anymore, he could only silently put down his phone.

Looking down at Denise who had already fallen asleep, Maxim only felt a headache. If he took Denise back, Briana Cameron would definitely be angry, but he didn’t trust anyone else with Denise.

“You go ahead and work, I can take care of things here.”

“Alright.”

After Rayan left, Maxim thought for a while and eventually decided to have Rayan find a nanny to take care of Denise.

And this matter also needed to be mentioned to Briana Cameron, otherwise, who knows what kind of misunderstanding it might have caused in the future.

On the other side, Briana Cameron rushed to the company after finishing her work with the crew.

In the afternoon. Anastasia knocked on the door and walked into the office, hesitatingly she began, "Ms. Cameron, I stayed up late last night drawing some design sketches, could you please help me take a look?"

Briana Cameron hadn't expected her to be so proactive. Surprise flashed in her eyes as she put down the file in her hand and said, "Give it to me."

She took the design drawing, and after looking at it, she raised a few targeted questions. Anastasia's eyes lit up instantly.

"Ms. Cameron, you're really amazing! How did I not think of that!"

Briana Cameron chuckled, "Your design is quite spirited. Once you've accumulated experience in the future, you'll develop your own unique style. Keep going."

Upon hearing this, Anastasia immediately lit up with joy, "Really? I will definitely work hard!"

"Alright, go to work."

Leaving Briana Cameron's office, Anastasia placed the design drawings on the table and took her cup to the tea room to get water.

Just as I reached the entrance of the tea room, I saw Katherine making coffee at the bar.

Anastasia furrowed her brow, about to turn and leave, when Katherine spotted her.

"Ms. Floris, would I eat people? Why do they run away as soon as they see me?"

Anastasia didn't want to interact with Katherine, but she also didn't dare to offend her. After all, she had heard about how she dealt with colleagues she didn't like in the past.

She forced a smile and slowly walked in.

"No, I just saw you, Ms. Marsh, using the tea room and I was afraid of disturbing you."

Katherine chuckled, sipped her coffee, and raised an eyebrow, "So? Is Briana Cameron willing to help you review the design drawings? If she's not, you can come to me."

Anastasia quickly declined, "No need, Ms. Cameron has already shown me earlier, and she specifically pointed out several issues, so there's no need to trouble Ms. Marsh."

Katherine didn't get angry either, the smile on her face deepened a bit more, "Ms. Floris, you are still young. Sometimes, the advice that others give you, which you think is enlightening, may not necessarily be beneficial to you. It might even erode your spirit."

Chapter 758

Anastasia paused for a moment, then looked at her warily, "What do you mean?"

"Take your time, Ms. Floris. If there's anything you need my help with, feel free to reach out to me at any time,"

After speaking, Katherine left with her coffee.

Anastasia stood in place for a long time before she took a deep breath, picked up the cup and left, even forgetting to fill it with water.

Returning to her workstation, she sat in her seat. lost in thought.

Could Briana Cameron really have harmed her?

She didn't want to think so badly of Briana Cameron, but Katherine's words echoed in her mind like a curse.

Evening quitting time came quickly, and when Briana Cameron came downstairs, Maxim was already waiting at the door.

"Briana, I had something to tell you."

Briana Cameron was about to speak when her cell phone suddenly rang in her pocket.

As soon as it was connected, the voice of the Cameron family's butler came through.

"Miss, the lady suddenly fainted just now, and I can't get in touch with the young master and the master. Could you please come back?"

Briana Cameron's expression darkened, she quickly said, "Contact the family doctor, I'm going back immediately."

After hanging up the phone, she quickly turned to Maxim and said,

"Mr. Yoder, could you please take me back to the Cameron family? My mother suddenly fainted."

"Good."

When Briana Cameron and Maxim arrived at the Cameron family's place, the family doctor had already put Gemma on an IV drip

"How was my mother?"

"It's nothing serious, she just fainted from low blood sugar because she hasn't been eating properly recently."

Upon hearing this, a hint of guilt flashed in Briana Cameron's eyes Gemma must have been worrying about her recently, which was why she couldn't eat well.

"I would definitely supervise her in the future, making sure she eats and sleeps well."

"Um, she woke up shortly after the IV drip finished. I have to go back now, there's still some stuff to deal with at the hospital."

Briana Cameron nodded. "Yeah. Uncle Ma."

After the doctor left, Briana Cameron walked over and sat down by the bed.

Seeing Gemma's pale face, her heart gave a painful squeeze, filled with sadness.

If she had come back that day and realized that she hadn't eaten properly, she wouldn't have ended up with low blood sugar.

Thinking of how she hadn't even eaten properly herself, yet still remembered to make dumplings for her, Briana Cameron couldn't help but feel a lump in her throat.

After staying in the room for a while and leaving the servant to watch the IV, Briana Cameron went to the living room.

Maxim was sitting on the sofa, looking at documents on his phone

Hearing footsteps, he lifted his head, seeing that the newcomer was Briana Cameron, his previously furrowed brow relaxed.

"How was Mrs. Cameron?"

"Not so good, the doctor said he has a bit of low blood sugar and hasn't woken up yet. I'm staying here tonight, you go home first."

Maxim had originally wanted to tell her about Denise, but now was clearly not a good time.

He stood up, nodded and said, "Alright, if there's anything, feel free to call me anytime."

"Mm-hmm."

Maxim was sent away from the Cameron family, Briana Cameron turned around and walked into the villa.

On the other side, Kiley had just turned on her computer and was about to contact Maxim when the private detective's call came in.

After the connection was made, something was said on the other end that caused Kiley's face to suddenly turn extremely unpleasant.

"Was what you said true?!"

"Rest assured, Ms. Schneider, I had no reason to lie to you."

Kiley gripped her phone tightly, gritting her teeth and said, "I will transfer the payment to your card. If I hear a whisper about this, I won't let you off!"

Chapter 759

"Ms. Schneider, rest assured, I won't say anything."

After hanging up the phone, Kiley gritted her teeth. Mallory was actually pregnant and had kept it from her!

Ever since Sabina's bastard child turned into an idiot, Zane gradually lost interest in Sabina. However, until she came to Haseton, there were no signs of Mallory being pregnant, and she also never expressed the desire to have another child.

There was only one reason that she and Zane could keep it from him, the child in Mallory's belly was a son, and they planned to let that child inherit the Schneider Group!

She had thought that after dealing with Victor, the Schneider Group would be hers. Unexpectedly, Mallory and Zane were planning to create another one behind her back!

After Briana's death, Maxim had already taken back the CharmDress. If she lost the Schneider Group as well, she would truly have nothing left.

So, that child absolutely could not be born!

Just after ten in the evening, Gemma finally woke up.

Seeing Briana Cameron sitting by the bed, she was taken aback, "Briana, how come you are here?"

Seeing her trying to get up, Briana Cameron quickly supported her.

"Mom, haven't you been eating properly recently? You suddenly fainted, and the doctor came to give you an IV, saying you had low blood sugar."

Gemma paused for a moment, "I haven't had much of an appetite lately."

"Was it because of me?"

"Um, the thought of you being with Maxim for three months worried me."

Afraid that Briana Cameron would fall in love with Maxim again, and be hurt by him again.

Briana Cameron pursed her lips, "Mom, don't worry, I won't be with him. I'll be back in three months."

"Um, Mom believed in you."

"Since you trust me, you must eat well in the future. I was almost scared to death when I received the call from Uncle Butler!"

Seeing Briana Cameron's somewhat pale face, Gemma took her hand and said. "You don't need to worry about me. I haven't missed a single annual check-up, there's definitely nothing wrong with my body. They're just making a fuss over nothing."

"Low blood sugar is no small matter, it could be very dangerous. I made some porridge for you in the kitchen, I'll go get it."

Soon, Briana Cameron came over with a bowl of porridge and a few side dishes.

Gemma hadn't eaten much today. With her daughter by her side at that moment, she was indeed a bit hungry. She took the porridge and started to drink it with her head lowered.

After finishing a bowl of porridge, my stomach finally didn't feel so empty, and I felt much more comfortable.

Sean had also returned by this time, rushing into the bedroom.

"Gemma, how are you? I received the news of your fainting as soon as I got off the plane."

Seeing his travel-stained appearance, Gemma couldn't help but say disdainfully, "I'm fine, you better go take a shower. Have you not bathed for a week while you were out on business?"

"I went to the southwest to investigate a project. You know the conditions in the southwest, it's not possible to take a bath every day."

Briana Cameron stood up, a teasing smile on her face, "Dad, Mom, I won't be a third wheel here anymore."

After speaking, Briana Cameron quickly slipped away.

Gemma watched her retreating figure, couldn't help but laugh and scold. "She's been a little devil since she was a child, and now she's still making jokes at our expense."

Sean chuckled, "If I stay here, I would indeed be a third wheel. I haven't seen you for many days, and I have a lot to talk to you about."

"Perfect, I also had something to tell you."

"What happened?"

"Briana wanted to regain her previous memories."

The smile on Sean's face froze, his thick eyebrows instantly furrowing, "She still wants to be with Maxim?"

"No, she didn't want to give up her previous memories for Maxim, that's why she wanted to regain her memory."

No sooner had the words fallen than Sean said coldly, "No! I disagree with this!"

If she regained her memory, Briana Cameron might have had a soft spot for Maxim again.

Sean frowned, disagreeing as he spoke. "If you regain your memory, you will definitely continue to entangle with Maxim."

"No, I've already signed the divorce agreement with him. We won't have any relationship at all three months later."

"That won't do either. There's not a trace of past pain in your memory now. Isn't that a good thing?"

Under Sean's pressing gaze, Briana Cameron slowly said, "Dad, I want to know, was it my decision to find a doctor to hypnotize me to forget the past, or was it a decision you made for me?"

Sean paused, frowning, "It's your own decision. Initially, Maxim almost got you killed in a fire because of his ex-girlfriend. After we brought you to Haseton, you didn't eat or drink for over a week."

"Your mother was too worried, so she found a doctor who could hypnotize. She asked if you wanted to forget the past and start over, and you agreed."

Briana Cameron pursed her lips, looking at Sean and slowly said. "In that case, I hope you can also agree to my wish to regain my memory this time."

"Briana, I just didn't want you to get hurt."

"I knew, but I really didn't love Maxim anymore, and he wasn't important enough to make me forget my past and my good friends at his expense."

Sean fell silent for a moment, then said coldly, "Anyway, I will not agree to this, don't bring it up again!"

After speaking, Sean immediately got up and went to work.

Briana Cameron sighed, it seemed that she would have to slowly persuade Sean about this matter. However, she estimated that Sean would not relent if she went by herself

She took out her phone and dialed Thomas's number, "Brother Three, I have a favor to ask of you."

Upon hearing that it was about persuading Sean to agree to restore her memory, Thomas immediately refused. "Briana, it's not that I don't want to help you, but you don't know how angry Dad was when we brought you back from Bridenville. If it weren't for my older brothers holding him back, he would have gone to Bridenville to confront Maxim on the spot!"

Thinking of that scene at the time, Thomas couldn't help but shudder.

"But hasn't the Cameron Group been collaborating with the Yoder Group these past few years? Dad shouldn't be that annoyed with Maxim, should he?"

Thomas couldn't help but say, "Then you go ask around at the Yoder Group, how these collaborations were actually negotiated... The cooperation between the Yoder Group and the Cameron Group basically had no profit. Maxim was willing to continue the cooperation because he was attracted by the reputation of the Cameron Group."

Briana Cameron frowned, "But in this way, isn't Dad being used as his stepping stone?"

“Even if Dad was unwilling to cooperate with the Yoder Group, with Maxim’s ability, he could still have established the Yoder Group firmly in Haseton. If it wasn’t for Dad’s overt and covert suppression of the Yoder Group over the past few years, the Cameron Group might not even be able to surpass the Yoder Group now.”

“Alright, then I’ll go ask my older brothers if they are willing to help me...”

“I advised you not to ask, as the result would surely disappoint you.”

Seeing that he was not only unwilling to help her, but also poured cold water on her, Briana Cameron snorted and said, “Are you really my third brother?”

“It was precisely because I am your third brother that I reminded you. If you really want Dad to agree, you have to go talk to him yourself.”

Briana Cameron couldn’t help but run her fingers through her hair, she had tried to negotiate, but she failed.

After hanging up the phone, Briana Cameron called Terrence and Roger again, but both of them rejected her without exception.

Helpless, she had no choice but to put this matter aside and get up to go to work.

Just arrived at the company, and saw the designers in the design department whispering to each other, not knowing what they were talking about.

She returned to the office and immediately called Anastasia in “Anastasia, what were they discussing outside?”

A flash of surprise crossed Anastasia’s eyes, “Ms. Cameron, you don’t know yet? The word outside is that Denise is Maxim and Kiley’s daughter. Yesterday, a paparazzi was following a celebrity, but unexpectedly took a photo of the three of them out for a walk. Now, everyone online is discussing this!”
