My Revenge Life, Fatty to Sexy

Chapter 571 It's a long story

This man's words were already very offensive to her, and this arrogant and domineering look now provoked her disgust even more.

She really didn't know where the hell this person was getting his strength from.

But in public, she did not want to argue with him, and as soon as she could, she pushed his hand away and prepared to leave.

Arguing with such a person would be degrading.

Such a person is not even worthy of a single look from her.

After saying that, Paige turned around and walked away.

Instead, David was unrelenting, trailing Paige all the way to the entrance of the restaurant.

He really didn't like the way this woman treated him.

Noticing that David had followed him out, Paige didn't bother to continue talking to him and walked all the way to the location of his car.

"Paige." David called out to her directly.

Paige still ignored him and pressed the car keys in her hand.

Soon the new white Maserati supercar, not far away, sounded "beep" and the lights flashed a few times.

The feeling of being ignored enraged David.

He really hates such condescending women!

David went straight forward and reached out to stop Paige from going, "I'm talking to you, you can't hear me, can you?"

Paige, "I don't want to argue with you, please get out of the way."

Her heart's anger, once again, increased.

"Jocelyn and Noah and the others are up there, Go with me to dinner." Abel said, and began to pull Paige inside.

"No, I have things to do," Paige struggled.

However, he refused to let go, and just dominated her all the way into the restaurant.

Once inside, he lowered his head and took out his mobile phone with one hand to dial his new special assistant Luna, "What I did today at the entrance of the restaurant, absolutely no rumors are allowed to spread."

Afterwards, he hung up the phone and continued to pull Paige inside.

"Abel, I'm really not going, I've already eaten." Paige added, she didn't want to stay with Abel.

At these words, Abel paused, looked at her face with a smile and whispered in her ear, "If you don't go, I'll be kiss you to tears in front of everyone."

Everyone in the crowded hall was focused on them.

Paige blushed, "How dare you!"

Abel, "You know, there's just nothing that I wouldn't dare to do."

Paige frowned in dissatisfaction and threatened, "I'll beat you up, believe it or not?"

Abel laughed, "I just helped you thrash the scum, wouldn't it be unconscionable for you to beat me up?"

Paige was instantly speechless.

Well, he was really handsome in that moment just now.

Abel continued, "Didn't you want to thank me before? Since so, then accompany me up for a meal."

Paige was instantly speechless.

Abel hooked his lips in triumph.

In the next second, he picked her up horizontally in a domineering manner and walked straight upstairs, "Go, wife."

"Abel, did I tell you not to call me wife again? Put me down." Paige struggled again.

"No, not in this lifetime." Abel insisted.

"It's that man and that woman who beat me up, so you guys hurry up and put them all in prison."
David's voice, once again, rang out, his tone still tinged with anger.

At the sound of the voice, the crowd in the private room frowned.

Abel snorted coldly and moved his hands joints, "Fuck, still dare to come."

Immediately afterwards the door was pushed straight open.

Bruised and battered, David, standing in the doorway, pointed with an arrogant face at Abel and Paige inside the private room and said, "Get out, you're dead! You'll definitely go to jail!"

Abel smiled lightly, but did not say anything, just calmly sipped his tea.

And the others in the private room didn't give him half a look at all, all eating their own food.

Each carries indifference of the powerful.

Just the next second, when David's gaze fell on Noah's icy face, he was shocked.

His arrogance was all but gone.

In its place was a look of panic.

He subconsciously took a step back, his whole body trembling, and drew a cold breath backwards.

They are actually friends of Noah!

So he's on the wrong end of the stick, isn't he?

He thought his family was good enough, but to his surprise, what he hit today was even better than him.

David knew that he was, in all probability, going to be screwed up today.

Just at this time, a dozen police officers, all of them, arrived at the door.

The middle-aged bald policeman froze at the moment he saw the people present.

Paige calmly looked at the night scene at her feet and said, "How else can I think? That kind of playboy is not suitable for me."

Jocelyn held her hand and said, "Abel now is not the playboy he used to be, he's changed."

Paige laughed again, "I can't believe him."

Abel has been coming to her a lot these days.

In fact, after spending time together, it is not true to say that she is completely unimpressed.

There are times when her heart moves.

However, she would restrain herself because she dared not give her feelings to such a playboy casually.

A relationship with such a person is like a big gamble; if you win, you will be happy for life, if you lose, you will be doomed.

She didn't want to bet.

So now, when she sees Abel, she never tries to avoid him as much as she can.

Hearing that she didn't dare, rather than not liking him, Jocelyn instantly had an idea in her mind.

She took Paige's hand again and said in one word.

"Abel now is really different from before."

"He's really not touching anyone but you, and he really has to have you this time."

"Why don't you give yourself a chance and try? as a bystander, I see it clearly."

"Abel he really wants to be with you, he's not playing around."

Hearing Jocelyn's words, Paige was slightly moved, but did not dare to make a decision easily, "I'll think about it."

Jocelyn smiled and patted her lightly on the shoulder, "Well, think about it."

Paige nodded.

Just at this time, Robert came over with a smile, "In a while, we are going to go to the bar. Are you guys going?"

Jocelyn nodded cheerfully, "Sure."

The two waitresses, having put down their drinks, looked at each other and went out the door.

Closing the door behind them, the two of them then cautiously debated.

"Is Noah too humble in front of Jocelyn? Such an excellent man is actually most afraid of his wife leaving him?"

"Jocelyn is so lucky, I never get jealous of anyone, but this time I really am."

"It's no use being jealous, who made us not have the same fate as Jocelyn?"

Jocelyn and Noah stayed at the bar until two in the morning before they returned home.

Both of them drank a lot of wine, and after taking a shower, they began to use the strength of the wine. Noah coaxed Jocelyn to challenge a new way of making love that he had seen before, as if it would be particularly good.

Throughout the evening, Jocelyn was busy.

The next day it was noon when she opened her eyes.

Turning over with difficulty, she saw that Noah was still there.

He held his computer at work.

Looking at him in such a spirited manner, Jocelyn could not help but ask a sincere question in her heart again.

Why on earth is he so refreshed after sex?

Shouldn't Noah be the more tired in such matters?

This was a question she really couldn't understand.

It clearly states that Noah is required to treat her well for the rest of her life, and that he cannot cheat on her or commit domestic violence for the rest of her life.

Once he cheats or commits domestic violence, then the Griffin Group will have to be handed over to her.

When she saw this pledge, her eyes, instantly, turned red.

Every word and phrase on this pledge signified the importance that Mason family attached to her.

They valued her even more than Noah.

If he didn't love her so much, how would he be willing to make such a guarantee for Noah to sign?

The next moment, her tears flowed unbidden.

She really didn't know what she was capable of that she could be so favoured by the Mason family.

Seeing Jocelyn crying, Allie, Noah, Scott and Regan instantly tensed.

"Quick, tissues." said Scott, looking at Noah.

Noah then drew a tissue.

And Allie took the tissue into her hand and carefully wiped Jocelyn's tears, "What's wrong? What are you crying for?"

Jocelyn took the tissue and wiped her tears again, "I was moved. Why are you being so nice to me?"

Allie relaxed and smiled, "What else could it be? Just like you."

Jocelyn put the guarantee on the coffee table, "This won't be necessary, I believe Noah will treat me well for the rest of his life."

Allie immediately said with a serious face, "A lifetime is so long, who knows what will happen behind it? What should be signed must be made to be signed by him, so that there is a guarantee for you, and you also have a sense of security, don't you?"

On the phone, a message popped up about her.

"The hit ancient immortal IP 'Green Could' TV series of the same name is confirmed to start filming, with Jocelyn starring as Fairy Aubrey! The setting photos have been released!"

She did not expect that Robert's side would release her final photos so soon.

After all, the photos were taken yesterday.

Seeing the contents of her phone screen, Allie said with interest, "Take a look at the final photos, Noah showed me your final video yesterday and I was really impressed by the beauty."

Jocelyn then clicked in.

Reflecting the eye was a nine-panel Aubrey set photo.

There's her bowing her head and playing the piano, and then there's her drooping eyes and light smile.

All the backgrounds of the photos are made in solid grey.

The photos have not been retouched and look completely original.

But even so, the photo still shows her as a fairy, with a kind of beauty.

It is like being born a true fairy.

Seeing these photos, Allie couldn't help but let out a sigh of admiration, "This is fantastic too, isn't it?"

She herself loved the photos, complimenting them, "Very nice indeed."

Immediately afterwards, Allie then clicked on the comment section, and all sorts of compliments came straight into their eyes.

[Ahhhhhhhhh!!! Isn't this Fairy Aubrey? It Is nice !!!]

[When it was first rumored that Green Cloud was going to make a TV series, I was thinking that it would be great if Jocelyn could play Aubrey! Now my wish has come true!

As soon as Noah stepped off the plane, he carried Jocelyn out of the plane.

The place where they were was halfway up a mountain.

She was in Noah's arms, and a glance over to see the rolling hills and the mountains full of wild flowers, grasses and trees.

The various colours are interwoven, which is beautiful.

Twenty black-clad bodyguards, dressed in suits, also followed, standing in two rows around the pair.

Immediately afterwards, the men from the Blue Sky Exploration Team walked up to Jocelyn and Noah.

Each of them, with their tanned skin, looks healthy.

An inch-headed middle-aged man at the head of the group looked at Noah and nodded respectfully, "Mr. Mason, Mrs. Mason. Hello."

"This is Hector." Noah said as he looked at Hector lightly, still holding Jocelyn in his original position.

In front of so many people, Jocelyn was immediately embarrassed to leave Noah's embrace, took the initiative to extend her hand towards Hector, "Hello, I am Jocelyn, we'll need your help in the future."

Hector bent down respectfully and shook Jocelyn's hand, "I will definitely serve you well."

Next, Hector introduced all the other nineteen members of the Blue Sky Exploration Team to Jocelyn.

After greeting them one by one, Jocelyn cut straight to the chase and looked at Hector and asked, "Where is the mineral vein you mentioned?"

Hector then turned around and made an inviting gesture towards Jocelyn and Noah, "Please follow me."

After saying that, Hector led Jocelyn, Noah and the others, towards the front.

Noah held Jocelyn's hand tightly the whole time, carefully supporting her for fear that she would bump into it.

As if nursing a fragile porcelain doll.

Following Hector's footsteps, they soon reached a stone wall.

Hector pointed to a large chunk of the stone wall with a gemstone cutting surface and said, "You see, here, the original stone is already exposed, I used a tool to cut it open. It looks top quality."

"If I want it to be, it can be whenever I want it to be, and I tell you, the mine under here has to be mine." The young man said.

There was arrogance and dominance in his eyes, and such a grim aura was headed all over his body.

Immediately, Jocelyn understood that he did not own the land at all.

"So you're a Z citizen?" Jocelyn asked.

There are explicit rules in Z that foreigners, only if they are naturalised, can have the right to open mines.

"From Z Country? A country that trashy can be worthy of the noble me?" The young man looked disdainful, "You're dreaming?"

The words stung Jocelyn to the core.

The strong sense of patriotism that runs through her blood was then instantly stirred to depart.

She really didn't understand where the hell did this man in front of her get the confidence to despise people of Z Country here.

"Where the hell do you get the nerve to call Z Country out like that? This place is rubbish and you still come? Are you implying that you're worse than your own trash?" She coldly questioned.

The young man was instantly enraged, and he pointed viciously at Jocelyn, "You are dead!"

In the next instant, he turned towards the large group behind him and waved his hand.

The large force followed, pulling out their pistols in unison and aiming them at Jocelyn and Noah.

Noah's face was cold to the core.

A strong murderous streak poured from Noah's head.

Despite the large number of people opposite, Noah remained calm.

Without waiting for Noah to say anything, the bodyguards behind him took out their guns and aimed them at the young man.

"Drop the guns in your hands right now, or else he'll be dead in the next second." Jocelyn ordered as she looked around at the blond-haired, blue-eyed black-clad men who were holding up their guns and pointing them at Noah.

There had just been such a big confrontation that she had to not have a gun in their hands.

Otherwise, there is no guarantee that when the time comes, after they release the men, then shoot them directly.

In a real shootout, there were too few of them here to have the upper hand.

"When we lose ours, you'll have to lose yours too." the young man said.

"We don't lose it," said Jocelyn.

"And what gives us the right to throw it?" The young man added.

Noah snorted coldly and placed his hand on the trigger, the muzzle of the gun pressing hard into the back of his head, "Just because I can blow your head off in the next second."

Although he knew in his heart that they wouldn't dare to shoot, there was a chance that the gun would go off, and it wouldn't be a good idea to keep pointing it at his head.

After watching them all drop their guns, Jocelyn gave a wink to the bodyguard beside her.

The bodyguards understood and went forward to search the group of black-clad men.

Making sure that there was, indeed, nothing on them, the bodyguards returned to Jocelyn and Noah's side once again.

Noah was there the whole time, his face cold.

At this moment, he has a calm appearance, with coolness and indifference in his temperament.

Like a most elegant slayer.

After carefully searching the young man's back to make sure he didn't have a gun, he then slowly withdrew it and stood up straight away, returning to Jocelyn's side.

"Then take your time and drive." said Jocelyn indifferently.
