Chapter 511 Parker Ross

The girl opposite was Daisy.

The girl that she had met two days ago at the exhibition centre in K City, Y Country.

Today she looked radiant.

Her eyes were clean and clear, looked like a gentle and soft princess at first glance.

Her dimples were distinctly intoxicating.

"It's me, Jocelyn." Daisy said.

"I didn't expect to meet you here again. What's that handsome man like? Has the body fully recovered?" Jocelyn asked.

She had thought that she would only meet Daisy once, and she hadn't expected to meet her again here.

"Yes, I came here today for you." Daisy said softly.

"You came to find me?" Jocelyn's eyes flashed with a slight surprise.

"Well, I ran to you with Parker... well, that's the handsome guy you saved, he's here today too, right." said the girl, then pointed to not far away, the handsome man who was chatting with a few older blond men.

He looked good today, a far cry from the day he was poisoned with sodium cyanide.

Surrounding him were all the biggest names in politics around the world.

Many were even the right-hand men of presidents.

But even in the face of this crowd, he still looked at ease and relaxed.

"Someone bribed my driver to put poison in the drinks I kept in my car fridge." Parker answered.

"Then, in the future, you should be more careful when it comes to hiring people." Jocelyn admonished.

Parker smiled again, "Well, thanks for your concern, if you come to T Country in the future, remember to look for me. Your husband has my contact information, you can ask him for it."

"Or, if you want to do something locally in T Country, I can also help. Whether it's in politics or business, I have contacts, I can ensure that you can do anything in T Country." Parker added.

"If my wife wants to do anything, naturally she can just look for me, so don't bother." Noah looked at Parker and spoke in a domineering manner.

His extremely possessive display made Jocelyn's heart, at once, warm."

Parker laughed, "This damn possessiveness. What, afraid I will abduct your wife away?"

Noah, "You don't have that ability."

Parker laughed again and wrapped his arms tightly around Daisy beside him, "I already have Daisy, you don't have to worry about that."

Daisy gave a gentle and lovely smile.

"Jocelyn, Parker care about this saving grace, after he woke up, he began to check the hospital surveillance to investigate your identity, after finding out, he said he wanted to come to Flento City to thank you for. However, before we had even left, we received an invitation to the 70th anniversary celebration of the Griffin Group."

"Then we came straight over." Daisy added.

The impression of Parker in Jocelyn heart got better.

Not only was he young and promising, but he also knew how to repay kindness, such a person was destined to have a bright future.

"Mr. Mason, I have some cooperation matters that I want to talk to you about, let's go and sit next." Parker added.

Chapter 513 Their happiness looks annoying

"Kill the others on the deck as well. Their joy looks annoying." The golden masked man spoke sorrowfully.

With a command from the golden masked man, a group of black clothed men then put ropes around their waists.

In the next second, twenty men in black leapt down in one neat movement.

Their ropes were so long that when they jumped down, their bodies hung just over two metres from the deck.

Afterwards, they began to fire rapidly towards the deck position.

Bullets fell like rain.

One by one, they exploded all over the deck.

The danger was approaching -

Jocelyn pulled Daisy and ran behind the thick pillar next to her, prostrating herself on the ground.

Bullet, like rains, smashed into the pillar beside them, rubbing out countless sparks in the midst of the night.

The five guests on the deck, for a moment, panicked and fled in all directions, crying out for help.

One of them had already been hit by a bullet and was bleeding all the time.

All at once the cries for help and screams drowned out almost everything.

Looking in the direction of the incoming gunfire, Jocelyn saw clearly that many men in black were hanging in mid-air, shooting at them on the deck.

The image that came into view made Jocelyn's heart to her throat.

And aside, Daisy had been completely scared, her face white, shivering.

Bullets were falling all around them, and at, there was no way to enter or retreat.

In this situation, it seemed that the only way to be safe was to stay where they were and lean on the pillars for cover.

Bullets were falling more and more intensively, and on several occasions, they landed

The other three, respectively, had been hit by bullets in their left calf, right upper arm, and left upper arm.

Their wounds were similarly bleeding all the time.

Jocelyn made use of the stop bleeding items again to stop the bleeding for the three of them.

On the deck, the gun battle continued.

Despite the hail of bullets around him, Noah stood still, calm as ever.

Afterwards, six more men in black were hit in the heart by bullets in the air.

Bright red liquid, falling from the air in a steady stream, scattered all over the deck, looked blindingly bright at a glance.

On the other hand, the golden masked man in the sky calmly pulled the helicopter lift lever and raised the helicopter.

As the helicopter flew higher and higher, the men in black got further and further away from the deck.

Gradually, they were out of range of the sniper rifle.

They were flying higher and higher until they disappeared, and then Noah put his gun away and looked coldly at his bodyguards and Tom, "How is it? Are you all right?"

From putting away the gun to turning around, the whole process took only three seconds.

A clean and crisp action was impressive!

Afterwards, a group of bodyguards then collected their guns and returned to Noah, nodding respectfully and speaking in unison, "We're fine!"

Noah did not speak again, casually threw the gun to Tom who was next to him, and once again ordered in a cold voice, "Contact rescue to arrange for the cruise ship to return, in addition, before dawn, I want to know the identity of this group of people."

The words fell, he then walked towards the stairway with an unfaded murderous aura.

"This needs further confirmation, if it's really him, then this incident can give us one more clue to find him." Noah added, "In fact, it can't be ruled out that it's for the others, after all, everyone on the deck has a special identity."

"Yeah." Jocelyn said lightly.

Recalling the scene after scene on the deck just now, Jocelyn felt very scared.

She dared not think what would have become of her and Daisy if Noah had come a step later.

Daisy, would she have been hit by a bullet?

"Daisy is really nice." Jocelyn complimented, "Simple, cute, and kind."

"I'll have to treat her to a meal to thank her." Noah said.

"Okay."

Daisy was a friend that she had made for sure.

Because, at the moment of crisis, Daisy stood up for her.

The next morning, Jocelyn had not even opened her eyes, and Daisy called and asked her to go shopping with her.

The two of them met at the Grand Treasure Plaza in the city centre.

After she had breakfast and simply put on some light make-up, she went straight out with a large group of bodyguards and went to meet Daisy at the closer square.

Afterwards, the two of them went on a shopping spree in Grand Treasure Plaza.

All kinds of luxury items were bought non-stop.

Both of them came out with twelve bodyguards behind them.

"He also said that the island he lived on was cool and that he didn't even need to turn on the air conditioning in the summer, that's all." Daisy added.

The message was not much, but, nevertheless, Jocelyn found it very useful.

She could follow what Daisy had said and find out the eligible islands around the world one by one.

Then she could send people out to find the island.

Although this would be a very difficult process, as long as she could cure Noah, even if it was difficult, she would definitely try.

"Then do you have a picture of this person?" Jocelyn asked.

Daisy shook her head, "He didn't let us take pictures, and we respected him enough not to take any."

"Then have you seen his face? Describe it and I'll draw a picture on my phone." Jocelyn was still full of searching eyes.

Daisy, "He was wearing a mask, that covers the top half of his face, I've never seen his real face."

"Anyway, he was a man, very slim, very tall, with shoulder length gray hair."

"By the way, on his neck, he had a terrible scar, looks like someone had wiped his neck. The scar was dark red and was about ten centimeters long." Daisy added.

With Daisy's words, Jocelyn opened her phone's drawing software to draw a full body picture of Ghost Face.

As she drew the picture, Daisy began to keep directing from the side.

After a short while, a full body picture was formed.

Ghost Face in the drawing was extremely thin.

His face was small, with a pointed chin and a long neck.

With the shoulder length gray hair, he looked even more emaciated, as if he was malnourished.

She even felt that he looked like a character from a television series she had seen when she was a child.

After drawing the full-length photo, she drew a large close-up of his face under the direction of Daisy.

After everything was finished, Daisy looked at the man in the phone screen, with the silver half mask covering his face, and gave a thumbs up to Jocelyn, "Jocelyn, you are good."

Jocelyn smiled, "Thank you."

"Sorry and that's the end of it? Do you know how expensive these shoes of mine are?"

It was a woman's voice, with anger in her tone, and the language was not standard, it sounded like a foreigner.

"I'm really sorry, how much is it? I'll pay you back." This was the voice of her bodyguard.

"You pay for it? Can you afford to pay?" The woman opened her mouth again.

At those words, Daisy pushed open the door.

The woman outside the door dressed in a custom-made model long dress, had blonde hair and blue eyes, and her hands were clasped over her chest.

Behind the blonde, there were two dozen black-clad bodyguards with her, each looking fierce.

At the toe of her right foot, she had been stomped on with a very obvious shoe print that looked very harsh.

Daisy knew that her bodyguard must have accidentally stepped on someone's shoe.

She walked up to the blonde woman and said, "Sorry, how much is it? I'll pay you back."

"This is a branded custom model, there is only this one pair in the world. It's not just a matter of giving money." The blonde woman said coldly again.

"Then what do you want to do with it?" Daisy asked.

She still wanted to make it small, being in a foreign country, she didn't want to get into trouble.

Although the blonde woman's attitude was bad, she could understand it.

"I want him to get on his knees for me." the blonde woman spoke again, arrogance in her eyes.

The harsh words caused Daisy to be very upset inside.

But although unhappy, she still tried her best to maintain the nobility she should have, "Let's do this, tell me the brand, I'll call this brand and make another pair for you, okay?"

"No, if he doesn't kneel, no one will leave." the blonde woman pointed to a bodyguard behind Daisy with a determined look on her face.

"There are a lot of them, bring more people with you." After saying that, the woman hung up the phone, forcing herself to crawl up with severe pain, panting and pointing at Jocelyn's face, "If you have the guts, don't leave!"

"Yeah, I'm not leaving." Jocelyn was completely unafraid, pulling Daisy's hand, walking to the wall and lazily standing against it.

She wanted to teach this woman a lesson today, so that she wouldn't continue to bully others with her power next time.

Seeing this, one of her bodyguards went to move two chairs and placed them in front of her and Daisy.

Jocelyn pulled Daisy and sat down.

The blonde woman, on the other hand, clutched her phone and leaned against the wall, saying, "I will teach you to behave properly today."

"....."

Jocelyn didn't bother to pay her any attention, not even giving her a look.

She just took out her phone and opened Weibo to check today's hot search.

...

About ten minutes later, a helicopter landed at the entrance of the mall.

Afterwards, hundreds of people in black clothes landed on the ground.

After landing, the people in black stood in two rows at the entrance of the cabin.

The huge scene caused countless passers-by to gather around.

In full view of everyone, a middle-aged man in a suit elegantly disembarked from the plane and walked inside the mall with a cold face.

Fifty men in black followed closely behind.

The other fifty bodyguards stayed outside and blocked off the mall.

As soon as the middle-aged man entered, he found the place where the commotion took place.

A group of bodyguards on Jocelyn and Daisy surrounded the scene, and the middle-aged man could not clearly see Jocelyn's face.

"Who is it making trouble here? Want to get killed?" The middle-aged man questioned in a cold voice.

"The president said that after she went back, her man gave her a few slaps straight away and told her not to go out again after she returned to her country." Noah's face was still indescribably cold.

"Well. she should do some soul-searching and introspection."

"And you? Planning to just let her off the hook?"

"Or what? Just give her a small lesson so that she won't be arrogant next time." Jocelyn shrugged calmly and leaned lightly on Noah's shoulder, her tone as soft as ever, "Let's not talk about that, I want to tell you a good news."

Right now, she had something more important that she wanted to tell Noah.

She did not want to waste too much energy on that blonde woman.

"What is it?"

"Today, when I was having lunch meal with Daisy, I heard Daisy say that doctor, Ghost Face, can use a medicine that can change people's genes." Speaking of this topic, Jocelyn's eyes were brilliant as stars.

At these words, Noah was filled with consternation, "Really?"

Jocelyn recounted all of Daisy's experience in curing her congenital heart disease to Noah.

After hearing all of this, a flash of surprise flashed across Noah's eyes and his heart was overjoyed, "Really?"

Noah had once heard his grandfather mention that Ghost Face was indeed highly skilled in medicine.

For many years, his grandfather had been studying his condition.

His parents had also searched all over for famous doctors for him, but nothing could be done.

He had always thought that he was destined to be incurable in this life.

But it was unexpected that God would actually leave him a chance.

"Daisy has no reason to lie to me. And after I sent Daisy off, I had Paige look up her information for me and she did receive a heart transplant." Jocelyn added, "Besides, I couldn't find any reason for her to deceive me."

After that, the middle player made another consecutive mistakes.

The entire XS team's rhythm was completely disrupted.

But in twenty minutes, the XS team was crushed by the IM team and lost a small game.

Looking at the word "defeat" on the screen, Jocelyn felt guilty.

She felt that if she hadn't made a mistake in the first wave, perhaps the bottom lane wouldn't have been so bad.

Jocelyn let out a long sigh and looked at her teammates and said, "I'm sorry, I will cheer up."

Alex, however, smiled indifferently, "It's okay, mistakes happen to everyone, boss, cheer up next game."

Others, too, began to join in, comforting Jocelyn.

The warm atmosphere of the battle team made Jocelyn feel more and more embarrassed.

She vowed that in the next game, she would make 0 mistakes.
