

FBI Detective 711

Chapter 711: One on two, heading to Europe

“What is the true identity of Agent Anita?”

Roan asked, and Mona also looked at Conrad in confusion.

Conrad's reasoning that the underground businessman Rupert and the criminal organization leader Zacharias will not change the time and place of the transaction is based on the fact that Rupert does not know Anita's true identity.

This reasoning cannot be said to have any logical loopholes, it can only be said to be completely illogical.

If Conrad is not confused and has a problem, Agent Anita's true identity is very unusual and can affect the direction of the whole thing.

Seeing the looks from Roan and Mona, Conrad explained:

“Sorry, I can't reveal Anita's true identity.

I can only say that the name Anita is also an agent codename, and she has many such agent codenames.

The real strength of Anita is not her true identity, but her identity as an agent.

She has handled many major cases and activities of CIA supervisors undercover. For criminal groups, once Anita is undercover, it means that the matter has been targeted by CIA executives, and the situation is very unfavorable for them.

The ordinary Millie Brooke is just an ordinary female CIA undercover agent.

Even if we rescue people, Rupert will only think that this is just a routine operation. After all, the CIA has done many rescue operations.

So Rupert did not discover Anita's true identity as an agent, and would not think that the CIA's top brass had targeted him, so he would not change the transaction plan easily.

The worst case scenario is that when both parties are transacting, both parties should bring more manpower, increase the transaction speed, and leave as soon as the transaction is completed. "

After listening to this explanation, Mona frowned even more. She felt that Conrad's words were indeed logical and reasoning, but there were also many places that didn't make sense, so she asked aloud:

"Leader Conrad, you..."

As soon as Mona started to speak, Luo An raised his hand to cover her shoulder to stop her words.

Mona looked up at Luo An, who smiled at her, then looked at Conrad and said:

"So what Team Leader Conrad means is that we will go to the French Republic and arrest people at the transaction site, right?"

"That's right."

"OK."

After receiving a positive answer, Luo An did not ask further questions, but simply communicated a few words about tomorrow's itinerary. He and Mona walked out of the kitchen together, asking everyone to take the time to rest and go to each room to sleep.

An hour later, in the room where Lacey was assigned, after listening to Mona's description of Conrad's words, Lacey's face was suddenly full of doubts:

“Luo An, there is obviously something wrong with Conrad's words, how could you...”

“Why don't you expose him or get to the bottom of it, right?”

Roan took over what Lacey said. Lacey nodded repeatedly. Roan smiled, looked at Mona and asked:

“How is the investigation going with the surveillance I asked you to help investigate before?”

“Have been found.”

Mona left and opened her laptop, typed on the keyboard to bring up a surveillance video, showed it to the two of them, and explained:

“This is the dock where Conrad and Sean found the USB drive.

According to Luo An's instructions, I successfully found a car that drove into the pier quickly. ”

In the surveillance video, a car quickly drove into the pier, and within three minutes, the car quickly drove away from the pier.

“The overall judgment will be based on surveillance videos from other streets...”

Mona called up the map of the entire Puerto Montt area, and then connected the dots and lines on the map where the car appeared on the surveillance video. The final direction was the abandoned factory where they had rescued people before.

Luo An then briefly recounted that when he was on the container crane, he saw Conrad receiving a phone call and then finding the USB flash drive. He laughed:

“It's clear that Conrad had an informant or undercover agent that we didn't know about.”

Lacie suddenly realized it and clapped her hands:

“The identity of this informant is definitely extraordinary. He not only knows where Anita threw the USB flash drive, but also asked Conrad to find it.

Moreover, this informant also won Conrad's trust and firmly believed that Rupert and Zacharias would not change the time and place of the transaction! ”

Mona also reacted at this time, her eyes widened slightly:

"So what Agent Anita said just now are all false?!" "No, those are the truth, but they are not the fundamental reason for Conrad to make the decision to go to the French Republic tomorrow."

Roan shook his head. When Conrad described the situation about Agent Anita, his "emotional perception" was always on, making sure that most of what the other party said was the truth.

Only said half of it and left half of it.

Mona nodded slightly in silence, Lacey then took a deep breath and asked:

“Conrad obviously has information that he is not sharing with us, what should we do next?”

“As usual, just do what you have to do.”

Luo An handed Mona and Lacey each a box of large cherries, a specialty of Chile, and said with a smile:

"As long as you listen to my instructions, leave the rest to me."

“OK.”

Mona and Lacey agreed, and after a few brief exchanges, Luo An stood up and left Lacey's rest room.

As soon as he opened the door and walked into the corridor, the door of another room not far away suddenly opened, and Evelin suddenly walked out wearing only a bath towel.

“Good evening, Team Leader Luo An.”

Seeing Luo An in the corridor, Evelin was also stunned for a moment, then raised her eyebrows and licked her lips and said hello with a smile:

“Team Leader Luo An, would you like to come and sit with me? I have some questions that I would like to consult with Team Leader Luo An.”

Without waiting for Luo'an to answer, the door of the room was not closed yet. Mona, who heard Evelyn's voice, jumped from the bed, quickly walked out of the room to block Luo'an, and hummed:

“Evelin, what are you doing wearing a bath towel instead of sleeping this late at night?”

“It turned out to be Mona.”

Seeing Mona walk out of the room, and seeing Lacey walking next to Mona, Evelin immediately covered her mouth with an exaggerated expression:

“One against two? Team leader Luo An, are you in such good physical condition?”

Mona's eyes widened for a moment. Before she could speak, Lacey laughed out loud and said:

“One to two, Evelyn, do you think this word is appropriate coming from you?”

Evelin's face changed slightly:

"What do you mean?"

Lacie crossed her arms, the disdain and contempt in her eyes not concealed at all:

"What do you think?"

Evelin's face turned dark instantly. Just as she was about to speak, the doors to the two rooms behind her suddenly opened. Conrad and Sean were disturbed by the noise in the corridor and walked out together.

Everyone in the corridor looked at each other for a moment. Mona and Lacey sneered and went back to their rooms to rest. Roan smiled at Conrad and Sean and turned back to their rooms to sleep.

Seeing that Conrad and Sean were a little confused, Evelin looked at herself dressed in a bathrobe, cursed a few words in her heart, snorted at the two men, and turned around and returned to her room.

Conrad, Sean: "?"

In the afternoon of the next day, a group of people took a flight from Chile to the French Republic in Europe. After arriving there, they entered the reserved hotel to rest, and then began preparations for the operation.

Mona was responsible for monitoring the video, Lacey stayed behind to help, Roan, Conrad, Evelyn and Sean pretended to be tourists and went to Mont Saint-Michel on the coast of Normandy to observe the scene.

Saint-Michel is famous for its amazing monasteries and monasteries. When Roan was visiting, Mona suddenly called him:

“Luo An, Lacey and I seem to have found ourselves together.”

"who?"

“I guess it's the British Empire's MI6, and Lacey guesses it's the French Republic's Seventh Bureau.”

Chapter 712: The First of the Five Mountains

At 10:30 in the morning, due to the Atlantic monsoon, Luo An specially wore warm clothes to visit Mont Saint-Michel.

Like other foreign tourists, Luo An walked slowly up the stairs to the top of the mountain. After receiving a call from Mona, he walked aside and pretended to rest and take in the scenery, and asked:

“Where did you find your “companion”?”

“In the parking lot.”

Mona on the other end of the phone typed on the keyboard a few times and explained:

“If you want to go to the Mont Saint-Michel Scenic Area, whether you drive by yourself or take a bus from the train station, you will come to the parking lot in front of the scenic area. This is the only way to go.”

“That's right.”

Roan nodded. It took about fifty minutes to walk from the parking lot to Mont Saint-Michel. When he was in the parking lot just now, he chose to take the shuttle bus to the scenic spot.

The shuttle bus is overcrowded, similar to some subways during commuting hours, but there are many buses, the speed is fast, and it's free. Luo An is now a tourist, so he made this choice.

"That's it."

After Mona finished speaking, Lacey took the phone and added:

Facing Lacey's worried mood, Luo An chuckled and calmly comforted:

"Don't panic, the leading party in this action is Captain Conrad and his colleagues. I believe they will think it over and think about it carefully."

Mont Saint-Michel is a famous monument and Catholic pilgrimage site in the French Republic. It is the third holiest Catholic site after Jerusalem and the Vatican. It has a long history and is included in the World Heritage List by UNESCO.

Glancing at Mona, who was typing on the keyboard quickly next to her, Lacey frowned slightly and said:

"OK, I understand."

"Mona is working hard, but the success rate may not be high."

For an underground broker and the leader of a criminal organization to do business in a place like this, it always feels very abstract.

According to the FBI's work regulations, for arrests like this, the FBI will inevitably contact the law enforcement agencies of other countries to conduct joint operations.

"Luo An, if those people are really MI6, or the seventh game, then our actions..."

Luo An narrowed his eyes slightly and asked:

“Can we use surveillance to compare the faces of those people and find out their identities?”

“By the way, Roan, did you find any useful clues at Mont Saint-Michel?”

These guys coming out of the car, although they are dressed like tourists, do not look like tourists. They have also been to Mont Saint-Michel in the past few days. "

To use an inappropriate metaphor, the status of this mountain in the French Republic is similar to that of the top of the five mountains in a country in the East.

However, the circumstances of this case are special. CIA senior officials requested a secret operation to minimize the impact of known people and things.

MI6 is the foreign intelligence organization of the British Empire. Directorate 7 is the security department of the French Republic. It governs the country's secret intelligence work. The content of its intelligence activities is equivalent to that of the Federal Central Intelligence Agency (CIA), while its counterintelligence work is similar to that of the Federal Investigation Agency. It's almost like the FBI.

“Mona just invaded the monitoring backend of the parking lot management department. When I compared the recent monitoring with past monitoring, I found some vehicles that seemed a bit abnormal.

Standing on the steps, Luo An looked back at the Normandy overlooking the foot of the mountain from a high position, and said with a smile:

“For example, I seem to have guessed the reason why underground businessman Rupert and criminal organization leader Zacharias chose to do business in this place.”

Luo An didn't have a lot of experience in this area. He didn't choose to pretend to understand and bite the bullet, but decisively chose to pass the blame to... and chose to listen to the opinions of Team Leader Conrad. After all, the other party was rich in experience.

After all, the Republic of France is one of the five permanent members. If those people are really from the Seventh Bureau, the arrest operation will inevitably become very troublesome.

"There are some."

Lacie raised her brows, stopped asking about arrangements in this regard, and then said:

Lacey was also very confused about this. When Luo An said that she had guessed the reason, she quickly asked:

"What is it?"

Luo An smiled and did not answer immediately, but said: "You can come directly to Mont Saint-Michel now. I need you to do something."

At nine o'clock in the evening, a hotel in Brittany, a city near Mont Saint-Michel.

In a hotel suite, three people, Luo An and Conrad, sat around the dining table. The dining area was temporarily converted into a conference room to discuss and sort out the clues investigated today.

There are not many clues. The entire holy mountain is not very big. Except for the monastery on the top of the mountain, there are only many gourmet shops, restaurants, and souvenir shops along the road. It is a standard tourist area configuration.

The plan formulated by Team Leader Conrad is very simple. They will find a way to transport weapons and equipment in tomorrow. Because they are not sure of the target person's transaction time, it is easy to alert the snake directly by staying in a hotel in the scenic area, so they need to find a store to "convince" the boss to let them live.

"When I came to the French Republic this time, I brought a lot of surveillance equipment."

Conrad pointed to a metal box in the corner of the room and said:

“At that time, we will first install these surveillance equipment in every corner of Mont Saint-Michel. Agent Mona will be responsible for observing the situation, and the rest of us will be responsible for raiding and arresting people.”

The plan was simple and unsophisticated, even straightforward and crude. Lacey and Mona looked up at Luo An, who smiled and said:

“Leader Conrad, we still have clues that we need to talk about.”

Hearing that someone from MI6 or Game 7 might have appeared here recently, Conrad frowned slightly. Evelin subconsciously turned her head to look at Sean next to her. Sean's face instantly became cold and even became extremely cold. gloomy.

Mona and Lacey were puzzled, and Roan asked:

"what happened?"

Sean stood up and left immediately. Evelin, who was usually a bit arrogant, licked her lips this time and did not dare to make a sound. Conrad was silent for a moment and whispered:

“The cause of death of Sean's wife and mother is directly or indirectly related to MI6.”

Conrad did not go into details about the specific situation, but this sentence revealed enough information.

Mona and Lacey looked astonished, and Luo An narrowed his eyes slightly and remained silent for a while, expressing that he understood Sean, but understanding was understanding, and there was no room for error in this action.

So he suggested that when the operation started, Sean stayed behind to guard the shop owner and the base to prevent accidents.

Evelin frowned slightly and turned to look at the team leader Conrad. Conrad pondered for a few seconds and nodded slowly:

"Can..."

"No, I object."

Before Conrad finished speaking, Sean, who had just left, suddenly returned to the room. The moistness on his face and the water droplets on his hair showed that Sean had just gone out to wash his face. He said solemnly:

"Team Leader Greenwood, Team Leader Conrad, and the three ladies, please believe me, I can definitely carry out this operation."

Mona, Lacey and Evelin didn't speak, and Roan didn't speak either. He just turned his attention to Team Leader Conrad who was standing at the front.

Facing Sean's firm gaze, Conrad pondered for a while, and finally repeated:

"Sean, you are responsible for staying behind during this operation, guarding the shop owner and base, and preventing accidents to the enemy."

Sean's eyes widened instantly, and Conrad's face was expressionless. The two looked at each other for a few seconds. Sean finally took a deep breath and nodded in agreement:

"clear."

"Good."

After the discussion, several people got up and left to pack their things.

Mona returned to her room, and just as she was about to close the door, Luo An suddenly squeezed in behind her, startling Mona.

Grabbing the slap that Mona subconsciously waved to slap someone, Luo An raised his hand to cover her mouth and whispered:

“Don't say anything, I have something to tell you.”

Chapter 713: Install surveillance, three stores, prepare to arrest people

Mont Saint-Michel, with its hilltop church and abbey dating back thousands of years, is a holy place of faith for Christians and an amazing historical monument for ordinary tourists.

As for Luo An and his party...they have no interest.

The next morning, after observing the terrain around the church, a few people walked down the mountain and went straight to the path below.

This is a tourist attraction after all, so there are inevitably many shops and restaurants. However, because the road up the mountain is not long, the "commercial street" is only one or two hundred meters long.

After a brief analysis of the geographical location, the group finally selected a souvenir shop located deep in the street.

Conrad used 50,000 euros and a pistol to convince the shop owner to rent the shop to him for three days.

“...”x3

Looking at Conrad handing 50,000 euros to the boss, then knocking him unconscious, binding him and stuffing him into the wardrobe, Evelin changed clothes very naturally and became a clerk, Lacey's eyelids jumped:

“You are too skilled at this.”

“This is called experience.”

Evelin smiled after changing into waiter clothes, picked up a very beautiful souvenir that looked like a stone necklace and stuffed it into her pocket, and said:

"This store can only have one waiter. You guys have to figure out your own identity."

“Mona, do you have a way to connect to this surveillance device, or hack into it directly?”

"no problem."

Mona spread her hands and walked directly to the back room with her laptop. Her task was to check the surveillance, and there was no need to disguise.

Because of Luo An's special reminder, the two of them did not touch those devices, nor did they enter the monitoring area of those monitoring devices. They just silently recorded their specific locations.

“Are there any enemies?”

Luo An smiled and asked:

Mona had been on the phone with Luo An. When she heard the lack of footsteps from Luo An, she quickly lowered her voice and asked:

Standing on the side of the wall, Luo An looked at the mechanical equipment in the corner under the eaves through the glass, grinning:

Luo An then headed to the next location. As soon as he reached the rooftop of the target location, he suddenly frowned and stopped moving forward.

"What's wrong?"

Hearing this, Luo An immediately turned around and left without forcing any further demands. At the same time, he said:

"Mona, mark this location on the map."

"Then there's no need."

"I don't know, this is just a brand new monitoring device, there is no name written on it."

"The enemy didn't see it, but he saw the surveillance camera installed by the enemy."

The installation process of the first few cameras was very smooth. The equipment itself is not big. With Mona's guidance, Luo An and the other three installed six cameras in less than an hour.

After the signal was successfully linked, Mona guided a few people on the other end of the phone to turn the surveillance camera back and forth, left and right, in order to better observe the situation around the island of Mont Saint-Michel.

Conrad pretended to be the store owner. Luo An, Sean and Lacey took the surveillance equipment in the metal box, left the store, and began to install surveillance cameras in hidden corners of the island.

Mona on the other end of the phone hesitated:

"Sorry, the distance is too far and I can't connect. In addition, I'm worried that the other party is checking the surveillance. Doing so may attract the other party's attention."

Luo An continued to the next location. In the following time, Lacey and Sean also met a brand new camera.

Mona was stunned for a moment, then quickly reacted and asked:

"MI6? Or the 7th game?"

At noon, the group returned to the souvenir shop.

There were several customers buying things at this time, and Luo An and the other three casually glanced at them dressed as tourists without paying any attention to them.

Under the sales clerk Evelin's witty words, several customers happily spent dozens of euros to buy some souvenirs. After sending a few people away, Evelin also put the money in with a smile on her face. own pocket.

Lacey rolled her eyes when she saw this scene. Sean was already used to it. Roan ignored it and walked directly into the room at the back of the store.

"You came back just in time."

At the table, Mona waved to Luo An, turned the computer screen, showed the map she had compiled to several people, and said:

“These are the other surveillance cameras you just discovered. They are in a very good location. Together with the surveillance cameras we arranged, they can cover Mont Saint-Michel.”

“This is really...”

Lacey was speechless and didn't know what to say. Sean was silent. Roan thought for a few seconds, turned to look at Conrad and asked:

“Would you like to find the other person and have a chat with them?”

"Need not."

Conrad looked calm and said:

"Our operation this time should not be publicized. No matter whether the opponent is MI6 or the 7th game, as long as we catch Rupert and Zacharias first, we will have the final say on what happens next."

Conrad's words were domineering and full of CIA style. Sean nodded with pride on his face.

Luo An smiled and said nothing. Lacey and Mona looked at each other and saw the incomprehensible look in the other's eyes, and then clapped perfunctorily.

The matter was settled like this. In the following time, Mona, Lacey and Sean changed positions to check the surveillance. Evelin was still outside pretending to be a shop assistant selling goods to prevent customers from discovering flaws.

As for Conrad, he was responsible for pretending to be the owner of the store. When the real store owner in the closet woke up, he would take him to eat something, go to the toilet, and then knock him out again and throw him and the money back into the closet.

boss:" ..."

Time moved forward minute by minute, and soon it was evening, and there were far fewer tourists outside the streets.

Seeing that there were fewer tourists, Evelin sold a lot of souvenirs from the shop owner and made a lot of money for herself, so she planned to close her shop early.

When Luo An saw this scene, he immediately stopped Evelin's movement, then called Lacey and asked her to go out and see how many shops were closed at this time.

“There are three in total.”

Twenty minutes later, Lacey returned to the shop and said:

“A small restaurant, a small shop selling drinks, and a small hotel.”

Evelin reacted at this time, covering her mouth with shock on her face:

“Leader Greenwood, do you mean that these three closed shops are where people from MI6 or Bureau 7 stay?”

“It's very likely.”

Luo An nodded:

“Everyone is here to perform their tasks, and running the store is just a disguise. Closing the business early is normal operation.”

Lacie agreed very much. She rolled her eyes at Evelin and said:

“There are not many people like you who think about using chickens to lay eggs and make money for yourself when doing tasks.”

Evelin was not afraid at all, she crossed her arms and spoke plausibly:

"We gave the boss 50,000 euros, what's wrong with selling some goods? He should also thank me. If it weren't for me, how could he sell so many souvenirs while sleeping? I didn't ask him for the salary to hire me as a waiter. That's pretty good."

Lacie's eyes widened, Roan didn't care about Evelin's words and asked:

"Lacie, are you sure it's three stores?"

"That's right."

Lacie glared at Evelin fiercely, and after answering the question, she was suddenly stunned and realized something was wrong:

"How could it be three families?"

Evelin's expression changed slightly and she was about to speak when Mona suddenly walked out of the back room:

"The target person has come to Mont Saint-Michel."

"where?"

"The beach is not far away!"

Before Luo An could continue to ask, the heavily armed Conrad suddenly walked out of the room and threw a gun to Luo An:

“Let's go!”

Chapter 714 The three parties face each other

Mont Saint-Michel, a souvenir shop.

“Start taking action! Let's arrest people!”

Team Leader Conrad rushed out of the innermost room, threw a gun to Luo An, and then ordered Evelin to quickly change her clothes.

Evelin immediately started to put on a body armor for herself, and Lacey did the same. Roan asked while arranging the equipment:

“Mona, what time is it now?”

Mona next to the computer looked at the time and replied:

“Seven past five in the afternoon.”

Hearing this time, Luo An frowned slightly but said nothing. He just turned an inexplicable gaze to Lacey. Lacey didn't speak either, but nodded slightly.

A few people quickly finished cleaning up. According to the previous plan, Mona sat here and was responsible for sorting out information and monitoring and commanding.

Shaun is responsible for guarding the store owner and protecting the store to ensure that Mona is safe. The rest of Roan, Lacey, Conrad and Evelyn take guns and go straight to the target person.

As the four of them moved forward quickly, seabirds flew high outside, the sky became very dark, and large dark clouds gathered in the sky in the distance.

“The tide is rising?!”

There were no tourists at the viewing point at this time. Only Rupert with three bodyguards and Zacharias with four bodyguards shook hands and discussed at the viewing point, laughing loudly from time to time.

“Agent Mona, where are Rupert and Zacharias?”

Evelin frowned when she saw this scene, and then she realized:

This is the largest tide-watching theater in Europe. When the tide rises, the sea water will rush in with lightning speed, instantly submerging the salt marsh beaches around Mont Saint-Michel.

“You can see it just by walking around the city wall!”

Mona quickly replied:

Seeing that the original tidal flat was disappearing at a speed visible to the naked eye, Conrad frowned. He looked around and found no one. He immediately pressed the communicator and asked:

Seeing this group of people, Conrad suddenly became happy and immediately sped up his running speed.

When we reached the foot of the mountain, all the cars originally parked there had disappeared, replaced by the sea water that became slightly black due to the lack of sunlight.

At this time, Mont Saint-Michel will be restored to a real island in the ocean, as if there is a castle floating on the sea, very dreamy.

Conrad immediately ran to the right, and Luo An and the other three hurriedly followed, quickly bypassing the city wall, and a platform usually used to watch the tide appeared in front of them.

Climbing up the stairs on the left side of the tide viewing point, before Conrad and others could reach the top of the stairs, several shouts suddenly reached their ears:

“At your right hand!”

“Don't move! Put your weapon down! Put your hand up!”

In addition to the church on the top of the mountain, its spectacular tidal phenomenon is also one of the most attractive features of Mont Saint-Michel.

Conrad was stunned for a moment, Evelin looked stunned, and Luo An looked calm. He quickly bypassed Conrad and took a few steps over the stairs to the viewing point. He raised his weapon and shouted loudly:

“Put down your weapons! Get down on the ground!”

“OK!”

At the center of the tide-watching platform, Rupert and Zacharias looked shocked. Although it was hard to tell whether it was true or not, the men with guns at the top of the stairs on the other side were even more shocked.

At this time, the mask is not a small tide-watching platform, forming a three-point and one-line pattern:

The four of Luo An stood on top of the steps on the far left; Rupert, Zacharias and their bodyguards stood in the middle; on the steps on the far right were six white men, also aiming weapons at Rupert Special two people.

Six white men on the stairs on the right, led by a guy with blond hair above his ears, a severely bald head, and his scalp can be seen when the wind blows. He looks like he is in his forties.

Seeing the four Luo An men standing on the other side, aiming their guns at Rupert and the others, the bald man suddenly frowned.

He vaguely guessed the identities of Luo An and the others. Just as he was about to speak, another group of guys with guns suddenly came out of the woods behind the tide watching point and shouted:

"We are in the seventh round, put down your guns! Just surrender!" "... " xN

The bald man on the right had their eyelids twitching, Rupert in the middle had shock and astonishment on their faces, Conrad and Evelyn on the far left frowned, and Lacey rolled her eyes. .

Luo An's face twitched. He had already guessed the identity of the group of bald men opposite. Not surprisingly, they should be MI6 from the British Empire.

With his eyes flickering, Luo An remembered that Lacey had said that there were three stores that had closed down. He didn't know who was in the last store.

After the people from the seventh game came out, the atmosphere at the scene suddenly became very quiet. Everyone looked at others cautiously or doubtfully. The four forces formed a T shape. Only Rupert and Zacharias were surrounded in the middle. middle.

"..."x2

Rupert, Zacharias, and their men had very uncoordinated expressions on their faces at this time.

When the bald man and the others first came out, they were startled. When Luo An and the others came out, they were also startled. However, they found that Luo An and the bald man did not know each other, and they suddenly felt weird.

When the people from the seventh bureau showed up and expressed their intention to arrest everyone present, the two of them felt... a little numb.

As soon as Zacharias realized the current situation, he turned around and looked at Rupert, anger rising in his eyes, and he roared:

“You betrayed...”

“How dare you betray me?!”

Before Zacharias finished speaking, Rupert shouted angrily ahead of him, then reached out, took out a pistol and pressed it against Zacharias' temple, backed away and shouted loudly:

"Everyone! Get back! Let me leave! Otherwise I will kill this unruly guy raised by my cousin!"

Zakariya, who was held hostage, turned red and became even more angry. He cursed a lot of unknown countries.

The four guards wanted to save people, but the boss was controlled. In the end, one of Rupert's three men, a white man with a **** chin, led others and drove them to the side.

The white man with the chin did not choose to kill. Now they are all surrounded. In a sense, the four guards can become cannon fodder to buy themselves time to escape.

The operations of Rupert and Butt-chin's men made everyone present's eyebrows jump. None of the four Luo An, the bald man, and others could guess whether the target of the other party's trip was Rupert or Zacharias.

The only person who can guess the target of the operation is the seventh game on the other side. The seventh game obviously intends to capture everyone present.

There was a stalemate at the scene. Everyone pointed their guns at everyone else, but no one was the first to shoot.

The tide soon rose to its highest point. Suddenly, a speedboat came straight to this place in the tide. The moment Lacey saw it, she was shocked and subconsciously turned to look at Luo An.

Luo An licked his lips and lowered his voice:

“We retreat.”

“What?”

Evelin's face was full of confusion, and Conrad also had an expression of "You have to give me an explanation." Luo An didn't bother to talk nonsense, he took out two smoke bombs from his waist and threw them out, then pulled Lacey and turned around Just run.

White smoke instantly spread in all directions. Everyone present was shocked by this unexpected situation. The people from MI6 reacted and rushed into the smoke to prepare for arrests.

As a result, they only found four of Zacharia's **** men. Conrad and his ass-chin men had already taken this opportunity to jump out of the tide-viewing platform and climbed onto the speedboat.

“Help me thank the man who threw the smoke bomb! Goodbye, everyone!”

The butt-chinned man stood on the speedboat, raised his hand with a smile on his face, and the other man immediately started the speedboat and drove away from here at high speed.

“Bloody! (British aristocrat's “tm”)”

The bald man cursed loudly, but he had to take people away quickly because the group of people from the seventh game behind had already rushed up.

While MI6 was running away quickly, on the other side, Luo An and the other four were also running as fast as they could in an attempt to get rid of the pursuit in the seventh round.

While running, Conrad's face looked very ugly:

“Leader Luo An, you just let Conrad and the others run away, you need to give me an explanation.”

"I did it on purpose."

Luo An raised the corners of his mouth and said:

“How can we catch them if they don't run away?”

Chapter 715: The fourth party, Speedboat

North of Mont Saint-Michel, Roan, Lacey, Evelyn and Conrad fled quickly, with several Bureau 7 agents pursuing them in the distance.

However, the two sides ran back and forth without firing at each other.

Lacey wanted to shoot, but Conrad suppressed it, and said that this is a rule, not shooting is one thing, shooting becomes another thing.

Lacey suddenly understood why the people in the seventh round had never picked up the speed of pursuit and were hanging so far behind them.

After explaining to Lacey the unspoken rules between the CIA and agents from many countries in the European Union, Conrad then turned to Luo An and asked:

“I can understand what you just said. You let Rupert and the others go in order to catch them. The situation at that time was indeed not good for us.

The problem is, Rupert and the others left in a speedboat, how do we catch them? Where should we go to get it done quickly...”

Before Conrad could finish his words, Roan and Lacey had already run behind Mont Saint-Michel. Deep in the woods, Roan and Lacey lifted a seaside cover, revealing a somewhat old speedboat.

Selectively ignoring the shocked and surprised expressions on the faces of the Seventh Bureau agents behind him, Luo An drove the speedboat around the shallow tidal flat area and headed straight for the English Channel in the distance in the direction that Rupert and others left just now.

“Good.”

“OK! OK!”

As long as the only bridge connecting to the outside world is blown up when the tide rises, the entire Mont Saint-Michel will be a true "isolated island" for more than an hour when the tide rises.

"clear!"

Soon after the speedboat got on track, Luo An handed over the control to Lacey and returned to his seat to sort out his weapons. Faced with Conrad and Evelin's questions, he answered with a smile:

“I thought Rupert or Zacharias wanted to blow up the only bridge.”

Evelin's eyes widened when she saw the speedboat, and Conrad had a ghostly expression on his face:

“When did you find out there was a speedboat here?”

“So I asked Lacey to prepare the speedboat in advance.”

Lacie threw Gabe aside, Luan started the speedboat, lowered the nose of the speedboat to be level with the water, and said loudly:

"The people in the seventh game will catch up immediately, and the tide is about to recede. We don't have much time!"

“Rupert's speedboat was discovered!”

Conrad and Evelin nodded repeatedly and quickly jumped onto the speedboat. Seeing the agents of the 7th Bureau catching up not far away, Luo An immediately changed direction, put it into gear and started, and the speedboat instantly rushed into the distance.

During the previous visit here, Mona discovered the surveillance video in the parking lot, and Roan also discovered a major publicity feature of Mont Saint-Michel, which is that the tide can come and go quickly.

Taken out an AR-15 automatic rifle from under the seat, loaded it and prepared it, Luo An grinned:

“Now it seems that my preparation was very foresight.”

“Come up first and then talk!”

Not long after, Lacey suddenly shouted excitedly:

Within this hour, if you are well prepared, you can kill people and set fires, erase the traces, and leave calmly.

Evelin's eyes twitched, and Conrad's eyes narrowed slightly. He thought of some other situations, but did not speak. He just gave Roan a thumbs up, and then started to arrange his weapons as well.

“It's not far ahead!”

Luo An nodded with satisfaction and said:

“Catch up!”

With excitement on her face, Lacey immediately twisted the operating lever to raise the gear to the highest level, leaving a white line behind it. The front of the speedboat tilted up, its speed increased again, and it rushed out like a sharp sword.

The distance between the two speedboats quickly shortened. When Lacey, Conrad and Evelin grabbed their weapons and focused on looking ahead, Luo An suddenly felt something, turned his head and looked behind, and suddenly frowned:

“Attention! Someone is catching up from behind!”

“What thefu-k?”

Evelin and Conrad were extremely shocked. They quickly turned around and found that a new speedboat had appeared not far behind their speedboat and was quickly pursuing them.

"what's the situation?"

"Which side? MI6 or the seventh round?" Luo An picked up the scope of the AR-15 and carefully observed the people in the speedboat behind for a few seconds, then handed the rifle to Conrad, frowning slightly:

“Looks like he's from the Republic of Germany?”

Conrad took the rifle and looked carefully through the scope for a few seconds, his face suddenly darkened:

“Square face, high nose, deep sunken eye sockets, mainly blue-green eyes, a standard German republican.”

Luo An took back the rifle and smiled:

“It seems they are the last people in the store.”

"damn it."

Evelin frowned and recalled the situation where Lacey found out that three stores closed their doors early.

People from MI6 and the Seventh Bureau have just seen that the group of German Republic people chasing them now should, not surprisingly, come from the Federal Intelligence Service of the German Republic, BND.

“No, what's going on today?”

Hearing the conversation between Luo An and the three of them, Lacey, who was driving the speedboat, couldn't hold back any longer and complained:

“Is it us who have the problem, or Rupert or Zacharias?”

How come people from the British Empire, the French Republic, and the German Republic, the "three old" intelligence agencies, all showed up? Have a meeting? "

Luo An glanced at Conrad, smiled and said:

“It may be that the intelligence agencies of these three countries want to unite to deal with the CIA.

As it turned out, the MI6 group had committed an old habit and was used to being a troublemaker, so the people of the three organizations did not unite and became a mess again, each doing its own thing. "

Hearing Luo An's words, Conrad and Evelin's faces were full of speechlessness, but they couldn't refute.

Because in order to prevent the unification of the European continent and ultimately threaten itself as an island country, the British Empire has been pursuing a policy of stirring up trouble for hundreds of years, causing chaos in the European continent. This kind of thing is known to the whole world, and the image of a great lack of virtue has lasted forever. Strong and deeply rooted in people's hearts.

After hearing Luo An's words, Lacey twitched her lips, suppressed the complaints in her mouth, and asked:

"What do we do next?"

Luo An looked at Conrad and asked:

"Does the "unspoken rule of not shooting" you told Lacey before apply to this situation now?"

Conrad said nothing, but silently pulled the safety of the weapon in his arms.

"Good."

Luo An nodded, took out the shock bomb from his waist, and said:

"Lacie, keep going, we have to catch Rupert and the others first!"

"clear!"

Lacie nodded heavily, no longer hesitated, and directly stepped on the speedboat's accelerator to the bottom!

On the other side, on the speedboat at the front, Zacharias had his limbs **** and was knocked unconscious, lying on a chair.

The white man with a slender chin glanced at Luo An and others who were chasing after him. He changed his previous behavior, waved his hand and ordered:

“Rupert, take out the box under the chair.”

Rupert, who had always been the boss before, nodded, immediately bent down and pulled out a metal box, opened it, and more than a dozen blood bags inside appeared in front of him.

The butt-chin man threw a dagger to Rupert and said quietly:

“Prick them open, and when I make a sign you will throw the box overboard.”

"no problem."

Rupert immediately followed the butt-chin man's order and started poking the blood bag, and a strong smell of blood suddenly spread out.

After simply comparing the distance, the butt-chinned man began to slow down the speedboat, then reversed its direction and drew a huge semicircle on the sea.

When the speedboat completely changed direction, the butt-chinned man suddenly stepped on the accelerator and drove the speedboat straight towards Luo An and the others!

Chapter 716 Speedboats collide and explode

To the west of Mont Saint-Michel, there is a slightly narrow mouth of the mainland in terms of the sea. After passing through this ocean and continuing in a straight line, you can reach the English Channel.

During the chase, the hands on the clock passed eight o'clock in the evening, and the sunlight had disappeared. All navigators on the sea relied on radar or lights to locate or observe their progress.

The speedboat driven by Rupert and others only had some basic red flashing lights on it. When the butt-chinned man turned around and rushed back, he ran for some distance before being discovered by Luo An and others.

"Shit!"

Lacey, who was at the helm, was startled. Thinking of the consequences of a collision between two high-speed speedboats, she subconsciously slowed down the speedboat and began to deflect.

But the speedboat Rupert and the others were on seemed to be aimed at them. Lacey turned the direction and they also turned the boat's bow, and it was still heading straight towards them!

"damn it!"

"Fu-kDown!"

Conrad and Evelin's eyebrows jumped when they saw this scene. Although they can swim, swimming in the sea is completely different from swimming in a swimming pool or lake.

Without the lights, the dark sea under the night sky brings an indescribable psychological pressure to people.

"Not in a hurry."

Although Conrad and Evelin had their doubts, now was not the time to question, so they had no choice but to follow suit and pick up the rope.

“Leader Greenwood, we can hide now!”

A collision between two speedboats will inevitably explode. Even if they survive, they will fall into the sea. Hypothermia, sharks, and attacks from survivors are all life-threatening situations.

Before Conrad could finish his words, Luo An suddenly turned the steering wheel, started the speedboat, put it in gear and stepped on the accelerator. The roar suddenly started, and the speedboat instantly rushed towards the left hand side of the people!

The moment Luo An's speedboat changed direction, the speedboat Rupert and others were on also began to turn without hesitation. The two speedboats were traveling at high speed and were approaching each other at a speed visible to the naked eye, and according to their trajectory, they were about to collide. !

Evelin's face became paler, Lacey closed her eyes tightly and refused to open them, Conrad's eyelids were twitching and he was breathing heavily. Unlike them, when he saw that the other party's yacht turned around, the corners of Luo An's mouth immediately curled up.

Boom—

"clear!"

Lacie believed Luo An so much that she immediately jumped into the seat behind her and picked up a rope to tie herself to the seat.

Luo An clenched the steering wheel with both hands and narrowed his eyes slightly:

Luo An also understood these things, so when he saw Lacey turning the steering wheel and the other party also changing direction, he immediately got up and jumped into the driver's seat, grabbed the steering wheel and said loudly:

Just when the distance between the two speedboats was less than 300 meters, Luo An suddenly shifted into neutral to reduce the speed of the speedboat, then turned the right rudder full and changed direction again.

As the speedboat on which Rupert and others were sitting got closer and closer, the roar of the restless engine and the sound of waves breaking gradually entered the ears of Luo An and others.

As the red light of the opponent's speedboat became larger and larger in her field of vision, Lacey took a deep breath and closed her eyes. Evelin's face became paler and Conrad's breathing became more rapid:

One second...two seconds...three seconds came to an end in the blink of an eye. Looking at the growing red light, Conrad's face became very ugly and he shouted loudly:

"Leader Greenwood! We..."

The speed of the yacht that Rupert and others were on was too fast. At this time, if the direction was changed forcibly, it would inevitably roll over, so the only choice was to continue to move forward in a straight line.

Boom!

Unlike Lacey, Luo An grabbed the steering wheel and did not continue to turn around to avoid or speed up. Instead, he slowly reduced the speed of the speedboat and drifted forward slowly.

"Lacie! Go back and sit down! Everyone is holding on tight!"

Boom!

Driving at high speed, the two yachts quickly passed each other at very close positions. Luo An avoided other places, and the stern of the boat was hit hard.

The speedboat on which Luo An and the others were was spinning uncontrollably, but overall there was no serious problem. The speedboat of Rupert and others was too fast, and any error would be magnified. The moment the sterns of the boats collided, the speedboat immediately flew up out of the sea uncontrollably and flipped to the right.

At the same time, the German Republic's speedboat behind also shortened the distance between the two sides while Luo An was reducing his speed. The five agents on the speedboat also raised their weapons, opened the safety and began to target the four of Luo An.

Before they could catch up with Luo An and the others, a speedboat flying diagonally across the sea suddenly appeared in front of them.

The pupils of the agents on the German Republic's speedboat shrank suddenly. Before they could jump off the boat, the yacht with Rupert and the others on board hit their speedboat in mid-air.

Boom!

Two speedboats collided with a crash, and the sound of the collision was deafening. Even though there was the hum of the engine running next to him, Luo An still heard it very clearly.

“Oh, God.”

Conrad and Evelin, who had walked away from the line of life and death, breathed a long sigh of relief. Lacey also silently wiped the sweat on her forehead, and then gave Roan a thumbs up:

“Luo An, you did a great job...”

Boom—

Boom! boom! boom!

Before Lacey could finish her words, the next second, an even more deafening and horrifying sound of explosions sounded, and a streak of orange-red fire rose into the sky, instantly illuminating the ocean in this area.

Immediately afterwards, various flame-contaminated fragments fell from the sky and fell to the sea like fire rain. Some quickly disappeared and sank into the ocean, but more of them just floated on the sea, lighting up this small area of the sea like lights. .

“What the F-ck?”

“Jesus!”

Seeing the blazing fire on the sea behind and the wreckage of the two speedboats in the fire, Evelin and Lacey covered their mouths in shock, while Conrad frowned:

"What's going on? People from the German Republic put a bomb on the ship?"

Lacie and Evelin looked at each other and saw each other's doubts.

All three of them could see that if two speedboats collided, even if the gasoline leaked and was ignited by fire, an explosion of this magnitude would not occur. The only possibility was that there were bombs on the speedboats.

Behind the three of them, Luo An narrowed his eyes slightly as he looked at the flames not far away. After a few seconds of silence, he quickly took out a bottle of [Strength Potion] and a bottle of [Scuba Potion] and drank them before the three of them were paying attention. He handed the heavy weapon to Lacey and said:

“You guys wait for me, I'll go to the sea and have a look.”

After Luo An finished speaking, without waiting for Lacey to answer, he jumped directly into the sea.

Relying on the blessings of [Stamina Potion] and [Scuba Potion], Luo An entered the sea without showing his head to breathe, and quickly moved directly under the sea towards the explosion site.

The blazing flames on the sea illuminated a small area at the top of the ocean. Slowly approaching, Luo An saw several floating human bodies. With the "emotional perception" in his mind, Luo An discovered that they were completely gone. Signs of life.

After a few seconds of silent perception, Luo An took a deep breath and dived under the sea again.

On the other side, seeing Luo An disappear in the blink of an eye after jumping into the ocean, Lacey's face was filled with nervousness and worry. She quickly walked to the driving position of the speedboat and said as she walked:

"Luo An must have gone to the bottom of the explosion site. Let's go there first and wait for him..."

Snapped!

Lacey stopped suddenly before she finished speaking, because a gun was pressed against the back of her head:

“Agent Lacey, we should trust Captain Greenwood, what do you think?”

Chapter 717 Butt and chin, I have the advantage

The burning wreckage of the speedboat is far to the west, and the light of the flames gradually disappears due to the distance here.

Beside a certain floating debris, the sea surface suddenly rippled, and a man's head popped up. It was Rupert's man before, a guy with a **** chin.

Spitting out a mouthful of sea water, the man with the buttocks and chin held the fragment to block his body and breathed a sigh of relief.

The man with his buttocks and chin on his back pulled open the backpack behind him and took out an adult-sized arm-length object with a cylinder in the middle and two fan-like objects on both sides.

This is the underwater propeller he specially prepared before today's operation.

The available range of the underwater propeller is not long and cannot reach the coast, but it is fast enough to leave this area. As long as you leave this area, the rest of the matter will be simple.

While arranging the underwater propeller, the butt-chinned man glanced at the speedboat area where Lacey and others were, and whispered to himself:

“This matter is not over yet, just wait.”

While struggling to swim upstream, he reached his hand to his lower back, preparing to take out his pistol and kill the guy who had startled him directly.

“Is it you, the **** CIA?!”

“I just discovered the bodies of Rupert and Zacharias, as well as the place where the explosion originally occurred, which was also your speedboat.

The man with the **** and chin was punched by Luo An again and his eyes were filled with stars, his face turned red and he became even more angry:

“Who the **** are you?”

Struggling subconsciously for a few times, he suddenly felt that the thing holding him was a human hand. The butt-chinned man was stunned for a moment. When he breathed a sigh of relief, his eyes suddenly filled with blazing anger.

A few seconds later, the butt-chin man finished his rest, took a deep breath, and planned to start the underwater propeller and leave quickly.

Luo An, who was hiding under the sea, put the pistol he found from the opponent into his pocket. After making sure that the opponent had no other weapons, he directly raised his fist and hit the opponent's head.

Then I got nothing.

The dark deep sea is one of the specific objects that most human beings are afraid of. Men with **** chins are also like this. For a moment, they only feel creepy.

Luo An clamped the opponent's arm that was hitting him, kicked the underwater propeller far away, then locked the opponent's arms firmly, and asked coldly:

The butt-chin man sneered again and again, struggled wildly and kept banging his head back, trying to get out of the predicament of being controlled by hitting Luo An's nose.

Obviously, you are the one behind the whole incident. Now that you have been caught by me, is it time to explain your grand plan? "

"MotherFu-ker!"

Just as the man sank his head into the sea, his expression suddenly changed because he felt something grabbing his foot!

There was a muffled sound at the bottom of the sea. The butt-chinned man felt tears and snot flying out of his nose uncontrollably. But at this time, he saw Luo An's face clearly, and he shouted in anger and surprise:

"Do you think I'll be like those brainless villains in movies who just answer whatever you ask?"

This place was too far away from where the flames were burning, and it was dark now. The butt-chin man subconsciously struggled and lowered his head, but as a result, he could not see anything clearly except the dark sea water.

“You should answer this question first.”

Luo An was very unhappy. He raised his fist and hit the opponent's nose hard:

“Although I hit you, it's your fault for swearing. When did I say I was the CIA?”

“You are indeed not a villain.”

Hit the opponent's waist with a knee, causing the butt-chinned man to scream loudly. Luo An grinned and deliberately provoked the opponent and said:

"The real villain is sitting in the office, smoking cigars, drinking coffee, accompanied by a bunch of bodyguards, and a bunch of people working for him. You can be considered a security captain at most, just like the one who was killed in the first scene of the movie The protagonist can't kill any more guys.”

"ah-"

The butt-chin man was indeed even angrier when he heard Luo An's words. He roared loudly but still did not say his name.

Finally, he suddenly struggled out of the control of Luo An's left arm. He did not choose to attack Luo An, but instead hugged Luo An, took a deep breath, and pressed Luo An to the bottom of the sea:

“Suffocate to death here!”

Luo An: “...”

Luo An's eyelids fluttered as he was pushed into the bottom of the sea. Not only did he not break away, but he also helped the butt-chin man adjust his posture to better lock himself.

Feeling Luo An's movement, the butt-chin man was stunned for a moment. He realized that Luo An was trying to compete with him in holding his breath, and he immediately sneered.

He can hold his breath for ten minutes at the bottom of the sea. The butt-chin man will never believe that the guy in front of him, who has nothing but good looks, can hold his breath for longer than him.

The two of them just spent time like this. Five minutes passed quickly, and the man with the **** chin and Luo An looked calm. Eight minutes passed, and the man with the **** chin looked surprised and suspicious. Luo An not only didn't panic, but even laughed.

About nine minutes later, the man with the **** and chin changed his face and began to struggle wildly to float upwards desperately. Luo An stretched out his hand to pull the man back. Don't worry, give it another ten minutes.

Hurrah-wow-wow-wow-

The raging waves kept rolling on the sea surface. After two minutes, the waves gradually disappeared. The butt-chin man completely lost consciousness and fainted.

Luo An casually grabbed the fragment, threw the butt-chinned man on it, and poured a bottle of [Sleep Potion] into him.

Then Luo An drank the [Strength Potion], [Hemostatic Potion], [Swift Potion], [Strength Potion] and [Scuba Potion] himself, and moved the butt-chinned man to the wreckage of the yacht. He carefully inspected the pistol and dagger on his body, and began to swim towards the direction of Lacey's speedboat with an expressionless face.

At the speedboat, Lacey's cheeks were bruised and there was a lot of blood on her collar. She had a rag stuffed in her mouth and her hands were tied. She was leaning against the very back of the yacht, her eyes widened as she looked at Evelin and Kang. The raging anger in Ladd's eyes was not concealed at all.

“Team leader.”

Looking at Lacey who wanted to bite herself to death, Evelin was silent for a few seconds, then hesitantly approached Conrad and asked in a low voice:

“The information shows that Team Leader Greenwood's comprehensive ability is very good. The incident with Sean also proved this. If we do this, will it...”

Conrad glanced at her expressionlessly, continued to look into the distance, and said softly:

“Greenwood's ability is indeed very strong, but swimming is a very physically demanding sport.

No matter what the outcome is, he will consume a lot of energy. Plus Lacey is in our hands. With Greenwood's habit of attaching great importance to his subordinates, he will definitely be able to catch him without any help. The advantage is on our side. ”

“So that's it, why didn't you let me kill her just now?”

Evelin nodded suddenly, rolled her eyes at Conrad charmingly, and whispered:

“I thought you wanted to have a taste of lesbian.”

Conrad ignored Evelin, but there was a hint of unnoticeable malice in his eyes. Evelin was annoyed, curled her lips, turned around and walked towards Lacey at the back, smiling:

“How about it, Lesbian, do you want me to beg you a favor and let you experience what it's like to sleep with a man before you die?”

Lacey was speechless with something gagged in her mouth, but the anger in her eyes disappeared, replaced by contempt and ridicule, and emotions such as fear and fear disappeared.

Evelin was stunned for a moment, and suddenly the hairs on her back stood up as she realized something, and she shouted loudly with fear on her face:

"Conrad! Greenwood he..."

Bang!

Before she finished speaking, a gunshot suddenly rang out. Evelin was instantly shot in the right shoulder and fell into the sea!

Chapter 718 Conrad: One person for another

Northwest of Mont Saint-Michel, somewhere in the sea, a speedboat swayed on the sea with the waves. In the distance were two speedboats that collided and exploded. The raging flames have slowed down a lot with the passage of time.

boom!

A gunshot rang out, and Evelin, who was shot in the shoulder, turned pale with fear and fell into the sea without standing firm.

Conrad, who was next to him, was startled by the sudden situation. He quickly bent down to avoid it and turned around to look in the direction of the gunfire. He saw a black shadow emerging from the sea behind the side and quickly flipped into the speedboat while holding on to the side of the boat. , rushing towards him like a black cheetah.

The moment he turned over and jumped into the speedboat, Luo An also took out a dagger from his waist, threw it to Lacey's side with force, and shouted:

“Cut the rope and watch the woman!”

"Um-"

Lacie immediately fell down, grabbed the dagger and cut the rope on her wrist with her backhand. On the other side, Luo An moved in front of Conrad and kicked out with a whip.

Conrad subconsciously bent down and squatted down, raised his hands to his sides, and used his arms to block the whip legs.

Click!

"ah-"

Then Luo An pushed Conrad down, caught Conrad's right arm with his knee, and violently pushed it back.

But now was not the time to ask questions. Conrad immediately raised the pistol in his hand, preparing to aim at Luo An and pull the trigger.

“Don't kill me! I know a lot of things! I can tell you anything! You can do anything you ask me to do!”

"you guess."

The water temperature dropped a lot at night, and the muzzle of the gun on her shoulder made Evelin tremble all over, break out in a cold sweat, and cursed Lacey in her heart.

Feeling the pain in his arms that were even trembling, he looked at Luo An in shock, wondering why Luo An still had so much strength after swimming in the sea for so long.

Lacie snorted coldly and poked Evelin's wound again.

"Do not kill me!"

Evelyn: "..."

There was a clear sound of bone breaking, and Conrad suddenly screamed. His right arm was forcibly broken by Luo An and the fracture was turned behind his back.

"Luo An, what will this woman do next?"

Seeing Luo An swimming in the sea for a few minutes without losing any strength, knocking Conrad to the ground with three punches and two kicks, Evelin shouted with horror on her face:

There was a muffled sound, and Conrad was kicked directly with terrifying force. He lost his footing and fell onto the chair.

Although Lacey was a little reluctant, she still stretched out her hand to pull Evelin from the sea into the speedboat. She just moved a little too much and accidentally poked Evelin's shoulder several times where she was shot.

Ignoring the little movement between the two women, Conrad, who was bleeding from the corner of his mouth, struggled to turn over and sit up, looked at Luo An with a gloomy face, and asked:

"When did you come back?"

But there was a flattering expression on her face, and she apologized repeatedly for what she had just said, and hoped that Lacey would intercede on her behalf and let Luo An let him go.

On the other side, Lacey had also cut the rope and picked up the pistol on the ground. She stood on the speedboat and pointed at Evelin's head floating in the sea and asked:

Luo An was faster than him. Before Conrad's gun could be fully raised, Luo An kicked out again and directly kicked the pistol to Lesina next to him.

Here, Conrad had completely stopped resisting. Roan groped him carefully to make sure there was no hidden weapon. He stood up and gave Lacey a look.

Bang! Bang! Bang!

Seeing Conrad struggling wildly, Luo An hit him hard in the face with three more punches. Conrad instantly vomited blood and burst into tears, and his struggling movements were much smaller.

Luo An smiled. Not long after he jumped into the sea, the "emotional perception" in his mind discovered that Lacey's emotions were experiencing huge panic, shock and other negative fluctuations.

Luo An initially thought he had met a new enemy on the speedboat, but later found that Evelyn and Conrad had corresponding violent and other emotions, and immediately understood the situation on the speedboat.

At that time, Luo An's first reaction was to save people. Later, he discovered that although Evelyn and Conrad had murderous intentions, during the return process, they found that they had **** Lacey and waited for him to come back. He was the real person of the two. The goal.

Luo An had felt a flash of excitement on the other side of the explosion before. He suspected that someone might not be dead there. After thinking for a few seconds, he made the decision to go to the explosion side to arrest people first, and then return to the speedboat. Plan to save lives. There is no need to explain these things to Conrad, and Luo An was too lazy to talk nonsense with him and said directly:

“Tell me, what is your goal and plan for this operation?”

The pain caused by the fracture made Conrad break into a cold sweat on his forehead, but he remained unfazed, looked directly at Luo An, and said:

“Leader Greenwood, there are some things you don't need to know. Let's end this matter tonight.

How about you let me go and in return, I give you that beautiful computer expert in exchange for one person? ”

Lacie's pupils shrank suddenly, and she immediately realized that the computer expert Conrad mentioned was Mona, and thought of Agent Sean who also stayed at Mont Saint-Michel.

Lacey was very aware of the relationship between Mona and Luo An, and immediately looked at Luo An anxiously. She was worried about Mona's safety, but also worried that Luo An would take too direct measures in anger. It flashed through my mind but I didn't know what to say. In the end I just shouted:

“Luo An!”

“Conrad!”

At the same time, Evelin was also shouting with excitement on her face.

She heard Conrad's words "one person for another", and there was no doubt that she was not that "one person", so she shouted:

“You can't do this! We have played together before! Don't say you were unhappy at the time!”

“Shut up! You **** cousin!”

Conrad glared at Evelin with anger in his eyes and said coldly:

“You think I don't know that you and Sean have played together? Sean also knows that you and I have played together, we are just too lazy to tell you!”

Evelin's eyes suddenly widened, but she couldn't make a sound.

She always thought that she controlled the two men in the team, but she didn't expect that the two men had already reached a consensus.

Too lazy to talk to Evelin, whose face was getting paler, Conrad turned his attention to Luo An again, only to find that Luo An's expression had not changed at all.

Conrad's heart trembled, and a bad premonition flashed through his mind, but he still said:

“Leader Greenwood, you...”

Luo An waved his hand to interrupt Conrad, took out his phone, pressed the button, and called Mona.

Ding dong—ding dong—

Under the nervous gazes of Lacey and Conrad, the ringing soon ended, the phone was picked up, and Mona's voice came out:

“Luo An, how is your operation going?”

“It's okay, generally speaking, it went smoothly.”

Under Conrad's disbelieving gaze, Luo An gave him a sunny smile and then asked:

“Mona, how's Agent Sean doing?”

Mont Saint-Michel, in the room behind a certain store, Mona looked at the small bed and hugged the store owner who was also sleepy. Agent Sean was sleeping very soundly. Mona twitched the corner of her mouth and said:

“His sleep quality was very high, he must have had a good dream.”

“OK.”

Roan briefly chatted for a few words before hanging up the phone. Lacey breathed a long sigh of relief, while Conrad yelled in disbelief:

“Impossible! There's something wrong with your phone!”

Luo An didn't say anything, just looked at him quietly as if he were a fool.

Conrad: “...”

Chapter 719 The truth in Conrad's mouth

In the back seat of the speedboat, Evelin's whole body fell into darkness, turning pale and lowering her head without saying a word.

Lacie glanced at her, slowly moved to Luo An, and asked in a low voice:

“Luo An, are you sure everything is okay over there with Mona?”

"fine."

Luo An smiled and asked:

“Do you remember that during the previous meeting, Conrad and the others said that Agent Sean's mother and wife died at the hands of MI6?”

Lacey was stunned for a moment and nodded. Conrad frowned and raised his head. Roan looked at him and said with a smile:

“This thing is false.”

When that meeting was held, Luo An discovered through the "emotional perception" in his mind that these words were lies.

Considering that making up the story itself was of little significance to Conrad and the others, Luo An speculated that they intended to use the story to achieve some purpose.

At the same time, Roan also prepared a pistol for Mona. Mona herself also prepared several grenades and shock bombs for herself in front of Conrad and others. They were actually a cover to divert Sean's attention.

Roan did not go into details about the following things. After Lacey was sure that Mona was indeed fine, she put down the big stone in her heart and turned back to continue guarding Evelin.

Conrad wanted to ask Luo An for a cigarette, but when he thought that Luo An did not smoke, he had no choice but to smile helplessly, let out a long sigh, and said:

“Five months ago, one of our CIA operations failed. Not only did we suffer heavy losses in personnel, but we also lost a list of names.”

Conrad was silent for a long time, then raised his head and gave Luo An a stiff smile:

“Leader Greenwood, I still underestimated you.”

During the investigation, a CIA agent Valery was accidentally discovered who survived the operation. The other party was also investigating the list, and had even sneaked undercover to the underground businessman Rupert.

This incident made a senior CIA officer very angry, and the team leader in charge of the operation was scolded bloody.

Luo An smiled, knelt down in front of Conrad, and asked:

Just in case, before looking for Mona, Luo An found a bottle of perfume and emptied it all. After washing it, he took out a bottle of [Sleep Potion] and poured it into it. When he handed it to Mona, he said it was specially made by him. Some chemical reagent produced.

Seeing Sean's "sad and angry" response to the order, Luo An immediately realized that Sean was definitely some kind of preparation for Conrad to stay behind deliberately.

Shaun didn't expect that Mona, who had been busy typing on the keyboard, would take action against him. He picked up the cup and took a sip... and then fell asleep with the store owner hugging each other.

“Can we tell the whole story now?”

After some time, the CIA suddenly received news that an underground businessman planned to sell the list, and they immediately launched an investigation.

“You are great, Team Leader Conrad. You have been working hard these days to arrest people and make plans. On the surface, it seems that there are really no flaws... I feel that if you go to Hollywood, you will have a chance to win an Oscar after a few years of hard work.”

Luo An had tinkered with many strange things at home in the past, and Mona was already used to it. She thought it was an item that Luo An had prepared before leaving the Federation, so she took it and hid it with her without any suspicion.

Mona was shocked at the time, thinking that Luo An was going to do something with her at that time.

In the following specific actions, Roan, Lacey, Evelyn and Conrad all left. Mona chose to take the initiative and took advantage of Sean's inattention by pouring some sleeping potion into his water glass.

When Conrad was at the dock before, he was able to find the USB flash drive near the skid marks because of the help of the undercover agent.

Mona didn't know what happened until Luo An briefly explained.

So Luo An suggested that Sean stay behind as a test. As a result, Conrad really made this arrangement.

Mona is also a person who must stay behind. For her safety, Luo An secretly sneaked into Mona's room after the meeting.

"Wait a moment."

Luo An raised his hands to form a T, interrupted Conrad, and asked:

“Does the CIA agent “Valery” you're talking about have a **** chin?”

“butt chin...”

Conrad twitched the corner of his mouth. The Western world always likes to call it "beauty groove", "apple chin" or "omega chin". In short, they are all positive words.

But the word "butt chin" wasn't wrong either, and Conrad finally nodded. “OK.”

Luo An's eyes suddenly flashed, he understood the identity of the guy, and spread his hands:

"Go on."

Conrad took a deep breath and said:

"We have three goals for this trip: to find the list; to kill Valery; and to kill other people who know about it. The reason is that the operation went wrong and it was purely accidental."

"Why kill Valery? Isn't he one of yours?"

Lacey next to her suddenly frowned:

"Also, killing other people...are the three of us other people too?"

Conrad didn't say anything, and Lacey was immediately very angry:

"Why? Your CIA clearly asked us to participate in this operation, but you still want to attack us?"

Recalling what Valery said when he and Valery fought just now; the reaction and planning of Conrad and others during the entire operation; even MI6, the seventh game, and BND were involved in tonight's operation...

A thread slowly emerged in Luo An's mind. He narrowed his eyes slightly, looked at Conrad and said:

"Because the original operation failed, there were also reasons within the CIA.

Valery's trip is for revenge, and your trip is for silence.

As for the FBI's participation, the FBI was also involved in the operation at that time, and it fell within the procedural requirements.

In the end, you will take action against us, the FBI, and claim that he died in an accident or at the hands of the enemy. This operation is very simple for you, right? "

Conrad said nothing and acquiesced in Luo An's judgment.

"damn it."

Lacie's eyes became even more angry. She cursed a few words and asked:

“What happened to that event five months ago? Did your CIA sell out Agent Valery, or did you have no intention of letting him leave that operation alive?”

Conrad glanced sideways at Lacey without saying anything. Roan suddenly sensed something, quickly pulled out his gun and shouted:

“Be careful with Evelyn!”

With a look on her face, Lacey hurriedly bent down and squatted down, then turned around and was about to pounce on Evelin. The next second, two gunshots suddenly rang out!

boom!

boom!

When the gunfire ended, Lacey successfully knocked down Eve and snatched the weapon from her hand. When she looked down, she found that it was a very small pistol with only one bullet.

Looking up to look at Evelin's face, there was a bullet hole in the center of her eyebrow, and blood slowly flowed out. Lacey quickly turned around and found that it was Luo An who shot.

The bullet fired by Evelyn missed Roan, but penetrated the side of Conrad's neck.

Conrad's face was full of panic at this time, and he covered his neck with his remaining left hand, trying to stop the blood from flowing out, but the blood was gushing out like a water pump, and he couldn't stop it at all.

"Feel sorry."

Lacie stood up and took a look at Evelin's body, her face was very ugly, and she said in a deep voice:

"I just searched Evelin's body, but ignored that location."

The pocket pistol was no bigger than a person's hand, and Evelin's hiding position was more clever, so it was not discovered by Lacey.

Luo An didn't say much, and turned to look at Conrad. The blood flowing out made Conrad's whole body tremble. He stared at Luo An closely, his voice was hoarse but he spoke quickly:

"Save me, I can't die, you must save me, otherwise the CIA will not let you go, they will definitely send people to kill you, you save me, I will explain to you, save me..."

Luo An reached out and took the pistol from Lacey's hand that he had snatched from Conrad before, and said softly:

"There is no need to explain. I am worried that you will repay kindness with enmity, so I will send you to confess to God first. You are welcome."

"Fu-!"

boom!

Looking at the two corpses on the yacht, Lacey wiped her red and swollen face and whispered:

"I'm sorry, I didn't expect this."

“It doesn't matter, the end result is the same anyway.”

Roan waved his hand and motioned for Lacey to push the body to the bottom of the sea with him to feed the sharks. He started the speedboat and moved towards Agent Valery. Then he took out his cell phone and called Veranith:

“Good afternoon, sir, I need your help.”

Chapter 720 The truth from Valery's mouth

Paris, the capital and largest city of the French Republic. When Roan and Mona traveled in Europe in the past, Roan had been here, visited the Louvre Museum where the "Mona Lisa" is located, and had a drink with Mona hand in hand on the left bank of the Seine. coffee.

Similarly, the whole city was filled with a strong smell of urine; the subway station exuded a disgusting smell; the garbage everywhere on the streets, and the organized team of thieves also left a deep impression on the two.

Since then, the term "Romantic City" has completely disappeared from Luo An and Mona's minds.

Instead is Balenciaga. Its stockings are not only expensive, but they feel really good.

The Federal Embassy in Paris is located at 2, rue Gabriel, in the 8th arrondissement of Paris, at the northwest corner of Place de la Concorde.

This embassy was the first foreign embassy of the Confederation. Benjamin Franklin and other founding fathers served as the earliest Confederate ambassadors to France.

At nine o'clock in the morning, in a conference room on the third floor on the far right side of the embassy building, Veranith was sitting on a chair, looking at the documents in her hands with a very solemn expression.

Due to the time difference, when Luo An called last night, it was still daytime in the Federation. After briefly listening to Luo An's account, Veranith did not hesitate and immediately took a plane to Paris to deal with the problem in person.

Roan was sitting on the chair opposite Veranith, reading today's newspaper.

The entertainment news section was selectively ignored by Luo An. He turned his attention to the political and military section, and then saw the media of the French Republic spitting wildly at the British Empire.

“Valery has been captured by you, and we will start the interrogation directly.”

“Sir, what's going on with that CIA agent Valery?”

Then various media outlets in the French Republic began to denounce MI6 who had sneaked into their country's territory to do evil and mess around, causing a very bad impact, and demanded an apology and compensation from the British Empire.

“On my way to Paris, I received new information. The body of underground businessman Rupert was found in a country in South America. After an autopsy, it was determined that he had been dead for more than three months.

Luo An was reading the newspaper and thinking wildly, and Veranith suddenly called out his name. She looked up at Veranith and said in a deep voice:

In the end, two fists were no match for four. After being surrounded, the MI6 people decisively chose the traditional gentlemanly manner of the British Empire: surrender with their hands raised.

Seeing that the newspaper was full of MI6, with only a few CIA articles mentioned in the corner, Luo An grinned and understood what the "three constants on the top and two constants on the lower level" meant by the Internet in his previous life.

MI6 : "..."

Everything went well on their side, but MI6 was being chased by the people in the seventh game.

British Empire: "..."

Roan was not surprised by this. Last night's experience had clearly told him that the real mastermind behind the scenes was Valery. However, there were still many things that were not made clear before Conrad's death, so he asked:

In other words, the Rupert you met yesterday is a fake. He may have had some simple facial plastic surgery. "

During the operation at Mont Saint-Michel last night, Roan finally led Lacey and escorted Agent Valery away easily. Mona and Sean who were sleeping were also easily picked up by the two of them.

Verineth shook her head. She had already contacted Mr. Clement about this matter, but it would take time to figure out the specific situation, so she said:

The police of the French Republic arrived at the scene where two speedboats collided and exploded. After a simple investigation, the Seventh Bureau contacted the Federal Embassy in Paris to give a warning.

Embassy building, a basement.

"Good morning, Mr. Valery."

Lacey was sitting on the side of the interrogation table, holding a laptop and preparing to record. Roan pushed a cup of coffee in front of Valery, who was handcuffed to the chair, and asked with a smile:

“It seems that you slept well last night and your face looks very good.”

Valery's mouth twitched. His eyes were now purple, his cheeks were bulging, there was gauze on his nose, and several teeth were missing from his mouth. He really didn't understand how Luo An could tell that he looked good. Seeing that Valery didn't speak and Luo An wasn't angry, he smiled, picked up his coffee, took a sip, and said:

“The information we have found shows that you are a defected CIA agent. Can you tell us about your defection experience?”

We can use your experience as a case study to teach new people. "

Valery's face turned even colder:

“Is your method of stimulating generals so crude and crude?”

“Not rough, not crude.”

Luo An smiled and waved his hand:

"It's not a provocation. You're overthinking it. I'm just telling you a fact.

When our interrogation is over, you will be handed over to the CIA. You will definitely know whether you are alive or dead by then.

Instead of dying a worthless and suffocating death, why not tell us more and we can help you summarize it into a classic case.

Although your body will be burned to ashes by then, the spirit of the traitor can be passed on forever. It can be regarded as living from another perspective, isn't it? "

Chatting with Luo An sometimes makes one's tooth hurt. Valery's eyelids were shaking. After taking a few deep breaths, he finally couldn't hold it anymore and said:

"First of all, I am not a traitor, and secondly..."

"Secondly, it doesn't matter what you say."

Roan waved his hand to interrupt Valery and spread his hands:

"Children all know when writing a composition, what about the time? What about the place? What about the details? What about the background of the story?"

After a few seconds of silence, Valery stared at Luo An and said coldly:

"We were betrayed during that operation five months ago."

Valery said that the target of the operation five months ago was the leader of the underground criminal organization, a major criminal team under Zacharias.

The plan for that operation was very thorough, but on the night of the operation, they encountered an ambush and were attacked by the criminal team in a sneak attack. All members of the group died. Only he escaped by jumping into the sea at the critical moment.

After recuperating for a period of time, Valery began to investigate and found that the criminal team had received the news and laid an ambush long before their operation began. The source of the news was not their action team, but someone from the CIA. a general base.

After hearing this story, Luo An yawned and said:

“There are some unremarkable plots, and the next step should be for a lone hero to kill all kinds of agents, and finally come to the mastermind who betrayed his men, shoot him in the head, and finally retire to the countryside and live leisurely.”

“That's a movie you're talking about.”

Valery's head was covered with black lines and he said speechlessly:

“The CIA base has countless security equipment, weapons and equipment, as well as dozens of agents. There are also military facilities nearby to provide support at any time. How could I possibly kill them all by myself?”

Luo An nodded. Valery's combat ability was indeed average, so it was indeed a bit difficult for him to do this. Luo An then asked:

“So, what's your plan?”

Valery said that the base was in another country, and there were many leadership personnel in the base. He could not tell which high-level executive had spread the news that night. The kidnapping investigation was not realistic for him.

It happened that on the night of the operation, he took away the list without everyone's knowledge, and an idea slowly emerged in Valery's mind:

Contact the CIA base, saying that he is not dead, and found that the list is in the hands of an underground businessman...

Hearing this, Luo An's eyes narrowed slightly, and Mona looked strange: the story seemed to become a matryoshka doll from here on.