Chapter 461 Found Her Real Parents

Looking at his profile, she suddenly felt sad for him. "What's her name? Maybe I can help you."

Lamont looked at Paige in shock. He suddenly realized that his younger sister's hacker was above him. He might really be able to find her.

"Send me her personal information later." Paige looked ahead. "If she's really doing well, there's no need for us to disturb her. But if she has any problems, you can take this opportunity to make it clear."

Lamont looked at Paige's side profile and finally said, 'Okay.'

Patricia, who was hiding in the dark, didn't expect Lamont to have such an unforgettable past. The whole family thought that he was single.

But why did he only tell Paige...

He had never told her about this story.

Paige knew that someone was eavesdropping in the dark and that Patricia was the only one who would do such a thing, so she ignored her.

After taking a shower, she received a message from Lamont: "Yana Jacob, 22 years old, grew up in an orphanage. At the age of 6, she was adopted by a family and lived in No. 111, Casey St., Bridgeview in Southtown of Chicago. Her adoptive parents were teachers in the county.]

Lamont also sent her a photo. The woman in the photo had cold light in her eyes. She was a very beautiful girl.

[Got it.] Paige replied.

After she replied, Paige sent another message to her subordinates: [Help me find this person as soon as possible.]

[The fastest speed? Boss, did this person dig up your ancestral grave or owe you a huge sum of money? Why are you looking for her?] The man on the other end of the phone couldn't help but replied: [There are many beautiful girls in the world, but I have only seen two with this kind of temperament in my life. One is you, and the other is her. Boss, is this your long-lost sister? I find that you two are very similar!]

The girl gave off a high-level sense of alienation, and the coldness in her eyes was unpredictable.

"What kind of people are they?"

"I couldn't see clearly in the middle of the night. There were about seven or eight people in the yard. After that day, Professor Jacob's house didn't open for four or five days. When I saw her four or five days later, I asked her what was going on. He only said that she had relatives come to visit her. What kind of relatives did you say would visit in the middle of the night? They were still walking around in the yard in the rain. It's really strange.'

Then, Paige continued, "Could it be that Professor Jacob has made an enemy outside?"

"That's impossible. The couple is kind and has never left this town. They get along well with us. I think it has something to do with Yana because not long after this incident, they both resigned and went to look for Yana."

There was a hint of sadness in Paige's eyes. 'I don't know when I'll be able to see her again.'

"Well, I don't think so... If there is any news. Professor Jacob will definitely bring her back. Now the couple is silent... I don't know how they are doing abroad.'

"Thank you, Madam," she said gratefully. "It seems that I can only return the book next time when I have the chance."

"You're also a good child. You even found this book..." The woman saw that she was carrying a backpack. Needless to say, it must contain her book.

After exchanging a few polite words with her, she went around to the back of Room 111. Seeing that there was no one around, she climbed over the wall and went in.

There were many fallen leaves piled up in the yard, and the flowers and plants had withered. It could be seen that no one had lived here for a long time.

Paige took out the Luminol spray from her backpack and sprayed it on the ground. After a while, fluorescent lights appeared in some places.

It could find traces of blood that were diluted 2,000 times. Even if he cleaned it up, as long as Luminol was there, it could find traces of blood.

There weren't many bloodstains. They were scattered all over the place. Either the injured were not seriously injured, or this was not the first crime scene.

The courtyard was surrounded by wing rooms, which looked a little like a courtyard house. Several doors were locked. When she walked closer, Paige found that the lock had been opened. She took out the fingerprint flashlight from her bag and shone it on the lock, but there were no fingerprints on it.

Logically speaking, if Professor Jacob locked the door before leaving home, she would definitely leave fingerprints.

Chapter 463 Carry Several People Back

As soon as they broke into the living room, a figure as light as a swallow quickly appeared. The door lock fell, and Paige locked everyone in the living room, including herself.

They realized that they had fallen into a trap and looked up at the girl in front of them. In the darkness, she was wearing a cap and a black mask. Her thin figure stood in front of the door, exuding a sharp aura.

The man in the lead said with a murderous look, "Yana Jacob? You traitor, you finally showed up."

They were all wearing black hoods, so their facial features could not be seen.

"Today is the day of your death." The man in the lead quickly attacked, and the others showed no mercy.

One of them pulled out a dagger and slashed it at her stomach. After she dodged, Paige grabbed his wrist and kicked him in the heart.

Someone kicked a vase at her, and she immediately threw it onto the couch to prevent it from falling to the ground.

Several people attacked Paige at the same time. She kicked one of them in the head, but he quickly dodged.

Someone quickly made a move. She kicked his fist accurately. She exerted all her strength, and the intense pain went straight from his fist to his shoulder, which made his eyes flash with pain. He unconsciously covered his wound.

Someone pulled out a knife and tried to slit her throat. But Paige dodged and kicked him in the chest.

Her movements were extremely agile and swift. The man in the lead was at a disadvantage and his voice was filled with anger.

"You're not Yana Jacob?"

Paige quickly attacks him again.

"Who are you?"

Seeing that she did not speak, the leader of the group exuded a murderous aura. He attacked her viciously, but he was unable to draw with her. In fact, he was even at a disadvantage.

The others were injured and in pain. It was obvious that they were no match for her.

Chapter 464 Getting Angry at the Wrong Person

In the end, Lamont could not bear it and agreed to go shopping with her at night.

Lamont changed his clothes and went downstairs. Patricia happily held his hand. 'Lamont, I know you treat me the best!'

"You're my younger sister. If I'm not good to you, who am I good to?" Lamont scratched her nose. As soon as he arrived at the garage and opened the door, his cell phone rang. When he saw that the caller was Paige, he picked it up immediately.

"Paige, where have you been?" As soon as Lamont answered the phone, he couldn't help saying, "It's already eight o'clock in the evening. Do you know how worried I was about you? I called you, but you didn't answer. I sent you so many messages and only replied with two words. It took you so long to reply. Where have you been all day?"

When Patricia heard this, she realized that Lamont had been staring at his phone today, waiting for Paige's reply...

She felt sad, a little dissatisfied, and jealous, but on the surface, she didn't show it.

"Lamont, I've caught a few people, and it might have something to do with Yana's disappearance." Paige had always been concise. As she drove, she continued, "They're with me, but I don't want others to know about my place. Don't make it public. I'm going to the Larsen Villa to pick you up now. Come out."

"Okay, you'll be here in a few minutes?" Lamont's heart clenched when he heard that it had to do with Yana's disappearance.

Could it be that Paige had gone to catch someone today?

Who could have something to do with Yana's disappearance?

Didn't Yana leave because she fell in love with someone else? Why did she disappear in the eyes of Paige?

Too many questions popped up, making him have a bad feeling.

"I'll be there in about three minutes."

"Okay, I'll wait for you at the main entrance now." Lamont closed the car door and looked at Patricia beside him. "Patricia, I have something on. I'll go shopping with you another day."

In the past 18 years, the person who was really doted on by Old Master and Madam is Ms. Patricia, and the person who is loved by the five brothers is also Ms. Patricia! You don't need me to tell you how deep the feelings of these 18 years are!"

Amily supported Patricia, and her words stabbed into their hearts like knives.

"With this deep relationship, Ms. Patricia is enough to drive you out! If you dare to play tricks behind her back and set a trap for her in the future, don't even think about staying in this house."

"Whether we can stay in this house or not is not up to you." After saying that, Bonnie looked at Patricia resentfully.

"Ms. Patricia, I've watched you grow up all these years and know that you're not a bad person. You're already 18 years old. You have to learn to distinguish right from wrong. Don't risk your future. Some people are vicious. Don't be led astray by her."

After that, she squatted down and picked up the flowers on the ground.

She had spent 50 dollars on this flower. Now that it had been blasphemed and trampled on, she couldn't give it to Ms. Paige anymore.

It was a pity that such beautiful flowers could have brought her a good mood, but in the end, they were ruined by these two.

"You deal with the fragments." Before leaving with the flowers, Bonnie did not forget to instruct the maids behind her.

She didn't expect that this would stimulate Amily.

"Oh, you've learned how to order your subordinates around. You're just a servant. Those who don't know will think that you're the master of the house. You're just taking care of Ms. Paige. Do you really think you're so great? How dare you put on airs in front of us!"

Bonnie didn't want to stay and talk nonsense with Amily, because she is so mean.

Paige looked at Jairo, and he immediately shut up obediently.

"Was Paige the one who developed the antidote for that SIR in Africa?"

This time, it was Lamont's turn to be shocked. At that time, the virus was rampant in Africa and many people died. Several cases began to appear domestically.

Just as everyone was panicking, the antidote suddenly appeared. At that time, it was said that Professor Paige of the University of Chicago had led a team to develop it day and night.

Lamont had noticed the news when he felt that Professor Paige was great because no one in the world could come up with a solution.

"Could you be Professor Paige from the University of Chicago?" Lamont looked incredulously at the girl beside him.

"Yes, it's our boss! Our boss has finished all her studies at the university two years ago. The professors who taught her back then felt inferior and were willing to be her student. She is now a specially hired professor at the university, one of the 66 influential figures since the establishment of the University of Chicago!"

Paige looked at Jairo again. "You can go down now."

Jairo immediately covered his mouth, indicating with his eyes that he would stop talking.

"Then why did you stay at the University of Illinois at Chicago?" Lamont asked as he followed the girl.

"That's because Mr. Cobb of the University of Illinois at Chicago needs our boss to cooperate with him in the experiment..." After saying that, Jairo immediately covered his mouth and again gave a sincere visual sign to stop talking.

Paige was speechless.

Lamont did not expect his sister to have so many identities. Her base camp was as mysterious as herself.

When she led him into the side building, the two men guarding the building greeted her respectfully, "Boss."

Paige slightly nodded.

Lamont thought, 'If they are just doing experiments here, why do they need so many people guarding them with weapons?

"Who are these people?"

"Paige, who are these people?"

"The guard on the building." Jairo seemed to have said something but nothing.

Paige brought Lamont into a side building and to the first floor underground. There were a few empty rooms here. The walls were all made of iron railings, which looked like a huge iron cage. There was no one inside and it was filled with a cold wind.

"It's been a year," Lamont said with self-blame. "I didn't expect to discover that she was in danger until a year later... How did you find out? I've also been to the fish pond, but the villagers there avoided talking about Yana. They either didn't know anything about her, or they turned around and left... How did you find that things weren't simple?"

"I bought a glass of milk from her neighbor's breakfast shop and sat down to listen to their gossip."

Lamont was surprised.

He thought, "That's it?"

"She could find some clues from it?"

"They are from the same village. As an outsider, you suddenly went to inquire about Yana's whereabouts. They will definitely be on guard and hide the truth. But if you are their people and gossip with them, it will be different."

Lamont laughed at himself. "I also found her home and asked her parents very abruptly..."

At that time, he was really going crazy. He couldn't find Yana all over the world, so he had to ask the villagers, find her parents, and visit them again and again.

Previously, her parents had said that they could not get in touch with their daughter. Lamont had thought that they were lying.

He thought that Yana had fallen in love with someone else, and her parents didn't want him to pester her anymore, so they lied to him.

"It seems that her parents don't know about it, but I'm not sure. Let's wait until the results of the investigation come out."

"How did she spend this year?" Lamont muttered to himself. "Why did those people call her a traitor? What kind of incident did she get involved in? Is she safe now?"

"Lamont, don't worry too much." Paige consoled in a soft voice. "Those people also want to find Yana's whereabouts. This means that Yana has yet to appear. She should be hiding."

Lamont sat on the sofa as if having fallen into an abyss. If not for Paige interfering in this matter, he would not have known that Yana was involved in danger.

There were still many truths waiting for them to uncover behind this matter.

"Lamont, would you like to have a drink?" Jairo put the cup in front of him and said sincerely, "It's not a solution for you to think hard alone now. Everything will be clear when the report comes out later."

"No, it won't be that simple." Lamont felt that he had dragged Paige into a fog. He could not see the direction clearly. The correct exit seemed to be very far away from them.

"Lamont, why didn't I find you pessimistic before?" Jairo still took a step forward and handed the cup to him.

After receiving it, Lamont was not in the mood to shout. "I'm not being pessimistic."

All the things that had happened and all the evidence did not allow him to be optimistic.

No one could tell him where Yana was now and whether she was safe or not.

"Don't worry, with my boss here, there is nothing in the world that cant be found out." Jairo picked up the water on the table, unscrewed the cap, and drank half a bottle happily.

"How did Paige know that this group of people would go to Yana's house today..." Lamont's gaze landed on Jairo.

"You don't know about this, do you? The boss is at Yana's house. There are several cameras and listening devices. The boss copied them all. Those who installed cameras and listening devices would have to send someone over to take a look in a hurry."

"So, Paige was lying in ambush there alone..."

Lamont suddenly felt that his younger sister was so silly. She had risked her life alone just to investigate the truth for him.

"Lamont, please pretend that you didn't hear me... Please!" Jairo put his palms together and kept begging. "If you want to know anything, you can ask my boss when the time is right. n.ovelxo Don't tell her that I revealed it at this time! Otherwise, I'll be finished!"

Lamont did not want to make things difficult for him. He just said, 'Tell me, I will definitely keep it a secret. I will not reveal a single word to Paige."

"Lamont, there are some things that even Martin doesn't know... Please have mercy and pretend to know nothing! Please."

If Paige knew that he had a loose tongue again, he would definitely transfer him to the Triangle Area. In that case, he would not be able to protect her all the time!

His men were so weak. At this critical moment, he had to protect his boss in person.

At this moment, Paige appeared. "What are you guys talking about?"

Seeing that Jairo was putting its palms together and begging for something, she was a little confused. "What are you begging Lamont for?"

"Boss, you're here...' Jairo felt that it was doomed and quickly lied. "It's...Lamont who wants to introduce me to a beautiful woman..."

He took out the gif and showed it off. "I'm begging Lamont to give me her contact information..."

"..." Paige was a little speechless. How could he still think about this kind of thing at a time like this? She said coldly, "Get out of my way."

"Yes, yes, yes..." Jairo breathed a sigh of relief. n.ovelxo Fortunately, his boss didn't doubt it.

"According to the comparison, the blood in the living room and the yard matches Mr. and Mrs. Jacob."

As soon as Paige finished speaking, Lamont's attention was instantly diverted. 'You mean, Yana's parents are injured?"

"Yes," explained Paige. 'A village woman said a few months ago that a group of people went to Yana's house at about two or three a.m. They were walking around in the yard in the rain. I think they were looking for her at that time and accidentally disturbed her parents, who were injured in the dispute."

After a brief pause, she continued her analysis, "That village woman said that in the past four to five days after that group of people appeared. Professor Jacob's door had never been opened. The bloodstains seemed to have happened in the living room, and then they were moved to the yard. So I guess that the injured Mr. and Mrs. Jacob might have been taken away by that group of people. As for where they went, what they did, and how they were treated are not clear."

According to the village woman's words, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob came back four or five days later. Not long after they came back, they went out to find Yana.

Therefore, their disappearance that night was the key to solving the mystery.

Chapter 470 I Think You're Enjoying Eating

"My precious daughter, you're finally back. Where did Lamont take you?"

Seeing that Paige had returned home, Danica, who was sitting on the sofa, quickly got up and walked towards her.

She had just called her and sent her a message. It had been a long time, but she had not answered or replied. Danica thought that something had happened to her and felt a little flustered.

"We went out and didn't look at our phones for a while," Paige explained softly.

"That's good, that's good..." Danica then hit Lamont again. "Lamont, I don't want to criticize you, but what time is it now! Why are you taking your sister out so late? It's okay if you're going to have fun alone, but your sister is a girl. She needs to go to bed early and it's good for her skin. Can't you have a sense of time?"

"I was the one who asked him to go out." She defended him. "It has nothing to do with him."

"Look, in order to build a relationship with you, she took the initiative to ask you to hang out. She even speaks for you. Where can you find such a good sister? You must treat her better in the future!"

Lamont held the supper in both hands and smiled. "Got it, Mom. I bought supper. Let's eat together."

"No. I've been practicing yoga with Martin's mother recently. I'm on a diet..."

"Then I'll have to go through thick and thin with my wife. The two of you can eat together..." Donald helped Danica up the stairs and didn't forget to comfort her. "The children just hang out and buy some snacks. Don't be too nervous... Let's go upstairs and rest."

"My eyelids kept twitching. I really thought something had happened to them..."

Lamont brought supper to the kitchen's sink. The servants placed all these things on the table and placed 11 large disks.

Patricia waited upstairs for a long time. Seeing that Lamont was not looking for her, she went downstairs to look for him and found that they were eating in the kitchen.

At this moment, Lamont was picking up a shrimp for Paige, mumbling, "Eat more..."

"Lamont, Paige, you're back?" Patricia hid the dissatisfaction in her heart and smiled widely. "There's so much delicious food. Do you want to share with me?"

"Patricia? Come, come and eat. I bought a lot." Lamont got up and pulled out a chair for her, bringing her cutlery.
