

Fall for You 81

Chapter 81

“Ms. Schneider, when did you come back? There have been a lot of documents piling up these days that need to be resolved, and the other shareholders have expressed their concerns.”

Briana pursed her lips and said, “You bring the documents to the hospital, and after I sign them, you take them back.”

“Okay, I’ll come right away.”

In less than half an hour, Melody arrived.

Briana asked the caregiver to look after things and to call her if there were any issues, then she went to find Melody.

By the time the document was signed, it had already been an hour.

“Melody, you have worked hard these past few days. I may need to stay in the hospital for a while longer. If there are no urgent documents, you can sign them.”

Just arrived at the door of the ward, I saw many doctors and nurses gathered around the bedside. Did Maxim wake up?!

She hurriedly walked into the ward, where Dr. David was giving instructions to Maxim. Briana was about to approach when Kiley’s gentle voice came from the center of the crowd.

“Okay, Dr. David, I have noted down all of these. I will definitely make sure Maxim follows them well.”

Dr. David was also puzzled as to why it had changed from Briana to Kiley, even though Briana had been here before.

However, as it involved personal emotions, he was not appropriate to ask. After nodding his head, he turned around and intended to leave.

Seeing Briana standing behind the nurse, Dr. David’s eyes flashed with surprise. “Ms. Schneider, you’re back. Mr. Yoder has already woken up.”

Briana nodded and was about to speak when Kiley suddenly spoke up.

“Dr. David, Maxim just woke up. If there are too many people in the ward, it may make it difficult for him to breathe. You can go back first. and I will immediately inform you if there is any situation.”

“Okay.”

After Dr. David left, Kiley finally put her heart back in her stomach and completely ignored Briana. She turned her head and looked at Maxim with a gentle expression.

“Maxim, were you hungry? Would you like to eat something?”

Maxim looked gentle, with a faint smile at the corner of his mouth. “I wasn’t hungry, Kiley, you can go back and rest.”

Just now, Maxim woke up and the first thing he saw was Kiley standing outside the ward. He looked around but didn’t see Briana, and a wave of emotions, whether it was disappointment or something else, surged in his heart.

Later, Maxim learned that Kiley had stayed outside the ward for three days and nights without sleep. He felt both heartbroken and touched.

and a sense of dissatisfaction towards Briana arose in his heart.

Although he and Briana were getting divorced, they hadn’t actually separated yet, and she could heartlessly disregard herself.

At this point, Maxim couldn’t help but feel a chill.

Kiley shook her head quickly and said, “Maxim, I am not tired. I will stay here and watch over you.”

“Okay.”

Maxim’s eyes were filled with helplessness and indulgence, completely different from his previous attitude towards Kiley. Briana couldn’t help but frown.

She always felt like something had happened during the time she was away.

However, it had nothing to do with her. She didn’t want to get involved in Maxim and Kiley’s relationship.

Briana stepped forward, her expression calm as she said, “Since you’re awake, I’ll go back first.”

After hesitating for a moment, Briana decided not to tell him about his leg injury and planned to wait until he was feeling better.

Maxim appeared indifferent, as if he hadn’t seen Briana at all, and gave no response.

Briana didn’t say anything and turned around to leave directly.

Just as I reached the door, Maxim’s cold and indifferent voice sounded from behind me.

“You don’t need to come anymore after you, Kiley is enough here.”

Briana’s footsteps paused for a moment, but she didn’t look back and quickened her pace to leave.

After she disappeared at the doorway, Maxim's face immediately turned dark. He slammed his hand on the table, causing the water cup to shatter into pieces on the floor, which startled Kiley beside him.

"Maxim..."

Maxim turned his head and saw Kiley looking at him with a frightened expression on her face. His cold and stern eyes couldn't help but soften slightly.

"Kiley, I'm sorry, I scared you."

Kiley forced a smile and said, "It's okay, I'll clean up the floor."

"No need, I will call the caregiver later to tidy up."

After the ward door closed, Maxim opened his eyes.

He called Rayan and asked him to come to the hospital.

"President, you finally woke up. The Yoder Group's shares have dropped several points in the past few days, and there is a sense of panic among the employees in the company!"

If Maxim doesn't wake up soon, those cunning shareholders might do something!

Maxim frowned and said in a deep voice, "Tell me about the current situation of the company."

After listening, Maxim remained silent for a while.

"Go and inform the manager of the Public Relations Department to hold a press conference in the afternoon. I will personally attend."

The current online comments are all about him being unconscious and the Yoder Group having no one in power. As long as he appears in public, all rumors will be debunked.

Rayan hesitated and looked at Maxim with a worried expression. "Mr. Yoder, you have just woken up. It would be better for you to rest for a couple of days. I will have the Public Relations Department announce your awakening. Your current condition is not suitable for holding a press conference."

"Sure, then you can find someone to take a few pictures of me when I woke up and post them online. That way, it will be more credible."

After resolving this matter, Maxim's gaze turned icy cold. "Has the mastermind behind this car accident been found?!"

Rayan's face looked grim as he cautiously said, "No... not yet, because the car was a stolen vehicle. It later disappeared on an unmonitored road, so the investigation is still ongoing."

Maxim nodded, "I got it. How is Gunnar?"

"Gunnar was also seriously injured, but not fatally. He only lost a lot of blood and woke up yesterday."

"Um."

Rayan didn't see Briana and a hint of confusion flashed in his eyes, "Where is Ms. Schneider?"

"Go back and rest, you should go back to work too."

In the following days, Briana did not go to the hospital again. She had seen Maxim's leg examination report and decided to wait until the other injuries on his body healed before treating it slowly.

Anyway, since the danger period has already passed, she used to only annoy Maxim in the past, so she didn't bother going.

And Maxim's temper also became increasingly strange.

Until the day of his discharge, he called Briana with a cold face.

When Briana received the call, she was in a meeting and she walked out of the conference room to answer the phone.

"Mr. Yoder, did you need to speak with me?"

Maxim sneered, "Briana, do you have any sense of being a wife at all? I've been in the hospital for so many days and you've completely ignored me. It's always been Kiley taking care of me. Now that I'm about to be discharged, you're not even coming to pick me up. Are you waiting for Kiley to take me back home?!"

Briana pinched her brow and said, "Didn't you tell me not to go?"

"Now you know to listen to me. I didn't agree to divorce in the first place, so why did you insist on it?!"

Briana:

There was a two-second silence, and Maxim coldly said, "Come pick me up at the hospital!"

Chapter 83

After speaking, he immediately hung up the phone.

Briana put down her phone and, thinking that it was also her fault that he had a car accident, took a deep breath before walking into the meeting room.

"The meeting ends here today, and will continue tomorrow."

As soon as the words fell, George spoke sarcastically, "It's better to be a CEO. You can have meetings whenever you want, stop whenever you want. Unlike us, even if we have a hundred thousand urgent matters at hand, we can only put them aside to attend a meeting!"

Briana glanced at George and raised an eyebrow, saying, "Mr. Landry, if you can't speak properly, then shut up. If you have the ability, pull me down from the stage and become the president yourself. That way. I will also cooperate with your schedule."

George's eyes flashed with anger as he spoke indignantly, "Ms. Schneider, your recent work attitude has been evident to everyone, as it has caused delays in several projects of your company!"

Briana smiled and raised an eyebrow, saying, "If I remember correctly, only the project you submitted was rejected, the rest of the projects are progressing as usual."

Upon hearing this, George's face immediately turned extremely ugly. He slammed the table and exclaimed, "Ms. Schneider, since all the shareholders are here today, I want to ask you why my project was rejected. What is the reason behind it?!"

Briana remained calm and said, "There was nothing wrong with your

"Before my leg healed, you moved back to take care of me."

Briana frowned, "No, I have my own job. I can hire a caregiver for you."

Maxim sneered, "Don't worry, it won't delay your work. Just take care of me before and after work every day."

After hesitating for a few seconds, Briana finally nodded and said, "Okay."

Now Scorpion has set her sights on Maxim. It is best for her to stay with Maxim as she can promptly detect any danger.

Maxim didn't expect her to agree so easily, a hint of surprise flashed in his eyes.

"Also, I won't divorce you until my leg is healed. Otherwise, once you obtain the divorce certificate, you might just leave."

Briana glanced at him lightly and said, "I got it."

"Briana, why were you so easy to talk to today?"

Briana ignored him and quickly packed up her things. After she checked Maxim out of the hospital, she returned to Glamor Villa.

Because it was inconvenient to move the wheelchair, Briana temporarily cleaned up the master bedroom on the first floor for Maxim to stay, while she planned to stay in the adjacent small bedroom.

Maxim couldn't help but frown, "You live next door, how can I call you if I have any problems at night?"

"Just give me a call."

"What if you fell asleep and didn't answer? We have to stay in the same room!"

Chapter 84

The two of them stood their ground for a while, but in the end, Briana gave in.

Having tidied up the room, Briana was about to cook when she opened the fridge and the doorbell rang.

The person who came was Kiley. She went to the hospital today to visit Maxim, but she found out that Maxim had already been discharged.

The person who opened the door was Briana, and her face changed. "Briana, how come you are here?!"

Briana looked indifferent and said, "This is my home, am I not normal here?"

Kiley gritted her teeth and coldly said, "Where is Maxim? I came to see Maxim!"

She pushed Briana aside and walked into the villa.

Seeing Maxim sitting in a wheelchair, Kiley's pupils suddenly contracted. She quickly walked up to Maxim and crouched down in front of him.

"Maxim, your leg..."

Maxim remained calm and looked at Kiley, saying, "The doctor said that he might never be able to stand up again."

"No!"

Kiley covered her mouth, her eyes filled with disbelief, and tears quickly welled up in her eyes.

"No, Maxim, I will find you the best doctor. Your leg will definitely get better!"

"Kiley, let's talk about this later."

Maxim didn't want to bring up the matter, and Kiley didn't say anything further. It took quite a while for the emotions to finally settle down.

"Maxim, you and Briana were almost getting divorced, it wouldn't be appropriate for Briana to come here. Let me take care of you from now on."

Three years ago, she listened to Mallory's words and didn't go back to her home country, giving Briana the opportunity to marry Maxim. Now, she won't make the same mistake again!

Maxim fell silent for a moment and said calmly, "No need, I have already reached an understanding with her. We won't get divorced until my leg is healed."

"How is this possible?! If your leg never gets better, then won't you be with her for the rest of your life?!"

After speaking, Kiley noticed Maxim's cold gaze and quickly explained, "Maxim, I didn't mean that. Your leg will definitely get better. I'm just afraid that if Briana agrees to divorce you after much difficulty, what if she falls in love with you again while taking care of you and refuses to divorce?"

Maxim hadn't spoken yet, but Briana, who was watching the two of them coldly, spoke up.

"Don't worry, I couldn't possibly fall in love with him again!"

The moment the words fell, Maxim's face instantly turned extremely cold.

Kiley certainly didn't believe Briana's words. What she wanted was for Briana to not have a chance to be with Maxim!

"Briana, no one can control matters of the heart, and besides, it wouldn't be difficult for you to fall in love with Maxim again, considering how outstanding he is."

Briana: "

Maxim looked at Kiley and spoke in a calm tone, "Kiley, you stood outside my hospital room for three days while I was unconscious, and I was already very grateful..."

The conversation was not finished yet when Kiley hurriedly interrupted him, "Maxim, this is what I should do. Even if I have to take care of you for the rest of my life, I am willing to do it!"

Maxim frowned. Although he appreciated Kiley, he didn't want Briana to misunderstand their relationship.

He turned his head and glanced at Briana, seeing her looking down without knowing what she was thinking, a touch of displeasure suddenly rose in his heart.

Seeing Kiley confessing her feelings to him, she could still remain so calm!

"Briana, I wanted to have steamed eggs. Can you make them now?"

Briana looked up and smiled at Kiley with an inexplicable meaning. then slowly spoke as she noticed Kiley's guilty expression, "Okay, but you just said Kiley..."

Chapter 85

"Briana!"

Kiley forced a smile and walked up to Briana, saying, "Briana, I was really good at making steamed eggs. Let me help you."

"Okay."

The two of them walked into the kitchen with the eggs. After closing the door, Kiley's smile turned cold.

"Briana, if you dare to speak the truth, I will definitely not let you off!"

Briana raised an eyebrow and smiled, calmly saying as she beat the eggs, "Why should I help you hide? If Maxim finds out that it was me who stood guard outside the ward for three days and nights, I'm sure your image in his mind will be greatly diminished, won't it?"

Kiley gritted her teeth and coldly said, "If it weren't for you driving me away back then, I would have definitely stayed by Maxim's hospital room!"

Briana glanced at her and said, "I told you to leave, it seems like your feelings for Maxim were nothing special."

"You!"

Kiley stared at her and spoke slowly, "What will it take for you to help me conceal this matter?!"

"You shouldn't have asked me this question, but rather should have thought carefully about what qualifications you have to exchange with me."

Briana skillfully added water to mix the egg mixture and placed it in the pot to steam before turning her head to look at Kiley. She smiled and said, "Until this steamed egg is done, if you can give me a condition that satisfies me, I will pretend I don't know anything."

Kiley's face turned pale with anger. She shouldn't have come today, and now she had just handed Briana a perfect opportunity to have leverage over her!

Ten minutes later, Briana looked at the steaming pot and smiled, saying, "You still have five minutes."

Kiley looked at her coldly and said, "Weren't you always envious of me in the past, when my parents would throw me a birthday party every year? This year, I asked my parents to throw one for you too. How about that?"

In Kiley's opinion, Briana has always wanted to compete with her for Zane and Mallory's love. She knew that if she proposed this condition, Kiley would definitely not refuse!

To my surprise, Briana just chuckled and said, "You thought for ten minutes and came up with this solution?"

"Weren't you the one who wanted to gain your parents' approval the most?!"

When Briana first came back, there was a period of time when she would often imitate herself, just to get Zane and Mallory to praise her. However, in the end, it only made Mallory dislike her even more.

Since then, Briana became more and more silent.

While Kiley tried her best to portray herself as a gentle and kind younger sister, occasionally showing sympathy towards Briana in front of Zane and Mallory, it made Zane and Mallory like her more and dislike Briana.

Briana shook her head, "You're overthinking it. Whether they approve or not, it doesn't mean anything to me now."

Kiley's eyes flashed with disbelief as she gritted her teeth and said, "You must be lying to me! How could you possibly not want to earn our parents' approval?!"

Briana smiled and said, "If you don't believe me, it's fine. Since you can't come up with any other conditions that would make me fall for you. I have no choice but to expose you in front of Maxim."

Looking at the smile on Briana's face, Kiley's hand hanging by her side involuntarily clenched, wishing to strangle Briana immediately.

This bastard deliberately played me, with the sole purpose of making me look foolish in front of her!

Seeing Briana holding the steamed eggs ready to go out, Kiley's eyes flashed with a touch of coldness, and suddenly she reached out and violently overturned the bowl of steamed eggs.

She was lifting it towards Briana. If that bowl of steamed eggs fell on Briana, it would definitely leave a scar. If it fell on her face, it would surely disfigure her!

Briana suddenly dodged to the side, and the scalding steamed egg fell to the ground, causing the bowl to shatter into pieces.

Even though Briana dodged quickly, a part of the splattered steamed egg still touched her arm, causing the skin to quickly turn red and develop a few blisters in the blink of an eye.

Seeing Briana dodge, a coldness flashed in Kiley's eyes.

"Briana, I wasn't trying to..."

Before the words were finished, Briana slapped him in the face!

Chapter 86

Kiley covered her face in disbelief and gritted her teeth as she looked at Briana, saying, "You dared to hit me!"

As soon as the words fell, Briana slapped her again.

"Kiley, I didn't bother to argue with you about your little actions before. It seems like you thought I was afraid of you."

Kiley was furious, she couldn't believe that she had been slapped twice by this jerk! She couldn't bear this humiliation!

She rushed forward to hit Briana, but Briana grabbed her wrist and forcefully pushed her backwards. Kiley's back slammed hard against the kitchen counter, and the excruciating pain made her involuntarily cry out.

Briana coldly looked at her, with no warmth in her eyes, "It seems like those two slaps earlier didn't wake you up!"

Seeing Briana walking towards her, Kiley bit her lip, knowing that she was no match for her. Fear flickered in her eyes involuntarily.

Just as Briana stood in front of Kiley, the kitchen door was suddenly pushed open.

Kiley's eyes lit up with a hint of surprise when she saw Maxim at the kitchen doorway.

"Maxim, please help me! I couldn't believe it, I just accidentally knocked over the steamed eggs that Briana had made. Briana slapped me twice and wouldn't let me off the hook..."

Watching Kiley sobbing, Briana sneered twice, raised her hand and slapped Kiley twice. Instantly, Kiley's face swelled up.

Briana raised an eyebrow and said, "Alright, you can continue complaining now."

Hatred flashed in Kiley's eyes, wishing to kill Briana immediately.

"Maxim, I really didn't mean to... I just wanted to help Briana..."

Briana looked at Kiley with a cold expression and said coldly, "If you keep shouting like that, I might not be able to resist giving you another slap."

Kiley:

Maxim, standing at the door, couldn't help but frown. He coldly said, "Briana, Kiley is your sister, don't be too harsh!"

Briana glanced at him with indifference, her eyes devoid of any warmth. "If you can't handle her properly, I will have even more extreme measures in the future!"

After saying that, she walked straight towards the kitchen.

When Maxim passed by, the other person suddenly grabbed her hand.

Briana frowned and was about to shake off his hand when Maxim coldly said, "Why didn't you mention that your hand is injured?!"

She glanced down at her blistered arm, and there was indifference in her eyes.

"It has nothing to do with you."

"Go sit on the sofa, where is the medicine box?"

Briana withdrew her hand and impatiently looked at Maxim, "Instead of worrying about me, you should worry about Kiley."

After saying that, she turned around and left directly.

Maxim stared at her back, his eyes filled with coldness.

He could feel that although Briana agreed to take care of him, she had no intention of making amends with him.

She still wanted a divorce!

"Maxim..."

Kiley's hesitant voice echoed in Maxim's ears. He turned around and saw tears welling up in her eyes as she looked at him with a look of grievance.

Her cheeks on both sides were swollen and red, not only lacking any pitiful charm, but also appearing somewhat comical.

Maxim's eyes sank as he stared at Kiley and asked, "What exactly happened?"

Chapter 87

Now he also has a certain understanding of Briana's personality. As long as others do not provoke her actively, she will not cause trouble actively Kiley felt even more aggrieved when she realized that Maxim did not stand on her side directly.

"Maxim. I really just wanted to help Briana carry the steamed eggs, but I accidentally spilled them. However. Briana thought I did it on purpose and she even hit me..."

Maxim remained silent for a few seconds before speaking, "I understand, you can go back now."

A trace of disbelief flashed in Kiley's eyes, didn't he help himself to seek justice?

"Okay, then I will come and see you another day, Maxim. Don't blame Briana either. It's all my fault for causing trouble. Briana got angry because of me. but I don't blame her."

Seeing Maxim calm and with a deep gaze that revealed no trace of emotion, Kiley left feeling dejected.

Maxim searched in the living room for a while and finally found the medicine box.

He wheeled himself back to the bedroom, while Briana had just finished rinsing her arms with cold water and came out of the bathroom. She saw the medicine box in Maxim's hands, and a hint of surprise flashed in her eyes. Shouldn't Maxim be comforting Kiley at this moment?

"Come here, I will give you medicine."

Briana stood still for a moment, looking into Maxim's calm eyes, before walking up to him.

"Give me the first aid kit, I'll handle it myself."

Maxim's face turned a bit cold, "If it's inconvenient for you to take the medicine, I'll help you."

"That's fine, anyway it will be better in a few days."

Seeing Briana turning around to leave, a surge of anger welled up in Maxim's heart, and he coldly said, "Stop!"

He handed the medicine box to Briana, radiating coldness all around him, expressing his anger at the moment.

Briana took the medicine box from him without even looking at him and left the bedroom directly.

Maxim pushed the wheelchair outside while Briana sat on the sofa, applying medicine. He noticed a patch of redness on her fair arm, and his gaze darkened.

"Why did you slap Kiley today?"

Briana raised an eyebrow and looked at him, half-smiling as she said. "Feeling sorry? If you do, then in the future, don't meet her here anymore. As long as it's somewhere I can't see, you can do whatever you want."

Maxim frowned and his voice turned cold, "Even if she did it on purpose, two slaps would be enough."

Briana paused for a moment, looked up at Maxim, and said, "Two more slaps. It was a lesson she taught my horse at the stable that day 1 always seek revenge when someone wrongs me. If you really care so much, you can take it on behalf of her next time!"

"What about me? That day at the horse stable, I also wrongly accused you. How do you plan to retaliate against me?"

Briana lowered her gaze and applied medicine on her arm. After throwing the cotton swab into the trash can, she looked up at Maxim.

"If you were willing, you could also slap yourself twice, but you can't really cause any actual harm to me by falsely accusing me, and I don't have to seek revenge on you just because of a few words."

After finishing speaking, Briana packed up the medicine box and planned to leave.

Maxim grabbed her hand, his voice slightly low, "Briana, do you agree to stay in the villa and take care of me, is it not because you still have feelings for me?"

Briana looked at him with a puzzled expression, not knowing how he came to this conclusion. She furrowed her brows and said. "You're overthinking it. You also mentioned that you got into the car accident because you were going to notarize the divorce agreement. I have an obligation to take care of you."

Another thing is that he had a car accident, which was because of the grudge he had with Scorpion, so he can be considered as being implicated by himself as well.

Maxim stared into her eyes, trying to find any signs of lying.

But Briana just looked at him calmly, with no emotion in her clear black and white eyes.

For some reason, a touch of disappointment rose in his heart.

He let go of Briana's hand and said angrily, "It's not the best, I won't like you, and I hope you can always put yourself in the right place!" >

Chapter 88

Briana's ears were almost calloused from hearing this. She replied calmly. "Don't worry, I am well aware of my place in your heart."

The two of them did not speak again, and the suffocating silence spread in the living room.

Briana stood up and looked at Maxim, saying, "I'll go tidy up the kitchen. Later, I'll order takeout. What would you like to eat?"

“Whatever, I went to the study to work first.”

After Maxim left. Briana cleaned up the kitchen and ordered takeout from her favorite place. Once she placed the order, she went to the living room, played with her phone, and waited for the delivery.

In less than an hour, the takeout arrived. Briana arranged the food and called Maxim to eat in the study.

After seeing the dishes on the table, Maxim’s face turned extremely ugly.

“Briana, were you doing it on purpose?!”

Briana just picked up the bowl and looked at him in confusion, “What do you mean?”

“You knew very well that I couldn’t eat spicy food, yet you ordered so many spicy dishes.”

Briana was a person who loved spicy food. She used to know that Maxim had a weak stomach, so she only cooked mild dishes to take care of him.

She raised an eyebrow and spoke in a calm tone, “So, didn’t I order stir-fried vegetables and steamed eggs for you?”

When I asked him just now, he said it doesn’t matter. But now he is being picky and difficult to please!

Maxim pursed his thin lips, his eyes filled with coldness.

Every time Briana picked up a chopstick of food, Maxim’s gaze grew even colder.

A few minutes later, Briana helplessly put down her chopsticks and looked at Maxim, saying, “You’ll have to make do today. Tomorrow, I’ll find a maid to come and cook.”

After a moment of silence, Maxim reluctantly nodded.

After finishing the meal, Briana tidied up and Maxim looked at her expressionlessly, “I want to take a shower, can you help me?”

Briana’s face changed, looking at him incredulously, she said. “You couldn’t wash it yourself?!”

Seeing the resistance and disdain in her eyes, Maxim’s face darkened and he coldly said, “Do you think I can wash myself in my current state?”

Briana pursed her lips and hesitated for a moment before reluctantly speaking, “Alright then.”

Briana struggled again as she pushed Maxim into the bathroom.

“Can you take off your clothes by yourself? I’ll go and prepare the water for you first!”

After speaking, as if afraid that Maxim would refuse, she quickly walked to the bathtub and turned her back to Maxim, starting to fill it with water.

Ten minutes later, Briana turned her head and saw that Maxim had only taken off his shirt. Unable to help herself, she frowned and asked, “Why aren’t you taking off your pants?”

"I couldn't take it off by myself, please help me."

If she had known that she would experience such an embarrassing situation, she would definitely not have agreed to come and take care of Maxim.

Seeing that Briana didn't move, Maxim gradually lost patience.

"We have already seen everything, what else is there to be shy about?"

Briana bit her lower lip and stubbornly said, "Who told you I was shy?"

Maxim's eyes flickered with a hint of mockery, and he said calmly, "Since you're not shy, come over and help me quickly."

Briana hesitated as she walked slowly towards Maxim and said. "How about I find a male caregiver for you temporarily? I'm not very good at helping others with tasks like bathing, especially when it comes to men..."

Before I could finish speaking, my wrist was grabbed by Maxim.

The next second, he pulled Briana into his arms.

Briana was startled and quickly reached out to press against his chest.

Feeling his strong heartbeat and explosive muscles, Briana's face instantly turned red.

Although she has been married to Maxim for three years, the only time they have had intercourse was on their wedding night.

So she can be said to be a blank sheet of paper when it comes to matters between men and women.

Noticing her stiffness, Maxim held her hand down and said in a hoarse voice, "Let me teach you."

His palm was very hot, and the heat seemed to spread through Briana's limbs as if it was transferred from his hand, making her tremble involuntarily.

Suddenly, a wave of icy coldness spread through the palm of my hand.

"Click!"

Chapter 89

The buckle of Maxim's belt came loose, and Briana's heart skipped two beats unconsciously.

"Help me pull out the belt."

Noticing the increasingly ambiguous atmosphere between the two, Briana furrowed her brows

Seeing that she didn't move, Maxim's voice sounded slightly amused above her head.

"Are you really shy? If you are, admit it. I won't laugh at you."

Briana frowned and looked up to meet Maxim's teasing gaze, feeling a surge of embarrassment and anger at being seen through.

"Who was shy!"

While speaking, she swiftly pulled out Maxim's belt and casually threw it on the ground, then immediately stood up and quickly took off his pants.

"Do I need to take off my underwear?"

"If you are willing, I have no objection."

Briana sneered, "I was afraid of getting a needle in my eye."

Because Maxim's injuries had not fully healed, he could only wipe his body and could not take a shower.

When I was wiping his body, Briana seemed much calmer.

After wiping herself dry, she wrung the towel and threw it into Maxim's arms, saying calmly, "You can dry yourself there, I'll wait for you outside. Call me when you're done."

Maxim didn't give her a hard time either, after all, if he really pushed her to the limit, considering her current personality, it was also possible for her to just walk away.

After tidying up for Maxim, Briana was already covered in sweat.

The sweaty feeling all over her body made her uncomfortable. She took some clothes and went to the bathroom to take a shower. When she came out. Maxim was on the phone.

Briana dried her hair halfway with a towel and started blow-drying it only after Maxim finished his phone call.

It was already past ten o'clock at night, and she took out two quilts from the wardrobe, planning to sleep on the floor.

Seeing her actions, a coldness flashed in Maxim's eyes as he gritted his teeth and said, "Briana, put the blanket back and sleep on the bed!"

Briana frowned at him, "Mr. Yoder, we were getting divorced, it's not appropriate to share a bed anymore."

"What do you think I could do to you in my current state?!"

Briana pursed her lips and said, "I didn't mean it that way."

"What do you mean then?! Don't worry, I'm not interested in you!"

"It has nothing to do with you. I am used to sleeping alone, and I can't fall asleep when there is suddenly someone next to me."

Maxim looked at her coldly and said, "Last time at the resort, didn't you sleep soundly too?"

21.29%

At the words, Briana's eyes flashed with displeasure. "That was forced, Mr. Yoder. Agreeing to share a room with you was already my limit. If you demand more, I will have to sleep in the next room!"

After speaking, she completely ignored the coldness emanating from Maxim and directly spread the blanket on the ground.

After finishing the flooring, Briana turned off the lights and went to sleep.

A night without dreams.

The next morning, when Briana woke up, Maxim had already gotten and was sitting on the bed with a cold face. He didn't say anything when he saw her, clearly still angry about what happened last night.

up

Briana also ignored him and pushed him to the bathroom to wash up after changing his clothes.

He made sure to get everything ready for Briana's departure time, and she didn't have time to make breakfast for Maxim after she finished washing up.

"I will order breakfast for you later, and the maid should come to cook lunch in the afternoon."

Maxim coldly and expressionlessly "hmm" in response.

She quickly walked to the entrance and changed her shoes while saying to Maxim, "I'm going to work first. Call me if you need anything."

Just as I walked out of the villa, I ran into Rayan, with a man wearing a nurse uniform standing next to him.

Seeing Briana, he smiled and asked, "Ms. Schneider, did you go to work?"

"Well, is this the caregiver you found for Mr. Yoder?"

Rayan nodded, "This is the nurse who took care of Mr. Yoder when he was in the hospital. You can call him Austin. He took a leave yesterday due to some personal matters at home, but I brought him here today. Don't worry, he will come after you start working and leave before you finish, so it won't affect you."

Briana greeted Austin and looked at Rayan before asking, "Does the caregiver usually help Mr. Yoder take a bath?"

She didn't want to experience that awkward scene again last night.

"There was this service, but Mr. Yoder didn't like others attending to his bathing, so during this period in the hospital, he would bathe himself, and Austin would just help with filling the water."

Briana:

So last night, he could have taken a shower by himself, but he made me help him wash. Was he intentionally trying to make a fool of himself?

Seeing Briana's unpleasant expression, Rayan couldn't help but speak up. "Ms. Schneider, when you asked about this matter, is there any issue on Mr. Yoder's side?"

Briana shook her head, "It's okay. You guys go inside. I'll go to work first."

"Okay."

After Briana left, Rayan walked into the villa with Austin.

Maxim looked cold and asked, "What did Briana say to you at the door just now?"

"Ms. Schneider just asked about how you used to take showers."

Maxim frowned, a coldness flickering in his eyes, "What did you say to her?"

"I told her that you used to take showers by yourself."

Rayan had a bad feeling when he noticed that Maxim's face darkened slightly.

"Mr. Yoder, did I say something wrong?"

Maxim looked indifferent and said, "In the future, if Briana asks about me again, just say you're not sure."

"Okay."

He rubbed his temples and felt a slight headache.

The relationship between the two was already tense. They knew they had deceived her, but they didn't know how to create a scene.

All day, Briana was annoyed and frustrated because of being fooled by Maxim last night. Just then, George happened to walk into the line of fire and brought a new contract for Briana to sign.

After reading it, Briana circled over a dozen obvious pitfalls in the contract and threw them in front of George.

"Mr. Landry, I had started suspecting that you were a spy sent by our rival company. If we signed this contract, believe it or not, tomorrow MY would have gone bankrupt, and we might have ended up stepping on sewing machines!"

George looked down and glanced at the places Briana had circled, his face looking extremely unpleasant.

This contract was given to him by Sammy. Sammy developed a hatred for Briana after she beat him up, so he came up with this contract to have her persuade Briana to sign it.

Sammy said he only intended to teach Briana a lesson, and he promised that once Briana signed, he would cancel the money he owed him, so George agreed.

“Ms. Schneider, what do you mean by that? Over the past few years, I have wholeheartedly dedicated myself to the company, and everyone can see the efforts I have made. Although there may have been some mistakes in this contract, they were unintentional. Why do you have the audacity to doubt me like this?”

Recently, many employees were just laid off. Briana didn’t want to target the shareholders so soon, but George has been getting more and more out of line lately. Briana also doesn’t intend to keep him anymore.

“Mr. Landry, you should remember that I gave you your shares, right?”

George’s face stiffened, “Ms. Schneider, what do you mean by this?! Although you gave me the shares, don’t forget, I also did you a big favor!”

Briana’s lips curled into a smile as she nodded and said, “Indeed, but Mr. Landry should also know that he is not cut out for managing a company. Isn’t it better for him to stay at home and wait for his annual dividends?”

George’s face turned extremely ugly as he angrily looked at Briana and said, “What do you mean by this? Do you want me to resign?!”

He had just managed to enter the board of directors, but Briana wanted to kick him out as soon as she came back. Impossible!

“Mr. Landry, the performance of the department under your leadership has always been the worst in the company. I don’t want to embarrass everyone, but within three days, you need to resign from the board yourself. The company will not deduct a single penny from the dividends you deserve, and you will still have plenty of time to enjoy life.”

“You!”

George was so angry that he was almost jumping up and down, his face filled with fury.

Briana looked calm and said slowly, “Mr. Landry, you should consider it carefully and give me a response.”

George stared coldly at Briana and gritted his teeth, saying, “Don’t even think about it, I won’t resign from the board! Even if you are the CEO of MY, you don’t have the right to dismiss me!”

After saying that, George angrily left,
