Chapter 581 Wilson

"Never mind, you can't stir up much of a storm anyway." Wilson had a look of disdain on his face.

A man in black spoke respectfully, "Mr Wilson, do you need us to go and retrieve the guns now? I have a feeling that group is not leaving, so I think something is brewing."

Hearing this, Wilson immediately laughed out loud, "Haha, that's really the funniest joke I've heard all year. If they wanted to kill me, they would have done it just now, why would they wait until now?"

"Do you know why they left me such a good vein of ore? And even let me go? It was because they didn't dare."

"That man talk to me so much, at the end, he did nothing substantial."

"He set me free, and let me tell you something, they are really timid."

"It's because they don't have the nuts."

Wilson continued word for word through gritted teeth, his face full of bemusement, "So don't bother looking for the gun, just leave it here, they won't dare to kill foreigners so easily anyway."

The others nodded in unison at these words.

Wilson then put his hands in his trouser pockets and leisurely took leisurely strides down

Six men in black followed him.

The others, on the other hand, began to keep punching holes in the top of the stone walls with various specialist tools.

Wilson led the way, walking briskly all the way to the base of the hill, quietly watching the black-clad men at work on top of the stone wall, waiting.

About three hours later, the top of the stone wall was opened by people in black, directly into a small hole three metres deep and five centimetres in diameter.

Once the hole was made, the men in black quickly unpacked the explosives box and threw the sticks of explosives, one by one, with a diameter of three centimetres and a length of ten centimetres, into the hole.

After the entire ten small holes had been stuffed with explosives, one man in black stayed behind while the others quickly, ran down the hill and stood by Wilson's side.

After everyone had left, the men in black who remained took ten fuses greater than ten metres in length and attached them to each of the ten detonators.

Chapter 582 The Unexpected

Bypassing the deep pit in the mountain, several of them walked directly next to the deep pit in the stone wall.

Wilson looked at the pile of blackened raw stones that had been blown out and said with a smug look on his face, "Look, what did I say? Under here, there is something good, hurry up, give me a few randomly selected stones, open to see the quality calculate the probability of high quality raw stones in this"

At his command, the men in black then quickly began randomly selecting raw stones to be cut.

They picked thousands of rough stones in succession as they went along.

However, after cutting, all were found to be with bit of green silk, low grade stuff.

And Wilson's expression changed from one of confidence to one of disappointment and coldness.

Originally, he swore to tell everyone that there must be something good underneath it, even going so far as, from the hands of others, to snatch it.

But he didn't expect to end up with such a pile of stuff.

There's nothing good up here, so surely there's nothing down there either.

He was now quite certain that this vein, at all, had no value for mining.

So, surprisingly, he got nothing.

This made him very unhappy.

In mid-air, Jocelyn and Noah, each with a highly configurable telescope in their hands, looked at Wilson and their location.

At this point, they could see the movements and even the expressions of the group of foreigners, led by Wilson, with perfect clarity.

Although they couldn't hear them, by their expressions and movements, it was clear to them that Wilson hadn't blown anything up at the moment.

Such an outcome was entirely expected.

So neither of them thought it was too strange.

Hector, who couldn't see the specifics underneath at all, looked at Jocelyn with curious eyes and asked, "Miss Murphy, did something come out?"

"No" said Jocelyn lightly.

Noah didn't say anything the whole time, just looked at Wilson coldly.

"Land it. Let's go check out the mine." Jocelyn added.

"As ordered." Noah answered, then he quickly operated the plane to land.

After the plane landed steadily, Noah was the first to get off the plane and carried Jocelyn straight down.

Immediately afterwards, the Blue Sky Exploration Team, along with the bodyguards, disembarked from the plane.

As soon as they stepped off the plane, the Blue Sky Exploration Team members, led by Hector, quickly carried their exploration equipment along with them.

Their exploration equipment, which is countless times lighter than commercially available detection equipment and has an extremely small footprint, is also extremely small.

The equipment is professional and lightweight with only one infinitely long, slender drill with a mineral analyser attached underneath, as well as the engine.

So it's very easy to carry, too.

Seeing this, Wilson immediately taunted, "Silly, is this a way to hog that vein because he sees I'm going to be taken? Don't go, there can't be anything good. If there was, would I go?" Wilson once again looked at Jocelyn's back and said, "Are you guys cerebral palsy?"

Jocelyn still didn't bother to pay him any mind and continued to walk up

Instead, Wilson gave another taunt, "What an idiot. I said no, and you still don't believe me."

He really didn't understand how there could be such a stupid group of people in this world.

Jocelyn is really disgusted by this man

But still, maintaining the level of play he should have, he continued calmly to the top.

Not a single look was given to the fool.

Hector was not happy to hear it, pausing to look at Wilson and said, "No one knows what's going on underneath."

Wilson sneered, "Only you fools can treat a junkyard like a treasure. You still don't believe it, you have to go on down, are you really an expert? Why do I feel that you are not as good as me?"

He really felt that the group of people in front of him were sick in the head.

"I told you that before, didn't I? You're really dead." Wilson chortled again, gritting his teeth.

The white-haired policeman sniffed, feeling helpless, "It's not certain who we're going to be dead."

Wilson didn't bother to pay any more attention to him and put his gaze on Jocelyn's face again, "I've taken note of what kind of humiliation I've suffered today because of you, today I'm willing to bet and concede, I'll give you tlvnm mine, but don't get cocky even if you take tlvnm mine, you won't have a good time!"

Hearing this, Jocelyn could not help but laugh.

She couldn't remember exactly how long it had been since she had been threatened like that.

The same goes for Noah on the side.

"What are you smiling at?" Wilson asked, looking at Jocelyn with displeasure.

"How do you want to not give me a good time?" Jocelyn asked.

"I can have you dead, disfigured, whatever I want you to be." Wilson added.

"Is that so? Just by you?" Jocelyn raised her eyebrows slightly, just thinking that there was something really wrong with this person.

On the side, Noah's face was already gloomy and cold to the extreme, and a powerful killing aura, instantly, poured down from above his head.

The powerful aura instantly chilled the air.

Wilson screamed again, "Do you know who the Vice President is to me? Do you have any idea what he would do to you if he knew what I'm going through?"

Looking at him, arrogant and domineering, Noah and Jocelyn's faces, at the same time, went cold.

So this man is related to the Vice President?

No wonder he speaks with such confidence.

But knowing Jocelyn's knowledge of Vice President Mike, he didn't seem to be a man who would come out to do such a thing with his own family and friends, did he?

What's this all about?

"Then do you know who the person in front of you is?" The white-haired policeman couldn't stand it any longer and couldn't help saying.

Hector and the others did not leave immediately, but stood still with their faces full of smiles and waved goodbye to them.

Jocelyn immediately waved at them.

Noah, on the other hand, nodded politely towards them, as cold and noble as ever.

Only after receiving their response did Hector and the others turn around and leave.

The couple in the helicopter were the biggest attraction in the crowded square at this time.

Despite the darkness, the moment they were seen, everyone felt that it was dawn.

A few girls, not far away, couldn't help but pause and look at Noah's position and get excited.

"Who is that that man, why does he look so familiar? Is it a star, travel actually drive a helicopter, too awesome, right?"

"Ahhhhhhh, really super handsome, how do I feel that guy looks like Ryan?"

"I do think that he is not like Ryan, but Noah. Is the woman inside Jocelyn?"

"Ahhhhh, crap, it is true, I want to take pictures, I actually saw the super honourable Noah and Jocelyn!"

The helicopters are loud.

Outside, they both can't hear a thing

It was only when Jocelyn inadvertently glanced outside that he saw so many people looking at her and Noah.

Noah's eyes were on her face the whole time, "Do you want to go get something to eat?"

Jocelyn nodded, "Yeah there's a great Italian food over here in Blue Mountain City, I'll take you to eat."

The waitress, carefully guiding the two of them, entered the private room.

She had never, in reality, seen such good-looking faces, so good that she felt as if her eyes would be pierced by their light when she looked at them.

The private rooms are plainly decorated.

As soon as he entered, Noah took the initiative to pull out a chair for Jocelyn and helped her into it.

Only afterwards did he sit down opposite her.

The little details once again stunned the waitress.

"You order the food." Noah said.

"Oh, good," Jocelyn smiled, taking the paper menu on the table and ticking off what she wanted on it.

After ordering the food, the waitress reluctantly left the private room, while Jocelyn put her head down and opened her Weibo.

Noah, on the other hand, unhurriedly picked up the hot water kettle on the table and carefully unpacked and scalded both of their cutlery.

He then used a disinfectant wipe and wiped the table.

Jocelyn was used to Noah's care and felt happy watching him go about his business for her.

When she opened the hot search, she saw that she and Noah were on the hot search

Jocelyn subconsciously looked up at Noah

Then he took a good look at the contents of the phone screen.

This entry was sent by Weibo News.

In the next second, she quickly tapped into Weibo and took a look at the large text that came to her eyes

"@WeiboNews: just now, Griffin Group's official Weibo released the finalized video of Jocelyn as Aubrey Fairy, and said it will then pick one hundred netizens who have re-reviewed it to give away 10,000 cash."

A screenshot of the forwarding of the prize draw posted by the official Weibo account of Griffin Group just below the post shows a video of her make-up with the text: [From now on! Whoever forwards and

This video, it seems, was sent by Robert to Noah that day.

With eyes full of inquiry, she looked across at Noah.

But she felt that the tone of the post was not like Noah's.

If it's not Noah, then it's naturally Regan, or Scott or Allie

She felt that Allie was more likely.

Thinking of this, she quickly clicked on the official Weibo account of Griffin Group and glanced at the forwarding lucky draw post that had just been posted in it.

Although the video has only been posted for ten minutes, the number of likes and comments has directly exceeded five million.

The impact can be seen.

In the comments section below, all the people went crazy.

Chapter 588 Allen officially retires

At this moment, Allen was sitting on the sofa with his head down, watching the television.

Jocelyn changed into slippers, then quickly walked to Allen's side, directly jumped into his arms, "Dad, you are finally back, I missed you so much."

Allen smiled as he lightly patted Jocelyn's shoulder and said with a smile, "I miss you too."

"Come on, let me take a good look" said Allen, then tenderly pushed Jocelyn away and carefully examined her face.

His eyes were full of approval, "Well, you are looking so much better lately."

Looking at Allen's expression, Jocelyn could already conclude that he was now completely and utterly out of the gloom of Sara and Gloria's death

Jocelyn immediately felt relieved .

She took his hand affectionately and asked, "Dad, I'm really happy to see you in a better mood now."

Allen, "Some time ago, I made you worry, I'm sorry ah, Jocelyn."

Jocelyn then shook her head, "It's nothing, as your daughter, I should be concerned about you."

The corners of Allen's mouth grew into a smile, "I see that you have recently run the Murphy's very well, and your own business is also doing well, I am glad to see that."

"My Jocelyn has really grown up and made a difference." Saying that, Allen then raised his hand, dotingly stroking Jocelyn's hair gently, "I am old and don't want to fight so hard anymore"

"From today, I am going to hand over the Murphy Group and all the shares in my name to you completely, I want to retire" Allen added.

The huge array of voices, the deafening sound, deepened the consternation on Jocelyn's face.

She froze for a second before she quickly regained her composure and looked at everyone and smiled, "Thank you all, everyone go up to work. Today's dinner is on me, the leaders of the various departments make the arrangements, I will pay for it."

"Thank you, Chairman!" The staff once again shouted in unison.

"No worries, I hope everyone can work together with me in the future to make the company better. Well, everyone disperse and go back to work." Even though she was facing tens of thousands of employees, Jocelyn remained calm and composed.

After saying that, she entered the lift

Paige's face was full of displeasure as he was snapped by a stranger looking over his shoulder, "Who are you?"

The moment he saw Paige's face, the yellow-haired rich man froze a bit

He felt the woman looked familiar but couldn't think where he'd seen her before

"Haven't I seen you somewhere before?" The rich yellow-haired man asked.

Paige frowned, "Don't you know how to choose fresh words when you want to strike up a conversation?"

The man was in his designer clothes, his smell of alcohol and his frivolous expression, looks like an out-of-touch playboy.

She didn't give a damn about him.

As soon as she looked up, she saw Abel with a dark face, walking towards their position.

And behind Abel stood a whole bunch of other young men, dressed in international designer labels.

She really didn't expect to run into Abel here by such a coincidence.

Without waiting for her to say anything, Abel walked directly behind the rich yellow-haired man.

He didn't say a word, just quickly lifted his foot and kicked it hard towards his ass.

In the next second, the rich yellow-haired man flew straight out a metre.

In another second, his whole body landed heavily on the ground.

The group of rich mans behind Abel could not help but laugh at this scene.

"Damn! Who is it, who actually has the nerve to kick me?" The yellow-haired rich man quickly rubbed his ass lightly, cursed and stood up, and looked over to where Abel was.
