

Fall for You 992

Chapter 992

Briana Cameron fell silent for a moment, then said softly, "I was also at fault in this matter, perhaps we need to have a serious talk."

Maxim released her, looking down at her serious expression and said, "That doctor is really suspicious, my subordinates are still investigating. Dr. Gonzalez disappeared after the riot two years ago and there has been no news since then, we can't just take his word for it."

Seeing the worry in Maxim's eyes, Briana Cameron pursed her lips, "I understand, you're worried about what he might do to me, aren't you?"

"Well, even though he helped you regain your memory, I still think you shouldn't trust him too much."

"I would be more careful in the future and try to minimize my contact with him, but I hope you could also trust me, I could handle some things on my own."

Maxim stared at her for a long time before finally nodding and saying, "Okay."

The two of them talked for a while longer, and finally, the grudges in their hearts were completely eliminated.

Briana Cameron wanted to tell Maxim about the things Isaac had told her, but she was afraid he would worry about her, so she decided to tell him anonymously.

And about that Robinson, she also planned to investigate it herself.

Early the next morning, Briana Cameron had just woken up when she received a call from Astrid.

"Briana, I just watched the news and saw that your dad was taken away for investigation. Has something happened to the Cameron Group?"

Upon hearing this, Briana Cameron's face changed, "I don't know either, I'll make a call to ask, let's leave it at that for now!"

After hanging up the phone, Briana Cameron immediately called Gemma, but several attempts went unanswered.

Her brows furrowed, she immediately got up, quickly washed up, and drove straight to the Cameron family.

Upon discovering that Gemma was not at home, Briana Cameron immediately asked the butler.

"Where was my mom now?"

The butler looked somewhat hesitant, after all, Gemma had instructed her before she left not to tell Briana Cameron about the affairs of the Cameron family, so as not to worry her.

Seeing the butler's expression, Briana Cameron said directly, "Aunt Wu, you don't have to hide it from me. I already know from the internet that my dad has been taken away by the police. I just want to know where my mom is now, I want to go and see if I can help."

Hearing this, the butler sighed, "The lady went to the police station with a lawyer, intending to bail the master out."

Briana Cameron nodded, "Okay."

Arriving at the police station, it was already an hour later.

Seeing Gemma sitting wearily on a chair in the police station corridor, with Thomas next to her discussing something seriously with a lawyer, Briana Cameron paused for a moment, then quickly stepped forward.

"Mom, third brother, what's the situation now?"

Several people turned their heads at the same time, seeing Briana Cameron, Gemma's eyes instantly reddened.

"Briana, the police said your dad can't be bailed out right now, they have to wait for the investigation results... Your dad's health has always been poor, how can he withstand it in there!"

Briana Cameron quickly walked over and crouched beside her, whispering comfortingly, "Don't be afraid, nothing will happen, I will also find a way."

After comforting Gemma, Briana Cameron stood up and walked over to Thomas, whispering, "Why was Dad suddenly detained?"

Thomas's face was ashen, he said coldly, "People from Kingly Group reported that Dad bribed the developers, and they even submitted evidence. The lawyer tried to negotiate to get Dad out on bail first, but it was unsuccessful."

Briana Cameron's expression was icy as she recalled Isaac's words from last night about the Lightfoot family causing trouble behind the scenes. She couldn't help but grit her teeth.

"I went to think of other solutions."

Thomas looked at her and said softly, "Don't be too anxious, you still have us brothers for anything. Don't put too much pressure on yourself, Dad will definitely be fine."

"Mm-hmm."

Briana Cameron nodded, "I knew."

She looked at the lawyer, frowning, "Is there really no way at all?"
