

Fatty to Sexy 1201

Chapter 1201 Warm and inviting

And at that moment, Robert was holding his child in his arms, guarding the woman he loved most, feeling as if he had the world at his fingertips.

He thought that at this moment, even if someone were to take the whole world and exchange it with himself for what was at hand, he would not exchange it.

What is right now is what he likes and cares about the most right now.

Whatever is offered to him, he will not exchange it.

Looking at them as a family of three, cozy and incomparable, there was no health care worker present who did not envy them.

No one would have thought that a playboy would one day be so in love with a woman.

He would even give up a whole forest for this woman.

"Zoe." Robert called out softly.

Zoe immediately looked at Robert with a smile on her face, gently stroking her baby's hair and asking, "What's wrong?"

"I just wanted to say thank you, really thank you for choosing to marry me at the most wonderful age."

"Thank you, too, for giving me the most wonderful child at the most wonderful age."

"Thank you, for everything."

Robert said again.

He meant every word of it.

But Zoe shrugged indifferently and said, "There's nothing to thank you for, since we love each other, that's all I should do."

"Robert, I want to thank you for giving me the best love in the world. After being with you, I really have never envied anyone."

Zoe said again.

This man has, literally, fulfilled all her fantasies of a good husband.

Because she has such a good husband, she never envies the husbands of other families.

Every time she sees those loving couples, she has no ripples in her heart.

given her far more to their wives, her husband can cannot give their wives, her husband can we love each other, all this is what Miss Zoe, you two have you, your husband

first you have to have a good looking face like yes, forget it, I few young nurses spoke these words, Zoe immediately the last two nurses in conversation and said, "Don't say that, everyone deserves the best are beautiful and you deserve good love." Zoe said these warmed everyone of understood it completely why Robert is resist such a gentle and lovely can't resist it,
you are so
you are so well, I like nurses opened so much, Zoe became even of her head again before looking at the girls awkwardly and saying, "Stop
.....
staff watched the child inside the ward for a while, after which they went everyone had left, the large ward was left with just follow the one we decided before, let's at that,
this time, the two of them have been struggling that our as

Zoe nodded, "Okay."

these words, she stroked Delilah's face and said, "Sweetie, then

Chapter 1202 Envy and Jealousy

Many of the medical staff, and even more so, would deliberately pretend to have something to do in order to take a look at the crowd inside the ward and keep passing by the door of the ward.

But because the door of the ward is always closed and the soundproofing is very good.

So, all those medical staff who deliberately wanted to come and see Jocelyn and her group, all went home disappointed.

Even so, inside the hospital's medical staff group, there was a continuing explosion -

[My goodness, Noah, Jocelyn, Ryan, all of them are in Zoe's ward, our hospital is really shining.]

[I was lucky enough to see the two brothers Noah and Ryan at the entrance today, they were so handsome, and that Jocelyn is really beautiful.]

[Gosh, I never dreamed that I would actually see my idol, Ryan, in front of the hospital].

[Jealous of you guys who saw Ryan in person, I missed out.]

[I'd like to know, how in the world did Jocelyn take care of that skin? How come it looks like a freshly shelled lychee?]

The actual fact is that instead of envying those who have seen Ryan, they should envy Zoe, who came from a grassroots background but married a rich family, and even mixed with Ryan and his group in the same circle, which is taking the script of the heroine of the novel.

Zoe and the others knew nothing of all this.

It all started with a hospital-wide spread.

After that it went straight to the top of the news because some health care workers to show off.

The fact that Ryan, Noah and Jocelyn appeared at the First People's Hospital at the same time to visit their best friend was even a direct hit on Weibo.

The topic in question went straight to the top of the Weibo hotspots.

Inside the hot seat, everyone is talking about -

[My God, envy the medical staff in that hospital, they actually saw Ryan, Jocelyn, Noah.]

[I don't know who the person they are visiting is, I really envy that person who is being visited, I want to be visited too.]

[The actual fact is that you can't get into that circle of people, and ordinary people can't get into it, okay? No need to wonder who that person is.]

should be a person who is being visited, what is it like to be visited after all, everything you fuss about is their ward, Jocelyn and the others left together after visiting Zoe and the space to the ward

.....

the silence in the ward, outside the hospital, there was a huge amount hospital ward building, many people who had gotten the news were all to see Ryan, and Noah,

the group went out, they were stunned by the their shoulders as if they were used to were then escorted by hospital security guards as they trudged through the crowd and onto the flew the helicopter, taking the crowd with lifted off, the women at the guys see that? Noah

so envious the women who can marry into the Mason family, can marry a man from the Mason family

I feel a face in this world that was better looking than Ryan's, and seeing Noah, I realized and Rosa

more they talk about it, the

this moment, each one of them

scene was a cacophony

the helicopter and first took

he sent Abel,

only at last that he drove the plane

inside the office

was very quiet

a meeting, he's right next to her, reading magazines, checking reads papers, and he is nearby of Noah's arrival, there Jocelyn loved it.

Chapter 1203 How to hug you with a mobile phone

Jocelyn, "It's miserable being your teammate."

As she spoke, Jocelyn glanced at Noah's game screen.

At this point, the big advantage on Noah's side had almost been delivered.

Because Noah was not there, his teammates could not win at all in four against five.

The team cursed.

[Are you crazy?]

[What do you mean? Move now, or I'll report you.]

[I think he is a cheater from the other team.]

Just looking at the cursing voices made Jocelyn's head hurt.

She then flicked her chin towards her phone and said, "Your teammates are cursing, you're losing this game."

Noah glanced at it lightly, then took the phone and said, "Not really."

With that, he operated the game while holding Jocelyn.

By this time, the team was still cursing all the time.

[Idiot, what do you mean?]

[You can't play the game at all, can you?]

[So, that operation just now was just a stroke of luck, right?]

Between teammates talking, Noah missed a wave of group play and was again killed in seconds.

By this time, the cursing within the ranks became more intense -

[What's wrong with you?]

[Sick again? If you can play, play, if you can't, get out.]

[I'm convinced now that it's an idiot, and that what I just did was just a fluke.]

Noah didn't pay any attention to these people at all.

No hint of emotion can be seen under the eyes.

He just bought a kit.

And then it was back to his teammates again to continue the group battle with the other side.

of the teammates were left was five men on the opposite team is on the other hand, did

there was another shout

crazy?

[Run.]

to go

Noah remained expressionless.

sword demon and charged straight inside the

In a moment -

all five half-bloods on the opposite side into two teammates saw this and immediately moved up to reap the is like a god of war, invincible in big sword, Noah scored five beat five people from the inside the team, all

[God, you are amazing.]

what you just did pro player? I really admire you, let's play together pro, no

he heard everyone talking, Noah didn't respond to quit the

it was time to turn shoulders and said with a smile, "It's really

Noah, "Is that so?"

put on the professional field, then you are to be honored

Noah, "Oh?"

Jocelyn, "Really."

and

"How can an opponent be a rookie in a
of his teammates, who had just scolded him his hand, Noah tapped Soon the man spoke.

interested in coming to my team? I'm the manager of the IM you are. Are you interested in joining our long as you agree, we can meet and talk it never to screw hooked his lips shallowly, before other side was unrelenting you interested? Playing games is very lucrative, earning millions of millions a year, so much money, don't not an ordinary person, of red envelopes on New Year's Noah remained inwardly unruffled.

Chapter 1204 The Strange Elevator

And just at that moment, the electricity to the lift suddenly went off.

The whole world went black.

Jocelyn's heart suddenly tightened and she hooked her hands around Noah's neck.

"Oh no, it looks like the power has gone out. It's reasonable to assume that the company's lifts won't have power off, even if the power goes out, there will be a backup to automatically renew the power."

Jocelyn wondered.

Noah, "Relax, I'm calling for someone to come over and take a look."

With that said Noah put down Jocelyn.

And it was at this very moment.

The lift, however, suddenly went out of control.

The whole lift like a rapidly descending jumper began to descend frantically.

Noah and Jocelyn's hearts were in their throats.

Jocelyn even subconsciously hugged Noah tightly.

And Noah led Jocelyn with her back against the wall, bracing her hands against the wall behind her in pursuit of body balance.

Inside the darkened space, the lift descends rapidly.

The horror was so eerie that it froze the air.

At this moment, Jocelyn only felt her scalp tingling.

"What's going on? The lift is suddenly out of control, what do we do?"

"Are we going to die here?"

So fast, if they fall straight down, they are both bound to die.

"What do we do?" Jocelyn asked.

Noah said, "Jocelyn, don't panic yet, come stand next to me and follow my example, lean against the wall with your hands and use the wall as a spine guard."

"Then keep your knees bent to take the gravitational pressure and try to minimise the damage."

Noah said again.

Compared to Jocelyn's flustered tone, Noah seemed a lot more composed.

bent her knees up against the wall as he had darkness, the two of them clasped their fingers in would happen next, whether the lift would, in fact, plummet straight down to the last level leaving them in pieces their hearts that the still have children and parents still so much to love and miss can't die just like afraid, I'm by your side. Whatever the outcome, we'll the lift spun out of control and once again lift was there is no way the lift will stop

"Hubby, in this life, to meet you is my greatest luck, thank you for have nothing to regret in my life even if I die now, because, I can't let go

are so many things that Jocelyn wants to say right now, and she is afraid that if she and Ryan and the others should be able

I love you so it will not be okay. If something happens, that is your life and mine. We are sooner had he said that than the whole world shook subconsciously clutched Noah's hand and continued with of the situation once again adds to the

made

reasonable to say that at such a fast

Jocelyn raised her query.

kept reassuring herself not to panic too much, she still couldn't control heart felt like it was going to jump out of her throat in Noah frowned deeply, "I

what's going on shook his head

was still continuing its

both seem to be in a

was no

time is getting longer

hour

the lift continued to the tension in Jocelyn's heart was darkness around her, through the melting blackness, and looked at Noah next to her, "Honey, this is so weird, the lift continues to fall, it's like we've there. Why is this? Could it be psychic?" Jocelyn once again raised confused inside at this first time he has

or novels, that he had seen

Chapter 1205 Memory Recovery

In a moment, a world completely different from the usual one was presented to Jocelyn and Noah.

The world before their eyes was bright.

As far as the eye can see, there is a vast sea of black mandarins.

The sea of flowers, when viewed from their perspective, seemed to have no visible boundaries and even less visible ends.

The black mandala that blooms in all its splendour.

Above each flower, as if with a big price tag of special effects, shone a starry red glow.

Right now, it's autumn in the sea town, a comfortable and unbeatable time of year.

But here, it's as if it's a cold winter's day.

Gusts of gloomy wind in all directions.

The cold stings.

The spectacle before them shocked them both.

The lift today was already extraordinarily weird.

Add to this what is happening in front of them, and it becomes even more bizarre.

It is clear that the world before them, it seems, is not the real world.

Legend has it that black mandarins are the flowers that bloom on the path to hell.

Jocelyn couldn't help but wonder if they had come to the underworld.

The lift is it all the way down to hell?

Thinking about it, Jocelyn couldn't help but suck in a cold breath at that moment.

Noah's brows knitted together as he looked at Jocelyn and said, "Don't be afraid, no matter where this is, I will definitely protect you."

Jocelyn nodded.

But in the back of his mind, he was still apprehensive.

Just at that moment suddenly a golden light flashed before their eyes at the same time.

Immediately afterwards, their heads began to feel the pain at the same time.

Countless unfamiliar memories began to pour into the two's minds.

About Connie, about Lena fox, about Sophie.

Everything began to be poured into their heads in a frenzy.

The sheer volume of information gave even one person a splitting headache.

Jocelyn, in particular, felt as if she was on the verge of losing her footing at this point.

Jocelyn then subconsciously held her head and leaned against Noah's body, panting as she continued to receive the memory transfer.

After about an hour, the memory transfer ended.

Countless forgotten and unfamiliar memories have all been completely retrieved by them.

Jocelyn once again subconsciously clutched Noah's hand and said, "I remembered something very strange, but very real, about Sophie, about Lena fox, about..."

As she spoke, she was drenched in sweat.

The brain had just received too many messages at once, more than an ordinary person could bear.

She felt weak at the moment.

The same is true of Noah.

Without waiting for her to finish, Noah added, "I'm receiving the same message here as you are."
The next second, the two people's hearts were feeling at the same time a vicious pain.
They ached for Sophie.
That's a silly girl.
It's amazing that she chose to go to a desperate place like that for them.
In the next second the two's minds instantly showed scenes of Sophie in the midst of hell, undergoing all kinds of torture.
Going under the knife, into the frying pan, down the iceberg, being skinned alive etc etc.
In each scene, Sophie looked pained beyond belief.
Every scene is bloody to the core.
Everything once again added to the pain in the two's hearts.
Jocelyn's eyes were raging with tears.
Holding her head in her hands, she squatted helplessly on the ground, looking up at Noah, who was at a loss, and choked out, "Honey, I saw some more about the torture Sophie endured in hell. You see that?"
Noah nodded.
Jocelyn's voice, all of a sudden, got even more choked up, "This stupid girl actually used this in exchange for the location of Lena Fox, to help us with Lena Fox. She's really too stupid."
"Is it really worth it for her to do this for us?"
"She even washed out our memories for fear that we would both learn of all the pain."
"What a silly girl."
Jocelyn said again.
What she saw before her made her hate fate even more.
She really felt that past lives and present lives, the cycle of karma, were things that made very little sense.
It is good to settle everything in a previous life.
Why must it be borne in this life?
In this life, it was fine to let her bear the burden herself, so why did God actually allow it to be borne by others?
Sophie was innocent.
Why, in her place, should she take on all this with Noah?
At this time, those painful memories of Sophie just now, in his mind, kept rolling up again.
Each scene was like a knife that pierced deep into the deepest part of Jocelyn's heart.
And Noah, at that moment, was equally heartbroken.
The immediate atmosphere, suddenly, froze.
The whole space seems colder.
"Why are we suddenly reminded of this?" Jocelyn added.
Who brought their memories back when it was clear that Sophie had washed them away?
They came to this bizarre place and suddenly their memories were awakened.
There are even images of Sophie's torture in hell.
Why is this?
Who, exactly, did all this?
At this point, both of them were overwhelmed with curiosity about all this.
"Hahaha."

Chapter 1206 Forget Me

Noah shook his head slightly, equally full of questions.

"If you have any questions, why don't you just ask me, what's the point of two people muttering?"

"Jocelyn, what I was going to do was to torture you and Noah well, and when I'd had enough, I would kill your family and friends."

"I want you two to taste all the pain of separation and the loss of all those who matter in this world."

"And then lose my own life after that, but what I didn't expect was for Sophie to come along halfway and crush my life, leaving me as a lone soul, wandering around this world."

The Lena fox spoke again.

Fear continued to spread, and cold sweat rose up on Jocelyn's palms, all of a sudden.

She knew that she and Noah were probably in a bad way today.

They are both just ordinary people.

Even if the Lena fox is now just a lone soul, it is still not easy to deal with.

"What is this place? You want to kill us both, don't you?" Jocelyn asked.

At this point in time, she is well aware that even if she were afraid, she would not be able to solve any problems.

No matter what, what has to be faced has to be faced.

Soon, she forced herself to calm down.

"Here is the path to hell. It's not just Sophie who will seek out the gods in exchange for terms, I will too."

"I approached the Demon King a candlemark ago in exchange for a deal, I gave him the same weapon and he helped me bring you here, giving me the chance to kill you myself."

"You should be thankful that I am only a lone soul now, and can only flourish in hell, but have no way to just wander around on earth."

"How else could I so easily have settled you two and let you both die so painfully?"

The other side said again.

At this point, the other side still had not shown up.

The two of them were still confronted by nothing more than a large black mandala, and the cold air.

At these words, Jocelyn and Noah's eyebrows were instantly and unanimously deeply knitted.

Noah subconsciously shielded Jocelyn behind him and said to the air, "If you want to kill, you come at me, let Jocelyn go."

"I'd do anything if you'd just leave her alone."

Noah's tone was categorical, without half a moment's hesitation.

In a moment, Jocelyn felt warmth flowing inside her.

It is said that suffering is a blessing in disguise.

At this moment, Jocelyn once again deeply felt Noah's love for her.

He loved her deeply.

Even more than his own life.

Hearing these words, Jocelyn's tears once again fell indefinitely.

She immediately stood in front of Noah, shielding him behind her, and said to the air, "No, let Noah go. Come at me, I am willing to pay any price."

"Since you think we owe you, get it back, let Noah go back."

"Don't you hate us to the core? You want us both to taste all the partings in the world."

"Then wouldn't it be more of a relief to you to kill one of us and then leave the other one behind?"

"Whichever one of us dies, the other one left behind will suffer for the rest of their lives, which can be far better than two people going straight to the grave together, don't you think?"

Jocelyn said again.

At this moment, Jocelyn is as brave as a female general.

She just wants to protect the people behind her well.

No matter what the circumstances, she wanted this person behind her, to live well.

Hearing this, the other party instantly laughed.

Soon after, a golden light flashed.

A beautiful man dressed in, a traditional red costume of muslin robes, appeared in front of the two of them.

This man was very familiar to Jocelyn.

It was exactly the same as the one that had appeared in her dream before, the Lena Fox.

She can't even see the slightest difference.

Jocelyn frowned deeply, subconsciously pulled Noah back a step, shielding Noah behind, forced to suppress the panic inside, looked at the opposite person, said, "You are that Lena Fox."

Lena fox snorted coldly, the corners of his mouth curled into a seductive, icy smile, "It's me."

That smile was evil to the core.

Not bad for a fox in disguise.

Born with a foxy and delicate face.

Every smile is charming.

That appalling coldness was overwhelming his charming face.

Chapter 1207 Fighting

At this moment, Jocelyn felt heartbroken.

It was as if the body had been stripped raw from the soul.

It hurts so much she can't breathe.

She really hoped that it was all just an illusion, just a dream.

Once she woke up, everything was the same as it was before.

As soon as Noah's words left his mouth, his entire body suddenly rose into the air.

In a flash, a blazing fire started in the body.

The pain of the burning body is engraved in his bones.

However, Noah's face remained as usual.

The image that came to her eyes was once again like a knife stabbed deep into the deepest part of Jocelyn's heart.

At this moment, she really hated herself for not having the means to fight against Lena fox.

She and Noah are both just ordinary people after all.

But they are still in the face of this metaphysical directness, without any recourse.

The power as well as the glory inside the real world.

It's not worth it in front of Sophie.

Soon, Jocelyn's tears were rushing out like a flood.

She instantly rushed towards the Lena fox with her hands clenched in fists.

The Lena fox, however, waved his hand gently towards her.

The next second, her whole body was blown ten metres away by a huge gust of wind.

In another second, she plunged straight into a sea of black mandarin flowers.

Sharp pain stings the bones.

In an instant, she was in a cold sweat.

However, she couldn't care less.

Straight up, she ran to the Lena fox and knelt down on both knees, "Please, let Noah go, please."

The blazing fire in Noah's body continued.

Noah struggled, but to no avail.

At this moment, Jocelyn really wished to bear all this instead of Noah.

At the sound of his voice, the Lena fox laughed lightly in disdain.

And Noah was unassuming, "Jocelyn, get up, he won't let us go, don't kneel to anyone, remember, no one in this world is worthy of your own honorable head underneath."

"Jocelyn, promise me, you'll live well after I'm gone, live well with my love and take good care of our children."

"If there is another life, if we still meet, then I will definitely choose you again without hesitation."

"Jocelyn, to meet you in this life and to accompany you in the world, I think it has been worth it."

"Jocelyn, don't cry, don't waste your tears."

"Jocelyn, do as you're told and get up."

Even though the pain like a million arrows piercing his heart kept spreading throughout his body, Noah's eyes were still full of Jocelyn.

It hurts.

However, apart from himself, it was Jocelyn that he cared more about.

Looking at Jocelyn like this, his heart aching.

"No, Noah, I can't let you die, absolutely not."

With that, Jocelyn lifted her head and looked at that Lena fox, sincerely begging, "Please, let Noah go, I'll do whatever you want me to do willingly. I am begging you."

"In our last life, it was me and Noah who wronged you, we apologize, really, will you forgive us?"

"Please, if you can't forgive, then you kill me. I'm the one who deserves to die the most. You kill me, OK?"

What Jocelyn says is heartfelt.

But the Lena fox was still full of cold indifference.

He didn't even hear what Jocelyn said.

He just sneered with disdain.

And then he hooked up a strand of hair, looking at Jocelyn, he said, "Yes, but you can't die easily, you must live well, and then well endure the death of Noah to bring you the pain."

"Jocelyn, this is what you owe me, and I must have you pay me back in this way."

"I wouldn't accept it any other way than that, everyone has to pay for their actions, don't they?"

The words of the Lena fox ring true.

The tone was overbearing and determined.

By this time, Noah had been burned senseless.

It's just fantastic.

Even after burning for so long, the skin on Noah's body remained unscathed.

Jocelyn can not care to think too much, just continue to look at Lena fox, "Do not you think all this is really very unfair? The one who failed you was me in my last life. This life is a whole new life, and I am innocent."

The Lena fox snorted coldly, "I don't care so much, all I know is that the debt that cannot be repaid in this life must be repaid twice as much in the next."

"Jocelyn. I hope you are in pain for eternity, hahaha."

The Lena fox laughed loudly, his eyes filled with the air of a victorious man on high.
Seeing that begging was useless, Jocelyn then got up and attacked the Lena fox again.

Chapter 1208 Superpowers

Jocelyn really felt that she was the world's most wasteful loser.

Even if she looks at her beloved and endures the blazing fire, she cannot do anything about it.

The Lena fox was once again taunted -

"Haha, Jocelyn, give up the confrontation. Whether in your last life or this one, you're always the same stubborn."

"No matter how hard you try, you won't be able to stand up to me, you're just a normal person, you don't have any magic."

"Don't say shit about me, even a random lone ghost in the netherworld right now, that's more powerful than you."

"Don't keep holding on, it's really not working, hahaha."

The Lena fox had been grinning triumphantly.

The sound was harsh to the core.

Everything had been infuriating Jocelyn.

Anger built up, and at this moment, Jocelyn felt like her heart like a big boiler about to explode.

She was really going crazy.

Just then, suddenly a flash of pink flashed across her body.

And then the next second she had been bounced up by some mysterious force.

She rose straight up to a height of ten metres into the air.

The sudden feeling of weightlessness made her heart rise to her throat.

All of it felt magical to the point of unbelievability to her.

And immediately afterwards, her body, as if suddenly uncontrollable, began to wave her hands fiercely towards Noah, who was in the midst of a blazing fire below.

And just at this time a sudden rainstorm fell on the whole world.

The fire on Noah's body was extinguished instantly.

And Noah, his body hanging in mid-air, landed in the middle of that sea of black mandarins.

Soon Noah rose up in pain and stood beside Jocelyn.

Everything about it made the two feel even more incredible.

The two instantly looked at each other subconsciously.

Jocelyn, "Honey, what's going on? Why does it seem like I suddenly feel as if I have some mysterious power?"

Noah shook his head, "I don't know. I feel the same as you do now."

Jocelyn, "I think God is helping us."

Without waiting for Noah to speak, Jocelyn's body suddenly went out of control again.

She immediately started, frantically, towards the Lena fox, hit into the air.

Miraculously, each time the slap was struck, a ray of blinding pink light pulsed towards the body of the Lena fox.

The powerful shockwave caused the Lena fox to subconsciously keep dodging.

And immediately afterwards Noah's body, a serious loss of control began to occur.

Noah began to act like Jocelyn, frantically moving towards the Lena fox, over and over again.

And each time Noah struck his palm, there was a blue, blinding ray of light that kept pounding towards the Lena fox.

Immediately afterwards, the two moved faster and faster.

And the light that pounded out from the two became more and more blinding and eye-catching.

Both, aware of their greater differences.

Soon, the Lena fox was struck by the pink light, and fell to the ground.

At this moment Jocelyn only felt as if a part of the hatred that had been building up deep inside her had dissipated.

She felt exhilarated.

Although she didn't know, how it was all going to happen, she was very clear that she was now really happy.

There was a sense, as if it could be avenged.

In this life, her father died at the hands of a Lena fox.

Just now, her husband, too, almost died at the hands of this man.

She was truly filled with hatred for this man.

Jocelyn feels happy to be able to use such mysterious power to bring down the person she hates.

And immediately afterwards, her body began to lose control again.

She began frantically repeating the spaced palms she had just given.

The same is true of Noah.

In the next second, countless pink, blue and blinding lights once again began to pound towards the Lena fox.

That light was increasingly blinding, which made the whole world more clear and eye-catching.

The Lena fox dodged as hard as he could.

Those rays of light rushed towards the sea of fiery black mandarins.

In a moment, the black mandala favours fading.

Countless petals that were impacted into mid-air.

And then the whole world suddenly rained down red petals.

The rain was aesthetically pleasing to the extreme.

It was a stark contrast to the unbelievably bloody images.

The Lena fox wanted to fight back, but at this moment, he felt as if his whole body's psychic powers were bound by something.

No matter what he did, it wouldn't work.

He could only keep dodging and dodging.

Chapter 1209 Strange Scenery

And immediately afterwards, the two bodies began to get even more out of control.

At times they hover and fly in the sky.

From time to time, they stand back to back and launch themselves towards the Lena fox.

Everything was exactly like the metaphysical TV series they had seen before.

The picture is unfamiliar though.

But watch as the two punch away at Lena fox.

She still felt exhilarated.

In her last life, it was true that she had owed Lena fox.

But in this life she has done nothing.

In this life she was innocent.

She didn't owe him anything.

He first brainwashed her stepmother and her sister, subjecting her to all kinds of mental torture and even, on several occasions, to near death.

He later had Connie murder her real father.

It even nearly got a couple of her children killed.

She really couldn't stand this man.

There was no way she could take all the harm this man had done to her for granted because of what she owed him in a previous life.

Besides, what she owed him in her last life, she had almost repaid in this one.

She has endured enough, already.

Having completely recovered her memory, her heart was filled with nothing but hatred for Lena fox.

For a long time, Lena fox seemed like a great nightmare that haunted her and Noah.

Again, it seems to be a huge time bomb.

Now, watch as this time bomb is soon to be literally solved.

Jocelyn really had a feeling of great revenge.

On the ground, it was as if Lena fox had suddenly been bound by their hands and feet.

He could only turn into a human target and lay on the ground, at the mercy of the two of them.

Soon the Lena fox began to bleed from all seven organs.

The body began to become transparent.

Lena fox keep coughing lightly, looking at the mid-air Jocelyn, coldly snorting, "You win, Jocelyn."

In the next instant, the Lena fox was like a glass bottle shattered by a bullet, and the whole thing fell apart in pieces.

Finally, it turned into black points of light and scattered in all directions.

And this scene shocked Jocelyn and Noah.

They could never have imagined that it would all turn out like this in the end.

Obviously they should both be the dead ones.

But now, everything is reversed.

Reversed by the sudden, out-of-this-world energy.

Where the energy really comes from?

They really couldn't have imagined it any other way.

Although deep down there are still many questions.

But in the face of this great battle, the two were inexpressibly happy.

The big stone that has been weighing on their hearts for so long has completely disappeared.

From now on, there will be no more Lena Fox in the world.

They both no longer have to live in fear.

The two of them instantly looked at each other when they thought about it.

The moment their eyes met, both had a slight flush in their eyes.

Jocelyn burst into tears, "Honey, the Lena fox has finally been solved, from today onwards, we can live well."

Noah nodded, "Yes."

Jocelyn, " We avenged for dad."

Noah, "Yes."

At these words, Jocelyn then closed her eyes and silently recited in her heart, "Dad, Noah and I have avenged it for you. From today onwards, Noah and I can live in peace. You can now rest in peace."

At this moment, she was in a state of excitement.
It turned out, she thought that Lena fox would make many waves in her life.
In the end, she and Noah will have their families destroyed because of Lena fox.
What she didn't expect was for everything to be turned around by Sophie, and, suddenly, by superpowers.
Just at this moment a flash of gold suddenly flashed before both their eyes.
Immediately afterwards, the entire world of black mandalas, suddenly, all scattered.
Countless fiery red petals filled the sky, flying and hovering.
That image was aesthetically beautiful to the extreme.
Between the fluttering petals of that flower, there were countless golden rays of light that were constantly flashing.
The whole world was aesthetically beautiful and brighter.
The spectacle once again shocked them.
Soon, the black mandala petals, in the middle of the sky, formed a long staircase in the sky.
The staircase, which seemed to connect to the uppermost part of the sky, disappeared into the clouds.
In the next second, the two of them were once again pushed by a nameless force to the bottom step of the staircase.
The bodies of the two landed smoothly on top of the stairway to heaven.
Although there are flower petals all underfoot.
Yet, it gives them a feeling of having their feet on the ground.
Those petals forged into the ladder look very fragile, but in fact they seem indestructible.
After looking at each other, the two subconsciously took each other's hands.
And immediately afterwards, the two of them were once again propelled by a nameless force all the way to the top of the heavenly staircase.

Chapter 1210 The Palace

After about another hour, she and Noah finally reached the very end of the staircase.
Here, connected, is a snowy white, palace-like place.
Walking up the steps, the first thing the two of them saw was an unmistakable and imposing city gate.
It says, South Heavenly Gate.
And around the gates of the city, there was a haze of smoke.
The whole world, as if it were a fairyland.
Between that dense smoke, they could clearly see that there were many soldiers dressed in silver armour, patrolling everywhere.
Everything was exactly as they had seen in the TV series about the divine palace.
Looking further down from their angle, there was nothing to see.
Beneath their feet was a white fog.
And there were two guards at the entrance to the city.
Seeing the two of them, the two guards immediately walked up to them before coldly questioning, "Who are you?"
They spoke in unison, but their voices were damn good.
Jocelyn said, "Where is this place?"
One of the guards said coldly, "This is naturally the God's Palace."
At this moment, once again, Jocelyn could not believe her ears.

This is actually a real divine palace.

It turns out that the shrine inside the real world is actually similar to the one in the TV series.

This moment, she really admired the imagination of the writers.

"What exactly are you here for?" Another guard coldly questioned.

Jocelyn shook her head, "I don't know, we were propelled here by a nameless force."

On hearing this, the two guards immediately glanced at each other in confusion.

It was at this moment that an incomparably indistinct man's voice suddenly floated up from the sky -

"Bring them to me."

The voice was ethereal and hollow.

It soon began, frantically, to reverberate throughout the world.

Jocelyn then subconsciously looked around for a moment.

But there is nothing to see.

She didn't even know, at all, what the hell the sound was coming from.

Immediately she looked at the guard and asked, "Who is this?"

Both guards didn't say anything just knelt down respectfully before saying, "As ordered."

Only then did the two guards stand up, looking at Jocelyn and Noah at the same time.

One of the guards asked again, "How do you know God?"

Jocelyn never expected that he would ask such a question.

So, that voice just now was from God?

Was that the same power that had propelled them here from God?

Also, is the one who gave them the magic to fight the Lena Fox?

Why on earth would God help them?

In an instant, countless questions pervaded the deepest part of Jocelyn's heart.

And at that moment, Noah's thoughts were exactly the same as Jocelyn's.

The two people immediately glanced at each other in silence.

Jocelyn, "Why should God help us?"

Noah, "I don't know, it will be clear when we go to him."

Jocelyn nodded.

The two guards then didn't say much.

Just a quick lead for the two of them, towards the inside of the Heavenly Gate.

Inside, the world is still smoky.

All around, there are snow-white pavilions.

On both sides of the road, flowers of all colours are in bloom.

All those flowers, unlike those on earth, are different.

All of them look like nothing they have ever seen before.

Each flower had a shimmering, dazzling light on it.

The whole world was too good for Jocelyn to look away.

"It's so pretty here. These flowers are so different from the ones on earth."

Jocelyn couldn't help but sigh.

Noah said, "Yeah."

The guard laughed disdainfully at that, "That's natural, this is a divine palace, this is not a place to be compared to on earth"

Neither Jocelyn nor Noah said anything.

Just silently follow the guards as they continue on their way.

And at that moment there was an additional layer of doubt within them both.
That is what was God doing in bringing them to the shrine at this moment?
How on earth could they, two ordinary people, have been so well looked after by God?
And just as curious as they were, were the two guards.
Both of them, with their magic, sensed that they were two ordinary people.
Before the two of them, there had never been an ordinary person who could just go to the divine palace.
Guided by the guards, the two of them soon reached a spot, in front of a tall, snow-white palace.
They knew that this was where God was.
Outside the Palace of God was more aesthetically pleasing than any place they had seen along the way.