Chapter 161 Ryan's Love Song

Abigail was rendered speechless by her dislike, and could only keep playing sloppy, "It was really careless."

Only, even if she explained, everyone didn't believe it.

"How can you be careless to let your feet touch your cousin's husband?" Gloria's aunt stood up and looked at Abigail accusingly.

Noah didn't bother with them anymore, he picked up a piece of roast pork and brought it to Jocelyn's bowl.

Allen didn't bother to say anything, he just looked at Abigail coldly, "Since you come to my house for dinner, you have to abide by my house's rules, behave well."

Abigail felt even more shameless when Allen said this.

She felt like she was being slapped a hundred times by Noah and Allen in front of everyone.

Her face was hot and uncomfortable.

"I know." Abigail nodded her head.

Gloria's aunt gave her a fierce blank look before gesturing with her eyes for her to eat.

She instantly picked up her chopsticks and began to eat.

Gloria's aunt started to take the wine and got up to liven up the atmosphere.

Soon, the crowd forgot all about it.

After Noah had done this, the few young women who were originally interested in him all became more interested in him.

This was because not only was his appearance not comparable to that of ordinary men, but his personality was as well.

The young women became envious of Jocelyn.

After the meal, Sara's relatives sat in front of the TV to watch the Spring Festival Gala.

Jocelyn and Noah went back to the villa next door together.

When she entered and changed into her slippers, Jocelyn couldn't help but raise her eyes to take a closer look at the man beside her.

Noah raised his sword brows slightly, "What are you looking at? Don't you recognize me?"

"He is just okay." Noah said.

"No, I've heard many people cover this song and no one has covered it better than Ryan, such a singing voice with such a face is simply pleasing to the eye." Jocelyn didn't mince words in her appreciation of Ryan.

She thought that tonight, Ryan was definitely the number one hot search booking.

Such a combustible stage was popular without any effort.

The next period of time on all major platforms would definitely be swept up by his songs as well.

Noah's brows lightly raised, and his face gradually sank as he looked at the TV camera, "That's it."

It was at this time that Ryan was invited to the presenter's side to be interviewed.

Jocelyn looked at the screen with interest, intending to continue watching the interview.

Noah, however, silently turned off the TV.

The moment the TV screen went black, Jocelyn frowned in dissatisfaction, "Noah, what are you doing? I haven't finished watching it yet."

"It's time to go to bed, don't you have to go to father's house for breakfast tomorrow?" Noah said.

"I want to finish watching this interview before I go to bed."

He was overbearingly taking the remote control and heading forward, "Go to bed."

Jocelyn took a long sigh, and then silently took the phone and followed him upstairs.

Usually, she didn't see him like this.

Today, what was wrong with him?

However, it just so happened that she was also a bit sleepy, and it was okay to sleep at this hour.

So, she didn't say anything more.

Chapter 163 Gloria is Being Resuscitated

Sara was leaning against Allen's side, and she could hear the contents of the phone call clearly.

At the sound of the words, her pupils immediately shook dramatically, her tears fell, and she quickly took Allen's phone and put it on speakerphone.

"What did you say? What do you mean by dying? What have you done to my daughter?" Sara became more and more agitated as she spoke, and by the end of her sentence her whole body was trembling, the veins on her neck were rippling and her face was flushed.

She roared out.

Allen's eyes were full of panic as he listened carefully to the words over there.

The Steward family collectively froze, no one thought they would hear such news.

Jocelyn was equally full of shock, disbelief written in her eyes.

"It's like this, she's been emotionally out of sorts since the first few days, and after the psychiatrist's diagnosis, she's suffering from severe depression."

"She had been in psychotherapy for the past two days and had been watched by someone, but just now at breakfast, she suddenly stabbed herself in the carotid artery with a fork."

"She was shouting that she didn't want to live anymore and even resisted our approach, so we had no choice but to swarm her, forcibly restrain her and take her to the hospital."

"Now she is being resuscitated, her condition is very critical, if she doesn't get it right, she may die ..."
The man on the other side of the phone sounded very serious.

At this moment, everyone could not believe their ears.

Sara was completely limp on the sofa, she was panting, clutching the sofa cushion, clutching the phone, and continued to shout, "Why didn't you tell us in advance, why didn't you tell us? Why didn't you watch over her? If she dies, I'll bury all of you with her!"

Allen's energy was gone in an instant, and the expression on his face was dishevelled.

Even though Gloria had done many wrong things, she was his daughter after all.

They were linked by blood, and at this moment, as a father, how could he possibly be indifferent?

There was only one thing on his mind now, and that was that his daughter was going to die, and it didn't matter what she had done before.

After the Steward family politely talked to Allen, they left the ward together with Jocelyn and Noah.

The moment they walked out of the ward, Joseph let out a long breath before quickly pulling out his car keys and said with his head bowed, "I'll go and bring the car over now."

After that, he left without looking back.

He walked in such a hurry that he didn't even raise his head and look at anyone along the way.

William silently leaned against his wheelchair, allowing Phoebe to push himself, his eyes kept fixing on Joseph's back, his black eyes slightly narrowed.

But after a second, he withdrew his eyes and replaced them with a gentle face.

When Jocelyn returned home, Noah was just walking down from upstairs, he was looking down at his phone, focused but lazy.

The white knitted shirt with curry colored casual trousers, it was interpreted by him with a different elegance and reserve.

Raising his eyes to see Jocelyn, he immediately stepped forward, "I was just about to go next door to look for you, why are you back?"

"We'll have to eat lunch at home today." Jocelyn said.

He raised his eyebrows lightly, "What's wrong?"

"Gloria had a severe depression and committed suicide in prison. She was just resuscitated, my dad and Sara are both in the hospital with her." Jocelyn said in a light-hearted manner.

After saying that, she sat down lazily on the sofa.

After a tiring morning, sitting on the soft sofa, she felt so happy that she just wanted to sit there for the rest of her life.

Noah gave her a deep look and sat beside her, "Depression? She had a history of depression before?"

Jocelyn shook her head, "No, I guess it was because Joseph mentioned divorce and she was stimulated. Plus there was no freedom in prison, so she got depression."

"Sure she is not pretending?" Noah looked austere, the bottom of his eyes did not carry a half temperature.

"Depression is diagnosed by experts, she could not hide it from experts, right?" Jocelyn said indifferently.

"Agents can." Noah said.

Chapter 165 She's Only Eight Years Old

The voice came from her senior year tablemate, Megan Anderson.

"Megan?" Jocelyn asked tentatively, her eyes filled with disbelief.

The two of them were at the same table in their senior year, and they were particularly close at that time. After graduating from high school, Megan went abroad to study, and the two of them had less contact.

Then later, after she was betrayed by Joseph, she cut herself off from all contact with her friends and family and went to Y Country alone, and they were completely out of touch.

"It's me. Jocelyn, you still remember me? I'm having a high school reunion, seven days later at the Hilton Hotel, you must come, OK?"

"I've managed to invite everyone from our senior Class A by myself, and it would be imperfect if you didn't come." The voice over there was, as always, gentle and melodious.

"Okay." Jocelyn agreed.

Those classmates from high school at the beginning went their separate ways after graduation.

She also wanted to see them and see how they looked now. Those youthful days when everyone was sprinting together towards the college entrance exams were really wonderful.

"Okay, I will send you the location and the exact time later, you must come."

"Got it."

"I heard you got married, bring your husband out with you that day, let's get to know each other, you can bring family members to this party."

"Okay."

Next, Jocelyn and Megan exchanged pleasantries for a while longer, and then hung up.

"Is the meal ready?" Jocelyn asked.

"Yes."

"Great, I'm starving." Jocelyn cheerfully stood up and casually stretched before going to wash her hands with him and entering the dining room.

How could he lay his hands on such a small girl?

The more she thought about it, the more disgusted she felt in her heart, and the two fists under the table could no longer be held down and began to tremble slightly.

"I won't agree." Paige said coldly, and then turned on the recording.

Lennox's face instantly turned cold, and the corners of his mouth curled up in a disdainful arc, "What? How dare you not agree? Do you believe that I will give your company a hard time?"

He tried his best to lower his voice, but his tone was one of gnashing teeth.

"Mr. Campbell, do you mean that if I don't send Nova to sleep with you, you will have to make a hard time to our company?" Paige snorted coldly.

"Keep your voice down. Yes, you should know how high my status is in the circle." Lennox responded in a low voice.

"I know, but we at X Entertainment are not that easy to mess with either." Paige coldly snorted.

"What do you mean?" Lennox questioned.

Paige didn't say anything and silently backed up her recording file and sent it to a different email address of her own.

She then gently placed her phone on the table, her long slender nails with red manicure lightly tapping the red phone case, "I recorded it."

"What did you say?" Lennox was shocked, "How dare you?"

"There are many things I dare to do, do you want to experience it?" Paige coldly snorted, "Do you want to lose your reputation?"

"What do you mean?"

Paige coldly snorted, picked up the glass of pure water in her hand and poured it over his face without hesitation, "It means you should behave yourself."

The water was very cold and when it was poured over his face, he instantly shivered with cold.

"But if you can't ask for it, then you'll have to go buy a limited edition Hermes for Zoe, how do you think?" Robert added.

"Sure." Abel glanced at Robert disdainfully, striding lazily and walking out.

When Abel went out, Paige had just opened her car door.

She was driving a white Audi R8 today.

A famous car with a beautiful woman, the picture looked great.

"Paige?" Abel stepped forward, his hands naturally tucked in his pockets, looking at her with a smile.

Paige nodded faintly at him.

"We've met before."

"Okay."

"My name is Abel." Abel took the initiative to extend his hand towards her.

"Hello." Paige didn't shake his hand and gave a slight nod at the words.

"Has anyone ever told you that you're cold?" Like a proud peacock, always holding its noble head high.

"What is wrong?"

"I quite like a girl who's cold." Abel added, "Can I have your contact, let's be friends."

Paige was no stranger to this kind of conversation, and she frowned slightly, glancing at him coolly before getting into her car and setting off, not giving Abel any chance to continue speaking.

In her opinion, this man who had taken the initiative to talk to her was full of frivolous energy.

Robert and Zoe were currently staring at his position without blinking their eyes.

Noah propped one hand on the table and one on the back of the chair, circling around her, leaning down slightly to look at her flushed face, "Be good and sit, I'll open the door."

They were so close that it seemed as if she could kiss his lips again if she looked up.

The doorbell rang again.

He gave her a deep look, then stood up straight and turned away.

Watching his increasingly distant back, she instantly felt her breathing flow much more smoothly.

The strong sense of oppression that surrounded her disappeared.

She immediately let out a long breath before trying to take a deeper breath to stop herself from thinking about the images that were making her heart beat faster.

Noah glanced at the doorbell monitor and saw Paige standing outside the door, so he pressed the unlock button.

"Who is it?" Jocelyn asked from the dining room.

"Paige." He said.

Jocelyn instantly stood up holding the corner of the table and walked to the foyer, waiting for Paige.

Although she was sane, her head was dizzy and her feet were weak.

To prevent herself from having another accident, she leaned directly against the wall.

Noah immediately reached out to hold her up.

She tried to resist, but before she could, Paige walked in.

Chapter 169 I Want This Person to be Imprisoned for Life

Not to mention those in the entertainment industry, even for ordinary people, many of them choose to remain silent when they encounter such things.

It was also because of these silences that they fuelled the anger of these perverts.

But she could also understand that they were silent.

Because there were too many people in this world with monstrous ideas, who would scold those prisoners while discriminating against that victim by the way.

"Paige, I'm going to make this person sit out his jail sentence." Jocelyn struggled to take a deep breath, forcefully suppressing her anger and saying one word at a time.

One more day this scum was active outside the cell, one more person would be hurt.

So she had to get him in jail, and never get out.

"But, he has a strong background. His father, uncle are powerful, general people cannot do nothing about him, and those victims will definitely not dare to come out and tell the truth." Paige's eyes were filled with worries.

"I know how you feel, but if you rashly lay hands on this person, I am afraid that not only will we not be able to do anything to him, but we will also harm X Entertainment, and even the Murphy's." Paige added.

"So I won't act rashly and think of a foolproof plan." With that, Jocelyn then quickly tapped on the keyboard, copying the contents of his photo album, all into her own computer.

"What are you going to do?"

"Find a way to make his backstage choose to hold back when we target him." Jocelyn's eyes were full of confidence and determination.

"It is not easy" Paige was skeptical.

"I have my own way." Jocelyn said with confidence.

"So are you going to expose all this? If you expose it, it will be a secondary harm to the victims, many people will not be willing to let this come to light, one is because they don't want to lose dignity, and the other is because they don't dare to move due to Lennox's background." Paige asked.

"I don't intend to expose this, and I'm not going to contact those people to come out and testify, in case someone comes out of it, but falls back into despair because I'm rehashing old stories, then I will be a sinner."

"I'll start elsewhere, provided I get his backing sorted out first." Jocelyn added.

"As long as you know what to do, then I'll support you, but Jocelyn, don't make any rash moves, okay?" Paige gently held Jocelyn's hand and seriously urged.

Lennox continued to bite his toothpick and walked up to her, lightly cupping her chin with one hand,
"It's me who should ask what you want to do. My phone was hacked yesterday, and I have found out that it was you who hacked my phone."

This sentence made Jocelyn full of consternation.

She didn't expect that her hacking into his phone would actually be detected.

Even if it was detected, he actually managed to find out about her.

The level at which she hacked into her phone was top-notch, and ordinary people would not be able to detect it at all.

Even if it was detected, it definitely couldn't find out her real IP, because, her IP was disguised through layers and was hard to crack.

"Then I investigated and found out that you and Paige are good friends. You are trying to screw me with your good friend, aren't you?" Lennox's face grew colder and colder, and his eyes gradually became vicious.

He clutched Jocelyn's chin and gritted his teeth, "If I don't teach you a lesson, how can I stand in the circle? How dare you mess with me? If you're not afraid of death, then enjoy the storm."

"You want to get hold of me and mess with me, don't you? I won't let you get away with it." With those words, Lennox took out a syringe from his pocket and injected the contents directly into her right upper arm.

He was rude and the intense pain made her whole body stiff and her scalp tingling.

The stuff he had only injected halfway.

He then quickly pulled the needle out and stuck it directly into Paige's right upper arm.

The pain caused Paige to wake up instantly, she snapped her eyes open and looked at Lennox, "What are going to do?"

This morning, she had slept well at home, when suddenly two men barged into her room and directly knocked her out.

When she opened her eyes, she came here.

At that time, she suspected that those two men were Lennox's men, and it turned out that they were really Lennox's men.
