Chapter 151 Fear Comes

"I gave it to a friend of mine." Noah stared at Jocelyn, and smiled meaningfully.

"...Oh, okay." Jocelyn didn't ask any further. She continued to eat while watching him play games.

He played this game for a total of fourteen minutes.

When she finished eating, the game just ended.

This match was won so quickly just because of himself.

Even though she saw a lot of flaws, it was not bad.

"Not bad..." Jocelyn praised him.

"Do you still want to play?" Noah asked.

"No. I'm going to go to work." Jocelyn said.

"Okay, I'm going to do my things too." Noah said again

"Remember to have lunch." Jocelyn said.

"Okay." He replied in a low voice, and then left without looking back.

Jocelyn called to reserve a table for the evening, and then sent him the address.

Then she changed her clothes and went out.

At the same time, in Clemency Hospital.

After Joseph got the wound bandaged, he quickly got into his car parked in the hospital's underground parking lot.

The moment he was about to close the car door, a large hand quickly came in and decisively blocked the door he was about to close.

Then, before he could react, the four men in black quickly lifted him out of the car and covered his mouth and nose with a handkerchief.

At this moment, Joseph instantly felt scared. He struggled desperately.

Jocelyn looked down at the time.

He was only a minute late.

"Just one minute... It doesn't matter." Jocelyn said.

Although they all knew for a long time that his attitude towards Jocelyn was different, at this moment, Robert, Abel, and Harry couldn't help but looked at each other.

"Noah, do you only see Jocelyn?" Robert frowned slightly and complained.

"Why are you guys here too?" Noah asked.

"It's time for dinner, so we come and eat." Abel said.

"Zoe, this is Mr. Mason." Robert raised his chin towards Noah while he spoke, looking casual.

"Hello, Mr. Mason." Zoe said gently.

"Hello." Noah glanced at her lightly.

"Let's go and have dinner together." Robert hugged Zoe and walked inside first.

"You guys eat your own." Noah said.

"Jocelyn has agreed to eat with us. Don't you listen to her?" Robert turned around and still smiled, then glanced at Jocelyn.

"You agreed them?" Noah turned his head slowly, looked at Jocelyn and asked.

Jocelyn nodded.

"Let's go then." After he finished speaking, he walked straight into the restaurant.

Jocelyn followed.

Robert and the others also started to walk inside.

"Do you want to continue? If it continues, I'm afraid that he will die."

"I've said two days and two nights. That's all!" Noah's tone was still undeniable.

After saying it, he hung up the phone and turned back to the room.

At this moment, Abel was seriously watching the video of his own team's game. Robert had been telling Jocelyn jokes with Zoe in his arms.

Harry was sitting quietly beside them, eating, and smiling.

Noah walked over to Jocelyn and sat down.

The sound of the video was a little loud when Abel watched the game. Jocelyn couldn't help but glanced at him after listening for a while, "Are you watching the game of Team IM?"

Hearing this, Abel immediately raised his head, "Yeah, do you know Team IM?"

Jocelyn smiled, "Yes, the only team I like is Team IM. I like their overall style. They are passionate and enthusiastic. They are either fighting or on the way to fight."

Abel was in a good mood when his team was praised, "That's right. I actually think that Team IM still lacks a top ADC. Although the ADC is good, it's not top-notch."

"Well, that's right."

"The boss of Team IM wants Seven who is ranked one in Wecreau server before, but the other party ignored him directly. We didn't know if that person was insane." Abel said.

Being scolded for being insane and she still knew the person, at this moment, Jocelyn felt extremely embarrassed, but she didn't get angry. She just smiled, "Maybe the other party don't want to be a professional player."

Noah picked up a cigarette and threw it to Abel, with a bit of displeasure in his eyes, "Why do you have so much nonsense?"

Abel didn't know exactly why Noah was angry. He looked confused, "What are you doing? What are you angry about?"

Jocelyn gently pressed the thigh of the man beside her, motioning him not to speak.

Chapter 154 Ask For Nothing

For a person like Zoe, in addition to learning to keep a low profile, not to cause trouble, and not to be jealous, there was a more important point, which was that she couldn't ask more for her sugar daddy, such as love.

She could ask him for something and be angry when she was having sex with him. But when she got out of that bed, she had to be obedient and took her feelings back.

Although Robert took her away as soon as she worked there the first day, she still understood some rules. When she came there, the manager taught her a lot of things.

She didn't know whether others remembered it or not.

But she remembered it.

Seeing that she was so obedient, Robert touched her head with satisfaction, "Good, go ahead."

Zoe silently got out of the car.

Robert leaned over the steering wheel, lowered his head and looked at her, "Zoe."

She turned back and leaned over to look at him.

He quickly threw a credit card to her, "Give you it. Buy whatever you want."

She glanced down.

It was a black card without the limit. It was not something people could get it with money.

She squeezed the card tightly and smiled, "Thank you."

Then she closed the door and went to the road to take a taxi.

On a cold winter night, the wind was piercing. Although she was wearing a down jacket, she was still unable to withstand the cold attack and shivered on the side of the road.

Robert drove his luxury sports car away, ignoring her at all.

She didn't care about that either, but continued to wait for the taxi.

When Harry came out, he happened to see Zoe standing on the side of the road and shivering.

He closed his suit, got on his black Lamborghini, stopped in front of her, rolled down the window, and honked at her.

Seeing that it was Harry, Zoe immediately leaned forward, and looked at him in the car.

Joseph stayed in the room until five o'clock in the afternoon before he regained some strength.

Just as he was about to get out of bed, the phone vibrated.

Seeing that it was William's call, he immediately picked up the phone with difficulty and clicked to answer.

"Joseph, where did you go? Why haven't you been home for so long? Dad and Mom are talking about you." William on the phone was as gentle as ever.

Joseph tried his best to remain calm and said, "I went out with my friends to hang out. I'll go back in two days."

"Christmas is coming soon. There are a lot of things at home to arrange. Come back quickly." William urged on the phone.

"Okay."

"I'll wait for you. Joseph, I found out who made you become this."

Joseph trembled immediately, and asked hurriedly, "Who?"

"Not one person, but several, all of our family's deadly enemies in the food industry." William answered.

Joseph's eyes filled with disbelief, "Is there no Jocelyn?"

"No... I have checked Jocelyn carefully many times, and there is no evidence of her participation at all." William said again.

Joseph let out a long breath and hung up the phone.

The guilt came to him all of a sudden.

It turned out that it wasn't Jocelyn. It was he who thought too much.

On Christmas day, Jocelyn received a call from Allen early in the morning, asking her to go home for dinner.

Chapter 156 Wrap Up all the New Models

"Okay, I'll go and wrap them up for you." The clerk nodded respectfully, and then quickly took off the clothes from the models and brought them to the counter to help with the settlement.

Their actions startled the other busy clerks in the shop, and a few of them could see Jocelyn at a glance.

They quickly gathered around the clerk who had given the order to Jocelyn.

The clerk who gave the bill to Jocelyn was finishing her clothes while looking at the black card next to her and said, "I really can't see that she is actually so rich."

"She's Jocelyn, our shop's VVIP, the daughter of Murphy Group. I was busy just now and I actually didn't notice her."

"I was busy too, mainly because her outfit was too low-key, I really couldn't associate the person wearing this outfit with Jocelyn. I just glanced at the outfit and wasn't interested in looking at her face closely at all."

The clerk who gave the bill to Jocelyn was completely dumbfounded, "Is it actually Jocelyn? I don't know her, I only know the one at the door, it's a new actress called Penelope James."

"You are new, you certainly don't know her, be careful next time." A clerk said.

The other nodded at once, "It seems that we really can't underestimate every customer."

Penelope at the door heard the whispers of the clerks and she was dumbfounded.

So, the one she had just looked down on was actually the daughter of the Murphy family?

How dare she look down on a rich girl like Jocelyn? She was nobler than her.

When she thought that she had just laughed at her for not being able to afford clothes worthy mere 800,000, she felt like a stupid pig.

She immediately bypassed Jocelyn and went into the shop, walking to a corner out of Jocelyn's reach to see other clothes.

When Allie came over from the side with a group of bodyguards, she just happened to see Jocelyn at the door.

At this instant, Allie's face immediately burst into joy.

Allie immediately stopped in her tracks and carefully straightened the light purple silk dress she was wearing, before turning to look at the bodyguards and asking, "Is my make-up okay?"

Allie, however, immediately frowned in displeasure, "If I give something out, there's no sense in not receiving it back."

"Miss Hart, I really can't accept it." Jocelyn felt helpless.

"Think of it as a New Year's gift from me," Allie added.

This New Year's gift was too big.

The clerks were so excited at the moment.

They were all happily busy delivering the clothes to the counter and then settling the bill one by one.

The people who had just entered the shop all froze when they saw such a scene.

Jocelyn once again tried to break away from Allie, intending to stop those people, but Allie was pulling her.

She had no choice but to give up.

It looked like Allie was determined to buy something for her, so if she continued to disobey them, it would seem that she was particularly ungrateful.

She could only accept it for the time being and then send her a gift of the same value next time, so that the two of them could be good friends once and for all.

Although she hadn't had much contact, Allie gave her a good impression and she was willing to get close to this person.

Penelope stood there with a face of envy and jealousy. Most of the clothes she wanted were taken away by the guide, and she was not interested in looking at them anymore, so she just left the shop.

"Jocelyn, let them pack up first, and we'll both go shopping elsewhere, you come with me." Allie added.

Jocelyn glanced awkwardly at the busy clerks before nodding.

Allie said with a smile, "Then I'll ask the clerks to record your home address."

"No need, they have my home address." Jocelyn said.

Allie smiled, then glanced at the bodyguards around her, "You two stay here and watch the packing, the others come with me."

"Terminate contract with Penelope." Jocelyn got straight to the point.

"Why?" Paige's tone carried a bit of surprise, "She has a lot of potential, her acting skills are also very good, it would be a pity to let her go by terminating her contract directly. I was always thinking that this person is expected to become famous."

"How is it possible for someone that arrogant and domineering?" Jocelyn said.

"What's wrong, did she offend you?" Paige asked.

"She was arrogant to me in the shopping mall, what's the point even if she's popular?"

Jocelyn added, "She's not even popular yet and she's so arrogant, what about after she's popular? If someone catches her wrongdoing, how can we get back the money we've spent on her?"

Originally, she could have chosen to ban Penelope in the circle.

However, she didn't want to be so desperate, because she always knew that being in the entertainment industry, everyone was not easy.

It was just that X Entertainment could not tolerate people with this kind of personality, and she did not want to waste her resources on such people.

Being in the entertainment industry, she had already seen too many examples of actresses with the same personality as Penelope, who had become popular and then fallen from their heights, never to be able to turn around again.

"She was quite nice when I first poached her to our company, it's just that after her debut, she got some fans, so she became arrogant. I had her agent talk with her on that a long time ago, I thought she would change." Paige said.

"She won't change, terminate the contract." Jocelyn lightly pinched her brow before she got into her red Maserati, clutching the steering wheel with one hand.

"Okay."

"By the way, Miss Murphy, I have gossip here, do you want to know it?" Over there, Paige's tone suddenly became mysterious.

Jocelyn suddenly felt curious, "What is it?"

"Joseph went to see a psychiatrist yesterday, do you know why?"

"Why?"

"Because he's particularly repulsed by the female body now, whenever a female comes near him, he wants to vomit, not even his mother and sister." Paige said gloatingly.

Chapter 159 What Do You Want?

Just at this time, the door was opened.
Jocelyn subconsciously clenched her fists.
She followed the sound and launched herself at the door.
However, before her fist could be swung out, it was firmly caught by a large warm hand.
Then she was pinned against the wall and the smell of a nice minty shower gel hit her nose.
The darkness was invisible, and the man's body was pressed against hers, intimately.
The faint scent of mint and tobacco hit her nose, easing her heart.
"What do you want? A low voice, like a cello, filled her ears.
The burning breath, hovering above her head, landed on her scalp like a fine current spreading throughout her body, her heart beating at a frantic pace.

She subconsciously took a deep breath, one hand resisting against his chest, "I thought it was the bad guys."

The damp, warm touch made her palm burn.

He appeared to be shirtless and had just showered, and it was his pecs she was touching.

Her whole body instantly tensed and she quickly withdrew her hand.

The man laughed lightly, "Not bad, you have a good sense of danger."

"When did you come back? How come there's no sound at all?"

"I got back early, took a shower, probably you didn't hear me because you were busy." He added, "The power went out and I was worried that you were scared, so I planned to come to you first."

At that, Jocelyn's heart immediately warmed up.

Noah was still in his original position, and all of his breath fell on her scalp impartially.

Noah really couldn't stand the noise anymore, so he stood up, "I'm going out for a cigarette, you guys talk first."

With these words, he nodded politely towards the crowd and stepped out of the door, leaning against the street lamp at the bottom of the steps, lighting a cigarette and smoking it.

The warm light shone on his head, giving him a dazzling glow.

Behind him the living room was lit up and the laughter of the crowd was still going strong.

The wind had stopped and the sky was full of stars this evening.

"Noah, can I have a cigarette?"

A clear voice reached his eyes.

It was second daughter of Gloria's uncle, he couldn't remember her name.

The little girl was smiling, and her eyes seemed to be glowing with light.

Noah didn't answer, he just silently took out a cigarette from the cigarette case and tossed it to her, while taking a deep drag on the smoke and slowly exhaling while looking at the bright stars.

He did not look at her again, not even glancing at her.

His body exuded a coolness that was unapproachable.

The colder and more noble he was, the more attractive he was to women.

The more unavailable it is, the more precious it is.

Noah had a wife, but she didn't mind, she wanted to get such a handsome man in her bed.

"Noah, can I use the lighter?" She said.

He frowned impatiently, didn't even look at her, and threw the black lighter straight over.

She caught it instantly and sharply.

"The lighter still has your temperature on it ." she added.

Noah didn't pay attention.
