CHAPTER 019

Lucas and I walked outside into the cold and I looked up at the night sky, trying to see if it was going to start snowing soon. But it didn't look like it. I think there was still another few days, a week at the most before it started. Lucas walked out right behind me and I could tell that he was really pissed off. But he was trying to calm himself down.

"I'm sorry about that. I just hate these stupid little stunts that Hazel does. She plays games all the time." Lucas said.

"It has a lot to do with me as well. She doesn't like me and she would have loved to ruin any good time that I was having." I said.

"I can't wait to get out of that house and not deal with her anymore." Lucas said.

"Yeah. I can only imagine what it's like to live with her."

"Hey. Let's not let them ruin tonight. Let's go and get some desert." He said.

"Sounds like fun." I said.

So we walked down the road for a bit and we went into a cafe and we both got a hot fudge sundae and sat at a table talking again.

"So, I do have to ask what is your favorite part of the castle?"

"It would be my bedroom. It's really the only place where I get true privacy." I said.

"That's fair enough. Is it true that your mother's step mother and step sister work there?"

"They are unpaid workers. The way they conspired with Wesley to take down my mother was unspeakable. So, she thought death would be an easy way out for them. So she gave them a worse punishment." I explained.

"What about Wesley?"

"He was killed. Mom wasn't letting him go loose just so he could try and come at her again with new enemies or so he could make someone else's life a living hell." I explained. And he nodded his head.

"That sounds fair enough. I mean, Wesley was a real bastard. Him and that woman killed a lot of innocent human women to try and replicate your mother. That's just sick." He said. And I nodded my head with wide eyes.

"And they eventually realized around the time my mother killed them was that she is one of a kind and she can't be replicated." I smirked. I was proud of what my mother could do.

I was proud that she is who she is. I mean, she's the most special person to me and she has done so much good for werewolves. She really did use her powers for good. Not for evil. "Well, despite my fears of your mother, I am actually looking forward to meeting her." Lucas said.

"Why are you scared?" I asked.

"Your mother has a reputation."

"Well, she's also a really awesome person when you get to know her." I said.

"She raised you, so I don't doubt that." He said.

I put my head down, trying to stop him from seeing me blush.

The rest of the night went by perfectly and he drove me back home and even walked up those very many stairs to get to my house and kissed me goodnight.

Only to be interrupted by Jacob slamming the door open and scaring the both of us.

So Lucas left pretty quickly after that and I glared at Jacob as I walked past him and upstairs to my bedroom.

But before I got there, I heard him and Lexie laughing about it. He was just trying to mess with Lucas and I didn't think it was funny. I don't want him to scare Lucas off like he does to all of Chloe's dates.

When I got changed and washed my makeup off, I got into bed and Chloe came in and laid on the bed next to me.

"How was it?" Chloe asked.

"It was pretty great. Even with Levi trying to ruin it." I said.

"Oh no. Is he really playing it like that?" She asked.

"Unfortunately. He is. But Lucas handled it by screaming at Levi's accomplice. It was Hazel. Who just happens to be Lucas' cousin." I explained and Chloe started laughing.

"Oh my goddess. What a f*****g mess." She said.

"I know. But what am I supposed to do? And besides, Levi is the one that just dug his own grave here. He knows that Hazel has a crush on him, she wants to be with him and he used her tonight to interrupt our date. So, he's the one that's going to have to handle that backlash from her." I said.

CHAPTER 019

"Oh no. She'll still be pissed at you." Chloe said.

"Yeah. But she's never actually been game enough to do anything to me. She knows who I am. so I guess she's never been game enough to fight me." I said. "Well, that's a good thing. Because I heard that b***h is completely unhinged. Even if I do go to a different school." Chloe said.

"I know." I said.

Chloe ended up sleeping in my room with me, like we always do whenever they stay at the castle and we stayed up talking for a while but I knew that I had to get some sleep. It was the weekend but I had a big day tomorrow. There was no getting out of it since mom wasn't here.

So the following morning I got up and I got dressed in a white sweater, gray track pants, socks and sand shoes.

I left the castle and I ran down the stairs and I ran towards the back of the castle, through the forest on the side of it until I got to the canal that led out to the ocean.

I started running along the side of the bank so I wasn't running on the rocks and I followed it all the way around until I reached the very edge of the canal and I could see the whole ocean out in front of me.

I jogged all the way back home and I saw my guards that had to jog along behind me if I went for a jog, who looked like they were having trouble keeping up.

I laughed and teased them as I passed them on my way back to the house.

When I got there I had a shower and I did my hair and applied a little bit of makeup.

I walked to my wardrobe and I got dressed into a white blouse with a bow around my neckline, long burgundy pants and a matching burgundy jacket with black pumps.

I walked down to the dining room and sat down at the table. I was the only one there until Anna, the royal coordinator came into the room and handed me a day planner.

I opened it and started looking through it while the cook brought in my breakfast.

"Are you serious? I have to do all of this today?" I asked.

"It's mostly just meeting and greeting people in the village at the bottom of the stairs." She said.

"It doesn't seem like that's all I'm going to be doing." I said.

"Well, I will be there with you to take notes. They are going to just express their concerns and you basically have to think on your feet. Tell them how you're going to fix them." She said.

My phone vibrated on the table so I put the book down for a moment to look at the message.

LEVI - I'm really sorry about last night. I hope I didn't upset you too much.

"Can you please give me a minute?" I asked.

"Sure." Anna said, leaving the room.

So I called Levi's number and he answered immediately.

"I know that you two agreed that this is what we were going to do. I'm fine with this arrangement. You both want to see who I like more and that's fine. I can understand that. But maybe there should be some ground rules. Like, no interfering in each other's dates. And definitely don't show up with Hazel." I insisted.

"Of course. It won't happen again."

"Good."

"So, do you have plans tonight?"

"I don't know yet. I'm attending to royal duties today and I don't know how late I'm going to be." I said.

"That's fair enough. But it is Saturday night. So, how about we make plans for 8pm and we just go from there. Let me know if you're finished or not." He said.

"Alright. I can do that." I said.

"Great. I'll see you then." He said.

I hung up and I smiled to myself as I started eating my breakfast and I called Anna back to have a look at the day planner again.. Comments

CHAPTER 020

As soon as I was finished with breakfast Anna and I walked down to the village at the bottom of the stairs and the place looked spotless.

It was obvious that they knew I was coming and they had really cleaned the place up.

A lot of people came out to see me and I stopped and talked with a lot of them.

Mostly, they were just wanting to say hello and how great it was to see me here in the village. They loved it that we kept a check on things and we always made sure that everything was dealt with whenever it came up.

I was soon approached by a larger man who looked haughty in his appearance and had an air of arrogance about him.

He got my attention straight away and he stopped a couple of feet in front of me, being very aware of the guards that were beside me.

"I don't believe I've met you before." I said.

"You haven't. I only moved here a few months ago and I've dealt with your father mostly." He said.

"Do you have a name?" I asked.

"Of course ma'am. It's Felix. I guess I am the unofficial enforcer of this little village." He announced with a great deal of pride.

"Enforcer. I wasn't aware that this village needed an enforcer. We've never had any trouble with people here." I said.

"Well, I like to think that I've helped." He said.

"You've only been here a couple of months. I've been here for 16 years. There's never been a problem." I said.

"Your father seemed to believe otherwise." He said.

"Right. Which one?" I asked.

"Excuse me." He said.

"I have three fathers. Which one told you that we needed an enforcer?" I asked.

"It was Koda." He said. So I looked at Anna and she wrote down everything that was being

CHAPTER 020

"I will definitely be talking with him when he returns. But until then, I think this village is managing pretty well without an enforcer." I said.

"I am sorry Princess. But I am here to obey your parents. Not you. It was nice to meet you though." He said. And he turned around and walked away.

"Anna. I want to know absolutely everything about that bastard." I said.

"Yes, ma'am." She said, making more notes of it.

I kept walking through the village and I was talking to others but I noticed that Felix was watching me from his window and I also noticed a lot of the villagers looking at him before they would say anything to me.

There was something going on with this man and I know that Pa Koda wouldn't put this man in this village if it wasn't needed.

Where the hell did he even come from? I've never seen him before in my life. And I've come to this village a lot in my life.

I saw a teenage boy standing off to the side, leaning against his house with his head down.

I had seen him around before and we always talked whenever I came to town here. So I walked over to him but he was acting really weird.

"Hey Jesse. Is everything alright?" I asked, walking over to him.

"Yes, ma'am. Everything's fine." He said, not looking at me.

"Ma'am? Where did that come from? I've always just been Emma to you." I said.

"I have to go ma'am." He said, trying to walk away. But I grabbed his arm and stopped him from leaving.

He finally turned to look at me and I saw the bruises and cuts on his face and he looked at me with fear in his eyes as I looked back at him in shock.

"What the hell happened to you?" I asked.

"It's nothing. I really have to go. My mother needs me." He said.

"Jesse. Tell me what happened? Who did that?"

"I just fell. That's all."

"Jesse. Please don't make me Alpha command you." I begged him. But he looked to something that was behind me and I followed his eyesight to see that he was looking at Felix.

So I let go of Jesse and he took off while I stood there staring at Felix who was in the window 2/5 of his house still watching my every move.

"What do you want us to do?" Anna asked.

"I want guards left in the village. I want a constant presence in this village and they are to report back to me if anything is not right. They have to watch Felix." I ordered.

So she wrote it down and she asked if I had any guards in mind. And I picked a few off the top of my head.

They were good and loyal warriors. I knew they would protect the people of this village and stop whatever Felix was doing.

If he was responsible for abusing people around here then I was going to personally make sure that he regretted it.

There's no way any of my parents would let him stay if he was behaving like this. There's no way he would still be alive if he was abusing pack members. My mother would make sure of

I was in the village for most of the day doing the usual tasks that I do on weekends and I got a message on my phone at 8pm.

I thought that was a good time to wrap everything up.

The guards were at the village and they were stationed where I told them to go and when I felt more comfortable to leave, I went to meet Levi at the opening of the stone wall that left the village and faced towards the field that I crossed everyday to school.

"Wow. You're actually on time." I said.

"Yeah. Are you free?" He asked.

"Yeah. Finally. It's been a long day." I said.

"Well, I've got an idea that I thought you might like to do." He said.

"And what's that?" I asked.

"Ax throwing." He said. And I looked at him with a raised eyebrow.

"Are you actually serious right now?"

"Yeah. Why wouldn't I be? Or do you completely hate that idea?"

"Are you kidding? I love that idea. Let's go. I need to throw something." I said.

So he smiled at me and we went to his car and we had to drive a bit of the distance to get to the facility.

CHAPTER 020

As soon as we went inside, Levi paid for us to stay for a while and they gave us a couple of axes each and we went to one of the cubicles.

There was a target painted on the wall in the shape of a person that we had to hit.

Levi let me go first and I told him that he was going to regret that. And he didn't doubt that for a second.

My first ax hit the target in the heart and then right in the middle of the head.

I walked up and took my axes out of the board and Levi had a go after that.

We kept going for a while and pretty soon I realized we had a few people watching us. Even the people that owned the business were watching us.

"I think we're the entertainment tonight." Levi said.

"We usually are in human towns." I mind linked him.

"Good point." He mind linked back.

We had several goes before we finally had enough and we sat on the other side of the building to get burgers and fries.

I was starving after today as well and Levi was looking really proud of himself. He knew he did a good job tonight. And it was definitely something different. I wasn't expecting it.

It was really awesome.

But the night had to end at some point and he drove me home and walked me to the front door as well. Up those hundreds of stairs to get to the castle.

Levi leaned in and gave me a soft and gentle goodnight kiss and the door slammed open again and Jacob was standing there, scaring the hell out of me again.

"Wow. You're not the same guy as last night." Jacob said.

"Do you mind?" I snapped at him.

Jacob was actually confused this time so he walked back into the house and Chloe walked past giving me a thumbs up while laughing.

"I'll leave you to it." Levi said.

"Yeah. I have to explain this to Jacob before he goes and tells my mother that I'm whoring around town." I said, rolling my eyes.

"I'm sure your mother won't think that."

"Probably not. I really did have a good time tonight." I said.

As soon as he left, I walked inside and I closed the door only to be met with Anna standing right behind me.

"Holy st. How the hell do you sneak up on me like that?" I asked.

"It's a gift. I've had people looking into Felix all day today." She said.

"And?" I asked.

"No one knows where he came from. I even called His Majesty Koda. He wasn't hired as an enforcer. He came to the village looking for refuge." Anna said. "Refuge from what?" I asked.

"No one knows." She said. So I grabbed the file off of her and I took it upstairs.

CHAPTER 021

I didn't get much sleep that night and when I got up I went jogging again in the morning before I got back to the castle and I had a shower.

got dressed into a low cut pale pink knee length dress with long sleeves and matching pumps.

I did my hair and applied a little bit of makeup before I walked downstairs to the office.

I got on the computer and I compiled everything that we had on Felix and I took it all to the dining room.

I studied everything that we had on him while I ate breakfast and Anna came into the dining room and sat at one of the other chairs at the table.

"Is everything alright? You look tired." Anna said.

"I didn't get much sleep last night." I answered without looking up at her. I was too consumed by what I was reading.

"You really didn't know Felix was there?" She asked.

"No. I haven't been to the village in a while. Mom hasn't left town for ages so she always goes. She never mentioned Felix or anything to do with him." I said.

"I bet you'll be happy when they get back tonight." She said.

"You have no idea." I said.

When I was finished eating I put everything back in the office and I locked the door so no one else could go inside and I started walking down the stairs towards the village.

I checked in with all the guards that I had posted in the village as soon as I got there and they told me that it was a really quiet night.

Felix came out once, as soon as I left, but when he saw the guards he went back into his house and hasn't come back out since.

I strategically placed the guards so Felix would see them as soon as he stepped outside of his house.

I wasn't going to let him hurt anyone and I needed him to know that he was being watched. And whatever was going on, he wasn't going to get away with it. My phone started ringing and it said Lucas, but I ignored it because I was busy at the moment. And that wasn't the last time he called me that day. But I was too busy to talk to him right now. I had to stay here and do what I was doing.

1/5

CHAPTER 021

I talked with a few people about basic things that they wanted to talk about but when I saw

Jesse I went after him and I found him around the back of one of the houses.

"Why are you running from me Jesse?" I asked.

"Why are you back here? You're just going to make things worse."

"What are you talking about? How are things worse?"

"You wouldn't understand."

"Jesse. I'm here to help you. If someone is hurting you then you need to tell me and that person will be dealt with. Immediately." I said.

"I can't." He said. He looked back at me with a lot of fear written all over his face.

I couldn't Alpha command him to tell me anything. It looks like he's already been through enough. So I made sure the village had a regular rotation of guards to make sure that nothing else happened to them.

I really cared about the people in my pack and I wasn't going to let someone like Felix walk in and ruin everything that my mother built.

This is meant to be a safe haven for every wolf. Not someone who wants to use it as his own personal town to use and abuse.

He obviously underestimated me when he met me yesterday, thinking I was just a princess and that I didn't care about these people.

He probably thought the same as what everyone else thinks. I'm just a teenage girl who doesn't give a s**t and I wouldn't care what he does and that I don't care what happens around here.

He was really wrong in assuming that I was going to let this crap slide.

I saw Felix come out of his house a couple times during the day, and people noticeably stiffen when he walks near them. So I took note of everything.

But he was also watching me while I was watching him.

And we both knew that we were watching each other.

He looked extremely pissed off every time he came out of his house and I was still there, but he would only stay outside for a little while before he went back inside.

I waited around for the guard change and when they were all set up I left the village again. 2/5

I walked out to the field and I stood there staring up at the night sky just as Anna walked behind me and handed me my jacket.

"It's getting way too cold for you to be walking around at night in that dress." She said.
"Thanks." I said.

"Can I escort you up to the castle?" She asked.

"No. You go ahead. I'm gonna go for a walk and clear my head." I said.

"Are you sure? I mean, Felix looked pretty pissed off with you."

"Yeah. I've got my guards that never leave me. I'll be alright." I said.

up

So she turned to look at the guards and then she nodded to me and she started walking up the stairs to the castle and I started walking through the field.

I didn't know where I was going. I didn't have a destination in mind, I just started walking towards the town where my school was.

There were lights lit up everywhere and I could smell the wood burning from all the fireplaces that were going in all the houses.

I put my jacket on and I just kept walking until I was in the middle of town.

A lot of businesses were already closed but the diner and some of those places were still open.

I finally picked a direction to walk in and I found myself walking towards Lucas' house.

I had ignored a few calls from him today so I thought I'd go and see him.

I didn't want to see Hazel so when I got to the house, I walked around the side of the house and I saw Lucas' bedroom light on.

But as I approached the window I saw that he was in there with Levi.

What was Levi doing here? They hate each other and they are fighting over me. Trying to get my attention from each other.

"I thought we agreed to play fair." Lucas said.

"I couldn't help it. Alright. I didn't want you to win. You know I'm competitive." Levi said, shrugging his shoulders.

"I don't care. I didn't butt in on your date." Lucas said.

"Only because you didn't know where we were. But she said that she loved it." Levi gloated.

"Do you really think you're going to win this bet?" Lucas asked.

"I am definitely going to win this bet. Because you're not getting your hands on that damn house. Mom and dad left that house to both of us." Levi said.

"And you left as soon as you could. I had to stay there and put up with their bullshit while you let yourself get adopted. You placed yourself up for adoption when you were 10 and moved to this pack just to get away from our parents. That means you have no right to anything that they owned." Lucas said.

"I don't care. You'll see. I'm going to sleep with Emma first and then you will have to give me the whole f*****g house." Levi laughed.

I stood there frozen in shock until I lost my balance and I grabbed onto the windowsill before I fell to the ground.

Suddenly the window opened and I looked up and saw Lucas and Levi both standing there looking at me.

Their eyes were wide with shock and I was doing everything I could to stop the tears from falling from my face.

"Emma." Lucas said.

I started backing away from the house while shaking my head and I headed for the front of the house and back towards the field.

I started running but I couldn't run in these damn high heels so I kicked them off and kept running.

I heard Lucas and Levi behind me, both yelling out for me.

They were gaining on me and I didn't know where my guards were. Why weren't they stopping this?

I eventually turned around and I saw how close they were getting to me and I raised my hand in the air.

"Stop!" I screamed, suddenly releasing a sonic blast from my hand forcing Lucas and Levi off of their feet and throwing them backwards to the other side of the field.

I stood there looking at my hand for a moment, but then I shook it off and I turned around and kept running back to the house.

CHAPTER 022

I tripped up the stairs several times as I was running up them but when I finally got to the top,

I ran inside and I slammed the front door and locked it and I heard Lexie singing out to me but I ran up the hallway until I got to the stairs and I ran up more stairs until I got to my room and I slammed the door closed and locked it.

I leaned against the wall, trying to catch my breath and unable to control the tears anymore.

They were streaming down the side of my face and I couldn't stop them.

I was such an i***t. I should have known that they didn't like me for me. No one does.

They were betting on who could get me in bed first.

How could they do this to me? They knew how I felt about people and the way they use me all the time.

And they were doing the exact same thing to me.

Someone started knocking on the door but I ignored it.

I slid down the door until I was sitting on the floor and by this point, I was a blubbering mess.

I couldn't even think straight, let alone talk.

I knew it was Chloe on the other side of the door and she wasn't going to go anywhere.

I heard her sit on the other side of the door.

She wasn't saying anything. She was just sitting there. Letting me know that she was there for My phone started ringing but I ignored it. And it started ringing again. So I ignored it again.

By the fourth time it rang, knowing it was the guys, I threw it across the room and it shattered against the wall.

I heard Jacob and Lexie come upstairs and talk to Chloe but she told them that she would take care of me. When and if I opened the door for her.

Jacob sounded really angry that I was this upset and Lexie sounded really concerned. But they didn't know what had happened, so I couldn't talk to them. I didn't want Jacob to go after Lucas or Levi.

Not that I cared what happened to them. But Jacob would end up in some serious trouble if he

.I don't know how long I was sitting on that side of the floor but when I finally got up, I looked around my room and everything was so dark except for the glow from the fireplace. I turned around looking at my room like it was the first time I had ever seen it before.

I felt completely lost. I felt useless and used.

My door handle slowly turned and Avery<sup>1</sup> poked her head in. I guess Chloe thought that Avery might be able to get through to me a little easier.

She saw my swollen face and knew that there was something really wrong with me, so she came inside and closed the door behind her.

"Babes. You are really scaring me now." Avery said, walking closer to me.

"It was all a lie." I mumbled out.

"What was?" She asked.

"They were. They didn't like me. None of them liked me. They used me."

"Who? Who are you talking about?"

"Them." I said. That's all I could manage to get out.

I couldn't even bring myself to say their names, but I didn't have to. She came to the realization on her own that it was the guys.

"What did they do?" She asked, very seriously. But I just shook my head.

"Alright. You don't have to tell me...yet. But I think you should have a shower and wash your face and get into some clean clothes." She said, looking me up and down.

I was a mess after running home the way that I did. I threw my shoes away and everything and my dress was really dirty.

I just nodded my head and I went into the bathroom and left the door open slightly.

I got undressed and got into the shower but I sat on the side where a bench was built into the wall.

I sat there trying to control whatever tears I had left in my body and I was taking deep breaths. Trying to control my emotions and my thoughts.

When I finally got out of the shower I grabbed a towel and went into my room.

Avery was sitting on my bed and I walked to the wardrobe to get some clothes on.

When I walked back out I sat on the bed next to her, staring out the window.

"So, what did those assholes do?" She asked.

"I don't really want to talk about it."

"You have to. Because they're outside. They're both downstairs of the castle. In the field. They want to talk to you but aren't game enough to come up here because they don't know who is here." She said.

So I walked over to my large windows and opened them up. Feeling the cold air hit my skin instantly.

"Zidrith." I yelled.

I then heard screeching and suddenly Zidrith was using his talons to climb down the side of the stone castle.

"Don't kill them. Get rid of them." I demanded, pointing to the guys that I could see from my window.

So Zidrith looked down and it looked like he was actually smirking when he finally jumped off the building and started flying down towards the field.

I closed my window and I went back to my bed and sat with my back against the headrest.

"You just set your dragon onto them. You've never done that to anyone before." Avery said, shocked.

"He won't kill them." I said.

"I know. But still..." She said, racing to the window and looking outside.

I knew that he wouldn't use deadly force. He was just going to scare them. And as soon as they saw him coming towards them then they would be scared.

They know that he's my dragon and he would do anything for me, so the second they see him coming they will start running.

I just wanted them to get the hell away from my house right now.

"Are you going to tell me what happened?" Avery asked, sitting on the bench under my window.

"Not really. I just don't want to be anywhere near them right now." I said.

"Alright. Well, Chloe and I aren't going anywhere. She's downstairs with her parents right now, but she will be back soon." Avery said.

Avery's phone started ringing and she looked at it and took a deep breath before she Mom's name was written across the screen and I could feel my heart rate start to increase a little when I saw her name. But I knew that I wouldn't be able to avoid this forever and I knew that I would never be able to hide this from her. So I took the phone off of Avery.

"Hello." I answered.

"Emma. What the hell happened? You used a sonic blast?" Mom asked.

"You felt it?"

"I saw it. It came through like I was standing in that field with you."

"I don't know where it came from. It just happened."

"What happened before that? If you were full of a certain emotion then that could have brought it out." Mom said.

"I was upset. But I'll be fine. Everything's going to be fine."

"Not if you're starting to get powers now. You need to be trained. Otherwise you could really hurt someone."

"Mom, please. Just not now." I said, tears starting to fill my eyes again. Which she could hear in my voice.

She paused for a moment and I could hear my dad's muttering something in the background.

"We'll be home as soon as possible." Mom said.

CHAPTER 023

Avery and Chloe both stayed in my room that night but I still didn't tell them what happened. I didn't say a whole lot and they were trying to cheer me up but nothing was really working. I didn't get much sleep that night either. I was way too humiliated right not to believe that anyone would like me for me.

No one ever has. It's always just been the title that I carry.

I hate being a princess. But I can't express those feelings to anyone because my mother fought so hard after she claimed the throne that I would just seem like an ungrateful brat. And I can't do that to her.

She's done everything for me. She has always been there for me and given me the most normal sort of life as she possibly could.

I never thought I would start to have feelings for a guy that was just using me in some stupid bet with his estranged brother. All because of a goddamn inheritance.

As soon as I got out of bed that morning I got changed and I went jogging. It was barely sunrise and it was starting to get really cold, so the days were going to start getting a lot shorter. But I didn't care about that. And I made sure to stay the hell away from Lucas' and Levi's houses.

I didn't want to give them any clue that I was out and about on my own in case they tried to talk to me.

They both followed me back to the castle last night so I don't know what they have to say or how they could possibly explain what they did. But I had a feeling that they were going to try. When I got back to the castle I had a shower and got dressed in some raggy old clothes and I went to the dining room.

Avery, Chloe, Lexie and Jacob were all there, and all looking at me strangely. Wondering if I was going to break down and wondering if I wanted to talk about my troubles. But neither of those were going to happen. "Aren't you going to school today?" Lexie asked.

"No." I said.

"What do you plan to do?" Jacob asked. But I just shrugged my shoulders.

I barely ate anything for breakfast and then I went back up to my room just as everyone else was leaving the house.

I walked into my room and closed the door and I laid in bed under the covers, staring out the window.

I knew my mother said that she would be home soon, but I also knew that whatever they were doing was important because she barely left this pack. People usually came to her.

So I didn't know when they were going to be back and I didn't want them to come back just yet. Not while I was still trying to figure everything out myself.

But she's worried because I showed signs of having powers last night and she's probably freaking out about that.

I know I did when it happened. But I got over it pretty quickly to get home.

I was glad that I had smashed my phone last night because that meant no one could call me.

I eventually fell asleep, but it wasn't a peaceful sleep. I kept replaying Lucas and Levi talking in the bedroom about the whole bet that they made against me.

When I woke up I saw a woman standing in my room and I jumped up as she was just standing there staring at me.

She was wearing a long black and red velvet dress with dark makeup on and black hair.

"Who the hell are you?" I asked.

"My name is Maisie. My aunt sent me here."

"And who the hell is your aunt?" I growled.

"Scarlett. I don't know if you've heard of her."

"She trained my mother." I said, relaxing my stance a little.

"Yeah. Well, Scarlett thought you might want to talk to someone closer to your age. She spoke to your mother last night."

"Mom can't come home, can she?"

"No. There's a big problem that they are dealing with in regards to the supernatural council. It's pretty bad." Maisie said.

"So what? Are you here to be my spirit guide into the witchy world or something?" I asked, being sarcastic as I sat back down on my bed.

"I know you're being sarcastic, but yeah. I am." She said.

"Thanks. But no thanks. I don't need it." I said.

CHAPTER 023

"Are you sure about that? I mean, you used powers last night that you didn't even know you had. You're a late bloomer and they are usually the most dangerous ones. You need to be trained young when you get your powers." She said. "I told you. I don't want your help."

"I know you're in pain. I can feel it. And believe me, I'm not here to cause any more. I just wanted to come and introduce myself. To let you know who I am and that you will be seeing me again." She said.

"Do I even have a say?"

"Well, it's come as a direct order from the Queen. So, no. You don't." Maisie said. And I nodded my head.

We talked for a little while but Maisie assured me that we weren't going to be doing anything right now. She really did just want to come and introduce herself to me. But that was it. Just so we could get to know each other.

But when we were finished talking, she raised her arms and disappeared in a cloud of smoke.

Which I had to admit, it looked pretty cool.

A little later on Anna came to my room and handed me a new phone that had already been set up with all my previous contacts in it.

"Is it the same number?" I asked.

"Yeah. Otherwise you would have had to message everyone in there telling them that you got a new number. I know that you wouldn't want to do that. You've got a lot of numbers." She said. But I sighed when I looked at the phone. "Is that a problem?" She asked.

"No. It's fine. Thank you." I said.

"Rory will be up soon with your lunch."

"Tell her not to bother. I'm not hungry. I'm just tired." I said. So she bowed her head and she left my room.

I climbed back into bed and I was checking out my new phone which was an updated version of the one that I smashed, but otherwise it wasn't anything too special.

I put it on my nightstand as I climbed back into bed and I grabbed a notebook and pen and I started writing in it immediately.

It wasn't long before my phone was vibrating non stop and when I looked at it they were all messages from Lucas and Levi.

I ignored them all, obviously, and I went back to writing in my notebook.

I

At the top of the first page I wrote the title 'The Betrayed Princess'.

And from there on I started writing and I wasn't able to stop. I turned page after page until I was interrupted by Chloe who had finished school and came back to the castle. "Avery talked to the head warrior. He's going to take over your classes with the kids until you're feeling better." Chloe said.

"What did you tell him?" I asked.

"We just said that you weren't feeling well. That's all he needed to know."

"Alright." I said.

She mentioned seeing Lucas and Levi today and they both asked about me. They looked really concerned but she didn't tell either of them anything about me.

I was grateful for that. But they knew that it had something to do with the guys, so they weren't going to tell them anything.

After dinner that night I decided to go out to my favorite courtyard outside the castle and I sat on the bench and looked at the fairy lights that were set up around it while I had my notebook and pen on my lap.

I turned to look out at the ocean and I could see right down the canal and it was lit up with the moonlight tonight. It was really beautiful.

Suddenly I felt someone grab me and I jumped up as I turned around and Lucas was standing there.

He scared me when he grabbed me that I lost my balance and I almost fell over the rock wall, but Lucas grabbed me in time and pulled me away from the edge, pressing us together as he got me away from the edge of the wall.

CHAPTER 024

I felt Lucas' body heat pressing against me and when I looked up he was looking back down. at me with his intense eyes and his arms were still around me.

I started to have those same feelings that I had for him two days ago, but then I came to my senses and I pushed him away.

"Emma. Please, just let me explain?" Lucas asked.

"No. I want you to get the hell out of here." I demanded.

"Emma. Please?" He pleaded.

"How the hell did you even get in here? Unless you want me to set my dragon onto you again, then I suggest you get the hell away from my f*****g house." I yelled. "It started off as a bet. But that was before I got to know you." Lucas said.

"I don't want to hear it. I don't want to hear from you. I don't want to look at you. Just get the hell out. NOW!" I yelled at him.

Suddenly there was a growl coming from the roof above us and when we looked up, Zidrith was looking down at us. His eyes fixed on Lucas.

But I also saw Jacob come running down the hallway to get to me.

"What the hell is going on?" Jacob asked.

"I want him to leave. I want him gone." I demanded.

So Jacob looked at Lucas and the expression on his face suddenly changed from concern to anger.

He grabbed Lucas by the back of the shirt and he started forcing him out of the house.

Every time Lucas tried to look back at me, Jacob would force him to keep walking and made him walk faster to get him out of the house. Once Lucas was gone Jacob ordered all the guards to make sure that he didn't come back.

I sat down on the bench in the courtyard, trying to control my tears but they betrayed me. They started falling down my cheeks as Chloe and Lexie came out to see if I was alright. "Emma. What the hell?" Chloe asked.

"They made a bet." I said.

"What are you talking about?" She asked.

"Lucas and Levi had a bet going. They wanted to see who could get me into bed first." I yelled through my tears.

Chloe and Lexie looked at each other shocked, so Lexie sat next to me and put her arm around me.

"That explains a lot. I'm so sorry this happened to you." Lexie said.

"Once Avery finds out about this, those two are gonna wish they were never born." Chloe said. "No. I don't want everyone to know about this. It's humiliating. They were just playing with me. And I actually believed they liked me. I don't want anyone to know." I said.

"It's alright. If I tell Avery not to tell anyone, then she won't. But those two did mess with the princess. If they don't cop it at school then they will cop it from everyone else in pretty much every pack in the country." Chloe said.

"I don't care. It's too embarrassing." I said.

"You've got nothing to be embarrassed about sweetheart. You did nothing wrong. Do you hear me?" Lexie said, resting my head on her shoulder.

When I calmed down I went inside and I made sure no one was lurking around before I went into the office and I locked the door behind me.

I sat behind the desk and I turned on the laptop.

I hacked into the files that my mother keeps locked, only because they are pack members files.

I looked through the files until I found the name that I wanted. Lucas'.

I opened his file and started reading through it all.

He came to this pack just before my birthday party (I already knew that), he works at the forestry and he's 22 years old.

That doesn't make any sense at all. He goes to school. He goes to school with me. How the hell can he work at the forestry when I see him every day at school. And he's 22. None of this is making any goddamn sense.

I opened my notebook to a fresh page and I wrote down every bit of information that I could gather on him and then I switched to Levi's file.

It said that he came from the same pack as Lucas originally. They are brothers. But Levi couldn't live with their parents anymore because of abuse.

CHAPTER 024

He allowed himself to be put up for adoption when he was 10 and no one fought my mother on the topic. She brought him to this pack and placed him with the family that he's with now. He actually is 17 and does go to school with me.

That's why he's in some of my classes and Lucas isn't.

But Levi never outed him for the lies.

I thought that was weird if he wanted to win the bet.

I decided that I needed to do a deep dive. And it was lucky that I was on my mother's computer because it had all sorts of encryption so no one would know that I was sneaking around on the dark web.

It took me a while, but I finally found some information on their parents.

They died a few months ago in a rogue attack and everything they own went to Lucas but Levi is fighting him on that. He wants half of everything.

His file didn't say too much about the abuse so I had to dig deeper for the files from their head warrior who would have documented any sort of domestic situation at their house. Just like the police do for humans.

There were photos and everything. Levi and Lucas were taken to the hospital several times with severe injuries, even before they had their accelerated healing and it looks like their parents really did a number on them.

It didn't say why Lucas stayed and Levi left. There had to be a reason but I couldn't find anything here.

I printed out everything that I found on the two of them. Even their private pack files and I put everything into a folder and I turned the computer off and I walked out of the office and I locked it behind me.

I turned around and crashed into a hard figure that was standing right in front of me. "

"Jacob. You scared the hell out of me.",

"Sorry. What are you doing?"

"Just some royal crap." I said, nonchalantly.

"Okay. Anything I can see?" He asked, reaching out for the file in my hand.

"Are you a part of the royal family?"

I pulled the file away so he couldn't grab it and he realized that he had overstepped. So he pulled his hand back and he just stood there looking at me.

3/4

"I just spoke to your mother. They can't make it back just yet. She's not sure how long they are.

going to be gone for." He explained.

"It must be pretty serious then." I said.

"It is. She said that it is up to you if you want us to stay here with you. Or if you want us to give you some space. You're old enough and mature enough to take care of yourself. Plus, Anna will still be here." Jacob explained.

"I'll think about it. But right now I'm going to bed. I'll talk to you in the morning." I said, walking off down the hall.

As soon as I got to my room I put the file in my wardrobe, right towards the back of my walk-in that was almost as big as another room.

I opened a drawer at the back and hid the file under the clothes I had in that drawer before I closed it and I walked out into my bedroom again.

I knew I would get completely busted if mom found out that I hacked into her computer and it's already possible that she knows about it. But I didn't care. I needed to find out who these guys were before I decided what was going to happen. Now that my parents aren't here, I am the senior Royal family member in the pack. And I was the one that people had to come to if they had a problem. And I had to try and figure out how to solve it.

This was definitely going to be interesting if I was now in charge. And I had a feeling that a few things were going to change around here.

CHAPTER 025

The following morning I got up before sunrise again and I went jogging around the territory. I could hear patrols running the perimeter as usual and my guards were a fair way behind me but otherwise, it was dead quiet. The animals weren't even out and about yet. It was too early and too cold for them to even start running around.

It was really peaceful by the time I got to the human town that was at the end of the canal and I stopped to look out at the ocean.

There was forest surrounding all around me and the humans couldn't see me from where they were.

Some houses had lights on. Obviously the ones that had to get up and go to work and go to school. But I still stayed clear of the houses as I jogged back to the castle.

I ran up the stairs and then down the stairs and then up the stairs again before I went inside.

Instead of going to my room to shower, I went to the gym that was in one of the sectioned off areas of the castle because it doesn't get used very often and I turned the lights on and I started getting started on the weight machines.

Mom had this gym upgraded when she moved in and then upgraded again only a couple of years ago. So it was all top notch equipment in here and I decided that I was going to start using this gym a lot more than I had been. After I spent an hour there before I had to go upstairs to my room where I had a shower.

I got dressed in a green low cut top with thin straps that crossed over my breasts and was loose around my stomach, jeans and black boots.

I grabbed my black leather jacket and my school bag and I walked downstairs.

As soon as I walked into the dining room, everyone stopped to look at me.

"What?" I asked.

"Nothing. You just look different." Jacob said.

"No. You look f*****g hot." Chloe said, staring at the low cut top.

"Good." I said, sitting at the table.

"So, I guess you're feeling better today." Lexie said.

"I've had enough time to feel sorry for myself. Now I have to get back to school before I miss too much." I said.

"Well, that sounds like a great idea." Lexie said.

As soon as we finished eating breakfast, Lexie had to leave because Chloe's school was further away than mine. She couldn't walk the whole way to her school.

Jacob had to get to work and Anna was lurking around doing things in the castle, but she eventually handed me the day planner.

"Do you still have those guards posted at the village? Are they keeping an eye on Felix?" I asked.

"Yes, ma'am. He's been behaving himself since the guards have been there. The villagers look a lot happier now too." She said.

"Good. I really don't like the idea of having that bastard in the pack. We might send in some stealth warriors. Ones that he doesn't know is there so they can actually catch him doing something that he shouldn't be doing. It'll be a good reason to kick him out." I explained.

"Do you have authority to do that?"

"The Queen and Kings are not here. So whatever happens in this pack lays on my shoulders as the next senior royal. And I will do what I want with that man if I find him mistreating any of my pack members." I insisted, a lot sterner than I had ever spoken to anyone before.

"Yes, ma'am." She said, bowing her neck.

I looked at the day planner for this afternoon, but I had to make some changes because of the kids that I was training this afternoon. I had to make sure that I was still there for them.

I told them that they could always rely on me for anything. No matter what.

"What's this inspection that I have to look at?" I asked, looking at the day planner.

"That's for the new housing project that was approved by your mother." Anna said.

"Right. That's through the forest on the other side of the village from this castle." I said.

"Yes ma'am. It's not far away. But there are a few houses going up there. It seems there are more and more people moving to this pack. Or they are at least wanting to be closer to the castle." She said.

"Alright. I'll go check out their progress after I finish training the kids." I said.

"I don't know how long you can train the kids if your parents aren't here. I mean, they do a lot while you're at school."

CHAPTER 025

"Well, I'm not quitting school."

"Of course not. I would never ask you to do that. But you do need to consider balancing school and royal duties until they come back." Anna suggested.

I looked up at her inquisitively. Trying to figure out what she was getting at.

I knew that she was getting at something. There was something going on behind the scenes that no one was telling me so I tried to think the same way as my mother would think.

I went back to eating breakfast and then I grabbed my bag while I also put on my leather jacket. Just before I left I turned around to look at Anna.

"Are my parents deliberately staying away so they can see how I can handle being in charge?" I asked.

"What? Why would you ask that?" She asked, unable to look me in the eye.

"Yeah. That's what I thought." I scoffed, turning around and walking out the front door.

I walked down the stairs and I walked through the field towards town and once I got there I took a couple of deep breaths as soon as the school came into view.

I held my head up high and I walked towards the school.

I didn't have my mother's ability so I couldn't hear what they were thinking, but everyone was staring at me. But I ignored them and walked straight over to Avery who was standing in her usual spot waiting for me. "Wow. Look at you." She said, looking me up and down.

"What about it?" I asked.

"If you have a figure like that then why the hell have you been hiding under those loose fitting clothes? You look f*****g hot." She said, still looking at the clothes that I was wearing.

"I felt like a change." I said.

"Well, it suits you." She said.

We walked into the school building and it wasn't long before I saw Levi standing in the hallway with Hazel and she turned around and looked at me.

She got the widest smirk on her face before she turned to walk over to me, but before she reached me Lucas came up from behind me and stood in between us.

"Get the f**k away Hazel." Lucas growled.

"Really? You're defending her now? I thought you were just trying to sleep with her so you could keep all of your parents' assets." Hazel said loud enough for everyone around us to hear. That dumbass b***h. Talking about the one thing that I didn't want anyone to know. I bet she couldn't wait to do that. And now she was going to see just what sort of a temper I had. Even though I wasn't even sure what sort of a temper I had. I'd never lost my s**t before. So this could be interesting.

Fighter 128

CHAPTER 026

I felt someone nudge my arm so I turned to look at Avery.

"What the f**k?" She asked, staring at me with really wide eyes. And I nodded my head.

So she shot death stares at Lucas.

"I don't need you fighting my battles for me Lucas. In fact, don't you have a job to do since you don't go to school here?" I asked.

"Who told you that?" He asked.

"I'm the f*****g Princess. Did you think I couldn't get access to your file? Did you think I wasn't going to find out that you're actually 22 and not 17?" I asked.

"So, everything is out in the open. Lucas and Levi were only interested in you because they were betting on which one could get you into bed first." Hazel cackled.

"And tell me Hazel, what did you get from the last guy you slept with? Oh, that's right.

Rejected. The very next day." I said.

"He didn't f*****g reject me." She snapped.

"He told you that you were a one-night stand and that's what every guy ever tells you. Because you are a clingy b***h who no one wants and all you're good for is a one-night stand because you're easy. At least Lucas was fighting for a house with me." I smirked at her.

Lucas stood off to the side looking at me strangely, but I didn't take my eyes off of Hazel.

I saw her eyes start to change color as she was fighting with her wolf and she suddenly lunged at me and tried to punch me in the face, but I ducked out of the way and she punched the brick wall instead.

She turned to face me and she was even angrier now.

"Think about what you're doing Hazel? Do you really want to do this with me?" I asked.

So she growled and charged at me again, so I ducked to the left so she couldn't punch me in the face but I caught her arm under my arm and I reached across with my other arm and punched her in the face.

I then kneed her in the stomach and I let go of her and kicked the back of her knee so she fell to the ground, hearing some pop after I kicked her in the back of the knee. She laid on the ground screaming and holding her leg. By the looks of it, I was pretty sure I had broken it.

PHAPTERHER

I looked up and realized that we had created a huge scene with a lot of students watching us and a couple of teachers finally hesitantly walked towards us. "Hazel started that. She throw the first punch. I saw her. And so did Lucas" Avery said,

"And so did I." Levi said.

"Can you guys please take Hazel to the hospital? I think this is more than our school nurse can deal with?" The teacher asked, looking at Hazel's friends. So they hurried in and picked Hazel up and got her out of that hallway. So I turned to look at

"Well, I'm not sure what to do here." The teacher said, not looking directly at me.

"Walk away." I said. And he nodded his head and walked away really quickly.

I turned to look at Lucas and Levi who were standing next to each other, both looking at me like they wanted to talk to me,

I rolled my eyes at them and I turned to walk towards my locker.

Avery followed behind me and she was a little hesitant to talk to me as well.

"Is all that stuff true?" Avery asked,

"Yep. They had a bet going about me and now they are complete assholes and I don't ever want to see them again." I said,

"I am so sorry." She said,

"Whatever, I stayed in bed all day yesterday feeling sorry for myself. But now, I'm just pissed off." I said,

"Yeah. I can see that. You've never fought back at anyone before."

"Well, I'm the f*****g Princess and I am not getting pushed around anymore." I said.

Avery slowly got a smile across her face like she was really proud of me and she opened her locker that was near mine so she could get her books as well.

We went to our first class and sat at the back like we always did. But this time Levi sat on the other side of the classroom, surrounded by the same tramps that he hung out with before he started pursuing me.

I didn't glance over at him at all during the whole day. I missed a day of school yesterday and I was determined to get caught up.

The guys had taken up so much of my attention since they had gotten here that I knew I had 2/4 fallen a bit behind.

But if I was going to go to college then I needed to get my grades back to where they needed. to be.

I paid attention the whole day and then we had training that afternoon but Avery was the only one who volunteered to be my sparring partner.

She knew that she was the only person I wasn't actually going to hurt.

I

And after that I went to train the kids. But as soon as I was finished, I had to get back to the school to shower and I put the same clothes on that I had been wearing that day. Anna met me out the front of the school and we drove to the housing development.

I got out of the car and I looked around at what looked like a really big mess at the moment, but I could see the houses that were going up and there were also some taller buildings going up as well.

"Are they putting apartments up here?" I asked.

"Yeah. They're all going to be one-bedroom apartments so they aren't going to be for families. Probably single warriors and stuff like that. Instead of them having proper houses that are better off for families." Anna explained. "That's a good idea. How do the warriors like that idea?" I asked.

"I think they are okay with moving. None of them have actually expressed any disapproval."

She said.

I was approached by the foreman of the whole project and he shook my hand and showed me around the house estate that was being created.

It was really dirty and things thrown around everywhere, but that was only because they hadn't started on the yards yet. Once they start working on the landscape then it will look a lot better. They still had a lot of work to do, but I thought it was coming along nicely.

As I was walking back to the car I saw some members of the forestry service working in the woods by the new housing estate. It was their job to make sure that the building plans weren't going to interrupt the forest of the animals living in it. Since we're werewolves, we take all of that sort of stuff really seriously.

But I saw one guy standing out in front of all the others staring straight at me.

I stood there and stared back at Lucas, but it was only for a moment before I shook my head to try and get my senses back and I got in the car and we left the estate.

CHAPTER 026

"I think your mother is going to be very pleased with what you're doing." Anna said.

"She probably is. Let me know what she says after you call her tonight and give her today's report." I said.

Anna didn't say anything, so I looked over at her and she was chewing on her bottom lip and looking out the window.

She wasn't going to admit that I was right, but I knew that I was.

CHAPTER 027

When we got back to the castle, I walked into the village at first so I could check on how things were going with Felix being there.

I was walking around talking to people and seeing how much help they needed with different things when I felt someone hovering over behind me.

I turned around and Felix was standing there in a menacing pose, looking down on me.

He was way too close for comfort and it was only a matter of seconds before he saw the guards moving in closer.

"Is there something you need help with?" I asked.

"I haven't seen any of the royals pay so much attention to this village before." He said.

"Yeah. That's probably how you managed to get away with abusing them for so long. Well, don't count on it happening any more." I said. "You really think you can get rid of me?"

"Oh, I know I can. One wrong move and you're gone."

"Your father let me come to this pack."

"Yeah. He gave you sanctuary. But as soon as I find out who you are running from and why, I am pretty sure they are going to love it when I hand you back."

"You can't do that. Not without your parents' consent."

"Oh. You haven't heard. They aren't here and I don't know when they are coming back. Which means, I am in charge as the senior royal in the territory." I said.

He looked around at how close the guards were standing to us before he chose if he should make a move or not.

"Go on. I dare you." I said.

But instead I heard a low growl ripple up from his throat and he turned around and stormed back into his house and slammed the door.

"Are you alright Princess?" A guard asked.

"I'm fine." I said.

"Hey Emma." Jesse said, walking up to me. 1/4

"Hi. You're talking to me again." I said.

"I didn't want to ignore you. You know that. You've always been really nice to me."

"How are things going at home?"

"Good. The people you placed me with are really good to me." He said.

"Good. I'm glad."

"Has there been any luck in finding my parents?" He asked.

"No. I'm sorry. They look like they've just disappeared." I said.

"Yeah. I think that was the idea when they abandoned me. Because I was just dead weight and I was slowing them down." He said.

"I'm sure that's not true. They probably just wanted to protect you." I said.

He gave me a half smile before he bared his neck to me and he started walking towards his house.

I really wanted to give Jesse some closure on his parents. But there was nothing to go on. He was found in the woods and he didn't have any memory of his original pack because they had been moving around for most of his life.

And then suddenly one day, they just left him behind.

I walked out of the opening of the wall and started walking towards the stairs of the castle when I looked up and I saw Lucas standing by the castle.

He was about 30 feet away from me, but he was definitely standing there with his hands in his pockets. He didn't make a move to come closer to me, but it was obvious that he wanted to talk to me.

I stared at him for a moment before I kept walking to the stairs and I walked up to the castle and the guards let me go pass before they closed the doors behind me.

"What with the guards at the door?" I asked, walking to the sitting room to the left of the entrance.

"Your mother ordered it. I don't know why." Lexie said. So I just nodded my head and I went upstairs.

I had a shower and I got dressed for bed and I sat at my desk to do my homework.

Chloe came into my room and she sat by the window while I was doing my homework, but as soon as I was finished, she turned to look at me.

"I am so freaking tired." I said, stretching. But Chloe looked a little concerned.

"Yeah. How long is this guy going to keep watching the castle?" Chloe asked. So I got up and walked over to the window to see Lucas was still standing in the field.

"I don't know. And I don't care." I said, walking over to my bed.

"Avery told me everything. Not to brag or gossip. She just wanted me to make sure that you're alright because I'm living here at the moment."

"I know. It's fine. The rest of my school found out yesterday. It's going to get around to all the other towns in the territory." I said.

"I'm really sorry that they did that. I can't believe they both turned out to be such assholes."

She said.

"Well, their brothers. It obviously runs in the family." I said. Chloe scoffed and she laid on the bed next to me.

"What are you doing after school tomorrow?" She asked.

"I don't know. I'll have to check the day planner. I barely even know what day it is at the moment." I said.

"You are working a lot." She said.

"I'm the senior royal. I want to show my mother that I can do it."

"I didn't think you were interested in being the next Queen."

"I know that I've always been a bit hesitant. Honestly, I was scared. I see the way my mother does it and she's just a natural at it. I never thought I could live up to her." I explained. "You excel at everything you do. Why did you think this would be any different?"

"Because this is a lifetime commitment and I will have people's lives in my hands. It's really scary." I said.

"I guess I never thought of it like that. But you know that Avery and I will be there to help you with everything."

"I know. And I appreciate that. But first I have to finish high school and college before I can take over as Queen. And mom's not going to be ready to give up the crown when I finish college. She'll be young enough that she will be able to keep going for years after that."

"Exactly. And you can shadow her as much as you want after that and learn even more." Chloe explained. So I nodded my head while I was staring up at the ceiling.

CHAPTER 027

Chloe jumped up suddenly and got off the bed.

"What are you doing?" I asked.

"Mom and dad have gone to bed and I know that you're exhausted. But we need to get the hell out of here." She said.

"What are you talking about?" I asked.

"You need to have some fun. Everything has gone to s**t over only a couple of days. So, now you need to get out there and have some fun."

"Do you have any ideas?" I asked. So she went into my wardrobe and started looking for clothes for us both to wear.

She finally came out with a couple of pretty tight dresses and I sat up, looking at her with a c****d eyebrow.

"Don't look at me like that. I know that you're tired but you will completely get over that in a matter of minutes when we get there. Now get ready." She demanded as she pushed me towards the bathroom.

What the hell kind of trouble was this girl going to get me into?

I know that I should be in bed and I should be concentrating on what I need to do tomorrow but then I started to think...fuck it. I never go out and have fun. And if I have to sneak out to do it, then that's what I'm going to do.

I'm always going to be tired if I keep going at this pace. So I might as well grab the opportunity whenever I can.

CHAPTER 028

I walked out of the bathroom wearing a strapless black mini dress, showing off every curve that I have. And I looked in the mirror, liking what I saw.

I never wear stuff like this. I know that I have clothes to go out in, but I never thought I would actually wear them.

And this dress looked really good on me.

But I went to the wardrobe to put on some black knee high leather boots and a black jacket.

"Damn, you look hot." Chloe said.

"Yeah. You don't look too bad either in my yellow mini." I said.

"I know. We're gonna be the hottest mama's there." She said as she sat me at the vanity.

She did my hair and makeup really quickly but made it look flawless and she had already finished doing her own.

As soon as we were ready, Chloe opened my door really quietly and she checked down the hallway to make sure there was no one lurking around. We went towards the backstairs and down towards the back of the castle since we knew there were guards posted at the front door of the castle.

As soon as we got to the backdoor, we looked over the edge of the courtyard and the really long climb downwards. 100 meters to be exact.

It wouldn't be a problem on any other day, but right now, I was wearing a mini dress and knee high boots with a leather jacket on.

It wasn't exactly the easier clothing to wear while trying to break out.

"I think we can make the climb." Chloe said.

"I think you need to start thinking smarter, not dumber." I said.

"What are you talking about?" She asked.

"Zidrith." I said.

I saw Chloe looking up with her eyes really wide because she has always been scared of my dragon. But they were our protectors.

Zidrith appeared on the side of the building and I called him to come down closer to us.

CHAPTER 028

I climbed on the chair in the courtyard and I climbed onto his back.

When I seated properly on him, I reached out for Chloe's hand.

She looked scared and hesitant but she took my hand and I pulled her up to sit behind me.

She grabbed me around the waist really tight and I ordered Zidrith down to the field.

He flew down there in a matter of seconds and he laid his leg out on the ground so I could climb down onto it and then jump onto the ground.

Chloe had her eyes closed the whole time we were on his back and she was so relieved when we were on solid ground again and Zidrith went back up to the castle. "Where are we going anyway?" I asked.

"You'll see." She said.

So I followed her across the field and when we got to a road I saw a car sitting there with the engine running.

Avery was waiting for us so I got in the front and Chloe got in the back and she started driving down the road.

We drove for a little while before we got to a larger city in Alaska and we pulled up outside a club that had a huge line waiting to get in.

But as soon as I got out of the car, I recognised the doorman.

He was a couple years above me in high school. He's one of us.

So I walked straight up to him with the girls behind me and he let us straight in.

We walked inside and I was surprised to see a lot of werewolves in there mixed with humans.

I hadn't ever been here before but it looked pretty cool. And it was even better that the bartender was another member of my pack.

"Everyone that works at this club is from our pack. We're not going to have any trouble getting drinks or anything tonight. Not with you here. They aren't going to say no to the princess." Avery said.

"What if they call my mother?" I asked.

"Threaten them. You're the senior royal at the moment." She smirked.

I started laughing and we went over to the bar.

It was strange. I had drunk a glass of champagne at special occasions, but otherwise, I have never drank before. So I don't know what's going to happen tonight.

CHAPTER 028

As soon as the bartender saw me standing there, he walked straight over to me and I ordered a rum and coke and the other two got the same as me.

We got our drinks, which he didn't charge us for, and we grabbed a table to stand at while we were drinking it.

I stood there looking around at the club. Everyone dancing on the dancefloor and a whole strange life that I had never experienced before.

But the other two looked extremely comfortable. So I wondered how often they would do this without me.

Not long after that Violet and Ella showed up.

They both ran up and hugged me and went to get a couple of drinks.

When they came back to us, I had already finished my drink and Avery went to get me another one.

"What finally convinced you to come out with us like this?" Violet asked.

"Because f**k it. That's why." I said.

"And that's the best motto to have." She said. So we all raised our glasses.

"f**k it." We all said as we clink our glasses and took a drink.

We had a couple more drinks before we went out onto the dance floor and we were dancing in the middle of the dance floor together.

We didn't care who was near us but I did notice a lot of people paying attention to us.

I guess those dance lessons that my mother got me when I was younger were finally paying off.

She put me into all sorts of dance classes. Not just ballroom dancing, but jazz and hip hop just to name a few.

We were having a great time dancing together and having a lot of fun together, laughing like I hadn't laughed in a long time.

I finally left them to go to the bar and get another drink and I was waiting when a guy moved closer to me.

"You looked pretty good out there." He said.

"Thanks." I said, barely looking at him.

"I'm Noah." He said.

CHAPTER 028

"Congratulations." I said.

"You got a name?" He asked. And I turned to finally get a good look at him.

He had really intense eyes as he was looking at me with dusty blonde hair and it was obvious to me straight away that he was a werewolf.

"You don't know who I am?" I asked.

"No. Should I?" He asked.

"My name's Emma." I said.

"It's nice to meet you."

"I have to go." I said, grabbing my drink and I took it back over to the table where my friends had gathered again.

This was the last thing I needed right now. I don't want another guy hanging around just to turn out to be another asshole. I really couldn't handle it and it was obvious that I couldn't trust any guy that I knew.

I didn't want to talk to my friends about it and they were just looking at me, but it was obvious that I was looking pretty upset right now.

They had been watching that guy talking to me, but I wasn't interested.

I asked them to watch my drink while I went to the bathroom.

I walked down the hallway and into the ladies bathroom.

I was only in there for a couple of minutes but when I walked back out into the hallway, I came face to face with Lucas.
