Chapter 861 Honeymoon

"That's right. That's the bride's mum and dad, aunts and uncles, cousins and so on, right? Gosh, how can they eat that way?"

"My God, have they gone mad at the sight of some pastries?"

"They saw the snacks like a princess at dinner today."

The sound of two women gabbing was extraordinarily harsh.

"Keep your voice down. Beware of Jocelyn and Noah hearing you."

"So what? Our family and Murphy Group are all in partnership, could it be that Jocelyn will pick on us for that group of poor? Don't be whimsical. Rosa's family is a bunch of poor, make me sick. "

"Seriously, I hate poor people too, not of the same class. There's a really big difference between everyone, poor people deserve to die."

The two men are full of sightless arrogance between the lines.

Jocelyn frowned slightly as her gaze made its way through the crowd around her and landed on the two celebrities who were leaning against the beige and white carved wall at the back of the crowd.

They are the daughters of the Murphy family's partners.

All are aristocrats with backgrounds.

These two, in celebrity circles, have always had a bad reputation, fond of bullying.

Jocelyn stood up instantly and sharply, ready to walk towards the two of them.

That group of people are all relatives of the Mason family.

She could not tolerate the insult to their family members.

They had misjudged her.

Jocelyn got up sharply and walked in front of the two of them, indifferently speaking, "I hope you watch your words. if there is anything you are not satisfied with, you can leave."

Chapter 862 Quietly Blooming

The journalists got the news from somewhere that they would be arriving at Flento City International Airport at this time.

At this point, the hall was filled with journalists carrying cameras.

As far as the eye can see, there are hundreds of people.

Seeing this, the bodyguards they carried, as well as the airport security guards, stepped forward and formed a circle in front of them.

Journalists flocked frantically to them like flies on blood.

A mass gathering formed around several of them.

In this instant, the attention of several floors above and below the airport was focused on a few of them.

Soon the sound of the shutter drowned out almost all.

Immediately afterwards, a number of note-takers handed their microphones, with great effort, to the group of Jocelyn.

"You guys, after attending the wedding, you came straight back? Don't you follow Ryan and Rosa out to have fun?"

"Where's Ryan and Rosa? Did they go on their honeymoon? Where is the honeymoon location?"

"May I ask you both what your thoughts are on the marriage of Ryan?"

"Miss Murphy, as far as I know, you and Noah haven't had a wedding yet, have you? After seeing their wedding, have you thought about having a make-up luxury wedding?"

"I would like to ask Rosa's families, are you still happy with this wedding?"

"I would like to ask Rosa's families, what is your feeling about Rosa marrying the Mason family?"

The journalists' questions, like waves, swept in.

In one fell swoop, it overwhelmed them all.

The various questions, one after another, made them wonder for a moment which one to answer first.

She even gets better every day.

So good that he can't be close, so good that he needs to look her up.

There is really nothing more solid than this.

The sensation of ten thousand ants devouring the bones became more and more intense.

He felt unable to hold on.

Straight away, he collapsed helplessly to the ground, foaming at the mouth.

He really wanted to take two more puffs.

A strong desire, like a trapped beast frantically breaking free from its cage, kept hitting the deepest part of his heart.

He really regrets his drug addiction.

It's just harmful.

No matter who it is, if you touch it, you will be instantly taken by this into hell for all eternity.

When he broke down, Joseph bit his tongue.

However, no matter how much he bit, he still could not relieve the pain in his body.

With constant force, the tongue was bitten right off by him.

Blood flowing.

However, he was completely unaware of the pain and just twitched wildly.

The caller was Paige.

Sleeping until she woke up naturally, at this moment, she felt that the fatigue she had accumulated these days, because of Ryan's wedding, had disappeared all of a sudden.

Because she slept well, she was in a good mood.

She stretched unhurriedly, before she stretched her arms and touched the constantly vibrating mobile phone on the bedside table and glanced at it.

"Hello, Paige."

Her voice, soft and lazy, was like a cup of hot milk on a winter's day, soothing and warming.

"Joseph is dead."

The words that poured into her ears surprised Jocelyn.

She only just heard that Joseph was undergoing compulsory drug rehabilitation.

Suddenly, she was told again that the man was dead.

But apart from her surprise, her heart was not half as emotional as it should have been at the news of this man.

Once, the man who had stunned her entire teenage years, even in death, had not provoked half the heartache she felt.

"How did he die?" Jocelyn asked subconsciously and then sat up.

Even if she has just woken up, she is still beautiful.

The call woke up Noah next to her.

The man opened his eyes, before naturally reaching out and pulling her into his arms in a tight embrace.

"Supposedly, it was because the addiction kicked in and it got too hard, then it just bit its tongue off."

"At the time, because there were no professionals around to watch, so he died."

"This is the responsibility of the rehab, and it's logical that someone should be watching over such a serious situation."

The face that met her eyes was that of the good and beautiful Connie.

She opened the door at once and walked gently towards the door, looking at Connie outside and asking, "Is something wrong?"

"Nothing much, just wanted to ask you if you want to come home for breakfast? I made a table of delicious food and I just called you and you didn't answer, so I came over."

Connie's tone was gentle.

That face, despite the lack of make-up, is still attractive.

Jocelyn, "May be the phone accidentally silent so I did not hear it, I was just about to call home, this morning, do not go back to eat. I want to eat my husband made pork ribs noodles. "

Under Connie's eyes, there was a flash of disappointment, "Ah, forget it, another day then. Right, I stewed bird's nest for you, I'll Bring it to you."

Jocelyn shook her head, "No need, I don't want to drink this morning, you can save it all for yourself and my dad."

Connie, "Okay, will you go home for dinner tonight? Allen said he wanted to cook hot pot for dinner, and said that it's only lively when a big family is together."

Jocelyn, "I'll go back tonight then."

Connie then smiled contentedly, "Good, I'll prepare in advance then."

Jocelyn, "Don't work too hard, call me for any ingredients you need, I'll bring them over then."

Connie, "Okay, I'm off then, bye."

With those words, Connie then raised her hand and waved it at Jocelyn.

And Jocelyn, in turn, immediately waved at her.

Her father and she share the same habits.

All like to cook hotpot in winter, when the snow is flying.

In particular, watching the snow while it cooks.

Even if her father didn't say anything, tonight, she was prepared to go home and eat with him.

Outside, the snow continues to fall.

The snow is falling heavier and heavier, and a sluggish north wind is sweeping across the world.

The wind that greeted her made her shiver.

It was only a short time before the outside was already covered in silver.

The landscape is beautiful.

Chapter 866 A Warm Winter (2)

In full view of everyone, Jocelyn's two hundred bodyguards were the first to get out of the car in a neat manner.

Most of the people, on either side of the company's main entrance, stood neatly and respectfully in two rows, making a path for her.

A small group of people, on the other hand, stood by her car.

The one near the driver's door respectfully opened it for her and held up a black umbrella.

The moment the car door opens.

The warm winter sunlight hit Jocelyn impartially.

It sets off her skin,.

It continues to snow.

The snow is beautiful, but it is not worth a millionth of her face.

Jocelyn elegantly got out of the car and walked all the way to the company.

Because of the umbrella held by the bodyguard. The snowflakes did not fall on her body and head.

Thus star-studded, at the highest point of the crowd, she is valiant and noble, soft and beautiful.

There are several sensations that converge in one person, yet they are not at all abrupt.

The hordes of fans, the moment they saw Jocelyn, were stunned.

In person, Jocelyn is even better looking than the photos.

When she came out, they felt that she was the only one they could see in their eyes.

Chapter 867 Panic!

Speaking of which, people feel even more solid.

For a moment, everyone was lemon-crazed beyond words.

Joseph's ashes had been interred in the Stewart family cemetery.

Joseph has completely and utterly disappeared from this world.

When Jocelyn walked into the office, she saw the news that Joseph had been buried.

She still only glanced faintly at it.

And then it was to call all the departments of the company to a meeting in the conference room.

Because of the need to accompany Allen to dinner, in the evening, Jocelyn left work early.

It's freezing outside.

The snow continued to fall for the whole day.

Sanitation workers throughout Flento City are busy.

After work, she first went to the supermarket to buy some ingredients for the hotpot.

After that, he called Noah to inform him that she was going to her father's for dinner.

After the phone call, she took her things and led the way into the Murphy's.

The warm interior is heated to thirty degrees.

In such a cold winter, the moment she walks into a heated room, Jocelyn always has the illusion of having traveled from winter to summer.

After taking off the coat she was wearing, she carried her things and went into the living room.

At this moment, Allen was carefully applying medicine to Connie's fingertips.

With one hand, he gently squeezed Connie's wrist.

With the other hand, he carefully applied ointment to the top of the red and swollen index finger.

In order to make Connie more comfortable, he even used his mouth.

Chapter 868 Scratching

A servant in the house, covered in blood, stands outside the door.

She has an injury to her right eye, kept tightly closed.

The bright red liquid, which kept flowing down the corner of the eye, was horrifying in the extreme.

And her other eye was full of horror.

It was as if they had just been through something terrible.

Jocelyn opened the door instantly.

With eyes full of concern, she looked at the servant, "What's wrong with you? What happened?"

The maid gasped and pointed at the garden behind her, her eyes full of panic, "I was just sweeping snow from the cobblestone path in the small garden when suddenly, something came out of the garden."

The maid trembled under the severe pain.

The sound is small.

On her forehead, a thick layer of cold sweat broke out.

She was like a small white flower on the edge of a cliff, wavering.

"Then it crawled right up to my face and tickled my right eye hard, then I went black with pain."

"All I know is that the thing is furry, I don't know anything else."

"That's really horrible, Missy, we don't have a pet at home, so what the hell is that?"

"By the way, I smelled there was a strange smell on that thing."

The maid was panting in pain as she did so.

All the while, it was powerless.

The more she said, the more the fear in her eyes deepened.

She looked lost in thought.

It was as if she was scared out of her wits.

The maid's performance made Jocelyn's heart ache.

"They come out to work, it's not easy, since they work in my home, they are my family. I naturally have to be nice to them." Jocelyn said.

"That's nice." Marcus complimented.

After about half an hour, the injured maid was wheeled out.

Her right eye has been bandaged.

It is covered with a thick white gauze.

She was still unconscious.

On the back of her hand, she was still on an anti-inflammatory and pain-relieving drug.

Jocelyn and Noah watched the medical staff, after they had placed her in the ward.

Jocelyn went and got her two more nurses to look after her closely.

Only afterwards did she join Noah and leave the hospital.

As they walked out of the hospital building, it was once again snowing heavily in a cloudy sky.

Not only did it come earlier than usual.

And, it's a lot heavier than it used to.

The coming year will probably be a bumper one, Jocelyn thought.

A cold wind greeted her and blew on her thighs, which were only wearing a pair of trousers, making her shiver.

She instantly picked up her pace and got into the car.

The driver of the car never got out.

Once she got inside, it was always heated.

Chapter 870 Dreaming

Hearing the sound of the doorbell, Jocelyn's heart, at once, rose to her throat.

Because just now, what happened to the maid.

At this moment, she got scared as she heard the doorbell.

Fear of another person got injured.

Jocelyn immediately took a deep breath, and then she went straight to the door and looked at the visual doorbell.

In the frame stands a serious-looking bodyguard.

Reassuringly, the bodyguard's face was intact.

Jocelyn then let out a long sigh of relief before opening the door.

"Missy, I was just patrolling the garden and spotted this."

That bodyguard carefully put handful of hair into the hands of Jocelyn.

The size is like a whole cotton seed.

The hair was exactly the same as the one Marcus had given her before.

These white hairs are very fluffy, soft, and in the light they keep shining with an understated magnificent light.

When a few individual hairs are present, she can't quite make out exactly what they are.

Now many of them come together and when she holds them in her hand and feels them in her hand, she feels like a fox fur.

She now felt that it was, ninety percent, fox fur.

Could it have been a fox that scratched someone?

Why is there a fox in her house?

Around here, she hadn't heard of anyone keeping foxes.

The moment this word intruded into her mind, Jocelyn's body instantly shook.

In a moment, her heart was in the throat.

She thought of the Lena fox in her dream.

Some time ago, there was always Lena fox in the dream.

And now, there's this in the house.

If this is really fox fur, then it means that the servant was scratched by a fox.
