

The Alpha King's Fated Mate By Yui Ismutomo

Chapter 3

Chapter 3

The wind blew strongly in the region, the number of guests. made the defense and security of the region carried out not only twice more than usual but up to three times and even four times so that nothing could go wrong so that it could have fatal consequences.

15 Alphas from several regions and 1 Alpha king gathered in 1 place, an easy target for bad people and rouge who want chaos, of course, you need to be prepared.

The atmosphere was tense since the arrival of the Alpha king, with the Alphas melly bracing themselves to say things that they believed could kill them.

I heard a lot about him, the Alpha king, there's even a book about how he brutally and mercilessly eliminated his enemies so that the werewolf kingdom became as powerful as it is now. I guess having a wolfless mate will be his weakness so he hates the idea of having me beside him.

Don't know if that's his reason?

But it's still wrong, if he's really strong, protecting me should be an easy thing, right?

Never mind Gwen, don't think about it anymore, let it go...

You're a strong woman, a doctor and deserve another man and be happy with anyone if your fated mate doesn't want you.

Entering my old room brought back memories...

A small bed in the corner, a study table and a small library filled with books, because reading is one of my favourite things, I just realized that I have that many books?

My suitcase was already in the next room, the dressing room and I walked around to the collection of photos near my study

Pictures of me when I was young with Ryan, Rick, Alice and my parents were posted there.

Smiling at it before I threw my body onto the bed and let out a long breath.

Back home...

Wow, 5 long years of studying medicine, I never thought I'd be back here.

Thump.. Thump.. Thump...

My heart keeps beating fast.

I guess knowing that your fated mate who rejected you is here too makes me nervous, I don't know how he'll react when he finds out I'm here.

Did he know who I was before he came here?

knew who my father was before he came here?

Never mind Gwen, forget him!.

I intended to just close my eyes for a while, but fatigue got the better of me and I didn't realize I was asleep.

Ring.. Ring.. Ring...!!!

The sound of the phone woke me up and I was surprised to see that it was already 7pm.

"SH*T, I fell asleep!!!" I shouted and hurriedly got ready.

I took a quick shower, then hurriedly got some clothes from the changing room and grumbled that I hadn't opened my suitcase yet so I hurriedly looked through my old clothes and finally decided to wear the blue dress I had worn at my high school graduation which was very pretty because it accentuated my eyes which were the same color.

I forgot to ask where the event would start and thought to head to the hall on the 2nd floor and found it empty.

SH*T!

Then a bodyguard stood up and informed me that the dinner would be held in the main garden.

While running and saying thank you I hurried to the place and cursed myself when I saw that there were already many people there.

I hope I'm not late, I hope I'm not late, I hope I'm not late, I hope I'm not late, I muttered as I ran.

But as usual, luck was not on my side as I saw a dashing figure standing in front of my parents who looked tense.

Thump.. Thump.. Thump...!

O my heart, please quiet!!

D*mn... D*mn...!!!

IT IS HIM?!!!

I try to act cool or not nervous but my heart seems to have her own mind because it is beating fast.

Sh*t!

Calm down, Gwen!! I try to calm myself but it only makes it worse.

Sh*t! People will hear it!!!

"I don't know what makes you so nervous but I know everyone could hear your heartbeat"

Gasped, I turn my gaze to meet my old friend, Daniel, standing beside me with a smirk forming of his face "Dan, you surprise me"

"Welcome back, baby girl" He greeted me with a huge smile before giving me a tight embrace.

I chuckle "Still charming I see"

"Always baby" He responded with a wink and I can't help but laugh at him.

Daniel is a manwhore but he is my long cousin and we were close since young so talking with him like this is what we used to do. I know about his adventure and he treats me like his little sister.

"Why didn't you stand with your family to greet the Alpha King?" He asked and I just shrugged my shoulders.

"Should I?" I asked and Daniel knew that I had always hated being associated with the Alpha family.

He just chuckled and patted my back lightly "I don't think he'll realise that you're not there" He replied lightly, but somehow it seemed like luck had never been on my side.

"GWEN!!!" I gasped as I heard my father's voice call out and we both raised our heads to see everyone looking at us.

Huh?

My heart raced again as I met his eyes.

His eyes lock on me the whole time...

What did he mean by that look?

Why did he seem angry?

I am the one who supposedly be angry!!!

"O..kay, why does it seem like the Alpha king hates me? He looks like he wants to kill me with his gaze?!" Daniel whispered before gently pushing my back to start moving closer to where they were standing.

Angry?

Why is he angry?

Is it because I talked to Daniel?

So, what does that have to do with him?

He's the one who won't accept me, why is he angry?! I thought and tried to find the courage to meet him bravely.

Come on Gwen, you must be strong, face that jerk of a king!!!
