Chapter 361 Straight Man Speaks

Jocelyn looked through the mirror and gave him a blank stare again, "What do you think?"

Noah's eyes carried a few moments of inquiry.

"I'm in a hurry to go out and I don't have time to blow-dry my hair." Jocelyn said without good grace.

"Oh."

"What, it's because of you." The more Jocelyn thought about it, the more resentful she became, so she whispered.

How many things had been delayed in this hour?

In that hour, her make-up had been done, her clothes were on, and she had finished her meal.

In the mirror, the corners of Noah's mouth curved up into a doting arc.

As soon as Jocelyn raised her eyes, she saw the look in his eyes.

He was wearing only a white bath towel, his perfect body was visible, the residual water droplets flowing over those marks, producing a touch of enchanting and sexy beauty.

There are some people who, even if they don't do anything, just standing there, can make her legs go weak.

This kind of person is Noah.

"Well, my fault." Doting was still in his eyes.

Jocelyn, "Know wrong?"

Like a devout believer, Noah nodded.

But even then, Jocelyn knew that it was not worth believing.

"What was wrong?"

"I didn't try hard enough and let you have the opportunity to nag me." With that, he leaned down and propped his hands on her dressing table, his delicate chin resting against the top of her hair, his gaze warm and gentle as he gazed at the mirror. Fer face applied only skincare on.

Hearing these words, Jocelyn's face, instantly, turned flushed.

Even her ears were red.

"What are you doing? Noah." Jocelyn looked helpless.

Jocelyn was teased and her whole body was hot.

In the end, it was by the only remaining sanity that she pushed him away with force, panting, "Noah, if you touch me again, I will ignore you for three days, no, five days! No, six days!"

Noah looked at her with a smile, a good-natured look, "Honey, I won't do it again."

Jocelyn promptly and quickly escaped his restraints and fled the room.

.....

When Jocelyn arrived at the XS team base, she found that Alex was also there.

The pros had crossed paths, plus they had even had dinner together the next time, Alex's relationship with everyone was obviously better.

At the moment, he was sitting on the sofa, talking to everyone.

He was still wearing his round silver-rimmed glasses, a wide jersey t-shirt and a pair of jeans.

The image of him and a group of teenagers from the XS team sitting together is extraordinarily nice.

The XS team are all handsome men, and now because of his inclusion, it brought up the notch.

Looking around, Jocelyn could not help but sigh, her XS Team could really make people feel pleasing to the eyes.

"Have you all finished eating?" Jocelyn asked, smiling as she stepped forward.

"Yes, just waiting for you to come and play a training game." President Bob looked at Jocelyn and smiled.

"Alex, what are you doing here if you're not staying at your team? You're here to steal our secrets?" Jocelyn joked, before smiling and walking over to the single sofa next to everyone and sitting down lazily.

The atmosphere of the whole world, under the beauty's aura, instantly got better.

"Well, planning to come steal secrets and figure out how to defeat you guys." Alex joked too.

"Okay, go for it then." added Jocelyn.

Alex was still smiling, "Don't worry, I still have the integrity of a pro."

"Just kidding."

"He said he wasn't on drugs at all, and he suspected that the packet of methamphetamine, which should have been the woman, was placed under the sofa when he wasn't looking."

"Because that woman came with the tools to smoke it, it was obvious that she came prepared."

"Miss Murphy, this is a deliberate plot, in order to bring Ryan down."

"These years, Ryan is too popular. For the cake of the entertainment circle, he alone, takes up two-thirds of it, those who want him dead are a lot."

Paige's tone was distinctly serious.

"After that woman came for a minute, the police entered the door." Paige added.

After hearing this, Jocelyn was furious.

Since she had been involved in the entertainment industry until now, she had seen not a few things like this.

In the entertainment industry, as long as you are popular, someone will naturally smear you, because only when you fall down, others will be better.

There is only one cake in the entertainment industry, and if you take up most of it, it means that the others can share very little.

Those who are jealous will naturally try to trip you up.

If you don't have done anything wrong, then they will made it up.

"Now first issue a statement, explain this matter to everyone, and keep an eye on the police station. Once the test results come out, come out and pull the monitoring of the Ryan district, check how that woman get in." Jocelyn said.

"No need to check the monitoring, the community's monitoring is bad this afternoon. When the woman got there, the monitoring is still bad, nothing at all photographed. Miss Murphy, all this is really too coincidental, he really takes great pains."

"Also, several luxury resources now all fizzled out. TV series and movies suspended." Paige added.

Jocelyn's eyebrows slightly raised, "Then play with them. We are righteous investigate who is smearing Ryan. Tell that woman, as long as she is willing to tell the truth, money is not a problem."

When the time comes, she will make that man behind the scene pay the price.

[Wasn't it because he didn't guide his fans well? If he had guided his fans properly, would they be that brain-dead?]

At this time, Paige's phone call came in again.

Paige calmed her down.

After that, Paige told her not to worry, that she would take care of everything, and that she and the PR department were keeping an eye on everything that was scolding Ryan online.

Jocelyn briefly chatted with Paige and hung up the phone afterwards.

She knew how powerful her company's PR department, and how powerful Paige was.

Therefore, she was not worried about these things.

Putting down the phone, Jocelyn looked at Noah and said, "You should pay less attention to those comments on the internet, so as not to put you in a bad mood."

Noah nodded and then carried her to his lap and let her sit on it.

She subconsciously hooked her hands around his neck, "Once we find out that everything has nothing to do with him, Ryan will be out."

"Okay."

"Paige will take care of it, in there, he won't suffer, other than not being free, it won't have any effect."
Jocelyn added.

"Okay."

Jocelyn knew that although normally, Noah was not good with words and seldom said anything of concern to Ryan, he still cared for his younger brother.

She also knew how hard it would be for him, as an older brother, to feel when his brother was smeared.
And she herself didn't feel good inside.

Leaving aside the fact that she was the boss of the company, there was still a personal friendship between her and Ryan, and a family bond.

The actual fact that her brother-in-law was smeared, she could not be indifferent.

"Also, there have been marketing numbers that are infinitely amplifying the matter of Ryan's teacher fans responding to the heat."

"I have already found out that group is just a group of spammers disguised as a class group, those who speak are not teachers, those who respond are not students, and those who come out to condemn are not any students' parents, all of them are professional spammers raised by those two companies."

"Next, after Ryan is completely cleared, I will put all this all out." Paige added.

"Okay."

"Also, the other companies in the circle, big and small, are now all planning to take advantage of the opportunity to stir up the situation. As far as I know, other than King Entertainment, all the other companies are secretly waiting to make their move."

Jocelyn coldly snorted, "Let the storm come more violently, then, when the wind and waves calm down, we will teach them to behave."

Paige's tone was equally cold, "Yeah."

.....

The next day, because no substantial evidence could be found of Ryan's drug use and prostitution, X Entertainment directly prosecuted that lady.

The police released Ryan.

The police, as well as X Entertainment, also issued a joint statement proving that Ryan was innocent and had been slandered, and that the so-called fans of the teacher who were supporting him were not a fan at all.

But even so, the online furore has not stopped.

Apart from King Entertainment, other companies have tried to step on Ryan.

Some of the junior actors who had worked with Ryan's competitors began to diss Ryan, playing big names, as well as asking the scriptwriter to change the script without permission, etc.

Some of the industry's biggest screenwriters who have worked with Ryan, as well as some big name directors, have also come forward, and together they are cynical about Ryan.

Although the big screenwriters and directors were not so blunt, the posts they sent out were all kinds of shady and meaningful.

Many people, at a glance, knew that they were connoting Ryan.

In a flash, everyone instantly made the same enemy, treating Ryan as a unified hostile target, and began to wildly diss him.

Trying to bring Ryan down.

The fans of Ryan, and spammers were having arguments.

However, they were branded as brain-damaged fans.

He did not expect that the chairman of this company was so young.

He had checked the whole group out clearly before he got involved with X Entertainment.

He had heard that the chairman behind X Entertainment was very mysterious and had a very powerful hand.

But he couldn't find out who it was.

However, he did not care.

After all, even if he was a bully, he couldn't be more of a bully than him in this circle.

Their family, however, had money, wealth and power.

His father, in this country, that was a handy man.

Although, that position, not the highest, but with the highest one, is the worship of the brother.

He had nothing to fear.

In this kingdom.

"It's me." Jocelyn said.

Cillian snorted coldly, seeing that the person in front of him was not too aggressive even at a young age.

At first glance, it was not too difficult to mess with, to him, all people were trash.

"Today, I'll make a long story short. Ryan told you guys, right? What he encountered was all made by me."

"The purpose, is to force him to compromise, to give up those so-called dignity, to be with me, to be my male pet."

"He is still delirious to reject me until now, I think, he is not smart, but you guys should be smart." Cillian was straightforward.

Paige did not speak, just silently turned on the recording.

"Since we already have this in our hands, we can just let him do what he wants, and when things ferment to a certain level, we will send this out. The bigger the matter, the more bad luck this guy will have, and the more fame Ryan will have, I believe that after this battle, Ryan will be able to gain a lot of fans again."

Jocelyn said seriously word by word.

Paige snapped her fingers sharply and clapped her hands, "Yes. Let this person continue, in the end, he will learn his lesson. "

Jocelyn did not speak again, picked up the two cups of warm flower tea, a cup to Paige, a cup reserved for herself.

A mouth full of floral fragrance.

Fresh and pleasant.

In an instant, Jocelyn felt refreshed.

"Tell Ryan what happened, tell him not to worry, I have everything under control." Jocelyn added.

Paige nodded.

Jocelyn picked up her mobile phone and dialed Noah.

She first told Noah everything that had just happened in the office, and also, what she thought.

After listening, he expressed his approval.

Jocelyn added, "Honey, I may need your help. After all, his family is too powerful."

"At your disposal." Noah responded.

Jocelyn felt sweet in her heart.

She was happy to have such a husband.

After taking care of everything, Jocelyn spoke to Allie on WeChat about the current situation and comforted her.

After that, Jocelyn then put her eyes back on Paige's face, "You can go back to work."

Paige instantly got up and walked out.

The door closed.

Jocelyn dialed Ryan's phone number.

She first explained everything that had just happened all to Ryan clearly.

The fans of Ryan argued with the spammers.

However, they were completely branded as brain-dead fans.

Countless people, who knew nothing, began to pay attention to the incident.

But because they didn't know what was going on, they were led by the spammers and began to curse Ryan.

In an instant, Ryan was stepped on from being a prince charming to a puddle of mud.!

For the next two days, X Entertainment did nothing.

Letting things continue to fester.

The more silent they were, the more excited the spammers became.

More and more new materials were fabricated, Ryan's bisexuality, Ryan's serial child fetish, Ryan's transvestite, Ryan's plastic surgery freak, etc.

The spammers even started to lead and boycott Ryan's endorsement.

They formed a group and went after the brands that Ryan endorsed.

They reported that the brand's products were not good and found fault with the brand.

The purpose was to get the brand to replace Ryan.

Although Ryan has many fans, there are more spammers and those who join in to curse Ryan.

Weibo, all major news apps, all major browsers, all major newspapers and magazines are full of scandals about Ryan.

The fans, who were furious, began to abuse X Entertainment.

They cursed the company for being stupid and inactive, and pitied Ryan.

However, within X Entertainment, the situation was calm and quiet.

Everything was going on in an orderly manner.

Inside the chairman's office.

The sunlight was beating in from all sides through the floor-to-ceiling windows, shining warmly all over the world.

[If I were the emperor and he was the concubine, I would be willing to kill the lords.]

The fans of Ryan also said that they want to accompany Ryan to advance and retreat together, and definitely will not leave him.

Some of those fans who leave have come back to their senses, starting to go crazy with buying the products he endorsed to support Ryan.

Inside the X Entertainment chairman's office.

After reading the comments, Jocelyn dialed Paige's number, "You can disclose everything and sue the spammers, Paige."

The attention of the matter was now just reaching its peak.

"Yes."

Just as she hung up, Jocelyn's phone rang, the caller was still the same number as Cillian's.

She hadn't saved it, but his number still impressed her.

Jocelyn frowned slightly with a disgusted look and pressed record again, "Something wrong?"

"Nothing, just heard you were planning to give up on him and wanted to congratulate you."

Jocelyn sneered.

"Are you trying to curry favor with me by banning Ryan? I'm telling you, even if you do, I won't spare the rest of your company."

"I have already given a blocking order to the circle, no one will dare to look for Ryan in the future, plus Ryan's reputation has completely ruined. It's absolutely impossible for him to turn around the tide."

After answering one call after another, Paige only put her eyes on Jocelyn again, propping her hands on the desk, looking at Jocelyn and saying, "As you can see now, everything is starting to go according to what we said. "

"By the way, Miss Murphy, Cillian's father has been revealed on what he has done, is it because Mr. Mason behind the scene?" Paige asked.

Jocelyn smiled, "Yes."

Paige had a smile on her face, "After this battle, our Ryan's popularity is getting higher and higher, just now things have become public until now, the number of his fans has already exceeded five million and is still continuing to rise. "

Jocelyn smiled, "Good, at noon I invite everyone to eat. Each department leaders take their own staff out to eat, I will pay the bill. "

She can't fight such a beautiful battle without the concerted efforts of the company's employees.

It's time to treat everyone.

"Ok, everyone will be happy. By the way, check Weibo, lots of people apologising to you."

"Well, I saw it." Jocelyn put her phone in front of Paige and waved it, before adding, "Well, you go and get busy. "

"Boss, I am sorry. Thank you, Boss!!!"

Suddenly, there was a clamor downstairs.

Like a lot of speakers making a sound together.

Jocelyn and Paige were at a loss.

The two looked at each other before they walked together to the floor-to-ceiling window and looked down.

The bottom was a long way away.

They could only vaguely see that a bunch of people had gathered underneath the company.

This group of people also pulled a long banner, they can not see what is written.

The few people at the head of the group were holding a loudspeaker in their hands, constantly shouting at the top.

Jocelyn was stunned by this.

"Ryan's fans are crazy, right?" In fact, before, for those comments that cursed the company and scolded her, she didn't even take it to heart.
