

The Alpha King's Fated Mate By Yui Ismutomo

Chapter 81

Rolf Titus Point of View

"He hides in the human world and conceals his true identity." Kurt state and I nodded my head in agreement about what we found about Jack Osmund.

His pride as the Osmund family makes him use the name, even though he is on the run with another's mate and it is as if he was teasing me by using that name and was able to run away from me.

No one is aware of the women beside him, thinking she's his true fated mate, no, he lies about her as his wife.

That's why he chose to hide in the human world, they won't suspect anything. Thinking with only what the paper said and believing it was true.

D*mn it!!

"How come no werewolf can smell him?" Kurt asked me in wonder

I sighed while leaning my head on the seat "The treatment of rogues in each world is different, some countries consider it a privilege to not submit and become a member of a certain pack but they cannot do any harm or disturb members of other packs or will be punished by the rules of the region's pack." I told him, it was a common information that I know since I used to be the King's Alpha.

I was the one who agreed about those rules since there are so many nomaden werewolves who lost their home because of the war.

That's why Jack uses it in the beginning, thinking to use those rogues to fight against me, because he knows many people hate me for thinking I am the one who starts the war and destroys their hometown.

1/5

10:231

Never thought he has so many followers back then meaning so many rogues hates me is like a slap in my face, but now, this is far from my territory and no one knows about the king's Alpha rules and since I am no one, I am same like the other nomaden werewolves.

"He rarely turns into his wolf and seems to take refuge in other human clothes" Kurt informed with disappointment because the further we moved away from London towards Australia, the harder it was to track down the man who kidnapped my mate.

Da*n it!!!

'Relax, Titus... Your bond with Gwen is still there, he hasn't done anything to her yet' Wolf kept reminding me because he knew that the more days away from my mate the more I almost lost my patience and composure.

Yes, that's the only thing that calmed me down all this time, thinking that my mate's bond with Gwen had not been broken, knowing that Gwen was still standing up to that man.

I just hope Jack doesn't do anything bad that can make her dying or even cause death.

No, I can't have those negative thoughts.

Gwen survived, she's still waiting for me to come rescue her....

Gwen....

Gwen... where are you?

Are you okay?

Didn't he hurt you?

What about Destine?

Hopefully the wolfsbane poison Jack gave you didn't hurt your white-wolf or even kill her...

Stay safe, I promise I'll find you...

Hang in there...

Ring...

A call on Kurt's iPhone made me look in his direction.

He looked into my eyes before handing me the phone. Pictures of a man pushing a woman in a wheelchair appeared on it.

That's Gwen!!!!

And Jack....

"The human detective I hired said Jack Osmund and his wife were in a terrible accident that almost killed them, so the wife who suffered the worst injuries had to use a wheelchair" Kurt explained and I just clenched my fists and let out a long breath in irritation.

He made Gwen unconscious so he had to carry her using a wheelchair...

How is it possible that humans are not suspicious?! Da*n it!!!!

"They stay at Stamford Plaza Sydney Airport Hotel & Conference Centre for 3 nights before a couple comes to pick them" Kurt continued and I know where we're headed next.

"That's our next destination then" I responded and he nodded his head in agreement.

"I have bought a flight there along with the same hotel" He confirmed firmly.

I know Kurt is Jose's best fighter, but just saw with my own eyes how great he is.

That's why he was the greatest spy in the wolf world, because he had a wide friendship with humans that I found useful today.

Many things I learned from him, my life that was like being confined in a golden cage made me blind to the progress of the world and humans, things that I only found out this time and thanks to this thing that happened with Gwen, I was able to see it for myself.

The beauty of the world and the advancement of civilization would be perfect to study with my mate.

Yes, one of the things I will do when Gwen is back in my hands is to study the world and travel around with her.

As Kurt started the car and began to drive away I looked out through the car window before saying "Thank you for accompanying me, Kurt. I would probably be so st**id and lost without you" I said without looking back at him.

Yes, I may be strong and have the strength of 100 Lycan but in the human world, that is meaningless.

I must upgrade myself to not only be able to live in the werewolf world.

"I am the one who is proud to be of use to you, my king" His reply made me smile while shaking my head.

"I told you to call me Titus, I am no longer king Alpha" I ordered quietly.

"No" His answer made me turn my head towards him "However the throne belongs only to you, right now the position is vacant until the time is right for you to return there" He looked very sure of his words and I didn't know what to say after hearing it.

Is it true what he said?

Do I deserve to go back and sit on that throne?

To protect the people? Even my mate I have trouble protecting...

I'm great because I'm surrounded by great people like him.... Why do they think I'm the great one?

Losing Gwen opened my eyes that many things can happen, that I have limitations that I never thought existed.

My pride and arrogance led to terrible things happening to my mate...

"Driving is surprisingly easy," I said with a happy laugh and Inara just shook her head but with a smile plastered on her face.

"I don't know if Jack will let you drive anytime soon" She commented with a sigh.

"Of course not anytime soon, Inara" I tried to reassure her.

Yes, asking her to drive me around to see everything, I noted down the things I would do after she drove off with my new Iphone in my hand.

Jotting down the phone numbers of second hand car sales places, I immediately asked her to teach me how to drive, so that all of my plans could be carried out immediately, but seeing how I easily learned the steering wheel and pedals, it seems that I used to be a good driver.

Change of clothes... check.

vehicle... on progress

All that's left is my identity, I need to get into Jack's room and find him.

Hmm... What should I do?

"Inara, I sometimes want to make Jack take a day off, you know he spends all his time looking after me and even works from home" I purred softly as we drove to my house "Do you have any ideas for him to have some man time?"

I tried not to sound suspicious and just look like a woman who cared about her mate.

Hoping Inara wouldn't suspect anything I said or did.

Stopping at a red light, she turns to me and smiles "How about we organise a pyjama night instead so the men can spend their time outside?" She gave me an idea with a big smile.

Well... I didn't think he'd want to spend time with me anymore, but if that's what it takes to get Jack out of the house, I guess it's worth thinking about.

I quickly and eagerly nodded "Good idea, how about tomorrow?"

She squealed happily at the same time as the green light changed "I'll tell Marcus about this idea, he'll be thrilled. Just yesterday he said he wanted to have some man time with Jack, because he's bored at home"

Inara explained and I just nodded my head with a smile as I started to think of a plan to do when Jack wasn't home.

I quickly had to start moving before I aroused any suspicion on Jack's part that could jeopardise my plans.

*****

"How was the shopping?" Jack asked and looked at me with a strange look.

Yes, ever since we came home a while ago he's been looking at me with that weird look

Unlike before, it was as if he was looking at me questioningly. Da*n, does he suspect something

"I'm sorry, I think I shopped too much" I said and made Inara giggle.

"A little?" She teased and called her boyfriend, Marcus, to help pick up the remaining items in her car.

"Thank you for the unlimited card" I whispered softly as I approached the man who claimed to be my husband.

Jack raised a surprised eyebrow but smiled nonetheless. "Inara explained how you've been by my side and I thought I'd thank you for that" I added quietly and tried not to show the disgust I felt as I approached him.

What is this feeling?

Why is it that every time a man approaches me, I feel a sense of discomfort and disgust?

"What did you buy, Ellaine? The whole mall?" Luckily Marcus came into the house with the groceries in hand and I pretended to laugh as I helped him take some of the things I bought out of his hands.

Jack was silent and kept looking at me, yes, he seemed to suspect something.

Stay calm, don't be nervous and just act normal.

I quickly stood up and picked up two packages before handing them to the couple who looked shocked when they saw them.

"What's this?" Inara asked in shock.

I laughed "A present for accompanying me, Jack would agree, right?" I said to the man who quickly nodded his head as I asked him

"For me too?" Marcus asked with a puzzled look as he too accepted the gift from me.

Feigning exhaustion, I sat my body down on the nearest sofa and rested my head while letting out a very long sigh while closing my eyes.

"You're pushing yourself" I knew it was Jack who said and sat next to me, but I had to show that I was getting comfortable with him being around me.

Opening my eyes slightly while smiling at him "Ladies with shopping, I forgot that my body just recovered while in the mall" I replied innocently and made everyone laugh.

Pajama party tomorrow?" Inara asked and I was glad that she had brought it up so I nodded my head in agreement.

Surprising me Marcus raised his hand "My idea, I missed our guy's night and asked Inara to keep Ellaine company last night, how about it, Jack?"

I pretended to close my eyes again and drank the water from the glass Jack handed me.

Yes, I had to keep up the pretense so he wouldn't get suspicious...

"But..."

"You can go" I interjected while slightly opening my eyes to appear weak "There's Inara and I'll probably just sleep or eat pizza with her" I said trying to convince everyone.

Jack looked doubtful but I'm glad Marcus kept persuading him so he couldn't help but nod his head in agreement.

Yes!!!

However, I just continued to pretend to be asleep and tried not to show my pleasure when I heard Jack's answer to Marcus.

Tomorrow night...

They would be leaving after dinner and that was when I had to start moving and taking action.

Now, I need to gather my strength first...

Chapter 83

Rolf Titus Point of View

Staring out the window where only white and blue clouds could be seen, I thought about the whole journey our relationship had taken on the way to Australia, never imagining how she was in that far away country alone and what she was going through... All of this made me think of our horrible first meeting, the start of the great stu**dity I'd committed that she didn't deserve.

Wolves say it is the happiest day of your life when you meet your mate, the one chosen by the Moon Goddess, especially for you.

However, that day was the day I committed a great mistake.

I rejected the most beautiful woman I had met in hundreds of years who was my mate.

When I realised my mistake and wanted to atone for it, I had learned that she, the woman who was my mate, had gone to the human world to study medical knowledge and become a doctor.

It was a big decision that I didn't think she would make so soon, but it made me know and realise that she was not just any woman.

I, who at that time could not abandon my duty as Alpha king, could only send some great warriors to continue guarding him from a distance.

I, who was a st**id and weak man, could only watch the most beautiful woman in my eyes from afar for 5 years.

5 years that were like a punishment time due to my own mistakes that I should have been with her at this time could only gaze longingly at her from afar.

Gwen Katherine Louve...

The third child and only daughter of Alpha Blake. My fated mate...

5 years later when I found out that the next meeting was held in Alpha Blake's territory, I hoped she would be there. I heard from

Alexa that she had finished her education and was planning to return.

However, the hateful look she gave me when we met again left me transfixed.

Was it me who did that?

Did I make her look at me with such hatred?

“You rejected me, remember?!” I remember she once said to me “Or did you forget? ‘I’m sorry I’m an Alpha king and you don’t deserve me...’ Isn’t that what you told me?! Did you forget!”

I remained silent and continued to stare at her.

Never thought that the most beautiful woman who had possessed me, both soul and body and who had filled my mind all this time would hate me to the point of staring contemptuously and hatefully at me.

“D*MN IT, STOP LOOKING AT ME!!!” she shouted in annoyance which startled me and made me feel very guilty.

Yes, it was all my fault, my stupidity made her hate me to this point.

‘I, Gwen Katherine Louve, accept you, as my fated mate, my Alpha, and my king forever.

By continuing to show that I did something stupid and regretful, I never expected her to finally open her heart to me again and accept me as her fated mate.

The days I spent with her were the happiest and most beautiful days I’ve ever spent.

However, again I did something stupid and lost you before my eyes without doing anything.

Do I deserve you?

The title of Alpha king is an unfunny joke that people give me because I was unable to protect you and I hate it.

However, it was you who stayed faithfully by my side and helped me solve all the problems that occurred due to my mistakes, still opened your arms and accepted me unconditionally despite knowing my claws in the past, my cruelty and brutality in the past that made me a different person in your presence.

Therefore now it is my turn to prove it to you, that I will always walk towards you and continue to accompany you in every obstacle and problem that seems to want to separate us.

I will continue to go and be by your side despite all the problems that try to hinder us.

I will continue to be faithful like a guard dog by your side, to protect and make you happy so that you forget the difficulties that stand in our way.

Nothing will ever be able to separate us.

Ring...

The sound of Kurt’s phone sitting across from me brought me back to the world around me and I stared at it curiously, hoping that whatever info the human detective he had hired was positive and that Gwen had been found.

“WHAT?!” However, looking at Kurt’s shocked expression who quickly looked at me to the surprise of the humans around us let me know that something bad happened to my mate.

Dear G*d, my Moon Goddess, you who lent your dear white-wolf to my mate, please always protect my Gwen.

I looked at the clock and realised it was still 15 minutes before we landed and when the flight attendant came to tell Kurt not to use the phone, she immediately walked away, knowing from his expression that the man was not to be disturbed.

“What’s wrong?” I asked quickly when I saw him break off their conversation on the phone.

Kurt turned towards me and brought his body closer “A couple of bodies were found in the house that Jack and Gwen lived in but they are nowhere” He whispered so softly that no human could hear him.

My eyes widened in shock....

“Earlier there was a call to 911 that the house had been burgled and whoever the burglars were had kidnapped the sick woman who owned the house, Ellaine Gwen Osmund” He continued his story.

“Ellaine Gwen?” I responded quickly and he nodded his head as if thinking the same thing as me.

“I think it is the name she gave to the queen” he said as if answering my thoughts.

Of course...

He made up a fake name and identity for my mate, so he said they were husband and wife...

“And there’s more... ” I looked back at him and waited for him to continue “One day earlier, the wife, Ellaine was seen going on a shopping spree and even bought an Iphone and a second-hand car” I was again surprised to hear that, yes, that was the kind of thing my woman, my mate, was capable of.

She was pretending while planning how to escape from Jack.

“We need to find her before Jack does” I said quickly and Kurt nodded his head swiftly.

“I’ve sent the detectives to find the queen immediately.” He replied.

G*d, how I am so grateful for Kurt’s quick action to find my mate.

It looks like Jack killed the human couple because he was upset about my mate’s escape, he was punishing the humans for their negligence.

Something I know my uncle is capable of when he doesn't achieve what he set out to do.

I must hurry!

Just you wait, Gwen.....

I'll definitely find you!

*****.

*****

Go To Gwen's Point of View before her escape...

I knew he was looking at me as I ate and drank, as if to make sure I devoured it...

Sh*t!

Pretending to do so under his watch, I hurriedly got up as he went out with Marcus to spend their men's night and startled Inara who jumped in surprise when she saw me running to the bathroom like a maniac.

Shoving a finger down my throat, I quickly regurgitated the food I'd eaten and drank the anti-poison I'd bought yesterday at the mall...

Hoping that none of the wolfsbane poison had been taken up by my body.

D*mn it, he seems to know that I haven't been eating and drinking his poisoned water.

Hopefully, he won't get suspicious this time since I ate it under his sight.

Knock.. Knock...

"Ellaine, you okay?" Inara knocked on the door and asked me.

Sighing and drinking the water from the tap, I didn't care all this time if the tap water was drinkable or not, the important thing was that I didn't drink the water in the glass that Jack gave me.

10:24

Opening the door and smiling, I walked with Inara and said that I was fine and quickly lied that it was an effect that I liked to have.

Inara just nodded her head then she walked towards the living room to go back to watching TV.

I pretended to get some medicine from Jack's room, he didn't suspect anything as I walked casually towards a room I'd never been to, knowing that the room in the corner was Jack's room. I quickly searched for my identity which was the last thing I needed before running away from here.

Unpacking and taking out all the items from the wardrobes, I finally found a small box hidden behind a pile of his clothes.

I slowly picked up the box and smiled with satisfaction, seeing my passport and other IDs in there.

Ellaine Gwen Osmund....

Patricia Gwen Osmund....
Juliette Gwen Osmund.... O my G*d....

What is this?!!
Why do I have different names and passports?
What is my real name?
Wait... Gwen...
He uses that name in the middle of all the other names he uses... Could that be my real name is...
Gwen?

"What's this?" Inara giggled at the drink I gave her.
"Mango martini" I whispered while winking mischievously at her which made the woman beside me giggle even more.
Watching her finish the drink I gave her in one gulp, I only had to wait for the sleeping pills I put in the drink to take effect before making my move.
I'm sorry Inara, I used you to get away from this house, from Jack.
I can't explain everything in such a short time until you understand that Jack is not what you imagined, I hope you will continue to be happy and become a good woman after my departure.
However, I had to use your kindness.
I'm sorry.
Drop...

As I looked at Inara sleeping on the sofa in the living room, I knew that I had to make a move.
Standing up to grab the bag containing a few new clothes for me to change into, I put all my ID's into the bag and put on a jacket one size bigger and a blonde wig before walking out. Trembling with excitement as I was about to step out of the house, I quickly ran towards Inara's car to the warehouse where the second-hand car I bought the other day over the phone had been placed.
Planning to change vehicles with my new car, I started the engine of Inara's car and started driving there while praying that neither Jack nor Marcus would come home before I had gone far away from here.
Oh G*d, I have a phone, but I can't contact anyone because my memory loss has made me not recognise anyone... so, I have to rely on myself and keep driving away from this place.

1/6

Hopefully, with time, my memory will return.
What did Jack give me?

What poison did he use to make me limp and lose my memory like that?
One thing that surprised me was when I went to the pharmacy yesterday, how did I recognise and know about medicine, could it be that I used to be a nurse or work in the health world?
The possibility is there seeing how I know about medicine like I've learnt it all my life.

Well... it's a good thing that I can work while earning money to go back to New Zealand and find out about myself in my hometown.

Who was I?

Gwen... That's all I really thought about myself, but everything else I knew about myself made me feel like a newborn baby who didn't know anything.

G*d, help me...

****

HOWWLLLLL....

Jerking awake, I was surprised to hear the sound of a wolf's howl.

I'm currently resting on the side of an empty road after driving away from home and Jack. Yes, it's been 4 hours since I changed cars and drove all the way from Sydney.

Yet, why do I feel like I have to keep running and running?

Then, that wolf howl....

How can there be wolves here?!

BAAMMM!!!!

"AAAHHHH...!!!" I scream loudly when something bumped into my parked car and I was stunned to see that it was the figure of a large wolf outside the side of my car.

Wolf?!

How can there be wolves here?!

And that big?!

The figure of the wolf showed its fangs and made me start the car quickly and try to drive away from it.

O G*d, what is that?!

Why is that big wolf chasing me?!

With tears in my eyes, I kept trying to drive away from the wolf that seemed to be chasing me no matter how far I drove in my new car.

How could a wolf do this?

As if it could think and make me its target!

BAAMMM...!!!

He hit my car again with his head and I screamed in shock and fear as I saw the direction of my car moving towards the tree beside me.

SH*T!!!

I'm going to crash!!!

BRAAAKKK...!!!!

My head hurt, I think my arm was broken and my whole body was immobilised.

What happened?

But thankfully I was still awake and screaming loudly when the wolf figure stopped beside my door and my eyes widened to see that the wolf figure turned into a human.

What?!!!

What happened?!

How... How is that possible?!

The huge wolf figure turned into... JACK?!

"When Petros warned me of your strange behavior, I didn't believe he was right" Jack said and looked angry before he easily pulled the car door off its hinges.

Petros?

Who is he talking about?

O G*d... how could he turn into a wolf and have that much power?!

Sh*t!!!

I failed!!!

"Don't... Don't come near me, you monster!" I yelled with my last energy and made him laugh horribly with wide eyes.

I tried to move away, but the pain throughout my body made me unable to move and Jack easily pulled me out of the car roughly as if I was just a sack of rice without caring that I was in pain at the moment.

"ARGH!" I moaned in pain, but the man paid no attention to me and continued to pull me away from the car, afraid that I would be able to get back in and drive away from him.

Sh*t, what happened?

Who is this guy?!

However, before I could think, something, no, another wolf appeared and pushed Jack's body so hard that it crashed into the tree behind him.

Then, when one of the black-colored wolves looked in my direction and approached me, I started screaming in terror and tried to back away from it.

What is this? Why were those horrible wolves coming at me? "Good wolf... Good wolf..."

I began to whisper, hoping that he wouldn't continue to approach me with tears in my eyes for fear that it would eat me.

I didn't know that wolves could be that big, how could they be?

I forgot everything but as far as I know wolves can't be that large!

However, the shocking thing happened again when the black wolf turned into a human.

No, he turned into a man...

"Gwen..."

My eyes widened and I gaped at him.

What?

What did he call me?

"Gwen.. it's me..." He whispered again and unlike before who was walking fast towards me, he slowed down his pace while trying to head towards me.

He called me Gwen?

The name I thought was my real name because Jack kept putting it in my middle name.

Who...

"Who are you?" I whispered confused and made him widen his eyes in surprise when he heard me speak.

Rolf Titus Point of View:

Coming to the house where the dead couple was found, I had to clench my fists and hold back my anger as I smelled Gwen's scent all over this house as well.

Yes, Gwen was indeed here and from the smell, she hadn't been gone long.

Sh*t!

She's so close yet I'm like hours late!

Where are you Gwen?

The two couples looked dead and torn apart and there was no doubt that it was Jack.

It seems that Jack, who found out about Gwen's escape, punished them.

Poor humans, were they kind to Gwen and helped my mate while she was here? I thought unknowingly.

I have to do something....

"Arrange a proper funeral" I ordered Kurt and he, who lied that I was one of the victim's distant relatives, informed the police at the house what was needed.

Sniff.. Sniff....

I could smell where Gwen was going and was sure that Jack was also on his way after her.

We have to hurry...

Walking backwards to a place that no human could see, I immediately transformed into my black wolf form and chased after Gwen based on the lingering scent, knowing that Kurt would soon catch up after finishing his business with the humans here.

I couldn't waste any more time, having to quickly find my mate who I knew was in danger because Jack must currently be in a state of extreme anger because he felt fooled by a woman.

I can't let him hurt my woman again.

This time I must be there to protect her.

'My King..' Kurt's voice came into my head.

Yes, ever since I performed the ritual of renouncing my title as the Alpha king and Kurt decided to follow me and stay by my side as my protector, it was only his voice that I could hear in my head.

My mind-link with the pack members was severed the moment I decided I was no longer their king.

However, we rarely use it and talk directly because there are only two of us, but this is the first time he opened our mind-link and talked to me.

'What's wrong, Kurt?' I asked while continuing to run in my wolf form.

'I found insulin water containing wolfsbane poison with strong sleeping pills' the information I received made me stop my running steps.

Oh my G*d...

Jack, what did you do to my mate?

'Then... Kurt sounded hesitant but he knew he had to tell me.

'Just tell me...' I ordered quietly.

'we found the drugs Midazolam and Anticonvulsants which can cause potential memory loss or severe amnesia'

Oh no, Gwen....

He's trying to make Gwen forget who she is? Or forget me?

What lies did Jack tell you, Gwen?

'When you're done there, hurry up and catch up with me, my mate is in danger and I need you to rescue her from Jack' I said quickly and broke the mind-link then continued my pursuit and quickened my pace so that this time I would no longer be late.

Potential memory loss or severe amnesia...

Is this why Wolf was unable to contact Destine?

Jack paralyzes Gwen's wolf with Wolfsbane poison and uses human medicine to control his human figure.

D*mn it!

I never thought he would do that.

I thought he would just try to make Gwen fall in love and make her or force her to be his mate, but I was wrong.

He no longer cares about that...

His hatred for me made him do anything to make me suffer, even if it was killing the white-wolf he wanted so badly.

Since when did Gwen consume those poisons?

It was almost a month that she was taken by Jack, could it be that during that time he gave her the poison?

O G*d....

What will happen to her?

I stopped beside the gas station and learned that Gwen had also been here to gas up her car and buy some food.

Why did Gwen use the car and not run with Destine?

'Destine seems to still be unconscious, it's possible that the wolfsbane poison that was administered regularly has her dying'

Wolf sounded angry and sad as he explained to me and I understood and felt what he was feeling right now.

Kurt came as I tried to run back.

He nodded his head and kept pace with me until we smelled Jack and Gwen strongly, signaling that we were close.

10:25]

Wolf, in a fury, quickened his pace until we heard a scream. Gwen...

We watched Jack with his wolf figure hit a driven car with his head and someone screamed, it's Gwen's voice, before the car hit the tree.

SH*T!!!

NO.. GWENNNNN!!!!

BRAAAKKK...!!!!

I quickened my footsteps as I saw Jack transform into a human and pull Gwen roughly from her car.

'Hurry up, Wolf' I kept shouting to my wolf to help my mate who was in front of us.

'Don't... Don't come near me, you monster!' We heard her shout in fear "ARGH!"

Without slowing our pace, I slammed into Jack's human body until he was thrown far back into a tree.

Panting because I was happy that we arrived just in time, I didn't expect to be able to look back at my mate who was currently looking frightened at me.

Huh? Why is she looking at me like that?

"Good wolf... Good wolf..." She began to whisper.

Kurt immediately ran over to Jack who was starting to wake up and was about to turn into his wolf figure, but my attention was not there, at the moment I was focused on looking at my mate who seemed surprised to see me and did not recognize me. Yes, I know about the medicine and poison Jack gave her, but could it have made her no longer recognize me?

"Gwen..." I tried to call out as I transformed into my human figure which again made her wide-eyed in shock looking at me as if it was the first time seeing this.

No... Please don't tell me she really has forgotten me.

"Gwen.. it's me..." I whispered again and slowed down my pace while trying to head towards her.

Something happened when she heard me calling her name, like she couldn't believe what she was hearing.

No, Gwen...

What happened to you?

"Who are you?"

When she asked me, I knew that whatever poison or drug Jack had given her had already had the effect Kurt feared.

No...

She didn't recognize me anymore, her fated mate.

Chapter 86

Rolf Titus Point of View

"HAHAHAHAHA... She didn't recognize you!"

Jack laughed loudly and sounded satisfied as he knew the woman who was my mate and was here no longer knew me.

Yes, that seems to be his main goal.

Blood flowed violently out of Gwen's body and I took two quick steps to catch her limp body that was losing blood and collapsed in my arms.

Gwen... What did he do to you?

Oh my G*d, Gwen... Gwen...

I continued to embrace the figure of the woman I loved so much, knowing that she had suffered all this time and Destine was dying because of a man who claimed to be my uncle.

Carrying the figure of the injured woman in my arms, I walked up to the man who made me ashamed of having the same Osmund blood and was my father's twin.

Kurt held his body with one of his wolf legs, so he couldn't do anything against me.

I've let him do all the bad things that happened for too long and he's lost too many victims because of it.

Now he's using my mate and making her like this.

It's time we put an end to this.

"Kill him Kurt, make him in pain and bleed out so he can realize what he's done to everyone" Kurt, in his wolf form grinned happily at my order and Jack, who didn't expect that I would order such a thing, looked shocked.

Without caring or thinking about my father, I turned to leave them and let Kurt do his job of torturing the man who was my former uncle.

A car pulled up and I was shocked to see Alexa and Dee driving it.

Wordlessly, I entered the car and put on the clothes they gave me.

Quickly, Alexa drove the car to one of the largest hospitals leaving Dee who would check the car brought by Gwen to look for something there.

I didn't know that Gwen's two loyal bodyguards were following us, I didn't even smell their scent.

It seems like what Kurt said, that my existence will never be able to escape the throne that belongs to me, that there are many people who are loyal to me and will do anything to help me.

Alexa took us to a nearby town that I knew was Alpha Hugh's territory.

I quickly got off as we pulled up to the nearest hospital and shook the hand of Alpha Hugh who was already there. "Kurt tell you?" I asked and he nodded his head.

"Your members explained everything to me," Alpha Hugh replied and I couldn't tell him how grateful I was to Kurt. Staring at my mate being brought into the room I explained about the poisons Jack had given my mate.

Alpha Hugh and the doctor who was going to help Gwen looked shocked when they heard the things given to my mate so far, but they still said they would try to help her.

I just hope Gwen doesn't panic when she wakes up...

They knew it was useless to drive me away while they were trying to treat Gwen, because the separation made it impossible for me to leave my mate even for a second.

Wolf, who was currently feeling vulnerable and fearful of losing his mate, prevented me from daring to leave her in front of us.

2/4

Holding our unconscious mate's hand and hearing her heartbeat was comforting to us, knowing that even though she was unconscious, she was still alive.

1 day..

2 days..

3 days...

Everyone came in to tell me to rest and eat, but I couldn't take my eyes off my mate who was still unconscious.

And Kurt....

Apparently he's still trying to quench his thirst for torturing Jack because he hasn't come yet.

Yes, I don't care what he does to that man, torture him as cruelly as possible, I don't care that he is my uncle. He's gone too far and it's time for him to feel the consequences.

Knock... Knock

When I turned around and saw that this time it was Alpha Hugh who entered the room, I knew that this was a request from Alexa and Dee who knew that I was staying here.

"Your members told me that you were here all the time, Alpha" He smiled as he noticed my eyes on him.

I exhaled "How do they think I'm capable of swallowing something knowing my mate is in this condition" I said tersely and took her hand again.

He just laughs, because he probably knows that knowing your mate is sick is such a horrible thing that you can't do anything about it.

"The wolf is dying so she's healing like a normal human" Hugh commented and I just sighed again when I heard it.

"She didn't recognize me when we met" I told him and he didn't say anything.

Yes, knowing that she was given drugs and poison for almost a month it was no wonder that the effects had gone that far.

"When the news spread that you found her and were here with your mate, I got a call from some Alphas who were your alliance back then" I raised my head to meet his gaze in shock at hearing that "They hoped their queen was okay and asked me to help you guys" he added and smiled.

"Their queen?" I muttered in shock.

How could they still call Gwen their queen? Do they still consider me the Alpha king?

"Don't blame yourself, my king Alpha. You're the best Alpha king we've ever had" Again Alpha Hugh's words startled me and I could only bow my head in respect and pleasure at his words.

All that remains is for Gwen to regain consciousness and return to health.

That's all I need before taking everything back.
Gwen by my side again...

Chapter 87

Back to Gwen's Point of View

"Why don't you have your wolf?"

"I don't know"

Huh?

Who is speaking?

"Then this will be easier"

I guess I know that voice, but who?

Why can't I remember anything?

'You see the woman I'm with is more worthy than you... So don't think you deserve to be my mate"

Mate?

What is he talking about?

"I'm glad you're a doctor here, but I'll only give you one week before I pick you up"

What is this?

Who is this guy?

"Very funny!!" Why did I act like this in front of him?

"Do you see me laughing, my dear?" He said coldly and I can see him angry at me.

"Yes, very funny" But why do I speak to him like that? Like I hate him?

"What makes you think I want to be your mate now? That I will easily come with you to your palace to become your puppet?"

Again.. I said those words, mate...

Palace? Mate?

I don't understand what I am talking about or why I said it to him...

"Um.."

I slowly opened my eyes and saw the IV in my left hand. What dream did I see earlier?

Why did everything sound so foreign and strange?

I slowly looked around and groaned in pain. Looks like I'm in a hospital, I thought then was shocked to see a man sleeping on my bedside chair.

Oh G*, who is he?!

Then my eyes widened as I remembered the horrible thing... Jack... the wolf and Jack turning into Jack from the wolf?! Oh G*d, have I gone mad?!

What really happened...

I didn't realise the man sleeping beside me had woken up and jumped in surprise when he touched my shoulder.

"Gwen, you're awake..." He said but I was surprised to look at his face closely.

Yes... I remember...

He was the man who changed from the black wolf too, wasn't he?

No... no... no... what happened...

"Let go of me, you... you monster" I started screaming and tried to run away until I almost fell off my bed, but my fear of the things I remembered about the man in front of me made me not care and I quickly pulled out the IV in my hand until it bled and made him wide-eyed in shock seeing me scared until he just stood transfixed looking at me with an unfamiliar gaze. Why? Why is he looking at me like that?

"Please... HELP!!!" I started shouting and backed away from the man before he tried to approach me again.

Hoping to get help from whoever was in this hospital.

Why is he here?!

Where is Jack?!

Is he a friend of Jack's and wants to take me again?!

As several people entered the room, I breathed a sigh of relief but was still trembling with fear and didn't let anyone touch me.

Where is this?

Who am I?

Who are they?!

Oh my G*d, what's happening to me?!

Then, I felt something, an injection in my neck and I turned my head to look toward the doctor who was looking at me with pity.

He.. He injected me with something..

What is this?

Why was he looking at me like that?

"What the... What are you doing to me?" I said as I started to weaken and lose consciousness again.

Sh*t!

Did they give me the same poison that Jack gave me back then?!

No... No. ....

"Please... Help me... Not that poison again. He..lp... me... No... More..." And I fell back into the darkness.

It was a woman's face that I saw when I woke up again, and I didn't see the man I had seen before anywhere.

Who was she?

Why was she here?

The beautiful woman smiled and quietly, as if not wanting to scare me, she helped me up to sit on the bed and placed a pillow on my back.

"Glad to see you're awake" She said softly and I just looked at her suspiciously.

Yes, I didn't recognise her but she seemed friendly so I found it hard to suspect her.

"You... Who are you?" I asked softly and made her smile understandingly.

"I'm Alexa" She replied softly and handed something to me. Huh?

What is it?

Iphone...

No... She showed me a photo from her mobile phone... Oh. My. G*d..!

That photo... That's me?!

Looking up at her, the woman named Alexa just smiled widely while nodding her head. She recognises me...

She showed me this photo to let me know that she knows me and that I can trust her.

"You. You know me?!" I couldn't hold back my tears to know that someone knew me.

Yes, there's finally someone who acknowledges who I am...

"Who am I? Can you explain to me because I can't remember anything about myself?! I... I... Please help me I pleaded to the woman named Alexa who quickly wrapped her arms around me and let me cry.

Yes, I was living a lie, not knowing anyone or remembering anything.

The only man who claimed to be my husband turned out to be the one who poisoned me and made me so weak that I couldn't be my true self.

The life I had lived for a month since I woke up was all a lie, who could I trust and tell the truth about my life?

Who am I?

Who could tell me about myself or my life?

Why am I here?

Where is my family?

Then, where is my family? Why isn't anyone looking for me and who is Jack? Why did he arrest me?

Why did Jack do such a terrible thing to me?

Who can answer all those questions?

Can anyone help me find answers to all these questions that are like a maze in my head?

Alexa just looked me in the eye as she walked out of the hospital room where my mate was being treated while bowing her head respectfully to me.

Yes, I had stayed in the waiting room in front of Gwen's room ever since I found out that my presence had caused her to panic like that, so the doctor had asked me, for the sake of the patient's health, to stay out of her way until the time was right. I could only obey him for the sake of my mate's health, so I obediently followed his request and always sat on the bench in front of my mate's room and only dared to enter when I was sure she was asleep.

The conversation Gwen had with Alexa hurt me, yes, I could hear everything she said in the room, and wanted to kill Jack with my own hands when I heard what my mate was going through.

She was confused and scared because she didn't know anyone and even someone she knew deceived her and poisoned her.

So it's no wonder that she doesn't trust anyone right now.

Yes, the fear she feels right now is a natural thing experienced by everyone who is in her position right now.

And I can only blame myself for making it happen to her.

How she got out of Jack's clutches is admirable, even without the white-wolf figure and her strength, she is still a very admirable woman.

I can only bow my head in shame of her greatness, for I am nothing compared to her.

Yes... She really is an amazing woman...

Alexa sat next to me and said nothing.

"Thank you" I said softly to the woman who had always been loyal to my mate even until now.

When I first assigned her to be Gwen's bodyguard, I never thought she would be loyal to her like this.

Yes, I knew that my mate was an extraordinary woman, but that she was able to make everyone bow down and marvel at her abilities was an extraordinary thing that I saw with my own eyes.

A skill that even I am not capable of.

"Making her a pessimist and destroying her from the inside is Jack's goal" Alexa finally commented and I could only heave a sigh.

Yeah...

My uncle knew that Gwen's specialty was her positive brush and her faith in people that she was able to make everyone obey her orders, so he wanted to destroy that from my mate. Nowadays she trusts no one and is suspicious of everyone, a trait that contradicts the Gwen I knew so long ago. I'm sad to say that he seems to have succeeded.

"What will you do, my king?" Alexa asked and I looked up to meet his gaze with a smile. "I will bring the old Gwen back" I said confidently even though I don't know what I should do to make it happen.

But I know one thing important. our bond is still there...

Even though she doesn't remember me now, I believe Destine is still there and her love toward me is real, so her heart must remember me.

And I have to hold on to that and believe in Gwen.

She's the one who's always helped me and stayed by my side, so this time I'm going to do the same for her.

"And to make it happen, I need your help. Alexa" I added to the woman who sat beside me who nodded firmly knowing that I needed her help.

"I didn't know you had this, my king." Alexa commented when she saw it and I just nodded my head because this was actually a secret I wanted to keep, but for the sake of my mate, I had no problem revealing it. Giving her the photos I had stored in the photo gallery on my laptop in the palace, I asked Drake to send them to Alexa's email, so that she could show them to Gwen since she was the only one my mate trusted at the moment.

Yes, those are the pictures of Gwen and me that I secretly took or that we took together. I wanted to show her that we were really her family and that we could be trusted, I wanted Gwen to start getting to know me again.

I knew we couldn't talk about werewolves yet but at least I wanted to take back her trust in me, that she could always count on me and I would never let her down.

She loves me and I'm sure it's still there so I'll bring it back.

I will make her fall in love with me again.

I've done it before and I'm sure I'll do it again this time.

"You know what you're going to do, Alexa?" I asked back to the female guard who smiled as she nodded her head.

Yes, it was her job to start talking about me, only Alexa could open up the conversation about who I really was.

I would continue to wait in front of her room, until the time was right for her to want me or to open up to me again.

Alexa peeked in before she opened the door and entered my room.

This woman being the only friend accompanying me for these 2 days, she explained everything while showing me photos from her gallery.

Who my father, mother and brothers were, she also informed me of my brothers' wives and how they missed me this time.

However, due to my weakened condition and the fact that I was in the process of being purified of the toxins in my body, it was not possible to travel back to New Zealand.

Through the photos that Alexa showed me, I learned that everything that woman had told me was not a lie.

Yes, I wanted to believe her because with those photos she couldn't possibly be lying, unlike Jack who just told stories. without any evidence, Alexa used a different method and that's why I wanted to believe her.

I had also met Mr. Hugh who is the mayor of this town, but for some reason when he mentioned that he was the mayor, he was

This time I was shocked to see a picture of myself with a man...

My heart beat faster when I saw him...

Could it be that I still love him too?

That my heart recognizes him even when I don't remember him?

Chapter 90

Opening my eyes slowly, I don't remember when I went back to my room and fell asleep, but when I saw the figure of a man sitting at the end of the room as if to see my reaction to seeing him in my room, I guess he was the one who brought me back here.

"Morning" He said and woke up carrying a tray of food from the table towards me "Your breakfast" He pulled the table towards me and placed the food in front of me.

I sighed as I continued to stare at him without getting up from the pillow and continued to lay my head there.

"What?" He raised his eyebrow in wonder when see me staring at him.

"You finally dared to enter my room" It was not a question but a statement that made him freeze in shock as if he did not expect me to speak like that.

Yes, you could say that the conversation we had last night probably emboldened him to begin to speak seeing that my reaction was not like the first time I saw him.

"Don't you like me here? I... I can get out if my presence is still bothering you" He looked panicked as he spoke and I couldn't help but be amused to see him like that "What?" He asked, still confused.

I shook my head with a smile "No, somehow your presence calms me down" I honestly said and made him pause before sitting back down on my bedside table "Unlike when Jack..." I stopped talking when I saw her stiffen in anger when she heard the name come out of my mouth.

"Did..." I lifted my gaze back to the man and waited for him to finish "Did Jack ever try to touch you?" He asked quietly and I saw him clench his hands into fists as if restraining himself from the emotion.

Staring at him closely, I didn't know what answer he was looking for.

"I don't know what touch you mean" I started to open my mouth to speak and saw him continue to lock his gaze on me "However, even though we have been together for almost a month, he has never even held my hand like you did last night" He seemed to widen his eyes when he heard my answer and I just picked up the spoon to start eating the breakfast he brought for me.

Neither of us spoke, as if we had our own thoughts in our heads, but his presence always managed to make me comfortable without me being able to explain why.
Why is this happening?

It's so different from when I was with Jack...

Are they talking about me?

The poison? Wolfsbane?

Jack?

"So she's like that because Destine is starting to wake up but her human body can't contain it?" That voice.. It is Titus...

"Yes."

"What can we do, if it's like this Destine could die and she... the poison in her body could also kill her" Titus sounded desperate as he spoke and for some reason my heart ached to hear it. Why?

Why does everything that man does always bring tears to my eyes?

"I'm sorry, my king..."

My King?

BRAAKKK...!!!

Something is breaking...

Is it Titus?

He destroyed something? But why?

And what did their conversation have to do with me?

As the pain in my head returned, I couldn't hear their conversation as I was again absorbed in the darkness.

What happened to me?

"Can I kiss you?"

What? Who?

Staring into his familiar eyes, I realized that the man was...

Titus....

I whispered softly while looking into his eyes. .

He smiled and cupped my cheek with his trademark affectionate gaze.

"What are you doing in my room?" I turn my head when another scene appears.

What...

Where?

"You're in my room" Titus?

And me in the bed...

Is this a dream?

or....

Memories?

"My clothes" She heard him replied and make me turn my gaze back to the scene in front of me "There's no way I'm letting you rest in your work clothes"

I watched how my face turned red in front of him.

"Don't worry, it's not me who changed your clothes" He chuckled "You won't have any clothes if it was me"

Has it really happened before?

Why don't I remember a thing?

Then everything changed again and I was surprised to see a white-wolf standing in front of the mirror.

What is this?

A wolf?

Then Titus walked up to the white-wolf casually as if he wasn't afraid.

'Titus, what are you doing? Go away! GO!!!' I tried to yell and stop him from approaching the white-wolf but he couldn't seem to hear me and kept walking towards it.

What is this?!

"Don't panic, Gwen"

My eyes widened in shock when I heard it.

What?

What did he call the white-wolf?

"Just think about your human figure carefully" He continued and I gaped in shock seeing the white-wolf figure in front of the mirror turn into a human....

No!!!

That white-wolf is....

Me?!
