Chapter 411 Real

Nicolas smiled and subconsciously looked at Dorian who was next to him.

These days, the two of them had been cooperating with the company in playing a couple, and because they were often together, his feelings towards Dorian had begun to change in a different way.

It seems that it has gone beyond friendship.

He would subconsciously rely on Dorian and would also care about Dorian's opinion of himself.

At this moment, in a packed room, others are cheering something, he doesn't care at all, he only cares about the person next to him.

The moment the two eyes met, the guide once again gave them a close-up.

The cp fans on the scene were once again stoned out of their minds, shouting, "My cp is real." "I got it for real."

Next, it was time for the testimonials.

The mentor, Ryan, retired from the stage and went back to his position.

The contestants, one by one, gave their testimonials.

Some were melodramatic, others were funny, making everyone cry and laugh.

After the speeches were over, they started another round of debating performances.

In between watching the performances, Jocelyn opened Weibo.

At this moment, the hot search was almost contracted by this final -

Chapter 412 What do you care?

The most important thing in the topic was the picture of the two of them looking at each other on the stage.

As he watched, he looked at Nicolas who was removing his makeup next to him.

At this moment, the two of them were the only ones left in the large dressing room, and everyone else had left.

He just looked at him with impunity.

Nicolas, who had removed his foundation and eyeliner, looked clean.

Feeling Dorian's gaze, Nicolas looked back at him with a smile, "What's wrong?"

"Dinner together?" Dorian asked.

"Sure." Nicolas agreed steadily.

"You're great today." Dorian added.

"So are you."

Just at this time, the door of the dressing room opened.

A young girl, in a fancy dress, went straight to Nicolas.

"Hello, I am the organizer of this final, the only daughter of the chairman of Hosen Group, my name is Susan Simpson." The young girl took the initiative and warmly extended her hand towards him.

Dorian gave her a cold glance, got up and walked over to Nicolas, pulled his collar and yanked him up, "Let's go to dinner."

"We go eat first."

Before Nicolas could finish his words, Dorian tugged his sleeve and forcefully dragged him out of the dressing room.

"Nut." Susan rolled her eyes and couldn't help but mutter to herself, "Damn, they can't really be together, right? Shit, I can't accept it!"

Dorian dragged Nicolas to the car.

"You were rude like that just now." Nicolas complained.

"So what?"

"Why did you do that?"

"I'm happy to do so, what do you care?"

When she finished eating, Jocelyn cleaned up the dishes, so she went upstairs alone and put on a tub of warm water, doing a face mask while soaking and listening to music.

The music she played was piano music.

She had been busy all day, and at this moment, listening to the soothing tune and soaking in the bath, she instantly felt the tiredness in her body completely disappeared.

After the bath, she dried her hair and then applied her skin care products and lay down comfortably on the bed.

Taking a look at the time, it was already one o'clock at the moment.

And Noah had not yet returned.

So she switched off the light, hugged herself to the blanket and fell asleep.

Not long after she fell asleep, Noah came home.

He parked his car and then walked into the house.

Noah didn't go upstairs immediately, but walked to the sofa and sat down.

The sleeves of his white shirt rolled up to the crook of his arm, and the new pinhole marks on the crook of his left arm looked particularly obvious in the light.

At this time, the number with the three 9's on its tail number called once again.

He lightly pinched his brow in exhaustion and pressed answer, "What is it again?"

"Watch your diet these days. Call me when something happens, you must not take it lightly." The young man's voice, once again, filled his ears.

"Got it." After saying that, he pressed hang up with an indifferent face, and then got up to go upstairs.

Just as he got upstairs, his phone vibrated once again.

On the screen was the word Grandpa.

He then leaned against the wall and pressed answer, "Grandpa."

"How are you doing now?" The tone on the other side was full of concern.

"Quite well," Noah responded as he pinched his brow.

"I'm not sure, I think it's better if I go back tomorrow or you come to my place." The tone there was full of concern.

"No, it's fine."

"Master? Why didn't he tell us in advance when he came back?" Jocelyn said as she seriously looked at the person in the back seat of the car.

Noah also saw the person and immediately got out of the car.

Jocelyn then followed suit and got out of the car as well.

At this time, Regan walked down from the car, he was wearing a white suit and looked kind.

"Grandpa, why are you back?" Noah said.

Regan looked deeply at Jocelyn and smiled, "I missed you guys, so I came back for a visit."

"Master, why did you come back without telling us in advance so that we could pick you up at the airport?" Jocelyn said as she held Regan's arm affectionately.

Regan smiled with a kind face, patted the back of Jocelyn's hand and said, "I wanted to give you guys a surprise. Are you guys going out?"

Jocelyn nodded, "I was going to go to work, but now that you're back, I will stay at home."

The corners of Regan's mouth grew into a smile, and his eyes were full of doting, "How can you do that? You can come back at night to keep me company."

"No, I want to stay with you." Jocelyn said again.

For her, this old man in front of her is the master, is also the grandfather.

Regan laughed helplessly, "I haven't been to the company for a long time, I plan to visit, Noah will accompany me, Jocelyn, you go to work."

Hearing that Regan had a business matter, Jocelyn nodded, "Okay."

Regan, "Jocelyn, has Noah bullied you lately?"

Jocelyn, "No, he has been very good to me."

Regan, "Really? Didn't make you angry?"

Jocelyn smiled again, "No."

Regan gave Noah a deep look, "Good. If he dares to treat you badly, just tell me and I'll break this kid's legs."

The corners of Noah's mouth hooked up into a smile, and his gaze fixed on Jocelyn, with doting in his eyes.

Chapter 415 Burning Street Dance, Bilmith

What was shown on the phone was the Weibo news published about Billy.

It said that a person with knowledge of the situation had revealed that Bilmith would be one of the mentors for the second half of Goose Factory's street dance talent show, Burning Street Dance Season 2.

This news was put out by Paige's marketing number.

The purpose was to keep giving Bilmith heat and building momentum.

She clicked into the post and took a look.

The post had just been posted for less than five minutes, and the number of forwarding and comments had already exceeded 50,000, and Bilmith's fans kept commenting.

[With non-official announcement, it is not true.]

[Only if it's true, so looking forward to it. Bilmith, I love you.]

[If it's true, that would be great.]

[Ahhh! Bilmith!! It must be true, he dances really well!]

[Burning Street Dance is popular. If Bilmith could be there, it will be great.]

She took a glance and then got off the car with her bag and exit the page to see the Hot 100 while heading to the office.

It was just about time for the employees to go to work, and they were walking incessantly inside.

When they saw Jocelyn, they all greeted her with respect.

Every time they greeted her, Jocelyn would raise her head and smile in response.

The staff lift was overcrowded, so Jocelyn went straight into the exclusive lift.

In his head, it was still all about Zoe.

Despite the fact that she had caused him in a world of hurt, despite the fact that she had been someone else's wife.

However, he still couldn't help thinking about her.

He obviously still wanted to be a heartless man, but he couldn't be interested in all women anymore, and his heart was full of her, and he couldn't get her out of his mind.

He even thought that he probably, having owed too many love debts to others in the past, had gotten his comeuppance and that was why he had met Zoe.

"But this time the woman is different." His mother added.

"Mom, please, do not to toss me around for now, okay?"

Robert then hung up the phone and couldn't help but open his photo album and find the picture of Zoe.

This was the only photo of her in his phone album.

In the photo, she was wearing an apron, sitting in the flower room and arranging flowers.

That day, he saw that the picture was beautiful, so he took the picture and kept it ever since.

Some time ago, when he returned from Shimizu Country with bruises, he was tempted to delete the picture.

But in the end, he couldn't do it.

At three o'clock in the afternoon, after finishing all her work, Jocelyn, escorted by her bodyguard, first went to the supermarket to buy groceries, after which she returned to her home.

It was the first time that Master had come to the house and she wanted to cook a delicious meal for him.

When she returned home, both Noah and Regan were not there.

She put the dishes into the kitchen, and then picked up her mobile phone and called Allie, inviting Allie, Scott and Camille to come to the house for dinner.

Allie agreed.

Immediately afterwards, Jocelyn sent a message to Noah, telling him that she was going to invite Allie and the others to dinner with his grandfather at home in the evening.

can't get through to Paige." Ryan's side interspersed with ear-splitting screams.

"I'll send someone over here." Jocelyn said.

She then hung up the phone, intending to call Paige again.

At this time Noah came out of the kitchen.

Hearing what Jocelyn said, he then stepped forward and asked, "What's wrong?"

"Ryan is trapped in the airport bathroom, thousands of fans are blocking it outside, he can't get out. The bodyguard he brought is probably out of luck, I have to arrange for someone to bring him out." Jocelyn added.

"I'll let Tom go."

After saying that, Noah dialed Tom's phone number and explained everything.

After that, he hung up the phone and leaned down to stroke Jocelyn's hair, "Don't worry, he'll be back soon."

"Thank you." Jocelyn smiled and hugged Noah's waist, her voice soft.

"Keep playing with your game, I will go cook." Noah said again.

Jocelyn nodded her head.

Noah rubbed her head again before turning around and going back to the kitchen.

About an hour later, the doorbell rang.

At this time, Jocelyn had just finished playing a round of games.

Noah did not speak the whole time, and was incomparably quiet.
After the pulse check was over, Regan let out a long sigh, "You'd better go find that person once more."
Noah nodded, "I will go tomorrow."

"I will stay here with you until you get better." Regan added.

"Grandpa, sorry that I've made you worry about me." Noah frowned slightly.

Regan lightly patted his shoulder, sighed, "I am your grandfather, it is right to worry about you. Since childhood, you have had many disasters, unlike your brothers and sisters."

"Are you really not going to tell Jocelyn?" Regan added, "This is something that you can't hide for long."

"I will try to hide it, let her be happy, isn't it good?" Noah said again, "Grandpa, you should go up early and rest."

Regan once again let out a long sigh, before getting up and going upstairs.

Noah did not go upstairs immediately, but picked up a teapot and poured himself a cup of tea, elegantly savoring it.

Only after finishing the cup of tea did he go upstairs.

In the bathroom, Jocelyn was doing a face mask, taking a bath and listening to music.

When Noah returned to the room, he saw that no one was in the room and walked into the bathroom.

When he saw that Jocelyn was taking a bath, he took off his clothes and stepped into the bath, sitting next to her and washing with her.

Seeing him, Jocelyn's heart immediately tightened.

The next second, her heart began to beat wildly again.

"What did you talk to Grandpa about?" Jocelyn asked.

He tenderly took her in his arms, "Nothing."

Jocelyn didn't continue to ask questions, just quietly in his arms, enjoying the quiet moments.

After finishing her meal, she got into her red Maserati.

After looking into the car's interior mirror and briefly touching up her make-up, Jocelyn started the car and rushed into the traffic.

At two o'clock, she arrived at the downstairs of Grand Treasure Plaza on time.

After parking the car, she saw Paige standing in front of the mall, her head down and playing with her mobile phone.

Paige was wearing a bright mahogany red suit with a white shirt, her hair tied up, and exquisite make-up, attracting many eyes.

Grabbing her Hermes platinum bag, Jocelyn got out of the car and walked over to Paige, "Let's go."

Saying that, she then naturally took Paige's arm.

Paige put her phone away, and then walked into the mall.

"You are to meet someone very important, who is that person? You're not going on a blind date, are you?" Jocelyn asked while looking at the cosmetic brand shops.

Paige shook her head, "No."

"Then who is it to meet? A client?" Jocelyn asked, "You used to meet clients, but won't buy clothes."

"That's a secret. I'll tell you after tonight." Paige said.

She still didn't know exactly what the situation would be after she met with that Alexander, and whether she could establish a relationship with him.

So, she wasn't going to tell Jocelyn everything for now.

She thought that she would tell Jocelyn when things were settled.

When Paige did not say anything, Jocelyn did not continue to ask, but just silently took the lift with her and arrived at the ladies' floor.

She took Jocelyn into Chanel.

In the shop, there were many new summer clothes.

Chapter 420 I don't want to play with you

When she recalled carefully, Abel had seen her before when she was playing the game.

Then it's possible that he ran inside the game to intentionally approach her in order to get close to her.

If she recalled carefully, that Alexander had approached her in the game at the beginning, the approach had indeed been quite sudden as well.

Combining all of this, she was already sure of her thoughts.

Abel was doing it on purpose.

True to form, he was a playboy, and his ruse for picking up girls was truly a masterpiece.

Before she met him, she had a lot of beautiful visions in her head, but now, all of that had been disillusioned.

What future could there be with such a playboy?

He takes underage girls shopping during the day and comes to see his game wife at night.

Who could such a man give happiness to?

Paige coldly looked at him, "You can't get close to me in reality, so, you ran to the game to pretend to be a stranger to pick me up, right?"

Abel, "Honey, let's talk inside."

Paige, "Don't call me honey, there's nothing to say, since it is you, everything stops. I don't want to play with you."

Her reaction didn't surprise Abel.

Before, he had also thought this would happen.

Abel immediately clutched her hand, "I didn't want you to play with me, I really like you."

Paige, "Is that so? Like me enough to take another woman shopping on the day you met with me?"

Abel, "That's..."

Paige, "Let me be clear with you, I'm not interested in playing with a playboy like you, I'm not like you. If you want to play, please go find someone else, I'm not a woman you can just play with."
