Chapter 101 Never Forgive You

"You don't need to apologize to me. I will never forgive you!" Allen looked at Gloria, who was kneeling in front of him, and said mercilessly.

How long had it been since she was released from prison? Was it too late that she came back and apologized now?

She didn't seem to know that she was wrong at all!

"Dad, please forgive me." Gloria tried her best to make with the tears.

Then, she looked at Allen sadly, acting like a spoiled child, "I'm still young and ignorant, so I would do such a thing to my sister. I promise I'll never do it again."

"Dad, please forgive me and Mom. She has nothing to do with the matter! She is really innocent."

"I actually wanted to apologize a long time ago, but you also know what happened to the Stewart family now. I got a million things on my plate right now. So I didn't have time to come back."

"I'm already off badly now. If you don't forgive me, I'll be even more wretched. Do you really have the heart to see it happen?" Gloria continued to choke.

Was there anyone more wretched than her now?

Finally, her wedding with Joseph was coming. She thought it would be glorious, but on the day of the wedding, the thing that she smeared her family's company was fully exposed.

After that, Joseph's factory was also exposed to a scandal, and then he was sentenced to a month for paying for someone to beat others. As soon as she got married, she lived alone in the empty room every day, like a little widow.

All the nightmares happened on the wedding day. The luxurious wedding turned into a luxurious joke.

Even up to now, the scandals were still on the top on the Internet. Those netizens had been cyberbullying her. She felt like she was going crazy.

"Get out! I don't want to see you again!" Allen became more indifferent.

Now as long as he saw Gloria's face, he would think of the crimes she committed. This kind of person who didn't care about the Murphy family was not worthy of forgiveness at all.

"How come! Dad, you can stay at our home as long as you want." Jocelyn responded with a smile, and they two walked into the house together.

The heat was blowing towards her face. Jocelyn felt warm all over her body.

"Okay, then I'll stay tonight." Allen said.

Hearing the voices of them, Noah smiled meaningfully.

He immediately put down his chopsticks, walked to the door, and politely stood in front of Allen, "Hello, Dad."

Then he took a pair of slippers from the shoe rack next to him and placed them at Allen's feet.

Seeing this scene, Allen felt even more warm. The anger was completely dissipated.

Although Noah was not as rich as Joseph, he was much better than Joseph in other aspects.

Just in filial piety, Joseph couldn't compare to him.

Allen thought of that Joseph never treated him like this!

Seeing Noah's performance, Jocelyn was also very satisfied. She really found the right person back then.

Allen quickly put on the slippers, patted Noah's shoulder with satisfaction, and said with a smile, "Noah, what are you doing at home?"

"Having dinner. We just started to eat. Have you eaten yet? Let's eat together." Noah brought the humility and politeness to the extreme.

"Okay, I was so angry with Gloria that I didn't eat enough." Allen said.

"Then let's have dinner together." Jocelyn held Allen's hand intimately and led him into the dining room.

After dinner.

Jocelyn looked at Allen, "Dad, are you going to sleep upstairs or downstairs tonight?"

"Upstairs." Allen said.

Jocelyn nodded and said with a smile, "Then I'll go up and clean up the room later."

Jocelyn tensed up and didn't dare to move at all. As long as she moved, she would touch him.

The faint smell of tobacco, mixed with the smell of mint perfume, lingered on the tip of her nose. It smelt damn good.

"Give it back to you." She quickly shoved the phone into Noah's hand, not having the courage to see his eyes at all.

The splendid crystal lamp shone brightly above her head. The shy demeanor of the little woman became more and more dazzling under the light.

Inadvertently, she moved. The messy hair on her forehead brushed lightly over his thin and angular lips. The tiny itchiness seemed to spread to his heart.

Jocelyn slid down tightly against the wall, escaping the restraint from his arm.

Noah unlocked the phone with one hand. Then he saw the payment screen. He raised his eyebrows slightly and looked at her blushing face, "You really won't stop until you reach your goal."

"That's for sure." Jocelyn said softly, then quickly sat on the bed, took out her mobile phone from her pocket, and looked through the news to divert her attention.

She was blushed and the light red color continued to spread on the auricle.

"This is the first time I saw someone desperate to give others money." Noah walked back to his original seat and sat down.

They two were only half a meter apart, so they could clearly see the expressions on each other's face.

"It's also the first time I've seen someone refuse money from others." Jocelyn frowned slightly and replied in a bad mood.

"You just want to be my sugar daddy?" he said lightly.

"Sugar daddy? It's a bit of a misnomer." Jocelyn responded quickly.

Why did she feel a little weird to hear him say that word?

Noah didn't respond. He just slightly smiled and continued to play with the phone.

Jocelyn ignored him, opened her mailbox, and started to check the work emails Paige sent her.

Time flew quietly like this.

After reading the contents in the mailbox, she felt sleepy. Then she looked down at the Dior watch in her hand.

Jocelyn sighed. She didn't doubt anything. Although she was so sleepy, she forcibly resisted letting herself fall asleep. However, she still closed her eyes unknowingly.

After falling asleep, she turned over, then her face just faced Noah.

Noah put down the phone and looked at her.

She was just like a snow-white Persian cat, which was soft and fluffy. Just looking at her like this, Noah felt so happy.

The next morning, when Jocelyn opened her eyes, she saw Noah sleeping on the couch beside her.

She immediately felt nervous.

Unexpectedly, she fell asleep like that when there was a man in her room last night.

Besides, this man actually slept in her room and stayed with her for a whole night.

Thinking of this, she lifted the quilt and glanced at herself.

After confirming that the clothes in her were intact, she let out a long sigh of relief.

Noah also slowly opened his eyes. He looked at her calmly, "Morning."

"Why are you sleeping in my room?" Jocelyn asked.

"I was waiting. Then I accidentally fell asleep." He said lightly.

"Well."

"What do you want to eat for breakfast? I'll make it for you." Noah stood up slowly.

"Whatever."

Among these people, Robert took a fancy to the girl in a black tight dress who was standing directly opposite him at first sight.

She was so hot and enchanting, looking pure and beautiful. The angel and the witch seemed to be combined in her.

The most important thing was that her face was natural. Recently, staring at those who had the plastic surgery every day made him a little tired.

"This one... What's your name?" Robert looked at the girl in black and asked.

"My name is Zoe." The girl whispered, looking cautious and restrained. Robert, who had seen a lot of women, could tell at a glance that she was not pretending.

It looked like she was really a virgin.

"Just you. Come with me." Robert got up immediately, hugged her and left.

She followed him meekly the whole time, not daring to say a word.

The manager said that she couldn't afford to offend any of the men in the private room, so she should be careful.

Although she didn't know who he was, she didn't dare to make any mistakes.

"How old are you?" Robert asked casually after going out.

"Eighteen." said gently.

"Still a student?"

"No, I just dropped out of school." Zoe dropped her eyes with a touch of disappointment in her eyes.

"Your family is very poor. You have a younger brother, and unhealthy parents. You have to drop out of school and work to earn money to let your parents go to see the doctor and support your younger brother to study?" Robert asked.

"I heard that the reason why Griffin Group withdrew from Stewart Food Group this time is because Stewart Food Group offended the woman of Griffin Group's heir." Paige said.

"Huh? The heir of Griffin Group?" Jocelyn's eyes were full of disbelief.

What kind of woman could make the heir make such a decision?

How much did the woman need to be pampered that she was treated like this?

"Well... he is the current president of Griffin Group in Flento City." Paige said.

"The president of Griffin Group in Flento City is the heir?" This was the first time Jocelyn had heard of it.

The new president had been doing quite well since he took over the company. The stock price of Griffin Group had been rising steadily.

As far as Jocelyn knew, the guy was quite a capable person.

Even heroes fell for beauties. So even if it was the heir of Griffin Group, it would be the same.

"Well, my friend's friend works at Stewart Food Group and is also the president's secretary. She said that she accidentally overheard the conversation between William and the executives. However, they don't know much about Griffin Group. They only know that he is the son of the chairman of Griffin Group and the heir of Griffin Group. Except this, they don't know other things, so there's nothing they can do about it. After all, it's the Mason family. They don't want outsiders to know too much about them, so others naturally can't know."

After speaking, Paige spread her hands. Then she took out her mobile phone and started to check the work emails in the mailbox.

"It's so manly." After speaking, Jocelyn quickly selected the food she wanted to eat and paid the money.

"Do you know what is the most awesome?" Paige turned around again and looked at Jocelyn's face.

"What?" Jocelyn asked with great interest.

"At that time, William asked the special assistant of the president why he suddenly wanted to withdraw the capital. He personally took the call and said that his girl didn't like it."

"Just imagining that scene, I think it's too manly. The girl must be a great beauty."

"Otherwise, it is absolutely impossible to let such a big shot fall in love with her so much." Paige said again.

When Jocelyn and Noah arrived at the hospital, the scarred Allen was sitting in an embarrassed state outside the emergency room.

He had messy hair, with blood all over his face and body. A cast was hanging from his left arm.

Seeing this scene, Jocelyn and Noah immediately walked quickly to Allen.

Because they came out in a hurry, both of them were wearing only a pair of cotton slippers with thin soles. They stepped on the tiled floor of the hospital, feeling cold.

Jocelyn didn't care much. She just sat directly next to Allen and asked in a panic, "Dad, what's wrong with your arm? Is it broken? Are you okay? Why is it all covered in blood? Are other places also injured?"

"The blood is not my own, but Sara's. When the gangster came to assassinate me, she stood in front of me without hesitation. The gangster's knife pierced directly into her heart." With that, Allen cried.

Thinking of that scene, he felt that his heart ached.

He even began to regret the cruel thing he had done to Sara before.

When their own lives were at stake, he deeply felt that Sara cared about him.

She was willing to sacrifice herself to save him.

"When she fell down, I didn't stand firm and fell down with her. It was only a slight fracture, but it didn't break." Allen said again.

Hearing this, Jocelyn felt relieved.

She always felt that this incident was so weird. It was so coincidental. Her father had just filed for divorce with Sara, and then such a thing happened.

Jocelyn had reasons to suspect that all this was the trick directed and acted by Sara.

Jocelyn knew Sara best. In order to achieve the goals, she could do anything.

Although Jocelyn had such doubts, because there was no evidence, she didn't say much. She just took a long breath and hugged Allen tightly, "Thanks God! You're fine! What about Sara? How is she doing now?"

"She is in the rescue now. I don't know the situation, but it should be very unoptimistic. She fell into a coma on the way here." After saying that, Allen raised his right hand and rubbed his hair vigorously.

Hearing Noah's question, Jocelyn knew what he meant. She immediately asked softly, "What do you think?"

No wonder he could be the first-in-command, he was really smart.

"I'm the same as you." Noah said lightly, smoke lingering on his slender fingertips.

"How do you know the idea in my mind?" Jocelyn asked.

After saying that, she turned the car around, skillfully operated the steering wheel with one hand, and put her elbow on the window frame.

Such a driving posture looked beautiful and sassy.

"Because you are very smart." He said.

"You're also very smart." Jocelyn praised, "No wonder you're the first-in-command."

"What are you going to do?" Noah took another puff of cigarette. The expression on his face became more and more blurred in the smoke.

"Check it." Jocelyn said.

"Do you need my help?" His tone was calm.

"How can you help me?"

"I've been around for so long. I know some people." After he finished speaking, he flicked the soot.

"Thank you. I can do it myself." Jocelyn said confidently, "But it seems that there will be some difficulties in the investigation."

If Sara wanted to make comeback with such a trick, she must have set the story perfectly before the show started.

She absolutely wouldn't reveal any flaws easily.

Before the truth was investigated, Sara and Gloria should be able to enjoy themselves for a while.

At this moment, Allen's call came in.

Gloria just glanced at them, and then continued to hold Joseph's arms, ready to continue to follow Allen and Sara to toast.

However, Joseph had no intention of leaving. He stood quietly and looked deeply at Jocelyn and Noah, with mixed feelings in his mind.

It had been a long time. Jocelyn looked a lot better again. Even though she had light makeup, she was even more stunning than Gloria who had heavy makeup.

As long as Joseph thought about the woman he cared about so much might have harmed him, his eyes instantly turned cold. The hands hanging by his side gradually clenched into fists.

If Jocelyn was just angry with him, he could tolerate it. But if she made him lose everything, he absolutely couldn't hold it back.

If it was Jocelyn who did those things, he would never let her go.

Across the crowd, Jocelyn gradually saw Joseph's face. When she saw the indifference in his eyes, she felt sick.

She could feel what that gaze meant, but she didn't care.

She knew what he had been investigating these days.

However, she just held Noah's hand, and walked to Allen calmly, smiling brightly, "Hello, Dad."

"Jocelyn, Noah, these are my business partners. Say hello to them." Allen proudly took the hands of the two of them, looked at the people at the table and said, "This is my eldest daughter, and this is my eldest son-in-law. You guys have met them before."

The most handsome man and beautiful woman were shining wherever they went.

"Do you want to have a fight?" Jocelyn snorted coldly.

Looking at Gloria's face, Jocelyn felt very upset.

"Yes, so what? Hit me." Gloria glared at Jocelyn fiercely, with an extremely arrogant attitude.

As soon as she finished speaking, she took a step forward and poked Jocelyn's shoulder with her finger,

"Although I have no evidence to prove that everything that happened to me, Joseph and my mother was caused by you, I know you well."

"In this world, there will never be another person who is more scheming than you. You're obviously a shameless bitch, but pretend to be pure every day. Are you really not tired?"

"You're just a slut! You can't do anything to my mother and me with your stupid tricks."

"As long as you don't die, my mother and I won't fall down for a day, and I won't make you feel better for a day."

"Jocelyn, yes, I just stole your boyfriend at the beginning! But you actually framed me and Joseph like this! Looking at your ugly face back then, what was wrong with me stealing your boyfriend?"

"Yes, you indeed donated a kidney for Joseph's mother. Then you had some sequelae and became ugly after that. But it was you who loved Joseph willingly for many years!"

"What's so great about this? Whether you donated the kidney or loved him, no one forced you, right? It's all your own willingness, right?"

"What qualifications do you have to take revenge now? Men and women, regardless of whether they are married or not, have the right to change their spouses. In love, it's not that first come and first served!"

Gloria continued to speak arrogantly, gnashing her teeth. She was on the moral ground to comment others.

What was wrong with her? At the beginning, she spent her life in Jocelyn's shadow. Finally, she had a chance to shine. Was there anything wrong with going to light up Joseph?

Wasn't it just stealing others' boyfriend? Jocelyn didn't have to be so relentless, right?

Those words made Jocelyn's blood boil. In an instant, she couldn't stand it anymore.

She felt like her chest was about to explode with anger.
