

FBI Detective 661

Chapter 661 Remote-controlled nuclear bomb, arrest, accident

Wilfrido, whose main job is as a mercenary, is not a person who likes to abide by rules, or in other words, he only likes to abide by the law of the jungle and the rules that are beneficial to him.

Wilfrido didn't take the small matter of driving on the wrong side of the road seriously at all, but he couldn't bear it when other people were driving on the wrong side of the road, and their driving skills were poor, so they hit him.

"damn it..."

Wilfrido cursed loudly, and then suddenly realized that something was wrong:

Now there is no one else on this road except him and the law enforcement officers. Everyone stays far away and dare not get close.

In this case, there are only two types of people who can hit your own off-road vehicle:

Either she was simply incompetent in technique and had no awareness of traffic rules, so she drove in the wrong lane and accidentally hit an off-road vehicle.

Either the other party deliberately drove in the wrong direction and bumped into his off-road vehicle on purpose!

All kinds of thoughts flashed through Wilfrido's mind instantly. When he reacted, he immediately raised his hand to grab the AR-15 rifle on the passenger seat, and at the same time looked up in the rearview mirror to check the situation.

Bang!

Wilfrido suddenly stopped moving and his face became stiff. Roan stared at Wilfrido closely and shouted loudly without looking back:

"How is it going?"

Seeing the group of law enforcement officers in Encino City being pushed back by Wilfrido, the pale Ophelia suddenly cursed loudly.

Wilfrido's pupils shrank, and before he could react, a huge force came and he was pulled directly out of the car window!

"The nuclear warhead was found!"

Just when Wilfrido started to reverse the car, Luo An arrived in the area in an SUV.

Out of caution, Wilfrido would definitely reinforce and tie up something as terrifying as a nuclear warhead in the back seat just in case it fell from the back seat.

Swearing something in an unknown language, Wilfrido quickly rolled sideways to avoid Luo An's heavy kick.

The dagger scraped through the air and made a sharp sound. Luo An leaned back and easily dodged it. Wilfrido took another step forward and prepared to stab. Luo An grinned and suddenly took out the Glock pistol from behind:

"do not move!"

At this moment, the glass on the driver's door was suddenly smashed, and a hand suddenly reached in and grabbed the collar in front of Wilfrido's neck.

When Mona checked the surveillance before, she not only found a cylindrical object in the back seat of the off-road vehicle, but also found traces of ropes and horizontal strips under the cover. From this, she deduced that Wilfrido had done something to the things behind the vehicle. Reinforcement measures.

A carp stood up straight, Wilfrido put his left hand in his pocket, took out a dagger with his right hand and stabbed Luo An.

Throwing Wilfrido to the ground forcefully, he kicked the AR-15 that was pulled out by the opponent far away. Luoan then flew up and kicked him in the chest.

"that's it!"

Roan agreed with Mona's inference that Wilfrido was a mercenary after all. Without careful behavior, he would not be alive today.

It was based on this inference and the "emotional perception" in his mind that there was no danger ahead, that Luo An finally made the decision to hit the other person and force him to stop.

Luo An didn't care. He took this opportunity to immediately turn the steering wheel, drive the SUV into the opposite lane, and crash into the off-road vehicle.

In the off-road vehicle behind the two of them, Ophelia opened the door of the back seat and forcefully lifted the cover on the back seat. A dark gray cylinder with an oval bottom and a pointed object suddenly appeared in front of her. In front of you.

Ophelia's eyes lit up instantly and she replied loudly:

"Good."

Emotional perception was always turned on, and no danger was sensed. The Geiger counter on his lower back did not make any sound. Luo An breathed a sigh of relief, and then said with a smile:

Hello, Mr. Wilfrido, this is the FBI.

Congratulations, you were arrested for stealing nuclear warheads. "

While Luo An was talking, he saw Wilfrido being dragged out of the car. The cars from the law enforcement agencies in the distance were no longer afraid. They rushed up quickly and raised their guns to surround Wilfrido in the middle of the crowd. .

"Don't move!"

"Hands up!"

"Get down! Get down quickly!"

"No, Mr. FBI, I caught you."

Facing so many gunshots, Wilfrido did not panic at all. He did not pay attention to the people from the Encino City law enforcement department, but grinned and opened his left hand.

There was a black box there that was smaller than a mobile phone and had a few buttons. Wilfrido smiled and said:

"I installed something small in that nuclear warhead, and this is its remote control.

I suggest you let me go immediately, or you can take a bet on whether this remote control is real or fake.

The bet is simple, it's just that the nuclear warhead explodes, we all die, and the area is contaminated by radiation for dozens of miles. "

"..."xN

Seeing the small black box in Wilfrido's hand and hearing what Wilfrido said, everyone in the Encino City Law Enforcement Department was instantly shaken. The scene was quiet, and several leadership figures were even more shocked. His face turned green.

Ophelia beside the off-road vehicle was breathing heavily. She only knew part of the information and appearance of the nuclear warhead, but she didn't know how to dismantle the nuclear warhead. She couldn't be sure whether what Wilfrido said was true or false.

Seeing that everyone else was starting to become emotionally unstable and even a little panicked, but the FBI in front of him still looked calm and unchanged, Wilfrid chuckled and continued:

“I'll give you five minutes, and you can ask an expert to come over and check the situation.

I'm leaving here in five minutes. Is there any problem?

In addition, fellow law enforcement officers, I was just passing by on this highway and had no intention of entering the city. You can rest assured. ”

Hearing what Wilfrido said later, the eyes of several leaders of this group of law enforcement officers suddenly lit up.

Looking at each other, we quickly understood what the other person was thinking. One of the middle-aged white men with a big belly nodded slightly, slowly moved to Luo An's side, and whispered:

“Mr. FBI, I think...”

boom!

boom! boom! boom! boom!

Just as the fat-bellied white man started to speak, several gunshots suddenly rang out. Wilfrido was first shot in the left wrist and the small black box fell to the ground. Then, both legs and shoulders were shot, and his body fell backwards to the ground. .

The sudden sound of gunfire startled everyone. When the gunfire ended, everyone quickly moved their guns to aim at the shooter, who was Luo An.

Blowing the muzzle smoke, Luo An put away the pistol and explained calmly:

“He's lying, that little box is not a remote control.”

Because "emotional perception" was always turned on, from the first sentence Wilfrid said, Luo An discovered that the other party was lying, and the purpose was not difficult to guess, which was to scare these people into letting him leave.

Roan walked to Wilfrido, squatted down and picked up the small box, and said with a smile:

“The following sentences are a good means of differentiation and co-optation.”

The severe pain from the muzzle and the annoyance that the plan was revealed made Wilfrido's eyes red and his mouth smelled sweet, greeting Roan from various angles.

Luo An took out the handcuffs and controlled him, and said calmly:

“Save your energy and scold me when you get to the hospital. Don't get so excited that you lose too much blood and die on the way.”

Wilfrido was even angrier, but immediately stopped saying greetings.

Luo An sneered, which was another reason why he judged that the little black box was a lie:

Although Wilfrido is a mercenary and kills people on the battlefield, he is actually afraid of death. After all, only by living can he enjoy beautiful women and delicious food, so he will never bet on his own life.

After a few words with the law enforcement people in Encino City, Luo An was too lazy to talk nonsense with them and asked them to quickly call the relevant experts to deal with the nuclear warheads. After all, no one at the scene knew how to do this kind of work.

Not long after, the experts arrived at the scene and started working. After waiting for a while, Luo An's cell phone suddenly rang:

“It's me, Mona.”

Mona on the other end of the phone spoke urgently:

“Chanelle and Lacey have lost contact!”

Luo An's eyes were fixed, and before he could speak, Ophelia suddenly walked over quickly and said in a low voice:

“Luo An, something is wrong. There is something wrong with this nuclear warhead.”

Chapter 662: Real and fake nuclear warheads

“There's something wrong with the nuclear warhead!”

The expression on Ophelia's face was a little anxious. Luo An interrupted her with a wave of his hand, and asked in a deep voice while holding his mobile phone:

“Mona, what exactly happened?”

Mona spoke quickly and quickly explained what happened.

Mona's task is to stay at the headquarters and be responsible for investigating information, handling monitoring, and coordinating all parties.

Half an hour ago, Roan's operation ended and the nuclear warhead was successfully found. After Mona learned about it, she immediately sent the news to Winslow, Michelle, Chenelle, and Lacey.

Now that the nuclear warhead has been found, the mission of the two teams naturally ends, and the four people begin to pack up and prepare to return.

“Five minutes ago, Lacey suddenly called me and asked me to help her retrieve the surveillance of a certain area for a certain period of time.”

Mona added in a solemn tone:

Before rendezvous, let Winslow and Michelle be careful and save themselves as the top priority! "

I picked up the phone and wanted to tell Lacey about this and ask her to be careful, but the call couldn't be reached at this time. "

“I helped to check it, and a few minutes later I found that the surveillance had been cleared by someone unknown and could not be found at all.

"said."

Mona agreed in a solemn voice and hung up the phone. Roan then turned to Ophelia and asked:

Hearing this, Luo An did not hesitate and said immediately:

“Have Winslow and Michelle rush to the location immediately, and I will head to that area immediately.

“No.”

Luo An pondered for a moment and asked:

“Where's Chenelle? Did she leave any clues?”

Luo An looked calm and the expression on his face did not change at all, while Ophelia said eagerly:

“Leader Luo An, we need to interrogate this guy Wilfrido quickly! Find out where the real nuclear warhead went!

“This is simply a fake nuclear warhead!

“There's no need to worry, Ophelia.”

Only in this way can we...”

“I can locate her phone.”

Mona said in a deep voice:

“Positioning shows that Chenille's cell phone has not been moved. She probably hid it or threw it away as soon as she realized something was wrong.”

Ophelia shook her head repeatedly and replied in a solemn voice:

“Did Lacey tell you why she wanted you to investigate the surveillance?”

It does not contain nuclear charges, detonators and other items, but iron blocks, sand and other high-weight garbage! "

Mona quickly replied:

"Lacie said that when she and Chenelle were preparing to return, they accidentally discovered traces of Mateo being kidnapped, so they wanted to investigate the specific situation."

"You said there is a problem with the nuclear warhead. What is the problem? Are the things responsible for fission inside lost?"

Luo An narrowed his eyes slightly:

"OK."

Luo An waved his hand to interrupt Ophelia. Ophelia suddenly became more anxious and shouted loudly:

"How could you not be in a hurry?! Leader Luo An, that's a nuclear warhead! Do you know..."

"I told you, don't worry!"

Luo An stood up suddenly, looked at Ophelia condescendingly, and said expressionlessly:

"Don't make me repeat myself again, okay?"

Looking at Luo An, who had a cold light in his eyes, Ophelia, who was originally excited, calmed down instantly, swallowed silently, and asked:

“Leader Luo An, do you have a plan?”

“Before that, you need to do me a favor.”

Luo An took out the Glock 18 from his waist without haste and said softly:

“Agents Chenille and Lacey in my investigation team lost contact five minutes ago.

I need you to call your military people and release them. ”

Mona mentioned on the phone just now that Lacey and the two found out about Matteo's kidnapping, so they asked her to help investigate and monitor.

Thinking again of the previous flight, Ophelia said that the military did not send anyone out to find nuclear warheads. This statement was a lie. Roan immediately deduced that the people who kidnapped Chenille and Lacey were probably from the military. Watching Luo An shaking the pistol, Ophelia's eyelids twitched, then she took a deep breath and said in a concentrated voice:

“Sorry, Leader Luo An, I said before that our military really didn't send anyone out to look for nuclear warheads.

In addition, Team Leader Luo An, there is no need for you to scare me with a pistol. I know your shooting skills are very accurate, but you have to think about the consequences of shooting.

I am a member of the military, and you shot me to death for two of your men. The impact of this incident...”

Luo An opened his mouth and showed a smile:

“Are you sure your military didn't send people out to look for nuclear warheads?”

"I am sure."

"OK."

Seeing that the other party still refused to tell the truth, rejected him, and did not believe that he dared to shoot, the smile on Luo An's face became brighter and he asked:

"Ms. Ophelia, do you know why I assigned you to my group for this operation instead of letting you be grouped with others?"

Ophelia was stunned for a moment. Before she could answer, Luo An suddenly raised his pistol and hit her.

score

With a muffled sound, Ophelia rolled her eyes and fell to the ground instantly.

Luo An took out the handcuffs, cuffed Ophelia's hands and feet, then moved her arms and legs to bend back, took out the third handcuff, and cuffed the two handcuffs that cuffed the hands and feet together again.

Took out a bottle of sleeping potion and drank it, then stuffed Ophelia, whose body was arched, into the trunk of the SUV. Luo An randomly found a rag and stuffed it into her mouth, and finally closed the trunk door forcefully.

Then Luo An took out his cell phone and called Veranith, briefly explaining the situation and confirming that Veranith would start contacting the military. Luo An hung up the phone, started the SUV and rushed towards Encino City.

On the way, Luo An intercepted the ambulance transporting Wilfrido to the hospital. After driving away the doctors and nurses, Luo An sat next to Wilfrido and said softly:

“Your nuclear warhead is fake, where is it really?”

“What?!”

Hearing the news, Wilfrido's eyes widened instantly, with shock written on his face:

“Are you lying to me?!”

Roan didn't say anything, just looked at him quietly. Wilfrido gradually became silent when he saw this. After thinking for a few seconds, he suddenly became angry and shouted loudly:

“Mateo-Jacqui! You * raised by a cousin...”

Luo An nodded understandingly:

“In other words, you got this nuclear warhead from Mateo?”

“That's right.”

Seeing that the wounds on his body were bleeding more and more, Wilfrido quickly stopped cursing to calm down and explained:

“I snatched it from that bastard.”

The air-to-air missile was dug out of the ground and contained a nuclear warhead. Mateo was the first to know and the first to rush to the scene.

When Wilfrido arrived there in a helicopter, he happened to meet Mateo driving away. Wilfrido, who was accustomed to being unreasonable and using firepower, immediately decided to * it.

After a gun battle, the helicopter's fuel tank was leaked and unable to take off. Mateo was forced to abandon the off-road vehicle and the nuclear warhead and run away alone.

Wilfrido originally planned to kill someone, but Mateo ran too fast and he couldn't catch up. In addition, Mateo called someone for help. Wilfrido finally had to give up the pursuit and drive off-road. The car quickly left with the nuclear warhead.

Luo An nodded silently, thinking clearly about what happened.

After being the first to arrive at the scene, Mateo knew that the matter was too important for him to bear, so he decided to find someone to take the blame.

First make a fake nuclear warhead, hide the real nuclear warhead, and let yourself escape with the fake nuclear warhead.

They will inevitably be chased and intercepted on the road. When the time comes, they will pretend to be invincible and be forced to run away, letting everyone know that the nuclear warhead has been snatched away.

Meteo will indeed be laughed at when the news spreads, but he can quietly hide his figure, leave quietly with a eukaryotic warhead, and quietly make a fortune.

The routine is not new, but as long as the disguise is sufficient, the likelihood of being discovered in a short period of time is very low, because everyone will focus on the fool who takes the blame.

A certain fool: "..."

Patted Wilfrido on the shoulder, Luo An asked:

"Is there anything else you want to say?"

"have!"

The angry wound was bleeding again, Wilfrido turned a blind eye:

“I know Mateo's two secret bases, and he is very likely to hide the nuclear warheads there!”

Chapter 663 paw pawn

New Mexico, at 2:30 in the afternoon, on Highway 134, in an ambulance.

“Do you know about Mateo's two secret bases?”

Hearing the information from Wilfrido, Luo An was slightly surprised:

“Didn't Matteo notice it?”

“How could I let him find out.”

Wilfrido showed a somewhat cunning smile and said that not only Mateo, but also the secret bases of many people in this industry, he had used various methods to obtain the specific addresses.

The reason why he has not taken action before is because nothing worthy of his action has appeared yet.

At the same time, these specific addresses are also preparations Wilfrido left for himself, even for retirement.

Once you run out of money, you can go to those secret bases to buy goods. In Wilfrido's eyes, those treasure hunters are just security guards who keep the treasures for themselves.

Looking at Wilfrido with a sinister smile on his face, Luo An was very moved.

“That's right.”

While on vacation some time ago, Lacey met a girl who liked chess, so she bought a chess game and started learning. When the investigation team took a lunch break at work, she even asked Luo An to play with her.

After getting familiar with the rules, Luo An won 10 games in a row, so Lacey stopped playing with him.

At 5:30 in the afternoon, Luo An drove to the city. Winslow and Michelle arrived one step ahead of him, and had already found Chenelle's mobile phone under Mona's guidance.

Luo An knew the rules of Eastern chess but not the rules of international chess, so he lost 3 games in a row at the beginning.

“pawn, meaning hostage.”

The place Chenelle and Lacey went to before was also in New Mexico. The city was called Lavington, which was in the easternmost part of the state.

“No! It's “soldier”, which is the word “soldier” in chess!”

Hold the phone and press the button, adding an "n" after "paw", Luo An said:

“It's a few letters: paw.”

It's not that I feel sorry for Wilfrido's plan, but I feel that for so long, every person I met has more brains than the last one, and there are endless methods, and no one is simple-minded.

Winslow looked at it, frowned and said:

“Chenelle left us a clue.”

In the car, Winslow handed Chenille's cell phone to Luo An and said solemnly:

“Because these three letters are incomplete, and one is missing.”

Winslow was a little confused:

"Why do you say that?"

As soon as Winslow finished speaking, Michelle in the back seat of the car clapped her hands and suddenly realized:

Seeing these letters, Luo An's mind flashed and he shook his head and said:

“This was not left by Chenelle, but by Lacey.”

Wilfrido was very angry because he was treated as a fool and took the blame for the other party.

The ambulance took Wilfrido to the hospital again, and Luo An drove the car in the direction of the location left by Cheniel's mobile phone.

Not only did he tell Luo An the specific locations of Mateo's two secret bases, but he also provided a location that was suspected to be the opponent's secret base, as well as several of his spare weapons arsenals, asking Luo An to capture Mateo.

Winslow was suddenly stunned when he heard Michelle's explanation, then frowned and said:

“The word Lacey left behind means that the military took her and Chenelle away?”

Luo An nodded:

“High probability.”

Michelle suddenly remembered something, looked left and right but couldn't find anyone, and asked:

“Luo An, where is the woman from the military? Where has she gone?”

“She was sleeping in the trunk.”

Luo An answered casually, without further discussion on the matter. He took out his mobile phone and called Mona:

“Mona, have you found any clues there?”

"not yet."

Mona on the other end of the phone frowned and said:

“At the time when Chenelle and Lacey disappeared, all the surveillance in that area was cleared, and I couldn't find it at all.”

After a pause for a few seconds, Mona asked tentatively:

“Do you want me to enter the military system...”

"No."

Luo An's eyelids twitched and he quickly interrupted Mona's thoughts. The military is definitely a special existence in the Federation. It is self-contained and even the president cannot get involved.

Hundreds of billions of military expenditures are spent every year. Who will investigate the specific situation and who will be shot in the back and commit suicide?

In this case, there is no need to invade the military system to investigate clues.

Luo An pondered for a moment and asked:

“Mona, in Lavington City, apart from the area where we are now, the surveillance has been cleared, has the surveillance in other areas been cleared?”

“There are also, such as your east direction.”

After typing a few times on the keyboard, Mona quickly replied:

"If you connect the cleared areas into line segments, you can determine that those people left Lavington City from your east side."

“East side...”

Luo An frowned slightly, waved his hand towards Winslow and said:

“Give me a map of New Mexico.”

“OK.”

Every time they go to other states in the federation to do a mission, everyone in the investigation team habitually buys a few maps just in case.

Winslow quickly found a map and handed it to Luo An. Luo An looked at the city on it and suddenly asked:

“Mona, check the surveillance in the city of Naravita and see if any surveillance has been erased.”

“OK.”

Mona immediately agreed to come down and start the investigation. Winslow asked with some confusion:

“Why Naravitta?”

“Because this city is the only way to get to Mateo's first secret base.”

Luo An briefly introduced the clues he got from Wilfrido not long ago.

Matteo's two secret bases are not inside a certain city, but are located on two certain farms.

From the city of Lavington where the three of Luo An are currently located, to go to those two farms, they must pass through several cities.

As long as you find out whether there are surveillance clearing incidents in those cities, you can deduce the opponent's route and goals.

Not long after, Mona's voice rang on the phone again:

“Luoan, the city of Naravita does not monitor disappearances.”

"continue."

Luo An then named several other cities. After waiting for a moment, Mona's excited voice suddenly sounded on the phone:

“Luo An, I found it!”

Winslow and Michelle instantly looked up and refreshed, and Luo An quickly asked:

"What city?"

“It's the northernmost “Capilin City” in New Mexico!”

Luo An pulled the map again, looked at it carefully for a few seconds, grinned, and said:

“That's the direction to Mateo's second secret base. It's certain that the people who kidnapped Lacey and Chenelle are the military, and they are also looking for nuclear warheads.”

Winslow and Michelle were very happy to get clues about the other party's whereabouts, but there was still a question they didn't understand. Michelle said doubtfully:

“Why did the military kidnap Chenelle and Lacey?”

Aren't we also the ones who received the order to find nuclear warheads? "

“Maybe it's because we're also looking for nuclear warheads.”

Roan returned the map to Winslow, a cold light flashed in his eyes, and he said with a sneer:

“There are too many dirty things in the federal army.”

It cost US$6 million to fly 9 sheep, but in the end the sheep were not found because they were eaten.

There are countless "little things" like this in the federal army. With such a large nuclear warhead, it's unclear who is behind the game.

"Mona, call, help call a helicopter."

Start the SUV, press the accelerator to the bottom, and drive the car onto the road. Luo An said as he drove:

"We set off directly to Mateo's Secret Base No. 2, where we will wait for Chenelle and Lacey."

Chapter 664: Minefield, Threat, Corpse

At 10:30 in the evening, Colorado, north of Kit Carson City, a small town more than ten kilometers away from the suburbs.

On the road outside the town, more than a dozen off-road vehicles drove forward quickly in a row, stirring up dust on the road.

Turning an intersection, the driver of the off-road vehicle in front of him suddenly shrank his pupils because he discovered that there were actually landmines placed openly on the road not far away!

The driver of the off-road vehicle in the lead quickly stepped on the brakes to stop the vehicle, and the off-road vehicles behind them stopped one after another. Soon, the co-pilot's communicator rang, and an emotionless male voice came out:

"what happened?"

The driver quickly replied:

“Sir, there are a lot of mines on the road ahead!”

The communicator paused for a moment, then asked:

“Can we go around it?”

The driver of the off-road vehicle was just about to answer when he suddenly noticed a man walking out of the minefield not far away, so he quickly shouted:

“Sir! Someone came out of the minefield!”

The man in the passenger seat next to the driver and the two men in the back seat of the car quickly got out of the car and prepared to take aim. At the same time, the man in the minefield shouted:

“FBI! I'm looking for your chief!”

“Roann Greenwood, one of the most powerful team leaders at the FBI's Washington headquarters.”

The middle-aged man frowned slightly and stared at Luo An. Luo An showed no signs of weakness and also looked at him quietly.

After the words fell, the air became quiet. Several people in the leading off-road vehicle looked at each other and transmitted Luo An's words through the communicator.

Luo An looked stable and said:

“Thank you for the compliment. There's no need to tell the truth. Let's talk about business first.”

Not long after, the door of an off-road vehicle in the middle of the convoy opened, and a tall, middle-aged white man wearing a federal military uniform, with a short haircut and an expressionless face walked towards Luo An.

Luo An looked at the middle-aged man in front of him with a half-smile and said:

“Look what happens here after you shoot me.”

The expressionless middle-aged man did not answer Luo An's words, but said:

“Aren't you afraid that I will order you to be shot to death?”

“Good evening, Captain.”

The man in the minefield was Luo An. He was holding a golden badge in his left hand and a Glock 18 in his right hand. His expression was very calm and he said loudly:

"Your commander knows why I'm here. Let him come out and let's talk."

“You don't panic in the face of so many guns. I feel that the army is more suitable for you.”

"The two women were not injured, but they saw some secrets. In order to prevent the secrets from being leaked, they are temporarily under my care. When this matter is over, I will naturally let them go."

At this time, there were soldiers wearing federal army uniforms standing behind the middle-aged man, all aiming their guns at Luo An.

Standing in the minefield, Luo An looked at the epaulettes on the opponent's shoulders and said directly without any nonsense:

“I'm here to pick up one of my agents.”

You return the person to me, and I will make way for you to pass. "

The air was quiet for a long time, and the middle-aged man said in a deep voice:

"you can try."

The middle-aged man narrowed his eyes slightly:

“My agents know the rules and will not talk nonsense or interfere with your actions.”

Luo An smiled and said:

"If you really don't believe them, you can believe me. I'm always tight-lipped."

The middle-aged man's eyes were very sharp and oppressive. Luo An seemed not to notice and still said calmly:

“In addition, I will tell you a piece of news for free.

Before you, there are several cars heading towards a farm in the distance along this road. Calculating the time, it should be less than ten minutes. "

The middle-aged man's face suddenly darkened:

“Why didn't you stop them?”

“I can't stop it, I can't stop it, you know I don't have the ability.”

Luo An spread his hands:

“My men are with you, and there are so many of them, how can I stop them?”

“Don't you have so many mines?”

“I have a bad memory, I forgot.”

“...” The middle-aged man's eyebrows beat, he looked at Luo An with a dark expression, and said in a commanding tone:

“You don't need the FBI to be involved in the nuclear warhead thing. I'll return those two women to you. You take them and leave immediately. Everything you see will be rotten in your heart. Do you understand?”

Luo An spread his hands and said nothing. The middle-aged man snorted coldly, waved his hands and said:

“Let the man go!”

"clear!"

Several soldiers behind him immediately responded loudly, and then quickly walked to an off-road vehicle in the distance, and pulled two women out of the vehicle with their hands tied and their mouths pressed to their feet, but their clothes were clean and normal.

Watching Chenelle and Lacey getting up from the ground next to the car, Luo An narrowed his eyes slightly and looked at the middle-aged man:

“It is indeed the style of the army.”

The middle-aged man ignored Luo An's sarcasm and said:

“The people are back to you, get rid of the mines quickly!”

Made a gesture to Chenille and Lacey, asking the two women to walk toward the back of the mine. After they left completely, Luo An also stepped back and walked out of the minefield, and then said loudly:

“You can handle it yourself, as long as I don't nod, they won't explode.”

With that said, Roan led Chenille and Lacey to run quickly to the car where Winslow had been waiting for a long time not far away. The three of them got in the car and sat down. Winslow immediately started the car and quickly left the area.

The tape on her mouth was torn off, and Luo An helped Chenille and Lacey untie the ropes from their hands. The two women suddenly cursed:

“Don't eat sour radish!”

“These * bugs!”

"A group of garbage!"

The two women cursed a lot. After their emotions stabilized, they expressed their gratitude to Luo An and then asked:

“Luo An, what's going on with those landmines?”

“Borrowed by a kind-hearted person.”

Roan smiled. Those landmines also came from Wilfrido. This guy had prepared many arsenals around the world, and these landmines were among them.

However, not all of these mines were actually activated, and Luo An was not that crazy yet.

Threatening military leaders with landmines is just plan one. If the threat fails, Luo An also has plans two and three, such as quickly seizing the other party before they can react, threatening to release them, or asking Winslow to fire cold guns from a distance, etc. .

After confirming that Chenille and Lacey had no wounds on their bodies except for some wounds on their wrists from being * with ropes, and that they had not been tortured by interrogation, the few of them breathed a sigh of relief.

After a moment of comfort, Luo An brought the topic to the point and asked:

"what is going on?"

Hearing Luo An's question, Chenelle and Lacey looked solemn and replied:

"We found Mateo's body."

"Corpse?!"

Winslow and Michelle were very surprised. Roan frowned slightly and continued to ask:

"Have you found out who killed him?"

"No."

Lacie spread her hands and felt helpless:

"Chenelle and I had just discovered Mateo's body. Before we could go up to check the situation, these soldiers suddenly rushed out and surrounded us with guns.

The bodies were taken away by the soldiers for disposal, but we didn't see anything. "

"The captain just now said that you saw some secrets before he took you away."

Michelle frowned and thought:

"Mateo's body is a secret? Is there something on him?"

Chenelle shook her head, rubbed her wrist and said:

"I have been thinking about this matter during this time. I suspect that Mateo's body is not important. What is important is..."

"The important thing is the person who killed Mateo!"

Luo An's eyes moved slightly, then Cheniel continued what she said, then pressed the communicator and asked:

"Mona, have you found out the identities of the previous group of people?"

Chapter 665 Military, fighting, taking the blame

Those mines on the road were not all activated. Roan did lie to the captain.

But before the captain and others arrived in that area, a group of people went to the farm ahead of them. Luo An was telling the truth.

At that time, Luo An, Winslow, and Michelle had just hidden the car, and the cars roared past and rushed into the distance.

Fortunately, Luo An reacted quickly and saw the license plate numbers of those cars, and then told Mona about them.

“I've checked it out.”

Hearing Luo An's question, Mona on the other end of the communicator immediately replied:

“Those three cars belong to the same security company. The owner of the security company is named Kairejia, male, white, 31 years old.”

“Security company?!”

Michelle frowned:

“How come there is something about the security company here?”

“It should be said, what do the people behind this security company want to do.”

Roan shook his head and refuted Michelle's words. Among the various security companies in the Federation, more than 90% of the various security companies that survive to the end and operate successfully have someone behind them.

“Is it some rich man?”

Chenier's eyes moved, and she quickly thought of something and guessed:

“After all, nuclear warheads are one of the most precious items in the world, and it is normal for a rich man to want to collect them.”

Luo An waved his hand to interrupt the women's speculation, pressed the communicator and asked:

“Mona, can you find out who is behind this security company?”

"certainly."

There was a sound of keyboard tapping on the communicator, and Mona replied:

“The people behind this security company don't do much to hide themselves.

His name is Sobian, he is 36 years old and is a second lieutenant in a certain army of the federal army.

Many orders from this security company come from Sobian's connections and recommendations. "

Hearing the word "Second Lieutenant", Roan raised his eyebrows and thought of something. He turned to look at Chenille and Lacey and asked:

“The captain who kidnapped you, do you know his name?”

In the exchange just now, the other party never mentioned his name. Luo An could only call him by his military rank.

“His name is Joe Srey.”

Chenelle quickly replied:

“Josrey-Mock.”

Before she and Lacey were controlled, they took advantage of each other's attention and found an opportunity to chat with a few ordinary soldiers and asked each other's names.

Luo An pressed the contact:

“Mona?”

"I heard."

There was a crackling sound of keyboard tapping in the communicator. After a moment, the keyboard sound stopped, and Mona's voice sounded:

“These two people are related! More than ten years ago, Sobian and Qiao Siley entered the federal army together and were assigned to the same team. They had a good relationship.

Josrei was promoted very quickly and is now a captain, while Sobian was promoted more slowly and is now only a second lieutenant, and he is still working under Captain Josrei. "

After listening to Mona's description, Winslow, who had been driving without saying much, suddenly grinned:

“The federal army is a place that attaches great importance to hierarchy. Those below must obey the orders of those above and cannot question them.

The two of them were good friends at the same level before, but now they have become superiors and subordinates. This is really..."

Lacie sneered beside her and added:

“Sobian was probably thinking about this when he was sleeping.”

“But what do these things have to do with nuclear warheads?”

Michelle still looked puzzled:

“Even if Second Lieutenant Sobian is very dissatisfied with Captain Josre now, he can complain, curse, or even go to extremes, and secretly kill Josre with a gun.

But this time it is a nuclear warhead. Does Sobian intend to steal the nuclear warhead and then use it to blow up Josre? Isn't this a bit of a fuss? "

“Perhaps intending to retaliate against the army.”

Mona's voice sounded over the communicator, and she speculated:

“Sobian is probably very dissatisfied with the way the federal army is promoted, so he plans to take this opportunity to steal the nuclear warhead and retaliate against society.”

From a rational perspective, Mona's speculation is somewhat outrageous. But this is the Federation, with very rich biological diversity. There is no high-level reason for retaliating against society. An increase in the price of mineral water can cause explosions, so Mona's speculation is well-founded and very reasonable.

After a few seconds of silence, Lacey suddenly clapped her hands and said with a smile:

“No matter what, the issue of nuclear warheads is an internal struggle within the federal military.

Captain Joslay also said just now that we, the FBI, are not required to participate. The outcome after the incident has nothing to do with our investigation team.

So, are we going back? "

Winslow frowned slightly, Michelle and Chenelle looked at each other, and both turned their attention to the team leader Luo An.

Luo An pondered for a few seconds and slowly shook his head:

“No, we still need to find the nuclear warhead.”

The smile on Lacey's face gradually disappeared. After thinking for a moment, she raised her head and asked:

“Are you worried that the military may take the blame?”

Luo An said coldly:

“It's not possible, but it's certain!”

Judging from the apparent procedures of this matter, the people leading the search for the lost nuclear warhead were Luo An and others from the special investigation team at the FBI's Washington headquarters. Ophelia sent by the military was an auxiliary and helper.

Captain Joslay and these people are "private activities" without explicit procedures. Everything is Captain Joslay's "own" meaning.

It's easy to say that the nuclear warhead was successfully found, but afterwards it was just a matter of wrangling and dividing interests among all parties.

Once a nuclear warhead explodes, causing widespread death and widespread nuclear radiation, someone must take the blame.

By then, Captain Joslay and others will definitely not be much better, and there is a high probability that Luo An and others will not get any good results.

Because they are a special investigation team looking for nuclear bombs both openly and procedurally.

If a nuclear warhead explodes, this is a work failure and you must take the blame.

With the protection of Veranith, Mr. Clement, and FBI Director Robert, there is a high probability that Luo An will just be criticized, demoted, take a period of rest, and rise again in the future.

But the fault was not caused by oneself, so why should one be implicated in taking the blame for the mistakes of others?

Luo An did not have the dedication to "sacrifice himself for the pot", so after finishing these analyses, he said solemnly:

“Everyone, we don't care about the internal fighting within the military. It doesn't matter how many people they die have nothing to do with us, but we must find the nuclear warhead.”

Then throw the black pot back.

“OK.”

"clear."

Winslow and the others in the car looked solemn and nodded in unison. These people in the special investigation team shared Luo An's success and loss.

Winslow, who was driving, slowly reduced the speed of the car, took a deep breath, and asked:

“Are we going to go back the way we came?”

“Now Captain Joslay may have gotten into trouble with the people from the security company.”

Lacie rolled her eyes a few times, raised the corners of her mouth and suggested:

“We can do what we did in the previous operation in Pakistan, with the oriole behind us, waiting for the battle between the two sides to end, then moving in behind the scenes to steal the nuclear warhead!”

“Doing so will arouse fierce resistance from Captain Joslay and others.”

Chenier shook her head, thought about it and made her own suggestion:

“How about we just take advantage of the fact that they are fighting now, enter from behind, and quietly steal the nuclear warheads?”

“This method is too difficult.”

Lacie shook her head and retorted. Michelle ignored the argument between the two. She turned her eyes to Luo An and asked:

“Luo An, what are you going to do?”

Luo An put his hand on his chin and was silent for a long time, narrowing his eyes slightly:

“Is there a possibility that the real nuclear warhead is not actually in Qiaosrey's place?”

Chapter 666 The Art of War

At twelve o'clock at midnight, on a distant road in a small town north of Kit Carson City, Colorado, an SUV slowly parked on the side of the road.

“The nuclear warhead is not with Captain Joslay and his friends?”

In the car, Chenille and Lacey all turned their gazes to Luo An, a little confused:

“What does this mean?”

Luo An put his chin on his hand and said:

“Based on the clues we have available, we can analyze that the man behind the murder of treasure hunter Mateo is most likely Second Lieutenant Sobian, and his real goal is to find the nuclear warhead.”

“That's right.”

Lacie nodded repeatedly:

“I just haven't figured out what Sobian is going to do with the nuclear warhead.”

“This can be discussed and investigated later.”

Luo An narrowed his eyes slightly and said:

“Let's look at a question first, why did Sobian kill Mateo?”

Winslow and Michelle frowned slightly, and Lacey subconsciously replied:

Cheniel, who was frowning, thought for a few seconds, then suddenly raised her head and slapped her face:

“The real reason Sobian killed Mateo was because he didn't want Josrae and the others to know where the nuclear warhead was hidden!”

“No, that's not the case.”

“From Sobian's perspective, after Mateo revealed the real address where the nuclear warhead was hidden, he became useless and naturally wanted to kill him.”

Hearing the idiom translation behind Michelle, Winslow's eyes lit up and he understood what Roan meant, and Lacey quickly turned around:

“Maiteo is dead. Qiao Si Lei wants to find the nuclear warhead and hunt down Sobian. He can only follow the clues left by Sobian, that is, chase them.

“That's right.”

Luo An nodded. In addition to the rational analysis of Matteo's death and Cheniel's kidnapping, the "emotional perception" in his mind was also one of the supports for making this inference.

Lacie turned her head:

Chenelle shook her head, turned her gaze to Luo An, and said:

“What Luo An means is that the reason Sobian killed Mateo was because he wanted Josrei and others to keep an eye on him! Killing people can deepen this trust and judgment!”

"If Sobian knows that Joslay and others are after him, then after getting the true hidden location of the nuclear warhead, in order to successfully obtain the nuclear warhead without being caught by Joslay and others, the best way is to pretend to be a An illusion!"

But in fact, this group of people is a bait, just to lure Qiao Si Lei and the group of trackers to follow. In fact, there are no nuclear warheads in this area at all.

Building plank roads openly, concealing Chencang, making noises in the east and attacking in the west, The Art of War! "

Roan patted Chenelle on the shoulder and explained to Winslow and Lacey, who were still confused:

"Sobian killed Mateo, acted like he had obtained the hidden location of the nuclear warhead, and took people to the specific location.

The book itself comes from the East, but all major military academies in the Federation have listed it as one of the required courses.

The real Sobian has taken people to another direction, where the real location of the nuclear warhead is!

Michelle next to him also reacted at this time and suddenly realized:

Even the cumulative sales of this book ranks among the top 20 in the Western world. MBA training also lists this book as an important subject for learning corporate strategy.

"That's right."

"Don't you mean the same thing as what I said?"

Matteo was killed, so naturally Joslay and others were unable to find the location where the nuclear warhead was hidden. "

"The Art of War", literally translated as "The Art of War", the actual meaning is "Sun Tzu's Art of War".

But these clues were deliberately left by Sobian, they are all illusions! "

When he arrested Wilfrid, the mercenary carrying the nuclear warhead, the "emotional perception" in Luo An's mind never sent out a strong warning signal.

The "emotional perception" that usually gets excited when encountering grenades, but today it didn't fluctuate much when encountering a nuclear warhead, made Luo An wonder if the "emotional perception" was broken.

Luo An was relieved later, because the problem was not the "emotional perception", but that the nuclear warhead was a fake.

When laying out the minefield, the "emotional perception" started to remind frantically again, warning Luo An of the danger, and also letting Luo An confirm again that there was no problem with it.

So when leading Chenelle and Lacey to evacuate just now, Roan deliberately let Winslow pass by the road not far from the side of the farm. As a result, the fluctuations in "emotional perception" were very small. When you encounter a pile of landmines, your "emotional perception" reminds you wildly; when you encounter a nuclear warhead with an impact area thousands of times larger than the landmines and an explosion effect tens of thousands of times more terrifying, your "emotional perception" fluctuates very little.

Luo An could only come to one conclusion in the end: there were no real nuclear warheads on that farm, and the danger determined by "emotional perception" was those of the security company.

After a few seconds of silence, Lacey suddenly grinned:

“I can now guess why Sobian is dissatisfied.”

A few people looked at her in confusion. Lacey smiled and said:

“This kind of strategy of attacking in the east and attacking in the west can't even be seen by the captain Qiao Si Lei. It's no wonder that the second lieutenant Sobian is dissatisfied with him.”

“Promotion in the federal army does not necessarily depend on strength.”

Winslow chuckled and said:

“Sometimes Franklin, or a minister relative, is more useful.”

Lacie grinned:

“So true.”

Michelle thought for a while and said:

“Actually, it's not necessarily that Qiao Si Lei is incompetent. If we take a look at his perspective, we can see that he actually has no choice.

Because he was a step too late, Mateo was killed, leaving him with no clues.

The best way to find Sobian is to first follow the clues arranged by Sobian, then catch Sobian's men in the process, force the men to ask for the true location, and finally find and arrest Sobian. ”

Lacie blinked:

"I can only follow the enemy's arrangements. Isn't this still a lack of ability?"

Michelle opened her mouth, not knowing how to refute for a moment.

Luo An gently patted Lacey's arm and said in a deep voice:

“There is no need to discuss Captain Joslay's matter. Our first goal is to find the nuclear warhead.”

As he spoke, Luo An took a map again, looked at it carefully for a moment, and then ordered:

"Winslow, you can stay in this area later and observe Captain Joe Slay and the battle on the farm from a distance. Don't get close."

This is mainly done just in case, and to keep an eye on the movements behind Captain Joslay and others.

"clear."

Winslow nodded, and Roan then said to Chenelle, Michelle and Lacey:

"You three come with me and we'll head over to Texas."

Mercenary Wilfrido said before that it was suspected that Mateo's secret base was located in a certain area in western Texas.

"OK."

The three women nodded in agreement, and Luo An pressed the communicator and asked Mona to help them contact the helicopter and car.

The group of people acted according to the plan. Winslow returned first and left, and the four of Luo An began waiting for the helicopter to arrive.

Because they were too tired, Chenelle and Lacey closed their eyes and took a nap together. Michelle helped them make instant food. Roan stood aside, pondering for a long time, took out his mobile phone and found a number to call.

The call was quickly connected, and a seductive female voice sounded on the phone:

“Good evening, Team Leader Luo An, have you figured it out?”

“This sentence seems inappropriate to come from a woman's mouth.”

Luo An smiled and got to the point and said:

“I want to ask you a favor. I need to talk to your father.”

Chapter 667 Texas, Luo An's seduction

5:30 a.m., Texas, West.

This area is relatively flat. At first glance, the yellow color of large rocks, dust and sand is removed, and the green of vegetation is very sparse.

This was originally a mining area. After the minerals were mined, it naturally turned into an abandoned area where no one came and no one managed it.

As for the so-called environmentalists, they will only engage in activities and protests within cities. Where environmental protection is really needed, only a small number of them will do practical things.

Today, this abandoned mining area is no longer as quiet as it used to be. In front of the mining area, there are four black cars parked, and several white men holding rifles are laughing and chatting behind the cars.

A white man with a short haircut, sunglasses, a dark blue leather jacket and black jeans was sitting on the front of a car at the front.

He was dangling a pistol in his right hand, chewing gum in his mouth, and always looking into the distance.

Suddenly, a black SUV appeared from a distance and headed straight for here along the road in the dust.

The white man frowned slightly. Only one SUV appeared, which was a bit unexpected. So he pressed the communicator and asked:

“At the commanding heights, are there other situations around you?”

The sudden movement of the black SUV caused everyone to freeze on the spot.

The communicator soon rang, and the white man's men replied:

"clear!"

Hearing this, the man in the leather jacket suddenly changed his face. He quickly stood up and jumped out of the front of the car, shouting an order:

“No, boss.”

At this moment, the communicator in the hand of the man in the leather jacket suddenly sounded, and a strange female voice came from inside:

Not long after, the black SUV gradually drove to the front of the mining area and slowly stopped.

“Chase them all!”

The men behind him who were about to shoot looked confused and didn't understand what was going on. They looked at each other and then all looked at their boss.

“Report Captain, retreat immediately! There are no nuclear warheads here!”

"you..."

The boss in the leather jacket also looked confused and had no idea what was going on.

As soon as he started talking, the black SUV started suddenly, turned around and ran away.

After receiving the reply from his men, the white man was slightly relieved. He waved his hand to signal the men behind him to stop laughing and stand up, and he straightened up.

The white man raised the corners of his mouth when he saw this, cleared his throat with a cough, and shouted:

“Fu-k!”

At one point, he even suspected that the other party was not the guy he was waiting for. Could it be a group of passers-by who drove to the wrong place?

“OK.”

A group of people rushed into the car, started the vehicle and chased the SUV in the distance.

In the SUV at the front, Chenier, who was pretending to be in contact with Captain Joe Slay, put down her communicator, gave a thumbs up to Michelle who was playing with computer equipment in the back seat and hacking into the other party's communication channel, and then looked at the driver. Luo An smiled and said:

“That man is indeed Second Lieutenant Sobian, and they all caught up with him.”

Luo An glanced at the rearview mirror and smiled:

“It seems that my guess is correct, the nuclear warhead is indeed not here.”

Chenier looked at the smoke billowing behind and nodded towards Luo An with admiration on her face.

More than an hour ago, the three of Luo An arrived in this area. Chenelle and Lacey planned to go to the secret base immediately to search for nuclear bombs, but were stopped by Luo An.

Luo An did not act in a hurry, but asked Michelle to get a map first.

Judging from what happened, the real nuclear warhead was first stolen by Mateo and hidden on the spot, and then he ran away with a fake nuclear warhead.

Meteo met Wilfrido who liked to talk about firepower. Mateo pretended to be invincible and the fake nuclear warhead was snatched away. Mateo quietly returned and hid the real nuclear warhead. But somehow this incident was discovered by Second Lieutenant Sobian, who led his men to capture Mateo first.

After a large memory recovery operation, Sobian obtained the location of the eukaryotic warhead.

In order to successfully obtain the nuclear warhead, Sobian sent people from the security company to lure Captain Joslay and others to pursue them in the wrong direction, while he quietly went to the right place.

This period of time is neither too long nor too short.

Luo An did a simple calculation and thought about it from his perspective, and found that this period of time was enough for him to transfer the nuclear warhead and hide it elsewhere.

As a second lieutenant who can use open plank roads and covertly attack Chencang, Sobian's mentality may be unbalanced and lead him to want to retaliate against society, but his brain... but his thinking is most likely fine.

It is impossible for him to guard the nuclear warhead and sit there, waiting for Captain Joslay and others to catch him.

On the contrary, move the nuclear warhead out first, wait for Joslei to arrive here with his men, and then laugh at him.

Finally detonating a nuclear warhead, or using a nuclear warhead to threaten the other party to agree to make its own demands... This kind of operation may be more in line with Sobian's mentality.

Based on this judgment, Luo An made a plan to go to the scene, retreat directly without further discussion with the other party, and lure the other party to catch up.

One of the ways to do this is to not fight the opponent in a venue that the opponent is familiar with, so as to prevent yourself from falling into a trap and encountering disadvantages.

The second is to lead the other party into a trap designed by oneself, putting the other party at a disadvantage.

Even if this plan fails, it's okay if the other party doesn't follow suit.

That means the nuclear warhead is really here, and you can call for support later and let other departments come here to handle the arrests. No matter what, Luo An will not lose.

The car turned a corner, Luo An glanced at the big rock next to him, pressed the communicator, and said:

“Mona, carefully investigate the cars, trains, and even helicopters passing through this area!”

"no problem!"

Mona agreed, and Luo An pressed the communicator and said:

"Lacie, people are catching up with us, so you'd better be prepared."

"give it to me!"

Not far away, behind a big rock, the corners of Lacey's mouth were raised after waiting for a long time. When the SUV driven by Luo An quickly passed through a certain area and four cars behind it drove in, Lacey stood up suddenly and put the backpack in her hand. Throw it out hard.

Boom—

Several grenades prepared in advance in the backpack exploded. The sudden explosion and flying shrapnel startled the people in the four cars.

The driver subconsciously turned the steering wheel to avoid it, and then entered the small minefield prepared by Luo An and others beside the road.

Boom! boom! boom!

The landmine exploded instantly when it was triggered. The two cars at the back were blown to pieces all over the ground, and the two cars in front were also parked on the side of the road uncontrollably.

"Wow."

With a tail drift, the SUV turned around and parked on the far side of the road. Chenier looked at the dust and smoke not far away, and her eyelids twitched:

"I didn't expect that guy Wilfrido's goods to be so useful."

Lacey on the other end of the communicator grinned. Just as she was about to speak to express her agreement, the second car that had stopped suddenly started to move.

It suddenly jumped forward, hit the car blocking the road in front, opened the road, and then turned around. The front of the car scraped the side of the car in front, leaving a trail of sparks and several parts, and finally evacuated quickly into the distance.

“The man in that car is Sobian!”

Lacie, who was nearest, saw it most clearly, and shouted to the communicator with an eager face:

“He abandoned his men and ran away!”

“As expected of a federal second lieutenant, he is skillful in betraying his teammates.”

Luo An stepped on the accelerator and the SUV caught up instantly.

At this moment, Mona's voice suddenly sounded through the communicator:

“Luo An, I may have found the nuclear warhead!”

"where?"

“It's heading for the capital of Texas!”

Chapter 668: Die together, shocking bombs

A certain high-rise building in Washington, D.C., in the distance.

Mona sat at her work station and typed on the computer keyboard quickly, speaking quickly:

“Two hours ago, a transport train passed not far from your place in Luo An.

When passing through that area, the train stopped running and waited for 20 minutes because of a malfunction.

Other than the transport train, there were no other suspicious cars or helicopters in the area. ”

“It seems that Sobian has a high probability of hiding the nuclear bomb on that transport train.”

In the fast-moving SUV, Chenier nodded solemnly, and then asked:

“But why would he send a nuclear bomb to Austin? Simply because there are so many people there?”

Austin is the capital of Texas, equivalent to the provincial capital city in the East.

“It shouldn't be like this.”

Michelle in the back seat of the SUV shook her head and said:

The SUV roared like a beast, speeded up again, and chased the car in front.

Luo An, who was driving, patted Chenelle's arm, asked her to sit down and fasten her seat belt, and then pressed the communicator:

“Mona, take out the phone number I gave you before, call the other end to explain the situation, and ask them to quickly deal with the nuclear warhead.”

Hearing Sobian shouting at him, the increasingly panicked driver ignored that the other person was his boss and roared back angrily:

“Motherfu-ker! My foot is almost going to go into the gas tank!”

boom!

Shot the driver in the head with one shot. Sobian opened the door and kicked the body down, using it as an obstacle to block the SUV behind him.

Mona agreed immediately. Luo An released the communicator, said nothing nonsense, immediately put the gear into gear and stepped on the accelerator to the bottom.

Through the rearview mirror, he saw the SUV behind him speeding toward him at a speed visible to the naked eye. Sobian, who was sitting in the passenger seat and wearing a leather jacket, cursed loudly, and then yelled at the driver:

At the location of the big rock, Lacey was clearing the minefield and controlling the enemies who had been stunned and injured.

The driver's veins suddenly popped up when he heard this, and he turned his head with anger on his face.

Then he saw the black muzzle of the gun.

“Sobian himself is from Texas, and his hometown is not far from Austin. He can't bomb his parents back home, right?”

Then he controlled the steering wheel himself and moved from the passenger seat to the driver's seat.

Sobian was even more angry:

“Trash!”

Boom—

“Fu-k!”

The driver also became very panicked because of the landmines that exploded before.

“I'm accelerating!”

“Perhaps Sobian was bullied in Austin City when he was in school, so now he wants to use a nuclear warhead to set off big fireworks at his school.”

Hearing Michelle's words, she pressed the communicator and guessed:

“Hurry up! Speed up! The car behind is about to catch up!”

“Stop guessing.”

"no problem!"

In the SUV, Luo An quickly turned the steering wheel to avoid the corpse to prevent the vehicle from rolling over due to the corpse, and then ordered:

“Chanelle, shoot!”

"clear!"

Chenelle immediately took out her pistol, lowered the passenger window, stretched out her arm and started to pull the trigger towards the car in front.

boom! boom! boom!

Fierce gunfire rang out, but because the two vehicles were too fast and too far apart, and Sobian drove the vehicle constantly moving left and right.

As a result, Chenier's first few bullets either hit the glass or the * of the car, but none of them hit her vitals.

Luo An frowned slightly when he saw this, but this was normal. After all, the distance was still quite far, so he increased his speed again and caught up.

boom! boom! boom!

In the car in front, Sobian saw the SUV getting closer and closer to him, and the bullets fired at the tires became more and more accurate. He didn't know where the bullet would hit. Sobian cursed with anger on his face. After pondering for a few seconds, a stern look flashed in his eyes. He gritted his teeth and turned the steering wheel suddenly, pulling the handbrake. The car made a long turn on the road, and the direction unexpectedly reversed.

Pressing the accelerator to the bottom, tilting the front of the car and rushing forward, Sobian drove the car in the direction of the SUV.

Seeing the opponent rushing toward her desperately, Chenie's face suddenly changed, and she shouted while shooting wildly:

“Luo An! Be careful!”

“Michelle, go to Chenelle's!”

Seeing that the other party was planning to crash into the car and die together, Luo An's eyes suddenly flashed with coldness.

He reached out and quickly grabbed Michelle, stuffed her into the co-pilot Chenille, then turned the steering wheel and stepped on the brakes to pull the handbrake. The SUV instantly crossed the middle of the road and blocked Sobian's car with the back half of the SUV.

score

There was a loud noise, and the two cars collided instantly. The huge impact caused the SUV to skid uncontrollably to the right, and the rear part left, making way for Sobian's car.

Because of this collision, all the airbags of Sobian's car exploded, the front of the car was dented, and the ground was covered with parts from both cars.

The situation of the car was a bit miserable, but Sobian was smiling because he won the bet. He judged that the people in the SUV did not have the guts to gamble with him and would definitely make way for him to give him a chance to leave.

Hitting through the airbag that blocked the view, I stepped on the accelerator. The sound of the engine was a bit muffled but still usable.

His head was smashed and there was a lot of blood. Sobian ignored the pain, grinned to his ears, coughed, and was about to spit at the SUV next to him before driving away.

Then Sobian suddenly saw a dark ball flying towards the back seat of his car.

Before Sobian could open his eyes to see the specific shape of the ball, an extremely dazzling white light suddenly erupted, followed by a deafening explosion.

Boom—

More than half of the car window glass was already shattered. The moment the explosion sounded, it was completely shattered and fell to the ground.

Sobian, who was exposed to the explosion at close range, only felt extremely painful in his eyes and ears, as if he was blind and deaf.

“Shock bomb?!”

Sobian, who was born in the army, instantly understood what the opponent had just thrown out.

Angrily raised his brows and cursed in his heart. He squeezed his wound hard and used the pain to force himself not to faint. Sobian decided that the most important thing was to leave here quickly. Even if his vision was very blurred, he stepped on the accelerator without hesitation. .

score

The car hit the back half of the SUV again, because Luo An's next move after throwing the shock bomb was to shift gears and back up, using the SUV to block Sobian's car again.

Because Luan was pulled into Cheniel's arms before the impact, Michelle and Cheniel only had some scratches, and the condition was not serious.

After the shock bomb exploded, the two women immediately ran out of the SUV, raised their pistols and aimed them at Sobian in the car, shouting:

"do not move!"

"Raise your hand!"

As time passed, Sobian's vision gradually recovered. Although it was still blurry, he could see Chenier and her pistol clearly.

“Damn the word!”

Sobian's face was filled with anger and he cursed loudly:

“Do you know how important what I have to do is? This is...”

Before Sobian could finish his words, Luo An kicked open the broken door of the SUV and stepped out, reaching out to pull Sobian out of the car.

Sobian was still shouting all kinds of greetings loudly, while Luo An was very calm. He rubbed his slightly bruised arm and said expressionlessly:

“Stop swearing for a moment, it's really boring to repeat just a few words over and over again.

How about we talk about the nuclear warhead first? Like why you snatched it. ”

Chapter 669 Reasons for snatching the nuclear bomb, independence

Why Sobian snatched the nuclear warhead, not only Luo An was puzzled, but Chenille and Michelle were also very curious.

Mona and Lacey on the other end of the communicator also held their breath silently, preparing to listen to Sobian's reasons.

Sobian did not answer immediately, but looked at Luo An carefully up and down, and asked:

“You are the head of the investigative team at the FBI headquarters in Washington, Roan Greenwood, right?”

Without waiting for Luo An to answer, Sobian then sneered, leaning back and lying directly on the ground:

“Even worse than the FBI, Joe Slay is really a waste!”

Seeing that Sobian was taking a roundabout way and not answering the question directly, Chenelle frowned and asked sternly:

“Answer the question, Sobian!

Where is that nuclear warhead, and what are you going to do to steal it? ! ”

The matter of being transported away by train is just an inference. Mona has not received the exact news yet, and there is still the possibility that the inference is wrong, so it is necessary to get an accurate answer from Sobian.

“Sent away by me.”

Sobian laughed, stopped talking nonsense, and answered directly:

“If we take the train away, judging by the time, we should be arriving in Austin soon.”

Michelle then asked:

As a native Texan, Sobian couldn't stand the federal government's deception of his own people, so he decided to come out and reveal it all.

Sobian was a die-hard supporter of Texas independent thought, and because of this, his rise through the ranks was slow.

“Why do you do this?”

“You were betting in your plan that Joe Slay wouldn't report you for stealing the warhead, but would he?”

After Sobian finished speaking, the air became quiet.

Luo An felt a little emotional. Let's not discuss whether Sobian could succeed. Judging from the time, he took action a while ago.

Chenelle and Michelle were also speechless. They were silent for a few seconds. Chenelle sneered and asked:

“Of course he will, I know him too well.”

After learning that he had been included in this secret operation, Sobian realized that the opportunity was rare, so he quickly formulated his own plan to find the nuclear warhead first. Using his knowledge in the art of war, he built plank roads in secret and smuggled the nuclear warhead into Chencang. Enter the capital of Texas.

“I will lead Texas to the right path and restore its independence!”

In a few more years, without him taking action, Texas itself will begin to rebel against the Union and fight for independence due to immigration issues, and with the support and solidarity of several other states, the momentum will become even greater.

Finally, by coercing public opinion and holding a referendum, Texas became independent and rebelled against the Union!

Sobian said that the search for the missing nuclear warhead was a secret operation within the military. Not many people knew about it, so the level of the people sent was not high.

When Captain Josrei and his men find him, Sobian will directly detonate the nuclear warhead, kill Josrei and others, and throw all the blame for this matter on Josrei and the others.

Then going to the site where the nuclear warhead exploded, Sobian will tell the victims that this is a conspiracy by the federal government. They don't care about Texas at all, they don't care about the needs and safety of the Texas people, and they don't care about the damage caused by those smugglers to the security of Texas.

All in all, everything is the fault of the federal government. The nuclear warhead this time was caused by the federal government's secret operation and failure to tell the people the truth.

Although the federal army did not explain it clearly, ideological examination is also an important item in the assessment. Sobian's idea of "splitting the federation" will naturally not be liked and valued by his superiors.

Sobian put away the smile on his face and said loudly with a righteous face:

Sobian smiled and said:

“Although Qiao Si Lei is afraid of trouble, he is even more afraid of causing trouble.

I am one of Qiao Si Lei's subordinates. As long as I go behind Qiao Si Lei's back and steal the nuclear warhead and it is exposed, the consequences for Qiao Si Lei will definitely not be good. ”

In addition, Qiao Si Lei had a hard time marrying a colonel's daughter and climbed to the position of captain. He would never allow this to happen. So Josrei's only choice was to suppress the news and quickly * the nuclear warhead from Sobian.

After listening to Sobian's words, Chenier and Michelle looked at each other and breathed a sigh of relief, and then looked at Luo An with admiration on their faces.

They did not comment on what Qiao Si Lei did. At least Luo An really found the nuclear warhead, determined that the nuclear warhead was transported by that train, and found someone to intercept it.

Seeing the looks in Cheniel and Michelle's eyes, Sobian's eyes moved slightly and he realized something. He turned to look at Luo An and asked with a smile:

"Have you sent someone to intercept that train?"

Seeing that Sobian was not angry at all about the failure of his plan, and was even very calm, Cheniel and Michelle's hearts trembled, their faces changed slightly, and they asked:

"What do you mean?"

A lot of possibilities flashed through the two women's minds instantly, such as there was an ambush on the train, or the nuclear warhead was not there at all, Sobian lied to them, etc.

"Means nothing."

Seeing that the expression on Luo An's face was calmer than his own, Sobian, who had wanted to laugh at him, frowned slightly, feeling a little unhappy in his heart, and snorted coldly:

"The nuclear warhead is indeed on that train, but it doesn't matter whether I am caught or not, because it has been equipped with a countdown device. As soon as the time is up, it will explode!"

Sobian is definitely not able to achieve independence. He has many like-minded people. Even if he dies, those people will continue to move forward.

"Fu-k!"

"Sh-t!"

Chenelle and Michelle took a breath when they heard this. One turned pale and the other turned dark. Sobian burst out laughing when he saw this scene:

“Hahahaha...haha...ha...um”

After laughing a few times, Sobian gradually stopped, his mouth slowly closed, and his face became a little stiff.

Because Luo An was still very calm and looked at him quietly.

Sobian's face trembled. Before he could ask a question, Chenelle and Michelle looked at Luo An and whispered:

“Luo An?”

“Don't panic.”

Roan pressed his hand, signaling Chenille and Michelle not to panic. He took out his phone and checked the time. He looked at Sobian, smiled, and asked:

“Mr. Sobian, don't you wonder why I have been standing here instead of escorting you out of this area?”

Sobian frowned slightly. Before he could think carefully, a rumble suddenly came from a distance.

He subconsciously turned his head to look in the direction of the sound. Chenier and Michelle also turned their heads. They saw smoke and dust billowing on the road in the distance, and the sky was filled with sand. Twenty-odd federal military off-road vehicles formed a long column and were speeding towards here. Coming.

In the sky above these off-road vehicles, there are four on the left and four on the right, painted in dark green camouflage, with various weapons hanging on them. The rumbling Apache military helicopters are moving forward, aiming directly at this area.

The speed of the helicopter was very fast. The eight Apaches that arrived above Luo An's group did not land, but circled around them, rumbling with great pressure.

Not long after, a long line of military off-road vehicles carrying billowing smoke and dust followed them and arrived at Luo An's group, also surrounding them in the center.

The vehicle was parked, and the door of an off-road vehicle opened. A white man who looked to be in his fifties, wearing a federal military uniform and with a very serious face, walked towards several people surrounded by a group of federal soldiers.

Seeing a star on the opponent's shoulder, except for Luo An, all the other three people's expressions changed.

The phone call before Chapter 670

In the federal army, the rank is lieutenant, and above the school rank is general, distinguished by the number of stars on the shoulders.

The most famous five-star general is the man who likes to hold a pipe and pot in his mouth.

Appeared in front of several people in Luo An. He looked like a white man in his fifties, with a serious face and a star on his shoulder. He was ranked as a brigadier general.

According to the eastern level, it is roughly equivalent to the division commander's advisor or deputy commander, assisting the division commander in commanding a division, and assisting division-level units in supervising the planning and coordination of operations.

Seeing the other party approaching, Chenille and Michelle, although they were not in the military system, subconsciously put away their pistols and stood up straight with serious faces.

Sobian on the ground was very shocked. He was originally lying on the ground, looking in a state of ruin, but now his eyes were full of confusion, and he subconsciously put his hands on the ground to get up.

The brigadier general walked up to a few people surrounded by a group of soldiers. He did not pay attention to Chenier and Michelle, nor did he look at Sobian on the ground. Instead, he looked directly at Roan and said expressionlessly:

“Are you Roan Greenwood?”

“Yes, Mr. Brigadier.”

However, Luo An is relatively clear about the activation process of a bomb explosion, that is, detonating the ingredients that will actually explode through an detonating device.

Looking at the Apache helicopter gradually rising into the sky in the distance, Luo An smiled and said:

Luo An nodded in a neither humble nor condescending manner. Since he didn't know the other party's name, he could only call him by his military rank. Then he pointed at Sobian on the ground and said:

“This is the man who stole the nuclear warhead.”

The brigadier general said the first words to Sobian, and the next words to the soldiers.

The brigadier general nodded without saying anything, and waved his hands casually. A group of soldiers behind him immediately swarmed up, pulled Sobian up from the ground, and held him firmly under control.

"Um."

From a macro perspective, the initiation process of a nuclear warhead explosion is not much different from that of an ordinary bomb explosion.

Just when a soldier was about to stuff something into Sobian's mouth, Sobian quickly shook his head to avoid it, and at the same time looked at Luo An and shouted loudly:

“I succeeded, right? The nuclear warhead has exploded, right? I succeeded!”

The soldiers beside him were too lazy to talk nonsense and directly stuffed something like a rag into his mouth to prevent Sobian from biting off his tongue, and then pulled him quickly towards the helicopter in the distance.

The chemistry, physics and other principles behind nuclear bombs are too profound. Luo An has not studied them deeply, which is almost as if he has not done anything.

“I made a phone call last night.”

Sobian almost broke his voice because he was so excited. The brigadier frowned slightly, turned around and glanced at him, and said coldly:

“That nuclear warhead won't explode, take it away!”

When Sobian heard this, he struggled fiercely, his face turned red with anger, and he tried his best to figure out what was going on.

“I asked someone to help me contact the Deputy Minister of Defense.”

Hearing the Brigadier's words, Chenelle and Michelle also looked puzzled, so they turned their attention to Luo An.

Michelle blinked. She did understand the theoretical principles behind nuclear bombs. Chenille discovered another problem:

“How did you know about this?”

"Wait a moment!"

Last night while waiting for the helicopter, Chenille and Lacey were taking a nap back-to-back. Because they were worried that the nuclear warhead had been transferred by Sobian in advance, and he was unable to do anything, Luo An planned to find someone to help intercept it.

Luo An smiled and explained:

“I don't know the specific situation. I only know that the detonation device inside the nuclear warhead has been damaged.”

The FBI can't provide much help in this regard. It's not that Veranith doesn't help, but the FBI itself only targets simple explosives, such as TNT, plastic bombs, etc.

Nuclear warheads are beyond the capabilities of the FBI's Explosive Ordnance Disposal Department. They can identify and even dismantle them, but they are not capable of dealing with nuclear radiation in the event that it occurs. The only organization capable of dealing with nuclear warheads is the military.

Luo An initially took out his cell phone and called Veranith about this matter, hoping that Veranith would contact the military.

As a result, the military side kept trying to make detours with Veranith for some reason. Veranith was so angry that her body was shaking but there was nothing she could do. After hearing this, Luo An pondered for a while, took out his mobile phone and made another call. The person contacted this time was Louise, a female reporter with a fox-like face. Her father was a deputy minister of the Federal Ministry of Defense.

After listening to Luo An's brief description, the deputy minister's phone was silent for a long time, and then the voice rang again after a few minutes.

The deputy minister told Luo An that the nuclear warhead would not explode, and said that the military in the Texas area would be ready to deal with the nuclear warhead. Luo An only needed to lead people to arrest Sobian and confirm The specific location of the nuclear warhead will suffice.

Because of this, Luo An didn't panic at all when Sobian shouted arrogantly. He had already asked Mona to send the message, and the army would send people to deal with the train.

After listening to Roan's explanation, the doubts in Chenille and Michelle's minds not only did not decrease, but also became more, such as what happened to the military group that was going around with Veranith.

Luo An couldn't answer. He didn't know the matter yet. It happened that the brigadier general hadn't left yet, so after a few words of greeting, he asked about the situation in this regard.

“You did a good job on the nuclear warhead incident, Captain Greenwood.”

The Brigadier General reached out and patted Luo An's arm, praising him expressionlessly:

"There are very few outstanding young people like you nowadays, even in the army."

"Emotional Perception" sensed the other party's friendly attitude and what he said was true. Luo An accepted the other party's previous compliments with a calm face. As for the subsequent sentence about the number of outstanding talents in the federal army being reduced, he was noncommittal.

As the wave of political correctness intensifies in the future, there will definitely be a large number of people of one of the 97 genders in the federal army.

With the participation of LGBTQIAPKDXREW+ and others, the federal army will surely have an endless supply of outstanding talents in the future.

Without saying much on this matter, Luo An brought the topic to the point and asked about the military who had been trying to make detours with Veranis.

The Brigadier General picked up the phone and looked at it. He did not answer Luo An's question and said:

“The nuclear warhead has been successfully disposed of. There was no explosion or radiation leakage, and it was very well preserved.

Leader Greenwood, let my people help you briefly treat your wounds, and then take you to a nearby city to rest. ”

Seeing that the other party did not answer, Chenier and Michelle, who had been listening silently, frowned slightly. Roan and the Brigadier looked at each other for a few seconds, then agreed with a smile:

“Then thank you, Mr. Brigadier General.”

The brigadier general nodded without saying anything, and waved his hand to summon a captain, asking him to lead troops to help Luo An and the others.

Lacey was still at the big rock before, carefully guarding Sobian's men who were stunned and injured by the explosion.

The brigadier general also sent people to * them all away, and Lacey and Luo An and others took a car to a nearby city.

Successfully arrived in Austin, the capital of Texas. Not long after everyone rested, Winslow also returned to a few people from Colorado and introduced the situation he met:

“...Captain Joslay finally led his men to conquer the farm, and when he was about to lead his people away, a new group of soldiers appeared and took Captain Joslay away directly.”

In the private room of the restaurant, Lacey took a big bite of the lamb chop, turned to look at Luo An, and guessed:

“Is it another factional fight within the military?”

This kind of thing is not uncommon within the federal military. After all, some people have factions. Coupled with a number of arms companies and some members of Congress, even within the federal military-industrial complex, there are a lot of contradictions due to different divisions of interests.

"maybe."

Luo An put a piece of beef into his mouth and said while eating:

“Let's leave the internal affairs of the military alone. This case is over. Let's eat something first and have a good night's rest. We will return to Washington tomorrow.”

“OK.”

A few people nodded and started eating. At this moment, Luo An suddenly made a move, looked up at Winslow, and asked:

“Winslow, did you let the people in the SUV go?”

“People? What people?”
