Chapter 121 I Think You Like Her

Ryan smiled, took out his mobile phone slowly, and started to check today's trending topics.

Those messy things on Weibo finally disappeared, as did Gloria's bad topic.

At the moment, the topic was all about Chanel's big show. Most of the trending topics were about that those stars watched the show.

The topic that Ryan watched the show occupied the first place in the trending topics.

He clicked it. The first picture that caught his eye was nine photos from X Entertainment's official Weibo about him watching the show.

Then, he looked at them one by one.

In every photo, Jocelyn was taken in. But she wasn't overshadowed by him.

Every time his fingers crossed a photo, his eyes would unconsciously stay on her face for a long time.

Because the photographer didn't get his response, he asked again, "Ryan, tell me, is it true?"

"Gossipy." Ryan responded in a low voice. His voice was as clean, warm and pure as ever.

"I think you like her." The photographer said again, "Such a good-looking beauty! I also like her."

"I have to sleep for a while. Don't make any noise." Ryan glanced at him, then stretched out his hand and turned off the light above his head.

In an instant, the whole world became dark.

He lowered his head and looked at Weibo seriously.

The faint blue light reflected on his face, making face look extra gentle and warm. His eyes were clear as the stars.

The car was still running steadily. The group of crazy fans were getting farther and farther away from the car.

Chapter 122 Maliciousness From Strangers

After reading these comments too much, Jocelyn felt a bit of a headache.
Sometimes, malice from strangers was always so sudden.
Many people always liked to go with the stream. Even if they didn't know the truth, they would follow the trend.
In the entertainment industry, Jocelyn had seen a lot of celebrities be guided by all kinds of vicious remarks that were mindless. These things were nothing to her anymore.

Apart from feeling speechless, she just felt ridiculous.

She only had more than one million followers. Every time she posted something before, her comments never exceeded 10,000.

This time, the comments below the top three posts on her homepage and all exceeded 100,000.

Looking at the popularity, she felt that she was probably already on the trending topic.

She helplessly held her forehead and opened the trending topic list on Weibo.

Sure enough, "Jocelyn's apology" was on the trending topic list, ranking 17th.

Jocelyn directly clicked in. All kinds of dirty words from Ryan's fans and strangers came towards her again.

Among all kinds of dirty words, one was the most eye-catching, "Jocelyn is so ugly. How can she be so embarrassed to cling to Ryan? Shame? Jocelyn, bitch!"

Jocelyn sneered, returned to her homepage, and wrote a sentence, "I didn't seduce anyone. It's just a rumor!"

As soon as it was posted, it attracted countless people.

"Did you say that you didn't seduce Ryan then you didn't? Vixen, why am I so reluctant to believe you?"

"Do you think you are beautiful, Miss? Look in the mirror, there are countless more beautiful women than you in the entertainment industry!"

"I warn you to apologize to Ryan right away, otherwise I'll teach you a lesson."

"Don't touch my idol, okay? You really don't deserve it, old woman."

Ryan reposted a previous comment below her Weibo, "Did you say that you didn't seduce Ryan then you didn't? Vixen, why am I so reluctant to believe you?" Then he added a sentence, "No! It's just because of the angle. Just stop!"

Ryan's reaction made Jocelyn feel a little surprised. She didn't expect him to come right after she posted on Weibo.

She clicked on the comments below his Weibo and found that he unexpectedly replied to the fans.

"Ryan, if you are threatened by Jocelyn, just blink."

Ryan, "Don't make those conspiracies."

His reply instantly caused an uproar. Everything changed in an instant. All the replies below were, "Jocelyn, I'm sorry, please forgive me."

Jocelyn smiled and directly dialed Ryan's phone number. He answered quickly.

She bluntly said, "Thanks."

On the other side of the phone, Ryan sat on the couch by the floor-to-ceiling window, holding his mobile phone in one hand and tapping the expensive crystal coffee table in front of him with the other, "For what?"

The white silk home clothes were loose in him, which made him look casual and fresh. The background was white and gray.

Under the light, the tenderness in his eyes was unobstructed.

Jocelyn's smile gradually deepened. She walked to the floor-to-ceiling window and looked at the beautiful snow scene in the courtyard. She supported the spotless glass with one hand, "Actually, it will be okay if you don't reply. It will soon stop."

"No, I don't want others to scold you, and besides, it's all because of me. How could I just sit idly?" Ryan said.

Jocelyn felt warm, "Anyway, thank you."

"It's really nothing. Are you home now?" The voice over there was as clean and clear as ever.

"Well, I'm going to eat some noodles and go to bed."

"Um."

The others nodded.

"Bella, what if they find out it's you?"

"Yeah, I'm so worried."

Hearing this, Bella immediately snorted coldly, "Don't worry. They won't. My screen name on Weibo is not my real name, and I have asked someone to delete the surveillance video at the scene."

"Besides, even if they find it out, so what? What do you think Jocelyn can do to me? With such a trifle, can my parents still not settle it? Are you underestimating our family?" Bella was full of confidence.

She firmly believed that no matter what, she would never be in trouble. With her parents covering her up, there was nothing wrong. Besides, it was just such a trivial matter!

"Stop nagging those useless things, hurry up and continue. Tomorrow I have to go to jail to see Gloria and tell her such good news." Bella smiled dazzlingly.

"Gloria wasn't pregnant and cheated your family. Your brother is also planning to divorce. Are you still keeping in touch with her?" someone asked.

"Gloria and I are good best friends, okay? How could I leave her because of this? Besides, I can understand Gloria. She was excusable for doing that. In fact, I was a little angry at first, but I understood her later." Bella said loudly.

"Bella, you're really kind..."

"Bella is really the kind little princesses."

When Bella heard it, she immediately laughed proudly and said loudly, "Of course, I am a very kind person. Guys, let's continue. I am happy. It's my treat tonight."

"Bella, awesome!!!!"

"I love you, Bella!!!!"

Bella didn't respond to them. She danced and drank on her own, looking like superior.

As long as she thought of the cyber violence against Jocelyn on the Internet, she felt happy and energetic. She wondered if the cyber violence could be a little harsher when she woke up tomorrow morning.

The others quickly approached Bella, stretched their necks, and looked at her phone screen with anticipation.

Bella directly opened Weibo and counted silently with confidence, "Three... two... one..."

The others held their breaths.

Soon, Bella clicked into the most popular topic, Ryan helped Jocelyn refute rumors.

She couldn't wait to see a cyber violence.

However...

When she saw the trend under the topic, she was completely dumbfounded.

Not only was there no one scolding, but there were fans of Ryan constantly saying sorry to Jocelyn.

At this moment, Bella felt as if she was being slapped by reality several times in a row.

Her face hurt terribly.

The three people who were planning to watch a good show with Bella also let out a long sigh of disappointment at the same time.

"What's going on? Bella, you are full of confidence, but the result is not like that at all."

"What you did didn't bring too much loss to her."

Chapter 126 What Do You Want To Do?

About ten minutes later, the Weibo was all about the topic that Ryan was forced to refute rumors.
Countless fans were once again incited.

Half an hour later, the topic "Ryan was forced to refute rumors" was the number one trending.

Some of his fans began to mislead others, saying it was true that Jocelyn seduced Ryan. The reason why Ryan stood up to say such words was because Jocelyn forced him.

They even said that Jocelyn and her husband hadn't intervened each other for a long time. Jocelyn was a feisty bitch. She especially liked to seduce some good-looking fresh meat.

Immediately afterward, the group owner of Ryan's fans group hired a large number of paid Internet trolls and continued to frantically mislead others, insulting and cursing Jocelyn.

Others who didn't know the truth, began to join the battle frantically. For a while, it was in uproar on Weibo.

Jocelyn's Weibo was bombarded frantically. Below her first three posts, there were all kinds of vicious scolding.

It was in uproar on Weibo. Jocelyn, who woke up after a deep sleep, stretched herself lazily, flipped her long black hair, and sat up slowly.

The moment she sat up, the hair draped over her shoulders naturally slipped behind her back. It was slightly messy but with a different laziness and tenderness.

Without the makeup, her skin was still delicate, and her facial features were perfect without any flaws.

The splendid warm sunshine came in from the floor-to-ceiling windows next to her through the snow-white tulle curtains. Her skin looked so good.

Stretching again, she habitually picked up her mobile phone, logged into Weibo, and watched today's trending topics.

Chapter 127 See! Jocelyn Is Going to Beat Someone

After breakfast.

Jocelyn drove her red Maserati to head office of Murphy Properties Group.

From a distance, she saw a lot of men and women gathering at the entrance of the company.

They stood there in groups, holding banners "Boycott Jocelyn" in their hands, and kept shouting,
"Jocelyn, come out immediately and give us an explanation."

This scene was completely unexpected to her.

She was not surprised that they made trouble on the Internet, but it was unbelievable that they would dare to make trouble in real world.

Most of those people were driven by Bella's money.

Relying on those fans alone, they didn't have the ability to come here to make a fuss.

Jocelyn didn't expect it to affect the real world at all.

Watching those swear words on the Internet was completely different from seeing and experiencing it with her own eyes in reality.

Seeing the remarks on the Internet, Jocelyn wouldn't think too much. Even if she was a little unhappy, it would soon pass.

But now it was not.

It was the slap in her face directly.

Those words came into Jocelyn's ears.

Looking at their face, she instantly felt a sense of speechless.

This feeling made her feel a little breathless.

She knew that even she continued to explain it to these people and they wouldn't listen, because they were not a group of normal people at all.

So she pulled Paige away and stood in front of the middle-aged woman, "There is surveillance video at the door of my company. The surveillance video will explain what's going on."

"My car is not cheap. If the hood is broken, it will cost hundreds of thousands of dollars. Are you going

The middle-aged woman was stunned when she heard it. Then she swallowed, "Hundreds of thousands?
Do you want to steal money? Pay you? Impossible."

"Okay, then you have to go to jail. I'll hand over everything to the law. In addition to go to the jail, you will also be included in the list of being deadbeats. At that time, you can't do many things in this country. Of course, it's all up to you." Jocelyn said again.

Her voice was neither loud nor low, and there weren't other expressions on her face, but her aura was so powerful that no one could ignore it.

The filming of the video was still going on. While filming, they continued to shout.

"Everyone, come and see, Jocelyn has started to use the law to scare others. She actually wants to sue the weak."

"Such a rich man actually sues a weak person. So mean. She has so much money. Even if she pays hundreds of thousands to repair the car, so what? But what does this lady have? Dozens of dollars? Even if she sells her house, she can't afford it."

"There are a lot of people behind Jocelyn to help her, but what about this lady? She is so ordinary. If something happens, no one will help her. How can Jocelyn be so cruel? As a rich person, even if she has to bear a little bit for the poor, so what?"

They criticized Jocelyn one after another. Everyone seemed to be on the moral ground.

They spread those fallacies as truth.

She glanced at them coldly, "She's poor so she doesn't have to take responsibility? She's weak so she doesn't have to take all the blame,

"Some of them don't like me for a long time. They saw the chance and joined in." After speaking, Jocelyn smiled helplessly.

Paige snorted coldly, "That's true. In fact, a person hates another person without any reason. Your life is brilliant. Their lives are dark and unclear, so your happiness has become a thorn in their eyes."

"People are born with jealous. Everyone says that demons and ghosts are scary, but I think the scariest thing is people's minds." Paige said.

"Yes, people are the most complicated." After saying that, Jocelyn turned to look at Paige and said, "Have you eaten breakfast?"

Paige shook her head, "No. Let's have breakfast together and relax by the way?"

Jocelyn nodded and turned the car around.

Because of what happened just now, she was not in a particularly good mood until now.

She always felt that she was suppressing some emotions that she had to vent.

Even if she went to the office immediately, she couldn't calm down or work immediately, so she decided to find a place to sit first.

"Did you come here specifically to find me this morning, or did you just pass by and saw it?" Jocelyn asked.

"I was going to come to you and show you some documents. Oh, no! The documents you need to read is in my car." Paige tapped her head as she said, "I completely forgot the stuff."

Jocelyn shrugged indifferently, "Alright. When we finish shopping in a while, go back and give it to me."

While Bella was speaking, the fingerprints on her right face became clearer and more eye-catching. Half of her face was swollen.

However, Jocelyn didn't want to bother to yell at her any more. She held Paige's hand, and walked into the restaurant.

Bella planned to chase inside.

Paige saw this scene through the reflection of the glass. She immediately turned her head to look at Bella coldly and raised her fist.

Bella immediately stopped and didn't follow. She stomped her feet several times, and shouted loudly, "Jocelyn, you are screwed up! Just wait and see."

Jocelyn still didn't answer.

At this moment, Bella's cell phone rang.

Seeing a series of familiar phone numbers, she quickly got in the car and answered it mysteriously, "Hello."

"I've done everything you ordered." A cold man's voice came from the other end of the phone.

"Got it. I will transfer you the money." Then Bella hung up.

After Jocelyn and Paige walked into the restaurant, they found a seat by the window and sat down together.

There was a piano in the restaurant hall, and a boy in a handsome white suit was playing it.

The cheerful and fresh tune made people feel happy.

As soon as Jocelyn sat down, her eyes fell on the boy. He was sitting in the brightest part of the restaurant and dressed in white.
