

Fatty to Sexy 10

Chapter 10 Betting

"Yes. Dad, look, this is the ranking of our major's exams every semester every year. Seven Murphy is me." She then began finding some of the rankings in her phone, one by one, and showing them to Allen.

On every piece of paper, her name was in the first place!

Allen was pleasantly surprised, in the past, although Jocelyn was a good student in high school, she definitely did not have the potential to go to such a university.

But after leaving home, she had not only gone to this university, but had also become a top student.

"My daughter, you're good!" Allen praised, his smile no longer able to be hidden.

Now his eyes were full of the excellent grades Jocelyn had achieved, all but leaving behind Gloria's so-called top 50 grades in the department.

This feeling of being ignored and overshadowed by Jocelyn's light made Gloria incomparably unhappy.

Fleno City University was considered a prestigious university in the country, but it was nothing compared to graduating from Vista University.

She gritted her teeth, "What's the big deal getting into Vista University?"

As soon as Gloria's words left her mouth, Sara stepped on her foot under the table fiercely, signaling her with her eyes to shut up.

"Do you know anything else but fighting with your sister? Not a big deal? Then go and try to get enrolled?!" Allen chided in a cold voice.

Jocelyn listened while eating in silence, not interrupting at all, as if she was an onlooker in this world.

Allen disliked Gloria's personality, and ever since the things she did to Jocelyn, he disliked this little daughter even more.

"Right, Jocelyn, that new property being built in our city centre, the Faraday Apartments, is planning to find a spokesperson, do you have any suitable recommendations from your side?" Allen asked.

At that, Gloria said, "Of course it's Ryan, if he endorses it, then our property will definitely sell well."

"You are talking about unrealistic things, who do you think Ryan is?" Allen said.

"As long as the money is there, he will naturally be willing to endorse, Ryan's current endorsement fee is 20 million, right? Let's give him 30 million, I don't believe he won't come."

Gloria had admired Ryan for a long time.

Although she often went to see Ryan's concerts with her friends and attended his fan meetings.

the chance to

as a spokesperson for her family's new property, then she would front of

and then gracefully put down the orange juice in do you know how strong Ryan's fan appeal is? And if I go and talk to their company personally, full of

Jocelyn was speechless at her

I have

want Ryan, Dad?"

thirty million is possible, but hire this man for ten million." Jocelyn instantly rolled her eyes in disdain, "10 million to hire Ryan, who do you hire Ryan for such a low price? Do you think you are his boss? He will do whatever you want help but sneer,

Gloria had a

"Nothing." Jocelyn said.

10 million to hire him, I'll take 30 million. Whoever can't hire loses, at that time the loser has to meet that it was absolutely impossible for Jocelyn to invite Ryan, 30 million was possible, 10 million take advantage of

kneel down in front

go too far."

it too much? Besides, it's not certain who the loser will be." Gloria

Allen's face immediately to be willing to accept it when you lose." Jocelyn don't accept it when you right to inherit all the assets of the Murphy family forever?" Jocelyn snapped her fingers with alacrity, Ryan and was equal

Jocelyn, she was a bronze at best, how could she possibly beat it's decided like that, right?" Jocelyn said as she looked at Allen shaking up the handkerchief and wiped his mouth, got up and left the

you to learn how to bark live on the internet and give up your inheritance rights to dad's company!