Chapter 1151 Sharp Pain

"How are you feeling now, honey?" Ryan asked, "Is it true that it doesn't hurt at all anymore? Really?"

His eyes were full of inquiry, and eagerness.

As if he was afraid that Rosa was comforting him.

Rosa nodded Zoe, with a smile on her lips, "It's true. don't worry."

Only then did Ryan let out a long sigh of relief.

Then he wiped his tears without regard to his image and looked at the nurse and asked, "Doctor, nurse, so, it won't hurt after that?"

"Or will it be hurting after a while?" Ryan asked.

The doctor nodded, "It won't hurt anymore."

Ryan was then completely at ease, "Thank you, thank you."

The doctor said, "No worries."

She then gave a few words to the nurse next to her and left.

The opening of the uterus behind Rosa was very slow.

But the good thing is that there is no more pain, so everything is at ease.

Ryan, Allie and Jocelyn were always beside each other, feeding Rosa various things.

Energy boosting chocolate, water and some of Rosa's favourite desserts.

Her heart felt warm as she watched the three go about her business.

It's really nice to have these people around to take care of her when she needs them most.

And at the same time, netizens were on the internet, discussing the matter of Rosa's birth with great fervour.

There were even many people who claimed to be nurses from the First People's Hospital's maternity department, tweeting that when Rosa was having painful contractions, Ryan panicked as if he was a child and even cried.

They even said that Rosa's mother-in-law, as well as Jocelyn, were beside them the whole time, and both of them were anxious and close to tears.

As soon as these news were released, the tweets became even more lively.

"I don't know how others have survived, but I really can't. Ryan, please kill me, I really can't stand it anymore."

"God, if I have done wrong, let death punish me, not in such a way that I am not worse off than dead."

At this moment, she deeply felt what it means to be worse than death.

She was really going crazy and wanted a relief.

She fought as hard as she could, trying to get the baby out, but it was really slow.

She really felt that she was probably going to die in this bed.

Rosa pushed harder while looking at Ryan and cried, "Ryan, If I die, you must take good care of our child."

"I feel now that I may not last much longer soon, promise me that if I die, you will take the child and live well."

As she spoke, Rosa's voice, then, began to become choked up.

And her tears grew more and more violent.

At this moment, she could even hear the footsteps of death approaching her.

She was really afraid that she would leave Ryan forever in the next second.

This time with him is really so happy and blissful.

So happy that she really couldn't let him go.

Ryan immediately wiped his eyes, with a serious serious face, said, "Silly girl, do not nonsense, you will be okay, I will not allow anything happen to you."

Outside the delivery room, Scott, Allie and Jocelyn were already anxious as ants on a hot pan when they heard the voices inside.

Allie kept walking around in place while looking at Jocelyn and asked, "How could this happen? Isn't it painless?"

Jocelyn said, "This varies from person to person, some people have a greater than average degree of drug tolerance, so the drug will soon have no effect. Rosa is not very lucky, belongs to this minority."

Allie, "What to do? Rosa seems to be dying of pain. I wish I could suffer instead of her."

Without a glance, Scott just looked at the closed door with a gloomy face and a nervous look.

At this time, Jocelyn's mind was in turmoil.

The nurse soon dressed the baby and wrapped the baby in a thin baby quilt that Ryan and the others had prepared in advance and placed it next to Rosa.

Tiny people, at this point, are cleaned up.

When she reached Rosa's side, she immediately subconsciously placed her hands at her body and naturally placed them on Rosa's face.

It's a heartwarming image to look at.

However, Ryan is unable to give the child too much attention.

At this moment, all he could think about was the fact that his wife had passed out from exhaustion.

Soon the medical staff joined Ryan in pushing Rosa back to the ward with the child.

The moment the door opened, Allie and the others saw that Rosa had fainted, they all immediately gathered around Rosa.

Didn't even look at the child.

Allie, "What's going on? Why did Rosa faint?"

Scott, "Is she okay?"

Jocelyn didn't say anything, but just silently took Rosa's pulse.

The doctor said, "It's all right, it's just physical exhaustion."

At this time Jocelyn finished taking the pulse and looked at Allie and said, "Yes, it's fine, she'll wake up in a while."

Only then did Allie and Scott took a breath of relief.

The nurses at the side, seeing this scene, could not help but look at each other.

Working in obstetrics and gynaecology, they had seen countless births.

But when the mother came out with the baby, as in the case of the Mason family, the whole family did not even ask about the baby, or even look at it, but surrounded the mother and asked her how she was doing.

Although Rosa is experienced in this matter of holding a child.
But this child in her arms was too small.
It even seems to fall out of her hand if she is not careful.
Rosa was truly apprehensive to the extreme.
She kept on changing several positions all the time before she carefully held the baby in her arms.
After gently bringing the child close to her, Rosa was eager to kiss the child's forehead.
The baby, who had been sleeping, did not open her eyes.
Everything about her is tiny.
The face is tiny and so are the hands.
With just one glance, Rosa wanted to give this child the world.
Rosa has finally experienced the kind of emotions that a mother feels for her child.
And aside, Allie and Ryan, likewise, were all nervous, fearing that Rosa might have lost the baby.
Allie, "Be careful, Rosa, the child is really too small and too thin."
Scott, "It's okay, when she drinks more milk in the future, she'll be fat."

Ryan, "She's really the skinniest kid I've ever seen ever."

At this moment, looking at his baby daughter, Ryan felt as if his heart was clutched in this child's hands.

This child, even if she did nothing, just staying quietly in Rosa's arms like this, could easily tug at his heart.

He wanted to be good to this child.

Leaning down, Ryan carefully held the child's hand and looked at Rosa and said, "Honey, thank you, for giving birth to such a lovely daughter for me."

As they chatted, Rosa almost completely forgot about the pain of childbirth.

Allie added, "Right, Rosa, you've been holding the baby for too long, hurry up and give her to me, and you've been sitting for too long, you can't sit all the time now, it's not good for your back."

Allie then picked up the child in Rosa's arms.

And then she looked at Ryan and ordered, "What are you looking at? Why don't you hurry up and help your wife lie down?"

Ryan immediately obeyed, helping Rosa to lie down.

At this moment Rosa looked at their nervousness and really felt as if she was a giant baby now.

She instantly looked helpless, "Mom, it's not that exaggerated, right? I see a lot of women in labour nowadays, as soon as people finish giving birth, they just go out. Foreigners are like that."

Allie shook her head helplessly, "You silly child, can we have the same physique as foreigners? Our old ancestors have been like this for thousands of years up and down. Listening to our old ancestors, it's always right."

"Anyway, this matter, you have to listen to me, understand? Also, while you're recuperating, apart from not moving around, you're not allowed to play with your phone, and even more so, you're not allowed to go out to blow wind. Got it?"

Allie continued to exhort, with a bitter look.

Rosa listened attentively throughout and kept nodding her head.

She decided that she would listen to Allie.

Allie added, "In that case, Jocelyn, I won't go to your house to see the children, I'll serve Rosa to recuperate first, and then discuss the matter of seeing the child afterwards."

Jocelyn nodded immediately.

Jocelyn has no half-hearted opinion on this matter.

At that, Rosa immediately said, "No, I think Ryan can take care of me, and my parents said they would come over to take care of my recuperation."

Rosa wished even more that Allie and Scott could be at Jocelyn's house and look after Lawrence and Madeline more.

After all, there are two children in Jocelyn's family, while on her side, there is only one child, which is well taken care of.

"Rosa." Allie sat beside Rosa with a loving face.

Rosa had a touch of inquiry in her eyes, "Yes, mum?"

Allie had a serious face, "Thank you for giving birth to such a lovely little princess for our family. You are a great credit to our family."

Probably too many of his sons were born.

So, she was always extraordinarily partial to girls.

The next generation of the Mason family will have so many girls, and Allie is overjoyed.

Rosa, "Mom, the Mason family has been so good to me, I have given birth to children for the Mason family, it's all due."

Allie, "We all see what you have suffered, and we will treat you twice as well in the future."

Rosa, "The Mason family has been good enough for me. I think that it's okay without doubling it."

Allie, "That won't work, it can still be super doubled."

Rosa couldn't help but laugh at once.

Soon, Ryan got the milk ready.

Once it was done, he began to sit on the sofa with Candy in his arms, feeding her.

While Allie went to fetch water for Rosa and helped her wipe her face and her body.
She then waited on Rosa to brush her teeth and change her clothes.
Only after she had served Rosa comfortably did Allie go into the bathroom and wash up.
After washing up, Allie returned to Rosa once again and began to shush her.
On the other hand, Ryan had been carefully feeding Candy very lovingly.
Candy loved to drink very fast because she was hungry.

Chapter 1157 Pushing Your Heart Out

Ryan likewise pushed his heart and soul, and he did not hold back his innermost thoughts in the slightest.

On the side, Rosa heard this, and her eyes suddenly became more tender.

And her heart was full of emotion.

Soon, her eyes were involuntarily tinged with a pale red.

When the journalists heard this, they were all touched too.

This is especially true of female journalists who are naturally sensual.

Everyone knows Ryan well and knows that this man never tells a lie.

At this moment, they instantly became even more envious of Rosa.

Soon, some journalists put their attention on Allie and Jocelyn next to them -

[Miss Murphy, as far as I know, you were there almost every day on the night of Rosa's delivery, and in the days afterwards when she was in hospital, you and Rosa are very close, aren't you?]

[Allie, Rosa gave birth to a lovely granddaughter for you, how do you feel? I heard that you have been taking care of her all these days, haven't you?]

At this time, Rosa smiled and handed the microphone to Allie.

Allie looked at everyone with a smile and said, "I'm naturally very happy and excited, I'm really grateful to Rosa for giving birth to such a lovely little princess for our family. Our Mason family will definitely treat Rosa twice as well in the future."

After saying that, Allie handed the microphone, again, to Jocelyn next to her.

She is really not a fan of giving interviews.

So, she hoped that Jocelyn would be able to hold it for herself.

Jocelyn took the microphone, "Yes, I was there. I have a very good relationship with Rosa, I love Rosa, and Rosa loves me too."

Rosa's mother immediately shook her head, "No, it is already hard for you to take care of Rosa, so do not take care of us, since we see Rosa is very happy, and there is nothing here need us to do, we'd better go back."

Ryan was equally full of reluctance, "Mom, Dad, go back later, stay here and spend more time with Rosa."

Rosa opened her mother, "Yeah, spend more time with me, isn't it good?"

Rosa's father, "You have your in-laws to accompany you, it is enough, the family is busy, we can not help much, if we stay, you still have to take care of us, better forget about it."

Seeing that her parents insisted on this, Rosa didn't say anything more.

In fact, she knew very well in her mind what her parents were thinking.

And Allie, seeing that they all insisted, didn't say anything more, just looked at Scott next to her and said, "Honey, you go out later and buy more things for the in-laws to take back to."

Scott nodded without thinking at once.

Hearing these words, Rosa's father and mother were embarrassed.

"No, thank you for your kindness, we haven't even finished the things you gave us before, don't buy us any more."

The Mason family has never treated them with any love.

The things given to them are worth a lot of money, and every time they give a gift, it's never below six figures.

In many cases, it was even seven figures.

They are really feeling embarrassed.

Scott, "Don't be polite, I'm going out for a bit now, you guys talk first."

After saying that, Scott went straight out to do some shopping.

Seeing this image, Rosa's parents were full of helplessness.

Allie, on the other hand, naturally took Rosa's mother's arm and said, "In-laws, don't be polite to us, we are all family, it's only right that we buy you something."

Looking at Allie's pocket outside, half exposed mobile phone, this moment Rosa is full of helplessness.

Forget it and bear with it.

It will be fine when she recovers.

Just at this time, Ryan's mobile phone vibrated.

Ryan instantly pressed answer -

"Ryan, Flento City TV plans to start a couple's life house tea type of variety show. They think, your family just had a baby, especially suitable for this show."

"Are you going to take part? You don't need to do anything to take part in this, just live your life normally and then the crew will come to the house and do the filming."

"Right now, you're all three hot as a family and there are calls from your fans for you to be in a show like this."

"It's mainly because fans are really keen to see it, some of the little routines you have as a family of three, and the fact that people haven't seen you much for too long and miss you more."

There Paige said word for word, "What do you think? Want to participate?"

Ryan said, "I'd rather not, my wife has just given birth, it's the right time to rest."

Ryan said seriously.

Although, he cares a lot about the fans.

But he still cares more about Rosa and the child.

At this time of year, with so many people in the house for filming all of a sudden, the child won't be used to it, and neither will Rosa.

And Rosa was on the sidelines, listening to the contents of the call.

Hearing that fans were eager for him to participate in such a show, Rosa then took Ryan's mobile phone and said, "Paige, this is Rosa."

"Rosa, hello." Paige's tone was kind and gentle.

Rosa said with a smile, "If we want to participate, is sure that it is always at home and does not require us to prepare anything in particular, right?"

Chapter 1160 Our Day (2)

Seeing that Rosa is not in, the director immediately asked, "Where is Rosa?"

Ryan then carefully took Candy from the cot, holding her in his arms, carefully coaxing her while saying, "Still sleeping."

"It's okay, shoot us first, my wife just gave birth, her body is not well, she needs more rest." Ryan added.

The director immediately nodded.

It was at this time that Candy suddenly burst into tears.

Seeing this scene, Ryan panicked.

He immediately shook Candy gently with care and asked, "What's wrong, baby? Did you pee?"

Ryan then skilfully placed Candy in her cot before checking her nappy.

Making sure there was no peeing, Ryan then gently picked her up again and said, "Oh, I see, you are hungry, right?"

Ryan then handed the child over to Allie.

While he himself walked gingerly to the side and carefully make milk for Candy.

Once the milk was ready, he carefully used his wrist and tested the temperature.

Only when he was sure it was really okay did he return to Allie, carefully picked up the crying Candy, held her across his arms, sat down on the snow-white wool carpet and began to feed her.

The whole process was a snap for Ryan.

The moment she drank the milk, Candy immediately stopped crying.

Ryan's expression was as gentle as the warm March sun at this time.

The crew were all warmed by this scene.

It was as if time had stood still because of them.

It was at this time that Rosa walked into the nursery.
