Chapter 341 Make a Call

It was said Carroll loved chess a lot....

When he bought the chess at a high price, he also spent a lot of money on an exquisite box to store the chess!

How could Paige have the chess? Was it the real deal?

"Sorry to keep you waiting."

Paige placed the gift box in front of Rosa with both hands and smiled faintly, "I wanted to bring the chess to you next time, but I didn't expect such an episode to happen. I want to take this opportunity to give it to you, Rosa. I wonder if you like it."

Rosa didn't expect Paige to think that. She had long wanted to give the chess to Rosa...

She smiled and asked Killian to open it for her. Inside was more translucent and beautiful chess and chessboard...

"How can..." Ashlyn was shocked. "How can there be two identical sets of chess..."

It seemed the color and workmanship of Paige's chess were as good as Adrianna's. Now the fake looked so real?

Diana couldn't believe her eyes. She couldn't find any flaws in Paige's chess.

Scott's face looked sour. He did not expect Paige's chess to look so authentic....

"I bought this chess from the granddaughter of a collector. It can't be fake! Where did you get this?"

Paige looked up and said casually, "Carroll doesn't have a granddaughter."

When that was said, everyone was shocked!

It was well known Carroll had a granddaughter, but Carroll kept it secret, so few people had seen his grandchildren...

"You were cheated," Paige said confidently.

"Nonsense! I have friended Mr. Schultz on Line! I can also see her Instagram posts! There are her and Mr.

Martin's eyes darkened. What did Scott mean?

"It's different when Paige gives it to her. This is a gift from Paige as her granddaughter-in-law. It is fundamentally different from Ms. Hart's gift."

The smile on Scott's face froze, and then he quickly smiled and said yes.

"Ms. Hart hasn't officially apologized to my fiancée yet." Martin looked at Adrianna.

Adrianna was shocked.

Apologize?

"Ms. Hart was so aggressive and rude just now. My fiancée is timid. You scared her."

Hearing Martin's words, Adrianna was furious!

Paige was timid?

How was she timid?

Paige looked like she was not afraid of anything!

*She was *****and lawless just because the Stowe family supported her!*

*Paige was ***** , not timid at all...*

Martin was so biased toward Paige!

He was in the Stowe's house, so Scott could only say, "Adrianna, you misunderstood Ms. Paige's good intentions before you knew the truth... Hurry up and apologize to her."

*Although Adrianna was unconvinced, since her grandfather had said so, she could only grit her “Okay, it is good... Thank you.” Rosa drank the medicine in the bowl under the care of Killian.

Then, Neil took away the bowl, and when he came back, he served another bowl.

‘Mr. Stowe, this is yours.’

This was the medicine that Paige had prescribed for Killian before. It was beneficial to the heart. It should be taken once a week.

As soon as Killian smelled the herbs, his eyebrows wrinkled. However, Paige was still here. He gathered his courage and said, "The medicine made by you smells different. The taste is rich and mellow with endless aftertaste. Hahaha... It's really delicious!"

When Paige saw he finished it in one gulp, she sympathized with him.

Martin, who was at the side, smiled, "Delicious? I will ask Paige to give you more to strengthen your body."

Thank you!

*"It's getting late. Take Paige back to rest." Killian was afraid Paige would really give him more medicines. That way, he would **** on the spot...*

Paige knew Killian wanted them to be alone, so she smiled and said, "Then, grandpa and grandma, we will go first, and we will come again when we have time."

Martin's eyes changed a little, and his aura became gentle. She said, "We."

Since when did she include him in her plan? She said "we" a lot....

"Paige is right. We will come again." Martin deliberately emphasized the word "we", but he did not forget to remind her, "You are not allowed to pour medicine."

"Don't discredit me in front of my precious granddaughter-in-law! I have never poured the medicine that Paige gave me..."

"Is that so? I think that plant was burned to death," Martin continued.

Killian followed his gaze and looked at the plant between the living room and the courtyard, Killian stuttered, "That time, I didn't hold the bowl properly and accidentally spilled the medicine..."

He admitted it?

"It's all because the medicine that Neil boiled for me was too hot, so I accidentally dropped the bowl. Neil, it's all your fault! Be careful next time."

Neil felt he had suffered too much over the years.

Martin carried Paige to the bathroom of the master bedroom on the second floor and then put her down. "I'll be right back."

After saying that, Martin turned around and went to the coat room, taking clean clothes and the things Paige needed for his period.

After tearing open the bag, Martin found that he didn't know how to use such a small thing. So he went to search online and then helped Paige use it..

When Paige saw this, she blushed. She didn't expect that Martin would help her do this. She also noticed that Martin had put the sanitary towel wrongly.

"Did I do it wrong?" Martin sensed Paige's emotions.

"Mm," Paige replied in a low voice. "It was pasted the wrong way round."

Martin lowered his head and looked at the thing in his hand.

"The short side should be in front."

Martin tore the sanitary towel off and threw it into the trash can. Then, he took another sanitary towel and pasted it on Paige's underpants. His movements were more skillful than before.

"Do you need me to go in and help you change it?" Martin asked.

"No need!" Paige took the thing from Martin's hand and quickly closed the door. The blush on her face became even more obvious.

*After a while, Martin heard the sound of the tap turning on. It should be that Paige wanted to wash her ***clothes after the bath.*

Martin stepped forward and knocked on the door, asking, "Paige, just put the clothes there. Don't touch the cold water."

Paige didn't expect that Martin would even find out what she was going to do. Her face, which had finally cooled down, was once again flushed.

Paige said, "The water is still warm. It'll be very soon."

Paige thought she had to at least wash away those blood stains.

*Otherwise, when Adam came to collect the *** laundry tomorrow, he would see it...*

"Paige, you don't need to wash it yourself." Seeing that Paige didn't respond, Martin knocked on the door again. "Put it there. I will wash it later."

"So, can you come over now? We haven't come up with the best operation plan yet..." said Colin.

None of them would be better than Colin, and those on duty were all interns.

Their experience is not as rich as Colin's. They said they were discussing it, but it was Colin who made the decision....

But Colin did not have a better solution. The illness didn't appear in the country before.

The patient's family had been to several hospitals before coming to Farwen Hospital. If Farwen Hospital could not help them, there were no hospitals in the country that dared to do this operation.

"The patient is in a critical condition."

If he had come up with a solution, he would not have called at night to disturb Paige.

"I will be there soon."

As soon as Paige said this, Martin immediately pinched her fingers, his jealous eyes showing a warning.

*Paige touched his head, indicating that he should be ****. After all, life was precious, and it was a serious matter.*

But Martin turned his face away and seemed to be a little angry.

"Then do you need the help of other doctors? If you do, I will call them immediately. Which doctor do you need?"

It was dark at night, and many doctors were not there, leaving only a few interns in the emergency room.

"No need. I only need you."

Hearing Colin's words, Martin felt jealous!

He grabbed Paige's hand tightly, showing her to hang up the phone soon.

"Should I ask my friend to pick you up at school?" Colin had to stay in the hospital to observe the patient's condition at any time. After all, he was the only experienced doctor on duty in the hospital at this time.

When Paige came to the gate of the hospital, her mobile phone vibrated. It was a call from Colin

"Paige, have you left the hospital? If not, I wonder if it's convenient for you to come up Someone wants to see you.

"Who is it?" Paige was a little puzzled.

"Someone from the Ministry of Security in America." Colin lowered his voice.

Paige was confused. The Ministry of Security was the highest anti-spy and political defense mechanism in the country. But why would they look for her in the hospital at night?

"The person you just saved is a member of the Ministry of Security. His leader wants to see you."

The identity of the staff in this position was not allowed to be exposed, so Paige understood them.

"Well, I'll go up now."

After hanging up the phone, Paige explained to Martin, "I guess he wants to ask me about the patient's condition. You go to the car first and wait for me. I'll come down soon."

"Then you should be careful. Call me if you need anything."

"Okay."

After Paige went up, Colin led the way for her, saying, "He is in my office, with a few subordinates."

Colin thought that she would be afraid, so he comforted her, "I am outside the office. If you need anything, call me. I will go in immediately."

"Okay."

Colin pushed open the door and waited for Paige to enter before closing the door, leaving them room to talk.

What Paige could see was a man who looked heroic and straight.

"Mr. Lusk, she is here."

Several of his subordinates looked righteous and young.

The man turned around. He was young, and his resolute face was extremely handsome. He looked very heroic.

"I was the one who did the operation just now. Is there a problem?" Paige asked.

After Paige left one of the subordinates comforted him. "Mr. Lusk, don't be sad. Don't you have a younger sister who is studying at the University of Illinois at Chicago? We can spend some effort during her college years training her as a talent that can be used by the country"

Nathan Lusk watched the girl leave and remembered the younger sister his family had just found. They said that she was also eighteen years old.

She has suffered a lot since she was a child "Nathan had heard a little about his sister He added, The Ministry of Security is not suitable for her."

They finally found her, and she should be cherished and protected. How could he make her do such a hard job?

His subordinates were stunned. So Nathan didn't have the heart to make his younger sister join them?

They had not met yet, but Nathan was already so protective of her.

It seemed that he would spoil his sister...

"Let's go see No. 7731. "Nathan left Colin's office with his subordinates.

If he hadn't been on a special mission abroad recently, he would have returned home to see his sister

"Boss, when are you going to see your sister?"

"The day after tomorrow."

He heard that they didn't have to work tomorrow. He wondered what kind of person his sister was.

She should be like all the other girls her age, clever, sensible, and kind.

As soon as Paige returned to the car, Martin took her into his arms. When he learned that the people from the Ministry of Security had offered her a job, Martin was amused How could it be that easy to make Skylar work for them?

"I quit my job at the hospital. My flight is in the afternoon," Colin said with a bitter smile.

"Where are you going? Why are you in such a hurry?"

Just as Paige asked, Martin gripped her hand tightly. She looked up and saw that Martin's eyes were full of warning and jealousy.

"I want to go abroad to relax. I wanted to see you one last time before I leave, but this is also good." Colin smiled and pretended to be relaxed. "It's nothing. I just got tired of working overtime. Although Farwen Hospital is a good hospital, I have to work overtime six days a week. I am still young and don't want to be bald so quickly...."

Paige noticed that Colin did not tell the truth and frowned slightly. This is not the reason for you to leave."

Working overtime was a common occurrence for Colin. He would not suddenly resign because of this. It was so strange.

Chapter 350 Let Me Smell it

Early the next morning, all the freshmen went to the temporary training base built behind the mountain to practice crawling forward.

When Paige arrived at the base, many classmates took the initiative to greet her

“Good morning, Paige.”

“Paige, morning.”

“Paige, you are here.”

Paige was confused and thought, did I know them?

“Paige, thank you for letting us take a day off yesterday.”

“If you

hadn’t brought Leonel and the others to get the red flag in advance, we would have suffered under the scorching sun yesterday.

“Yesterday, we spent the whole day in the dormitory with air-conditioning. It is so comfortable”

“Thank you for teaching Blanca a lesson.”

Seven or eight unfamiliar classmates surrounded Paige, chattering on and on. They said that Paige’s skin was good and also praised that she was beautiful. They were too enthusiastic

Daniel whistled, “Attention!”

Everyone immediately stood up straight.

Today, the event to practice was to crawl forward. Because the space of the venue was enough, all freshmen were allowed to do it together.

Daniel looked at everyone and said solemnly, “Let me first talk about the rules of the competition. When the gunshot rings out, all of you immediately get down and crawl forward to get the red flag at the destination. There will be six drillmasters standing at the tower looking for targets. All your have to do is cover yourself. Don’t make too many movements.

“The drillmaster will shoot when he sees a moving target. The students who are shot will have to go back to training.

“In other words, unless you pass today’s assessment and get the red flag at the destination, you will have to practice crawling in the grass all day.”

“The physical training of other schools is just walking straight steps. Why do we practice crawling every day?”

It is so hot, but we have to sprawl on the grass 1.6 feet high. It’s inhumane

Daniel looked at Paige and seemed to ask, "Do you need to ask for a leave?"

Paige looked at him speechlessly, indicating that she didn't need to ask for a leave.
