

Legendary FBI Detective Chapter 12

Chapter 12 New York's own city is here

Jody and the others, who had been busy all night, were about to find a place to sleep when they suddenly got a new message:

Roan successfully turned into a full-time agent. The bonus for solving the case and the murderer's reward totaled 55,000 US dollars, which will be paid together with Roan's salary this weekend.

If this news makes Jody and other male detectives jealous + unwilling, then another news makes Elena and other female detectives unable to hold back:

Because of Roan's strong request, the leader of No. 5 team Augustus also made Mona a full-time agent, and at the same time was transferred to No. 5 investigation team.

And there's Mona's share of that $55,000.

"Fu-k!"

"bi-ch!"

"They both have two legs, what's the difference between me and Mona?"

Compared with men, the fight between women is more intense and terrifying.

Roan had no way of knowing the mentality of Jody and other intern detectives. He and Mona chatted with Augustus in the office area of the No. 5 investigation team for a while, and finally got off work. After saying goodbye to Mona, he took a taxi and returned to his predecessor. Small apartment for rent in Queens.

A kitchen, a bedroom, a bathroom, and a living room. Roan simply glanced around. The apartment was a bit messy. The clothes that needed to be changed were scattered all over the floor.

Roan simply searched and found that the source of the smell was the unwashed stinky socks under the sofa.

"Fortunately, I didn't invite Mona to my home."

Feeling that the predecessor was really informal, Roan opened the window to keep the air in the room flowing, and then began to search for important items related to the predecessor, but did not tidy up the room.

The reason is very simple. Luo An didn't plan to live in this apartment. Apart from the fact that the location of the apartment is too far away from the place of work, he has no car and needs to get up early to take the subway to work. Another important reason is that the apartment is only two days away. expired.

Walking into the bedroom, Roan found an old-fashioned computer with a big butt. A very important thing for the predecessor: a passbook!

Seeing the huge sum of five hundred dollars on it, Roan put it into his arms expressionlessly.

How much money is meat, the old killer once warned Luo An:

Don't underestimate every penny, sometimes a life can't be sold for a penny.

After carefully checking the memories in his mind in the house and making sure there was nothing missing, Roan called the landlord and left the apartment.

From now on, Roan Greenwood is Roan Greenwood.

At the Nether Watson Hotel in Manhattan, Roan took a simple shower, didn't call the waitress, and lay on the bed ready to go to bed.

Traveling through the first day, I still feel a little uncomfortable, and I have been running around for a day, Roan is really not in the mood to play a two-player game.

After a long time, Roan, who had fallen asleep, suddenly heard a "buzz" in his ear. Before he could react, a familiar light blue page appeared before his eyes again.

Roan glanced at the time, it was twelve midnight.

"The co-author refreshes the treasure chest at twelve o'clock every day, right?"

Stretched, Roan yawned and began to check the system page.

【Yesterday's performance evaluation: good】

【Number of treasure chests obtained: three】

【Do you want to open the treasure chest? 】

“.ON.”

Seeing the word "good" in the evaluation, Luo An's eyes lit up. Since there is good, it must be excellent.

But after thinking about it, there should be pass and fail.

【The treasure chest has been opened】

【Physical potion x 1. Fireproof potion ×1. Night Vision Potion x 1.

Seeing the three potions prescribed on the light blue system page, Roan thought of the hemostatic potion used for girls in suspenders during the day.

The effect is immediate, and it can completely save one's life at a critical moment.

but

Put down the pillow and lie down again, Roan closed his eyes and underestimated in a low voice:

"Why do I feel that the effects of these medicines are more suitable for going on the road of killers?"

At eight o'clock the next morning, Roan walked into the office area of the investigation team No. 5 on the 23rd floor of the Jacob Federal Building with a lot of breakfast.

It has been said before that the 23rd-26th floors of the Jacobs Federal Office Building in Manhattan are the site of the FBI's New York branch.

These four floors are occupied by several major departments including the Homeland Security Division, Crime-Network-Response and Service Division, Science and Technology Division, Intelligence Division, Information and Technology Processing Division, and Human Resources Division of the FBI New York Branch.

Crime-Network-Response and Service Division, including the Criminal Investigation Department, Major Matters Response Team, Cyber Department, International Business Department and Victim Services Department.

Among them, the major event response team includes many familiar hostage rescue teams-HRT, special weapons and tactics team-SWAT, crisis/hostage negotiation team-CUN, behavioral analysis department-BAU, and finally the anti-improvised explosive device department .

Of course, these departments have nothing to do with Luo An. The No. 5 investigation team he came to today belongs to the Criminal Investigation Department and is one of the thirteen investigation teams under the Criminal Investigation Department.

Don't ask why there are thirteen investigation teams, but New York's own city situation here.

The team leader, Vernis, is mainly in charge of matters related to investigation teams No. 1-5. As for No. 6 and onwards, other team leaders are in charge.

These teams work on a wide range of crimes including mass killings, sniper murders, serial killings, gangs, crimes against children, human trafficking/involuntary slavery, bank robberies, jewelry and gemstone theft, international violent crimes They can all participate in the survey.

"Good morning, Mr. Detective."

Luo An walked into the gate of the No. 5 investigation team's office area, and found that there was only one person in the room. The other party was a strong white man who was no less than 1.9 meters tall, with a cropped head and muscles that seemed to be able to explode a suit.

Hearing someone talking to him, the strong white man looked away from the computer, turned his head and saw the outstandingly handsome Roan, and grinned:

"It seems that you are the Roan that Augustus said!"

"That's right, it's me."

Roan handed the breakfast in his hand to the other party, and asked with a smile:

"I don't know what Augustus said about me?"

The strong white man took the breakfast, and he was not polite, biting off more than half of it in one bite, and smiled vaguely:

"August told us that Roan is not only as handsome as him, but also has a brain similar to him. But his skills are not as good as his. I hope we will let you, don't bully you, and protect you more during the mission. Some."

Roan: "."

Seeing the stiff expression on Roan's face, the strong white man said directly after eating breakfast in two or three bites:

"Don't worry, everyone in our No. 5 investigation team knows that you, Roan, solved the case in ten and eight hours yesterday. There will be no one who doesn't have eyes to bully you."

"No, I'm not afraid of being bullied."

Roan shook his head and spread his hands:

"I was just thinking, after August's propaganda, what do I look like in the hearts of those who have never seen me but have seen Augustus?"

Hearing this, the strong white man laughed, slapped Roan on the shoulder and said:

"My name is Ledley Smith, and I am a senior agent of the No. 5 investigation team. You can call me Ryder from now on."

After finishing speaking, Ryder took the bag containing the breakfast, took out three packs of breakfast again and began to eat.

Roan: "."
