Chapter 271 The Plot

Gloria immediately slipped her phone into her pocket, "I'll delete it before I explain everything to you, so you don't have to grab it."

"Why are you doing this?" Phoebe had an angry look on her face.

"Because I'm afraid you won't keep your word, I told you I don't want to fight with Jocelyn now, I'm tired." Gloria added, "I told you because I was afraid you would throw me out of the house, for no other purpose."

With those words, Gloria quietly tapped her hand on the screen of the phone in her pocket.

The recording stopped on the phone.

It was a fallback she kept in case things went south and she had the evidence to defend herself.

Everything was going according to her mother's plan.

"I now demand that you restore that picture immediately, or I won't let you go."

"I expect you to keep your word, and if you have to force me to do so, then I will not hesitate to leave this house."

Phoebe was angry because she didn't expect Gloria to reply to her like that.

She angrily pointed at Gloria, "You know that now my daughter, your good bestie Bella has been harmed by Jocelyn, and you still refuse to give me the evidence you have."

"I really can't." With that, Gloria headed straight outside, "I'm going to go see Bella."

Phoebe's fists clenched as she muttered to herself, "Gloria, you ungrateful woman."

She then clenched her fists and sat down on the sofa.

Now that Gloria wouldn't give her the photos or cooperate with her on anything, none of that mattered.

She can expose that just as well if she wants to.

Just check Gloria's phone records and find her hacker friend!

That man was so fond of money that if she was willing to pay enough, he would be able to honestly send all the evidence to her phone.

Jocelyn had put her precious daughter through so much, and she must teach her a lesson.

She had been called here by Noah, and didn't have that intention they said, so it was uncomfortable hearing these words.

But on the surface she didn't show anything and took out her mobile phone straight away, calling Noah.

At this time, the two guards all rolled their eyes in disdain.

Immediately afterwards, one of the security guards added, "Pretending to call our president again, thinking of sneaking into our group's building when we're lax, are you? I've seen a lot of this, Miss, so don't play any more tricks."

"That's right, not just any woman can meet our president." Another security guard followed suit.

All the people passing by could not help but give her blank stares, as if she was a vixen who had rushed to seduce their president.

Jocelyn ignored them and continued to look for Noah's phone.

Just as she was about to dial out, she saw Noah walking out of the building.

In white shirt and black trousers, walking in a high-class office building, he looked noble.

It is like one of the world's most luxurious items that the average person is not even qualified to look at.

The moment he stepped out, the eyes of the world automatically fixed on him, he was like the most expensive diamond, shimmering brightly enough to overshadow all others.

In an instant, the whole world was reduced to a backdrop for him.

And she could only see him alone in all his glory.

The female employees, who stopped the moment they saw him, nodded politely and greeted him while secretly gawking at him.

Everyone wished to have their eyes on this man.

Someone behind Jocelyn began to whisper, "I think in a moment we can once again forensically prove that our president has driven away a scheming woman."

"Yeah, yeah, yeah. .... hahaha, it's going to be great."

"Our president always kicks out such a woman."

Although their voices were very small, Jocelyn could hear them clearly, and her heart was upset.

However, she didn't bother to talk to them.

Noah's gaze was fixed on her, his eyes full of doting, "I didn't think you'd come come down here to wait for me?"
as if no one was watching, and was stunned to see this

Chapter 273 My Love

"My office." Noah said.

Tom was shocked.

Before this, he had never been in the habit of meeting in his office.

Is this because Jocelyn in today?

He never used to allow extraneous people to be present at meetings.

And here was Jocelyn today, and he asked for a meeting in his office?

So many company secrets were to be covered at the meeting, and he was so unapologetic about it?

Although he was confused, Tom still nodded respectfully, "Yes, Mr. Mason."

"Meeting in one hour."

"Yes."

"Would it be bad for me to be following you guys in your meetings?" Jocelyn asked as she ate her greens.

"What's wrong with that?" Noah asked.

"You must be talking about something that outsiders can't hear, right?" Jocelyn said.

"You're not an outsider." Noah said.

"That's not good, the company will have a problem with that." Jocelyn added.

"Who dares?" Noah responded indifferently, and with that, he picked all the vegetable from the takeaway box and put them into her bowl, "You like it, have some more."

Looking at him in such a considerate manner, Tom felt extremely uncomfortable.

This wasn't the Noah he knew, he had changed!

After saying that, he then looked at Tom and said, "Go ahead."

After that, Tom went straight away.

It took a long time before Noah let her go.

She pushed him away and sat up from her desk with difficulty, before quickly dressing.

When Jocelyn finished tidying herself up, Noah just happened to have finished tidying himself up.

He sat at his desk fully clothed, immaculately clean and looking like a different person from a moment ago.

Patting his lap lightly, Noah said with a smile, "Sit."

Jocelyn immediately jumped off the desk and said, "Get down to business and stop being crazy."

He instantly pulled her onto his lap again with a long arm and stroked her hair, "It's actually quite fun to be a fatuous ruler once ....."

"Get to work." Jocelyn blushed.

"You go have fun, I keep working to support you." With that, he stroked her hair again.

"Who wants you to support?" Jocelyn's face was still flushing, and when the words left her mouth, she patted him on the shoulder with a straight face, "Work hard."

"As you wish, Madam." Noah said.

Jocelyn smiled and stepped towards the sofa.

Her legs are sore as hell.

Trudging back to the sofa, she then laid down straight away, put her laptop aside and began to watch the League of Legends LPL spring tournament with her phone.

After watching two innings, she sat up and looked over to where Noah was.

At the moment, he was still focused on his work.

She instantly glanced at the time; it was already six o'clock in the evening at the moment.

She had eaten very little for lunch and, having just had sex, she was hungry as hell at the moment.

But seeing as he seemed to have a lot of work left to do, she didn't say anything and continued to endure in silence, watching the game.

At seven o'clock, Noah finished all the work at hand.

Chapter 275 Bags Can Solve the Problem

Originally, she didn't have her eye on that bag, but when it was carried by Jocelyn, she immediately felt it nice and had the desire to buy it.

She pointed directly at the bag that Jocelyn was holding, and then looked at the clerk, "Is there a similar model of this bag? I'll take it."

It's a very standard foreigner's accent when speaking in Z Country.

The clerk immediately shook her head, "No, that's a limited edition, we only have two in the shop. We just sold one, now this is the only one."

The foreign woman walked up to Jocelyn and pointed to the bag she was holding, "Give it to me."

The unruly and overbearing attitude made Jocelyn and Noah frown at the same time.

"I'll take this one." Jocelyn said.

She will not give up the bag to this woman.

Had this woman spoken properly, she would have chosen to give it to her, but not with this attitude.

"Heh, people from Z Country, get out from here." The foreign woman gave her a direct blank stare.

And then she grabbed the bag, and looked coldly at the clerk, "I'll take this one, and wrap it up for me too. Don't let any people from Z Country in today, I hate them the most." The foreign woman added.

This one sentence stirred up the anger in Jocelyn's heart.

Insulting her is fine, but insulting her country is not!

What is wrong with this woman standing on Z Country and shouting for people from Z Country to get out?

Noah's face suddenly went cold, and the coldness around him seemed to freeze everything.

"This is Z Country. It should be you get out." Jocelyn responded coldly, "Where did you get your superiority complex from? If you are here, you have to behave yourself, and if you hate the people here, you can get out."

"Heh, who are you to dare talk to me like that? Do you know who I am?" The foreign woman spoke coldly, "How dare you tell me to get out?"

The shop's move had once again attracted the attention of countless people.

Many people were shocked.

In particular, the clerks around the room wanted to keep their eyes on the Dior shop.

The two sat in the shop and waited for the clerk to type up the order, then Noah left his home address and phone number and walked out of the shop with Jocelyn in his hand in full view.

He glanced faintly around at the other counters and asked, "Is there anything else you want to buy?"

Jocelyn immediately took his hand and led him quickly out the door, "Enough, Hubby."

"You can still buy more." Noah added.

Jocelyn gave him a blank stare, "Do you think I'm a shopaholic? It's not easy to make money, can't you just save it?"

"Why are you acting like housekeeper?" Noah lightly rubbed her hair.

"You have a problem with that?" Jocelyn asked softly.

"I wouldn't dare have." Noah responded with a smile.

Immediately, Jocelyn couldn't help but laugh.

Noah gently wrapped his arm around her shoulders, "You really don't want anything else?"

Jocelyn shook her head firmly, "No."

She could never have imagined that she would go from buying a bag to buying a counter.

"Let's go then, honey." Noah gently wrapped his arm around Jocelyn's shoulders and made his way forward.

Behind the two, many clerks, who were browsing the mall, started talking again.

"What a good husband. Even if he's handsome, he still spoils his wife so much! "

"If I were that woman, I'd be laughing out loud in my sleep, my goodness! "

After saying that, she handed the phone to Noah.

Noah took her phone, glanced at Ada's homepage and what she had posted, and instantly said, "Don't be angry, what do you wish for her? I will help you out."

With that, his arm naturally reached for her head.

Jocelyn obediently tilted her head towards his position, "I can handle this myself, you just need to help me pull out that surveillance video from the Dior counter two hours ago."

He held her hand, "Okay."

Then Noah called Tom and asked him to obtain the surveillance video of the Dior bag counter.

Watching him finish his call, Jocelyn said with a smile, "Thanks."

"Are there any other orders?" Noah asked.

Jocelyn said, "No."

Noah coldly snorted, "Do whatever you want to do, I will always be your back."

His words warmed Jocelyn's heart.

Jocelyn nodded, "Okay."

What more could a woman want since she had such a good husband?

With her eyes back on Weibo, Jocelyn found her account had been full of comments.

Countless vicious messages flooded the bottom of the first few tweets on her homepage.

Chapter 278 Ada's Downfall

People are demanding, in droves, that Ada be evicted and there is even a boycott of the Sky Hotel.

And inside the topic she can also see, some screenshots from users, data about the share price of Sky Hotel.

From the time of the accident until now, Sky Hotel's share price has been falling rapidly, and in just an hour's time, Sky Hotel's market value has evaporated by billions of dollars.

Jocelyn also saw that the incident had also attracted widespread attention from the foreign media, both abroad and at home, calling Ada out.

Ada's husband came out openly to accuse his wife and apologised for her misguided comments.

The public opinion had just thrown the couple, and the Sky Hotel, into the limelight.

As she watched Ada's fate from inside, Jocelyn didn't feel any sympathy, she even felt good.

Foreigners like this, who earn money from Z Country but despise Z Country people, deserve whatever happens to them.

Noah was likewise reading Weibo, and he also read what Jocelyn was reading completely, and the corners of his mouth gradually curved up into a tiny curve.

Jocelyn turned her head and was just about to tell him about it, but she saw him reading the same thing.

He was wearing a black silk robe with a deep V-neckline that gave an unobstructed view of those toned pecs.

Even just looking down and playing with her phone like this, he still carries his own seductive power and makes her swoon.

Noah naturally wrapped her in his arms, and then dialed Tom's phone number, "Go and sell the shares of Sky Hotel that we hold directly."

Tom responded respectfully, "Yes, Mr. Mason."

Noah didn't say anything else and simply hang up.

This conversation caused a flash of consternation under Jocelyn's eyes, "You have shares in the Sky Hotel?"

Noah rubbed her hair as if he was petting an expensive Persian cat, "Yes, but it's not much."

"All guests from Z Country in the Sky Hotel have now moved out of the hotel due to the founder's insulting comments about Z Country."

She quickly clicked on the comment section, which, apart from cursing Ada, was also full of people giving praise to the guest who had moved out of the hotel.

People said they would permanently boycott the hotel until they closed.

The Ada incident stirred up huge hatred in the country.

When Noah opened his eyes, he pulled Jocelyn back into his arms and kissed her hair repeatedly, "What are you looking at?"

His voice was extraordinarily gentle and even soft when he had just woken up, and Jocelyn's heart softened as she listened.

"The Sky Hotel thing, now that all the people from Z Country inside the hotel have moved out, there won't be any people from Z Country staying there in the future, this hotel will fail in our country." Jocelyn added.

About the hotel's downfall, Jocelyn did not feel the least bit sympathetic, as the founder was making money in Z Country, but despised Z Country, and even openly insulted the countrymen of Z Country. Such a hotel did not deserve to stay in Z Country.

"They deserve it." Noah said.

And then he kissed her hair again, "What do you want to eat in the morning? I'll go and make it for you."

Jocelyn thought seriously for a moment and said, "I want to eat seafood noodles."

"Okay, I will cook."

"Did you read Weibo? Ada apologized, then got called out again." Jocelyn said.

"Yes." As he spoke, he picked up a fried bun and placed it in front of her, adding, "Eat more, you're too skinny, you should gain some weight."

"I'll get ugly if I gain more weight." Jocelyn said as she elegantly ate her bun.

"I like you no matter how fat you are." With that, he placed another fried bun in front of her.

Jocelyn gave him a suspicious look, "I don't believe you, men like pretty and sexy women."

"I only like you."

"You are a sweet talker." She did not know if that was really true or not, but at least it sounded good to her now.

"I mean it." He emphasized.

In a moment, a smile blossomed on the face of Jocelyn.

"Will you have to work all day today?" Noah asked.

"Well, pretty much. ...."

"What time are you going to get off work?"

"It must be five or six anyhow."

"I'll drop you off at work and I'll pick you up in the evening."

While the two of them were talking, Jocelyn's mobile phone vibrated, and when she saw that it was her father's call, she immediately pressed answer.
