CHAPTER 21

The force of the building collapsing caused me to get caught up in the dust and debris since I was the last one out of the building and Jasper started freaking out for a minute.

But once I managed to get to my feet and make it out of the dust that was still lingering he calmed down.

I looked at the werewolves who were looking at me really weird before I turned around and I fell backwards onto the ground with my hand raised and a long electric bolt stemmed from my hand, hitting the creature that was on top of the building and killing it instantly.

Jasper then helped me up and we stared at the body that came falling to the ground.

"It's a fae." Jasper said.

"They're all coming out of the woodwork. There was a witch watching Lexie and I in the forest yesterday." I said.

"Why didn't you tell me?" Jasper asked.

"Because I didn't want to." I snapped.

"Are you two going to tell us what the fk is going on?" Dean asked.

"We're too exposed here." Jasper said.

"Tell all of your wolves to go home and I'll meet you at your house." I said.

But even just the mention of the word 'wolves' made them look at me weird.

I didn't say anything else until they were able to gather themselves and they agreed.

I knew that they were desperate for this answer.

"Izzy. fk you," I said.

"I didn't say anything." Izzy said.

"No. But you're hoping the triplets are going to execute me. Well, guess what. I'm their fg mate so they won't." I said, staring at her. While the twins were staring at me. "Again, there's a lot to talk about. I'll meet you at your place. Jasper and I are going to do a sweep of the town and make sure that there's no one else around." I said.

So I grabbed Jasper and we started running around the remains of the building and I was trying to make sure that everyone had gotten out safe.

there so we mentioned that a lot had escaped out the back.

One of the teachers went around the back because they had to do a headcount and get everyone's names. To make sure that everyone made it out alive.

I basically mind linked Koda and told him to stay while the teacher was coming to do the head count and then get the hell out of here.

He asked how I was mind linking him but I didn't answer.

Once I was sure that we could get away with it, Jasper and I snuck off and we started scouring the town.

That's when I was really happy to be living in such a small town. Not many places to hide where the humans are.

But we were completely surrounded by forest. And there could be an endless number of things in there that wanted us dead.

I found one of the wolves on patrol. I didn't tell him who I was, but I explained what happened and told him to keep an eye out for anything. It looks like they're coming for the triplets so they need to keep an eye out. Once we were sure that the place was safe, we went back to the triplets packhouse and they were waiting for us on the veranda.

I could sense their anxiety and I wasn't sure how this was going to go. But I was sure that I was going to make sure that they understood absolutely everything before they started making assumptions about me. "Is your dad home?" I asked.

"Yeah." Koda said.

"This conversation involves him." I said.

So we all went inside and Alpha Grayson came to the living room and saw myself and Jasper with the triplets.

He knew that something had obviously happened. Especially since I was covered in dirt from the building collapsing.

"Good news Alpha. School's out." I said. And Jasper snickered but he looked really confused.

"What's going on?" Grayson asked.

"We're just about to find out." Koda said, turning back to look at me.

CHAPTER 21

"They were attacked at school today by a witch." I said.

"Oh st. It's started." Grayson said.

"Did you think I was bullshitting when I told you that they were coming?" I asked.

"No. I don't think so. I don't know what to think. You're not even meant to exist." Grayson said.

"Well, I do. And I'm mated with your sons so you better hurry up and get used to it." I said. "Why the hell is Izzy here?" Jasper asked.

"She's the Beta's daughter. He'll be here shortly." I said.

"How the hell do you know that?" Izzy asked.

"I know everything. And if you call me a bh one more time, I'm gonna fg hurt you." I said.

"I didn't call you a bitch." She said.

"You thought it." I said. And everyone looked at her as she looked at me completely confused. "Fae's can read minds." Jasper said.

"You're a fae?" Koda asked.

"Yes." I said.

"I thought you were a witch. You took on that other one pretty successfully. Aren't you a witch?" Tyler asked. "Yes." I said.

"You know too much about werewolves." Izzy said.

"Is there a question in there?" I asked.

"The prophet." Tyler gasped. And I looked at him with the straightest face I could manage at the moment.

They finally figured it out. They've heard the stories. They know what I am. They just didn't know that I existed.

"Wait. The prophet is werewolf, witch, fae and vampire." Izzy said.

"How the fk do you think I got here so fast?" I asked.

"You run like a vampire." She said.

"I didn't ask for my heritage and I definitely didn't ask to be born. I didn't ask to be your mate.

CHAPTER 21

But that's where we are. Now you three need to make up your mind. Do you want me to help you or not? Because that's the whole reason why I'm here. There are people out there of all different species that want to look out for you. They want you to live. And they want me to make sure that it happens." I said.

"You don't have a wolf Dean said, confused.

"I do. She hates me. At least she will when I turn 18 and that elixir stops working." I said.

"What?" He asked.

"She's been injecting herself with modified wolfsbane. So you can't smell the wolfsbane on her but you also can't sense her wolf. She had to stay hidden and not let you know who she was until she was ready. That witch today forced her hand into revealing who she is."

Jasper

explained.

"And you've known who she was this whole time?" Koda asked.

"Yeah. She was pretty pissed to see that I was here at first." Jasper said.

I still am. I can think of a million other people that they could have sent here to keep an eye on me instead of you." I said. But he just glared at me. "What, you can be really fg annoying" I said.

"Alright. We're getting off track here." Grayson said.

"We need to keep the triplets safe. There's more coming. Two of them were at the school today. And those were just the two that we could detect. There weren't any in the woods but you better believe they will be coming after us now." I said.

"Nova killed a fee today that was going after the triplets. They aren't going to let that slide."

Jasper said.

"Well, maybe you should just leave and let us deal with this st ourselves. The pack is more than capable." Izzy said.

"You have no idea what you are dealing with." I said.

I'm sure we will manage. We can learn everything we know."

"Not before they get here." Jasper said.

No one was talking to you freak." She yelled at Jasper.

"I just killed my fg cousin for the triplets. I'm not going anywhere. And if you don't shut your fg mouth, Beta's daughter or not, I will your fg tongue out of your mouth." I yelled, getting in Izzy's face.

CHAPTER 21

Suddenly I felt a cool sensation on my arm and I turned to see Tyler holding me. He wasn't holding me tightly, he just had his hand on me and it brought me back to my senses and I backed away from Izzy.

"That was your cousin?" Koda asked.

"Fae's are a small bunch considering how big all the other species are. It's not hard to believe that I'm going to be killing a lot of my relatives." I said.

"For us?" He asked. And I nodded my head.

I then heard the door open and close and Izzy's father Beta Theo walked in with a woman standing right next to him.

"Ava." I said, surprised. My teacher who helped me through my first shift.

I ran over and hugged her as tightly as I could manage.

"What the hell have I missed?" Theo asked.

Fighter 22

CHAPTER 22

As we were all sitting around the packhouse I could see Jasper standing by the window keeping a lookout and Ava was sitting on the chair with Theo. "How do you two know each other?" I asked.

"This is Jacob's dad. He's my mate." Ava said.

"Wait a minute. Jacob and Izzy are brother and sister?" I asked.

"Yeah. Why?" She asked.

"How the hell did that happen? I like Jacob. She's a bitch." I said.

"I've heard about what she's been doing. But I hear that you've been holding your own." Ava said.

"Of course I have. Did you really think I was going to let that thing boss me around?" I asked.

The door opened again and Jacob walked into the room.

As soon as he saw me standing there he got a wide smile on his face and I ran over and jumped into his arms and hugged him as well.

Suddenly there were three loud growls from the other side of the room. All coming from the triplets.

An unmated male was touching their mate, and even though they were uncertain about me right now, they knew that they didn't like him coming anywhere near me. So I quickly backed away from Jacob. "Would you three relax? He's like a brother to me." I said.

"Well, he actually is my brother so stay away from him." Izzy said.

"Izzy. Cut your shit." Jacob said. And I smirked at her. But she started sulking and walked off into the other room.

"Alright. So, we've got all these people coming after us. What the hell are we meant to do now?" Dean asked.

"Fight them, hide from them or run from them. Those are basically your only choices." I said.

"We didn't see anything driving into town. Not even in the forest." Jacob said.

"Well, that's good. I think." I said.

CHAPTER 22

"What do you mean?" He asked.

"Either they aren't here yet, or they are here already in position." I said.

"We've got patrols roaming around our house. If anything happens outside, we'll know straight away." Grayson said.

"What about your house?" Koda asked.

"What about it?" I asked.

"What if they attack your mother and stepfather?" He asked.

"They can have them." I said. And Ava scoffed.

"I can see nothing has changed there." She said.

"No. Were you even planning on coming to see me while you were in town?" I asked. But she pulled out her phone and showed me the photo of me and Logan having dinner.

Izzy sent her own mother that goddamn photo.

"Logan. That's why you're here." I said.

"We don't know if he's on our side or not. Or if he's figured out who you are and he's using you to get to the triplets." She said.

"I'm honestly trying to think that the only father figure I've really had in my life isn't using me to get to the triplets." I said.

"I know. And I'm sorry to even suggest it. But you were only 14 when your mother was dating him. You're older now and he might see you differently." Ava said.

"You said that you would never see him as anything more than a father figure." Tyler said.

"Because I don't. I told you. I'm not going to screw someone who's been with my mother. That's gross." I said, screwing up my face.

"He always has to go for younger women. You need to be careful." Ava said.

"Why was I sent here if everyone thinks I'm so fg stupid and incompetent?" I asked. So she put her hands up in surrender.

They know that I'm not stupid and I would not allow anyone to come near the triplets. I was tasked with making sure they stay alive so that's what I'm going to do. And I haven't taken any wolfsbane in a while so it's gonna start to wear off and soon my wolf is gonna come out and she's gonna be pissed.

She's gonna go after the first enemy she sees and kill them with no mercy. And honestly, I wouldn't be surprised if she doesn't give me back control and insists on staying in wolf form for a while. Just to get back at me.

She can be pretty stubborn.

I guess we're meant for each other in that way.

I sat on one of the side chairs thinking about a lot and looking at that photo of Logan. I was trying to think back to the times that I have spent with him and he's never mentioned the triplets. He's never asked me about them. He's never asked me if I'm dating anyone.

He hasn't done anything inappropriate with me. He's just been the same old Logan that I've always known.

If he's here for any other reason then he's a better actor than I am.

But that also got me questioning things. Why hasn't he asked me if I'm dating anyone? Is he starting to think of me like that? Is he thinking of me in a completely different way than he should be?

I know that all of his girlfriend's have to be younger. Has he chosen me to be the next one? "I'm meeting up with Logan again tonight." I said.

"Not alone." Tyler said, abruptly.

"I'm not taking any of you." I said.

"Bullshit. You think he might be a danger. I'm going with you." Tyler demanded.

"You can't." I insisted.

"Why? Why the hell not? Are you starting to think that he wants more?" Tyler asked.

"You sound like a jealous boyfriend Tyler. Knock it off." I said.

"Why the hell can't I go? Just answer me that." He insisted.

"Because he's a fg vampire." I snapped. And the whole room went quiet after that.

CHAPTER 23 FLASHBACK-14 YEARS OLD

Jacob and I are in a field surrounded by the forest outside of town. Jacob had picked this place out very carefully knowing that no one ever comes here. It was really overgrown when we first found the clearing but now, it was getting worn since we have been coming out here every single day.

We were out in the field training and he was teaching me how to fight. And I was starting to get really good at it.

I was actually able to knock Jacob on his ass by now and we were starting to have a lot of fun with it.

It was fun training with him, he made it fun. He wasn't so serious all the time and we were becoming fast friends.

Just as we were finishing our training his mother Ava showed up, but she wasn't alone.

I was sitting on the ground with my water bottle and we were joking around with each other, but as soon as Ava arrived with the other people, he got really serious all of a sudden.

I turned around to look and Ava was there with a young woman and an older woman. So I sat there and looked back at Jacob and I saw him walking towards me more protectively. Trying to stand between me and those women. "Jacob. It's alright." Ava said.

"No. It's not. We don't know what that fae or witch wants." Jacob said.

"They are here to help. They know about Nova and she needs their help. You're helping her be a werewolf. They need to help her open up her fae side and her witch side." Ava said.

"And what about the vampire side? What are you going to do there?" Jacob asked.

"I've got that covered. But I think it's best that you not be there when we do." Ava said.

I stood up off the ground and I was getting really confused about what was going on. Jacob knew that I had all species in me and he was fine being around me. But it was obvious that he didn't like or trust fae's or witches. "Fine. But I'm staying here while they are near her." Jacob insisted.

"That's fine." Ava said.

So Ava walked closer to us and Jacob was sure to stay in front of me while the other two women were looking at me with wide smiles and what looked like pride in their eyes. "Nova. This is Daisy, the fae and this is Scarlett. She's a witch." Ava said. "Really? The Scarlett witch?" Jacob scoffed.

"Jacob. Either be quiet or go home." Ava scolded him. So he folded his arms across his chest.

"It's so nice to finally meet you. We were wondering when you were finally going to be found." Scarlett said.

"Well, here I am." I said.

"You are so much more than we could have imagined. We were watching you train for a little bit. You're good." Daisy said.

"That's all to Jacob. He's been training me every day." I said.

"And now it's time for her to start training as a fae and a witch. She needs to tap into her powers if they're going to be of any use to her." Ava said.

"Have you shown any powers at all?" Daisy asked.

"No. I haven't noticed anything." I said.

"Well, we definitely have a lot of work to do." Scarlett said. And all the women agreed. But Jacob looked at me and rolled his eyes.

"And who's the vampire that's going to help me?" I asked.

"He'll be here soon. He has to wait for the sun to go down." Ava said.

"Aren't your parents going to be worried about you?" Scarlett asked.

"I don't think my mother even knows that I still live with her." I said.

They all looked at each other strangely but Ava just shook her head, telling them not to worry about it. And not to ask about it.

"Tonight is just an introduction but starting tomorrow, they are going to start training her as well. You've done great with her Jacob and it's not going to stop. But we have to make sure that she can defend herself in all ways." Ava explained. "I know. But I'm still staying for all of it." Jacob insisted.

It wasn't long before the sun went down and pretty soon a man suddenly appeared in front of us at the speed of light.

"Owen." Jacob growled.

"Alright. Is that alright?" I asked, looking at Jacob.

"I guess it has to be." Jacob said.

"Listen, I'm not here to cause trouble. I'm here to help. Just like everyone else. You know that."

Owen said.

"Yeah. You're always just trying to help." Jacob spat at him.

"Jacob." Ava said.

"It's alright. Tonight are just introductions and I'm glad to meet you all. I know I will get to know you all a lot more." I said.

"You too. I couldn't believe it when Ava called and said that she had found the prophet. We really didn't think we would ever see this day." Owen said.

"Well, I didn't think I would ever turn into a werewolf. I guess we're all a bit surprised." I said. "I can imagine that this is a huge shock for you." Daisy said.

"Yeah. That's one thing I've been wanting to ask you about Ava. You know all about me. Who I am and this so called prophet. Do you know who my father is?" I asked. And she looked at the others that she had just brought into the clearing.

"I'm sorry. I don't know who he is. I've never met him. I only knew who you were when you started attending the school that I taught at." She said.

"Alright. I guess, there was no harm in asking. Obviously all of this stuff is coming from my father's side of the family. It would be nice to know who he actually is and how I ended up with so many species in me." I said.

"Well, that's pretty complicated. And only your father would be able to answer that question. I can start doing some investigating for you if you like." Ava said.

"I would really appreciate that. Thank you." I said.

"Alright. Well, we need to set up a schedule for you to train with." Scarlett said.

"Don't you think this will be a little too much for her? I mean, there's a lot of training that she's gonna be needing here and we're not stopping our werewolf training. She needs to be able to control her wolf and defend herself in human self." Jacob snapped.

"We will work something out so it's not too hard for her." Ava said.

"It better not be. Because she doesn't need to be over exhausted every day." Jacob said.

"I see you've taken quite a liking to our little prophet here." Owen said.

"Yeah. We're friends and I don't want to see anything happen to her." Jacob snapped.

I managed to get Jacob out of there while being nice to the people that I met, but before

Jacob could start a fight with anyone else. So we got in his car and he drove me home but he had to stop down the road.

He couldn't drop me off in front of the house because Evelyn would see or her boyfriend and that would just cause me a lot more grief than I needed.

Fighter 24

THE PRESENT

In the packhouse I was standing by a window with Jacob, keeping watch, but we were also talking and laughing. We were old friends and we always got along really long. But the triplets were giving Jacob filthy looks and Izzy definitely hated me even more now because of the relationship that I had with not only the triplets but with her own brother. And no matter how many times Izzy tried to pull Jacob away from me, he resisted and told her to knock it off. He's heard all about what she's been doing here and he's ashamed to call her his sister.

I had to look out the window to hide the smile on my face that I couldn't help that spread across my face.

Jacob was asking me a lot of questions about what it's been like here. I hadn't been here long but I knew that he was asking about Evelyn and Henry.

My phone interrupted us and I looked at the name on the screen before I looked at everyone else in the room.

"Hey Logan." I answered.

"Hi. Listen, I knew that we were meant to meet up tonight but I'm gonna have to reschedule." He said.

"Okay. Is everything alright?" I asked.

"Yeah. Everything's fine. Something has just come up. I have to figure it out." He said.

"Alright. I hope it's not too serious." I said.

"It's not. We'll catch up again tomorrow night." He said.

"Okay. No worries. I'll see you then." I said.

"Alright. Bye." He said. And I hung up the phone.

I know that everyone heard the conversation because of their werewolf hearing.

"What do you think?" Jacob asked.

"He's up to something." I said.

"Do you know where he's staying?" Ava asked.

"Of course I do. I'll be back later." I said, walking across the room.

"What are you doing?" Jacob asked.

CHAPTER 24

"Making sure that he's not plotting against us." I said.

"I'm coming with you." Jacob said.

"You're too protective Jacob. You know that I can take care of myself." I said.

"I'm coming too." Tyler said, walking towards me.

I let out a sigh and just shook my head as I turned towards the door.

We drove a part of the way but then I told Tyler to pull over and we had to walk the rest of the way.

We were in the middle of the forest, and we were a long way from town.

I followed Logan home one night because I needed to know where he was staying.

We snuck through the forest and when we got close enough, we climbed trees that were far enough away that he couldn't sense us near, but close enough so we could hear him.

He was staying in an abandoned cabin and almost immediately we could hear that Logan wasn't alone in the cabin.

"Why the hell can't you just tell me what you're doing here? Is it Skylar? Is that why you're here? I should have known that you liked her more than me." Evelyn said.

The guys looked at me and my eyes were practically bugging out of my head hearing my mother's voice.

"Evelyn. I didn't invite you here to talk about my intentions towards Skylar." Logan said. "Then why? You said that you needed to talk to me about her." Evelyn said.

"Do you even care about her? She's your daughter. Do you care about her?" Logan asked.

"Of course I do. I guess. I don't know." Evelyn said.

"She's in danger." Logan said.

"Well, if she's in danger then she probably brought it on herself."

"I'm not saying that this is any sort of normal danger that you would expect. She's getting involved with triplets. They have people wanting them dead and if Skylar is near them, they are going to kill her as well." Logan insisted. "Well, like I said, it's all her own doing." Evelyn said.

"Get out." Logan said.

"What?" Evelyn asked, shocked.

"I don't know why I even bothered trying to talk to you about this. You've never cared about her. Get the hell out. I'll take care of her myself. Like I did when we were dating. Just leave." Logan yelled and practically pushed Evelyn out of the house.

I could hear her muttering until she got to her car on the other side of the house and she sped away down the dirt road.

"What the fk?" Jacob asked.

"I don't know. He obviously thinks that it's a bad idea for me to be here." I said.

"We need to know why he's here." Tyler said.

"It's still daylight. He's got something planned for tonight. That's why he rescheduled. So, get comfortable boys. We're going to be here a while." I said, leaning back against the tree while sitting on the thick branch that I knew would be able to hold my weight.

I leaned back against the tree and closed my eyes, relaxing because I knew that we weren't going to find out anything until after dark.

As soon as the sun went down Logan left the house and we waited until we got far enough away in his car before we jumped out of the tree and ran all the way back to our car and Tyler got in the driver's seat, I was in the passenger seat and Jacob was in the back.

We drove along the highway, staying back far enough so Logan couldn't tell who we were, but he was driving further away from town.

"I don't like this. We're getting too far away from everyone else." Jacob said.

"Relax. He's not going to hurt me." I said.

"He will if he thinks you're a threat to him. He's a vampire." Jacob said.

"He doesn't kill humans. He eats animals." I said.

Logan finally pulled off the road and went down a different dirt road and we pulled over on the highway and we got out of the car and started walking down the dirt road.

I noticed that Tyler made sure that he was right by my side the whole time and he was keeping his eye on Jacob.

I could see that they were constantly glaring at each other, but I was trying to ignore it.

We came to a picnic area in an opening nearing a lake and Logan was sitting at the picnic table with another man that looked really familiar to me as well. "Owen." I said.

CHAPTER 24

"You know him?" Tyler asked.

"That's the vampire that trained me." I said.

So we got as close as possible so we could hear but not so they could see or hear us.

"Have you seen her?" Owen asked.

"She looks good. Her mother and stepfather are still assholes." Logan said.

"Yeah. We expected that. What about the triplets?" Owen asked.

"They're safe. But their school was leveled today because of some sort of attack. I'm still trying to get the details. I talked to her on the phone after it happened and she seemed alright. Logan explained.

"Do you know where she was when you called her?" Owen asked.

"I didn't ask. I can't let her know why I'm here." Logan said.

"Well, maybe you should. We're not here to hurt her." Owen said. So I stepped forward into the clearing.

"Then why the fk are you here?" I demanded and they both turned around really quickly to look at me.

Both looked really stunned and I was glaring at the two of them for lying to me.

CHAPTER 25

Jacob and Tyler quickly jumped out behind me and were quickly standing by my side. I heard them both growling.

"Hello Jacob. I was really hoping you were still in California." Owen said.

"Well, that's too bad for you, isn't it?" Jacob asked.

"What the hell is going on?" I growled, causing Tyler to look at me strangely.

"Nova. Calm down. I can explain everything." Logan said, walking towards us trying to calm me down.

"You knew, didn't you? When you started dating my mother. You knew who I was." I accused. "Yeah. Your mother was collateral damage." He said.

"I don't give a st about her but it makes a hell of a lot more sense now that you were more interested in being my father. I loved you like you were my father." I yelled.

"I'm sorry. I love you like a daughter. Believe me." He said.

"You're a fg vampire. You don't have the capability of love. Stay the fk away from me and get the hell out of this town. Before I come back during the day." I threatened, turning around and storming off. Jacob and Tyler followed me back to the car and we drove all the way back to town.

Neither of them said anything because I wasn't interested in saying anything.

I was too pissed off and right now I was just trying to control myself without losing control of my powers.

When we got back to the packhouse, it was almost midnight but everyone was sitting up in the living room watching TV.

A news report was on saying that the high school blew up because of a gas leak. And they were going to give us all a few days off while they try and figure out what they're going to do about our schooling. I didn't look too interested so I walked into the kitchen and I started looking around until I found everything I wanted and I made a coffee.

I walked out the back door and sat on the patio furniture outside as Dean came out and sat next to me.

"Are you alright?" He asked.

"Did Tyler fill you in?" I asked.

"Yeah. He told me about Logan and Owen." He said.

"Then you should know that I'm not alright." I said.

"Well, you were keeping a secret from Logan as well." Dean said.

"Because I was 14. I'd only known for several months that I was a werewolf and I was only just starting my training as every other species that's inside of me. I was confused and I didn't know how the hell to tell him. He was a vampire and I have vampire in me so I assumed that I could trust him." I explained.

"That's understandable. I don't blame you for blowing up at them like that. They're trying to get you to leave here, aren't they?" Dean asked.

"They were talking about how I am in danger because you three are here. They didn't say anything about attacking you, so that is still unclear. I don't know if they just want me out of here." I said.

"They want to keep you safe."

"I don't really care what they want. I can take care of myself. Everyone who knows me, knows that. I was sent here for a reason and that's because they know that I can protect you better than anyone else." I said. "We don't need protection." Dean said.

"You don't know what's coming for you. Believe me, you do." I said.

"It was a witch. And Jasper is a fae. Big deal." He said.

"And what are you going to do if those species all band together along with vampires and werewolves in order to get rid of you?"

He sat there staring at me for a moment. He obviously hadn't thought about that and I knew that they were screwed if that ever happened.

Which, unfortunately, was a possibility.

Tyler and Koda both came out the back as well and they sat down around where I was.

They just leaned back on the chairs, looking at the scenery like I was.

"So, how long have you known that you were our mate?" Koda asked.

"Since before I got here." I answered.

"How is that possible?"

"You guys were in California for an Alpha conference. I was there. You didn't know. You didn't see me."

"How is that possible?" Tyler asked.

"Because I didn't want you to see me. But I knew back then."

"And you were still able to come here and see us every day?" Dean asked.

"I never said that it was easy." I said.

"Well, I guess that's something." Tyler said.

"I'm sorry that I lied to you. I'm sorry that I had to pretend to be something that I wasn't. But if I just showed up here and told you that you were in danger you would have laughed at me. You needed to see it for yourself. You definitely wouldn't have believed that I was this so-called prophet." I explained.

"Yeah. You're not meant to exist." Koda said.

"Exactly."

"Well, now that we know you do exist and that you're our mate. Where do we go from here?" Tyler asked.

"I don't know. Right now we just have to make sure that you guys survive the night." I said.

"You really think they're going to attack again tonight?" Koda asked.

"Tonight would be the best time to attack. Because you won't be expecting it." I said.

"She has a point." Dean said.

"We're not done talking about this." Koda said.

"I didn't think we were." I said, staring back out towards the forest.

They went back inside to talk to everyone else and find out what was going on within the pack while I stayed outside and I started walking around the house and making sure that nothing looked out of the ordinary.

I made my way back towards the back door of the house when I saw something move in the woods.

I stood there staring for a moment when I saw it move again and I knew that there was someone using the trees as cover.

I threw my hand out and the roots of the trees came alive and grabbed the person that was 3/5 hiding behind the trees.

The man started screaming and yelling and suddenly people started appearing out of everywhere.

Ava and Jacob ran out of the house and soon Jasper and Daisy appeared as well.

"Where is she?" I asked.

"She's coming." Daisy said.

So we all got into position and we were ready to charge at these people as soon as we knew how many there were.

"Has the wolfsbane left your system yet?" Ava asked.

"Not all of it. I can hear her whinging in the back of my head." I said.

"Can you shift?" She asked.

"We're about to find out." I said.

The triplets then came out of the house behind us. Everyone was yelling at them to get back inside but they weren't going to. And I didn't bother yelling at them. I knew that they weren't going to go back inside. As soon as we were sure that they had all revealed themselves, we knew that we could take them out easily.

So Jacob shifted into his large sandy black wolf, Ava shifted into her gray wolf, the triplets shifted into their large black wolves and I looked around at everyone.

I had to concentrate as I slowly and painfully shifted into my large, Alpha large, black wolf with white paws.

Everyone turned to look at me, probably because my size wasn't normal for an ordinary wolf, but I dug my claws into the ground and my wolf Maya was stretching out in my head.

"It's about fg time." She growled.

"Shut up and concentrate." I said.

"Don't worry. These assholes are going down." She said.

So we crept down into the attack position and everyone else took their lead from me.

So as soon as I started charging towards the people coming from the forest, everyone else followed suit.

Fighter 26

CHAPTER 26

I charged straight into the army of rogues, crashing into them with a thunderous crash.

Barrelling through them, knocking them out of the way one by one.

One charged straight at me and I lept in the air and as he jumped in the air, I grabbed him around the throat and I ripped it clear away from his body and it landed limp on the ground, not moving.

When I landed on the ground, I turned around and I saw two more rogues running towards me.

I crouched down and charged at them, dodging out of the way at the last second. I dragged my claws down one of their sides, spilling its insides out onto the ground and it fell to the ground and tried to hide around a tree while the other one looked at it's friends and then growled and charged at me in anger, so I stood there and waited until he got close enough to me before he lunged at me and he knocked me on my back, but I pushed it over my head by my paws and it landed on it's back. So I jumped up and I drew my claws across its throat before it had a chance to get up again.

I looked around to see who else was fighting, but there weren't any too close to me.

So I howled into the sky and Daisy yelled at the pack wolves to get back.

They were all confused but then I lunged down again and I concentrated really hard and a burst of fire escaped my body, killing all rogues that were near me.

I stood up and knew that I didn't kill anyone on my side, but the rogues were all dead and I stood up looking at the scorched ground around my body.

Everyone else was standing back staring at me, and when I was sure that they were all dead I started walking past everyone towards the packhouse.

I walked inside and shifted back, grabbing some clothes from the laundry and I put them on straight away and I walked back outside seeing that everyone else had shifted back as well. Koda, Tyler and Dean all walked over to me and I just stood outside the packhouse looking at them.

"That's not something you see every day." Dean said.

"What was that?" Tyler asked.

"I told you. I'm here to protect you. If you choose to believe me then that's up to you. But I'm not going anywhere." I said.

"So, you can combine powers. Use powers while in wolf form?" Koda asked.

"Yeah. I can." I said.

"What else can you do?" Dean asked.

"Nothing I can do here without blowing up your house." I said.

"I'm sure we'll see eventually." Koda said, obviously not wanting me to blow up his house.

"Hello Nova." Someone said, behind me. So I turned around and there was a woman standing there wearing all red.

"Scarlet. It's about fg time. Where you been? All the fun is over." I said.

"I knew that you could handle it." She said.

"Or you were just being a pathetic scared little witch. Isn't that what you do? Stay away until the danger is over and then show up and pretend like you knew what was going to happen." I snapped at her.

"Please don't be mad at me. I can't fight rogues or werewolves. That will cause a war between witches and werewolves." She said.

"Not if they're rogues. You and I both know that." I yelled.

"The Rogue King will never allow it." She said.

"Since when do the rogues have a King?" Koda asked.

"That's what I needed to talk to you about. Someone is gathering the rogues together. They are coming here to try and kill the Triplet Alpha's." Scarlet said. "Where are they?" I asked.

"I've got people working on it. There's a location spell in place at the moment but somehow he is able to hide from it."

"Of course he is." I said, looking away. I wasn't surprised at all that she couldn't find him.

Of course it wouldn't be that easy.

"Hey, we got a live one over here." A warrior sang out from the forest.

"Don't kill it." I yelled, running back towards the woods and the triplets were all following me.

I got to where the rogue was and it was injured really badly. It wasn't going to survive the injuries but she had shifted back to her human self and I walked up in front of her. "The rogue King is going to kill you for this." She said.

CHAPTER 26

"Why don't you just worry about yourself right now. Because you're the one that's going to die if you don't tell me what I want to know." I said.

"I'm going to die anyway. So I'm not saying shit." She said.

"That's true. You are going to die. But if you tell me what I want to know, I'll let you die quickly.

If not, I can drag it out." I said. But she looked at me really defiantly.

Suddenly Daisy appeared next to me and she handed me a black leather pouch.

So I knelt down on the ground in front of her and I opened the pouch with silver bladed torture tools with rubber handles.

The rogue got really nervous seeing them and I grabbed a small tool and I started dragging it along her skin, causing it to burn and there was even smoke coming off of her skin. "Where is the Rogue King?" I asked.

"I'm not telling you shit." She said.

So I grabbed that tool and ripped out one of her fingernails.

She growled at me, but I just smiled at her and I asked her the same question. Again, I got silence. So I ripped out a second nail.

I had managed to rip out all five nails on one hand which meant she didn't have any claws on that hand any more.

"Why does the Rogue King want the triplets?" I asked. But again, she didn't say anything.

She looked at the triplets, pleading. But they just stood behind me with their arms crossed.

They weren't going to stop me and I was positive that this wasn't the first time they had seen anyone being tortured.

It's what we did. Werewolves had their own rules and if this is what we had to do to get information then this is what we did.

The Alpha's were in charge of how they dished out punishments on their own packs.

When she didn't answer me, I grabbed her head and forced her mouth open.

I grabbed a pair of pliers and I grabbed her canine tooth and I ripped it straight out of her head.

She screamed and growled at the same time.

Without a canines, she was going to be in trouble as a wolf.

We were like humans. Even if we lost teeth at any age, they still grew back. But she would be without that canine for several months before it came back.

3/4

+10 Bonu

CHAPTER 26

"She's not going to say anything." Alpha Grayson said, stepping forward. "Otherwise she already would have." He added.

So I stood up and agreed with him. She was strong willed.

"What are you going to do with her?" I asked.

"Lock her in the dungeon for now." He said.

"If you want to torture her again, let me know. I want to be there." I said. And he smirked and nodded at me.

A couple of warriors grabbed her up off the ground and took her to the packhouse where she would be thrown in the dungeon.

I started helping the warriors clean up the mess of the dead bodies around the place.

They were thrown outside of the pack territory and set on fire.

They didn't want those rogues to desecrate their land with their bodies. Which made me feel bad about what I did. But they were still able to retrieve the dead bodies and added them to the fire outside the territory. When I got back to the packhouse, I went to a dorm room that I had been given on the first floor of the house and I went to the communal bathroom where I had a shower and I got dressed.

I then went to the kitchen to get a coffee and I leant against the counter looking out the window into the dark night.

We'd been outside all day and cleaning up well into the night. That was the worst part about an attack. It's the fg clean up.

Fighter 27

CHAPTER 27

Koda came into the room and stopped for a moment when he saw me standing there. I looked back at him and he walked over to the fridge to get a drink.

"Dad told me that your house will be ready in a couple of days. It's just down the road. He didn't realize the last tenants left it in such a mess." Koda explained. "Well, they were exiled from the pack. Are you surprised they trashed the joint?" I asked.

"How did you know they were exiled?" He asked. And I looked back out the window.

"I know a lot of things that you wish I didn't." I said.

"Well, there's something that I don't know that I really want to know." He said.

"What's that?" I asked.

"Well, how the hell could you come to school and see us three everyday knowing that you were our mate and stay as far away from us as possible?" He asked. "Do you want me to tell you how hard it was? Is that what you want?" I asked.

"I don't understand you."

"No one does."

"Would

you fg stop that. Stop with those stupid little fg answers and just tell me the truth." He yelled.

"Do you want to know how hard it was? I've known that you were my mate since I first saw you. Over a year ago. I've kept tabs on you the whole time so I knew what I was getting myself into when I moved here. I saw everything. Every girl, every kiss, everything fg thing. And that's why I knew I couldn't come here as a werewolf. I had to take wolfsbane. Otherwise my wolf would have killed every one of those girls that touched you and your brothers. Is that what you want to hear? The wolfsbane kept me under control until I knew how much fg danger you were in." I yelled back at him.

"You hated us being with them?" Koda asked, his voice going a lot quieter now.

"Yeah. I hated it. I still hate to think about it. So I prefer to think about the people that want to kill you. Not the people that want to fk you." I said.

"Alright. If you're so jealous of our past girlfriends. How many boyfriends have you had?" He asked.

"None."

CHAPTER 27

+10 Bonus

"What?" He asked, shocked.

"None." I repeated.

"What about Jacob? I was sure you were going to say him."

"Jacob is like a brother to me. He trained me. We did get close, but not that close."

Koda didn't say anything after that and I looked towards the doorway of the kitchen and I saw Tyler and Dean both standing there looking at us.

"I'm not a we like you three. I never plan to be. Once the threat is over and you three are safe, I'm outta here. Because I can't keep fighting with dumbass little bitches at school because you decided that it was a good idea to give them a little when they wanted it and now you can't get rid of them." I said.

"You're leaving?" Dean asked.

"As soon as I know that you're safe. I'm getting the hell out of here and finally living my own fg life. Something that I've never had a chance to do." I said, grabbing my coffee and I walked out the backdoor and into the field with it.

I got a couple of hours of sleep that night but I got up at dawn and I got dressed into a black and purple sports top, matching tights, socks and sand shoes.

When I walked out the back Jacob was already waiting for me while wearing only a pair of shorts and showing off all his muscles.

I know that everyone always thinks that he's flirting with me, but that's just who he was. He was a tease and he knew it.

He was really good looking and he knew that as well. But he knew that I was off limits while I was mated with the triplets.

"Are you ready?" He asked.

"Let's go." I said.

So we took off from the packhouse and we started running towards the forest and disappeared in the trees.

We ran around the territory and when we got back to the packhouse we started training with each other. Hand to hand combat.

We saw another group of warriors coming out at some point that were also out for an early morning training session but we ignored them and Jacob and I kept training where we were. The funny thing was, they all stopped to watch us. Because we didn't train like them.

CHAPTER 27

We were a little more advanced and now they knew who I was and they saw me yesterday in that fight, I think they were more interested in me.

TO Rongs

The triplets walked out of the house and stood back watching Jacob and I training and I could sense how tense they were.

Jacob could sense it as well and he kept watching me, but I insisted that we kept going.

We trained for another two hours, which was normal for us and then we finally stopped and I grabbed my water bottle. "What are you going to do about those three?" Jacob asked, walking next to me.

"I told them that I'll save them from the impending threats and then I'm gone." I said. And he looked at me strangely.

"You're not going to take them as your mates?" He asked.

"How can I? They hate me." I said. And he looked back over at the guys and then back at me.

"I don't think they hate you." He said.

"What?" I asked.

"They hate that you're here with me. They're jealous." He said.

"Good. Now they know how I've felt for the last two years. Is it so hard for male wolves to wait for their mate? Why do they need to show how fg great they are by screwing anything that shows them attention?" I asked. "I knew I should have done the recon on them."

I looked at Jacob with a doubtful look. We knew that would never work. I needed to do it so I could get a lay of the land and I knew their schedule and everything like that.

That's why I came here earlier to do the recon, spy on them, before they knew who I was.

Before Evelyn was offered that job.

They got up to a lot more st that I could have realized.

I thought they would have been training to be Alpha's.

They were just sleeping around. And making sure that everyone knew that they were the future Alpha's. Using it to their advantage.

Not really the type of mates I thought I would have.

They are too full of themselves and I have to try and keep my distance from them.

No matter how hard it is for me without the wolfsbane.

3/4

CHAPTER 27

So I didn't say anything to them before I went back into the house.

had a shower and I got dressed. But when I walked back into my room, I heard someone screaming my name.

I walked towards the front of the house and I looked out the window to see Evelyn in the middle of the road screaming out to me.

She obviously knew that I was here but she didn't know which house I was in.

Fighter 28

CHAPTER 28

As I looked out the window I could tell that Evelyn was drunk. So I closed my eyes and shook my head.

I walked out of the house and she had already gotten a nice little group of people watching her, since she wasn't really being that quiet.

Once she saw me walking down the street towards her, she pathetically threw a beer bottle at me that landed nowhere near me.

"What the fk are you doing here Evelyn?" I asked.

"I see you've moved up in the world. You've moved up and now you think you're better than

"I've always been better than you. Why don't you go home and sleep it off."

"Screw you. How dare you treat me like this."

"Because you treated me like this. Even worse, actually. But I don't care about that anymore. You can tell Henry that I will no longer be a problem because I'm not coming home."

"Oh. So these people have decided to take you in, have they? They think that you are so great. What if they actually knew the truth about you?" She asked. "They know me better than you ever will. Now get the fk out of here." I said.

"You miserable fg bitch." She yelled, trying to slap me across the face. But I grabbed her wrist before she could hit me and I pulled her closer to me. Her eyes widened when she realized that she couldn't get out of my grip, no matter how much she tried.

"I told you Evelyn. Get the fk out of here. I don't want anything to do with you or Henry. You're not welcome here." I said.

Evelyn looked around at everyone standing around and no one was arguing with me about her not being welcome here.

She obviously didn't know that she was surrounded by werewolves and she didn't know what the hell she had stumbled into right now.

"You're going to regret this. Believe me." She said. And I let go of her wrist so she could turn around and stumble back down the road away from me.

I heard the Alpha tell a couple of warriors to make sure that she got home safe and I went back to the packhouse without saying anything to anyone and I went to my room and closed the door.

I grabbed a book out of my bag and I started reading through it before I added a little more to the end of it..

Dean came to my room so I said he could come in.

He closed the door behind him and he sat on the side of my bed while I was still writing in the notebook.

"That was interesting. Do you think she was serious when she said that you'd regret it?" Dean asked.

"Who the hell knows? She's a crazy bh and she's got contacts with some very unsavory people. But last I heard, none of them were talking to her. So I'm not concerned." "Good. We don't need her causing trouble around here. Humans could get hurt."

"Do you think I don't know that?" I snapped.

"Nova. I'm sorry, alright. I'm sorry about everything that you had seen a year ago when you were here. But we were underage. We didn't know who our mate was. And you were underage as well. How the hell did you know that we were mates?" He asked.

"I guess that's just another part of my curse. I knew the second I saw you three."

"You think it's a curse being born like this?"

"Yeah. It is a curse." I said.

"I'm sorry that you've been tasked with protecting us. I didn't know that you hated us so much.

I finally stopped writing in the book and I turned around to look at him.

"I don't hate you Dean. But my whole life has been plagued with abuse and neglect. And then I found out that I was a werewolf and again, I was told that I was a saviour. I was that I was the only person that could save you and your brothers and my training started straight away. was only 13. You guys have had a chance to live your life. I have never had that chance." I explained.

"Well, you can still have that chance when all of this is over."

"Dean. You really don't have any idea who is coming here. I have been tasked with making sure that you survive it. You three have to survive it because you're going to do great things as Alpha's. But me, I'm expendable."

CHAPTER 28

"Don't ever say that. I don't believe that anyone is expendable." He said.

"Dean. As soon as they started training me, that's the first thing they told me. As long as you survive, I might not. There's a good chance that I am not going to survive this fight. I've accepted that. It's my fate. And that's why it's best that we don't get too close." I explained.

Dean sat there speechless and I turned back to keep writing in the notebook that I was writing in when he had first walked in.

Dean didn't look like he had any intention of moving or leaving my room. But I didn't care. I was concentrating on what I was doing.

I just wish that he would accept the same fate that I have accepted. I know that this is a dangerous mission. It was something that was completely unprecedented.

The fight that's coming, it's something that this world has never seen before.

I knew that everyone was sure that it would all blow over. At least, everyone in this pack thought it would blow over.

No one knew how bad it was going to get around here and they needed to start making arrangements.

But that's something that Ava could talk to the Alpha about. That wasn't my concern.

I was just the warrior. The one to keep the triplets alive.

Fighter 29

CHAPTER 29

It hadn't taken too long for the Alpha to get the house ready for me and he made sure that it was fully furnished because he knew that I didn't have anything.

I had a bit of money but I knew that it was going to be needed soon. Especially if the guys are already starting to be attacked. But the Alpha was being really good about everything. He was really curious as to who my father was since my mother was human. And with my abilities, he knew that my father had to be someone special.

But I told him that I had no idea. With all the questions that he asked me, I finally had to tell him that I've never met my biological father. He was communicating with Ava, so she's the one that he needed to talk to if he wanted to find out who my dad is.

I knew that he was going to talk to Ava about it, but otherwise I was still in the dark about who my dad was.

Ava had to tell the Alpha because they aren't allowed to keep secrets from him, and if he demanded it then she would be physically incapable of lying to him or not telling him. But no one was telling me anything.

I walked out of my house at dusk one afternoon and I checked the perimeter of the packhouse before I walked into the forest and started checking around the area for anything that might be out of the ordinary.

If there was any trace of an animal that shouldn't be there, or if I could sense any sort of species that shouldn't be there.

I heard some twigs break behind me and I stopped where I was, but I didn't turn around.

"Do you realize how stupid it is to sneak up on me?" I asked.

"I was hoping you'd be able to tell that it was me." Koda said.

"Well, you're lucky that I was able to tell that it was you." I said, finally turning around to look at him. "What are you doing out here?" I asked.

"Well, I'm still the future Alpha. I can't stay locked up in the packhouse forever. It's weak." He said.

"Well, walking around the forest and not being able to sense witches or fairies is stupid." I said.

"I guess. But I can't let the pack see me being weak. Neither can my brothers." He said. And I 1/3

10 Bonu

CHAPTER 29

nodded my head.

"You don't want the pack seeing you being protected by a girl." I said.

"We've been training longer than you. It seems ridiculous that you are able to take care of us." He said.

"Well, that's where we can disagree. You have trained longer than me, but you can't do what I can." I said.

"I've noticed." He said.

We started walking through the forest together and he was quiet at first but I knew that he had something on his mind. But I was really just looking around the forest and doing my job. Having Koda next to me didn't make me feel uneasy. It just meant that I would have to fight harder if we were attacked.

"Dean told me what you said to him. About you probably not surviving the fight." He said.

"The odds aren't in my favor. But like I told him, you triplets are the ones that need to survive."

I said.

"Why? Why are we more important than you?"

"You'll have to ask the others that. I'm just following orders."

"You're our mate. Technically, right now. You're our pack's future Luna. You don't take orders from anyone." He said.

"I wish it was that easy." I said.

"How old were you when they started training you for this?"

"13." I said, still looking around the forest.

"That's a lot of responsibility." He said. But I just shrugged. It didn't bother me so much anymore.

"Well, it got me out of that house for longer every day so I didn't have to look at Evelyn and Henry." I said. And he nodded his head like he understood.

I knew that he understood. They'd been watching me in that house. They saw what my mother and stepfather were like. They knew that it was a hostile environment and I couldn't wait to get out of there. And this has given me the excuse to do it. Even if I'm not 18 yet.

"So, why did Evelyn show up here drunk screaming at you?" He asked.

"Because she lost. She wanted to kick me out. She was looking forward to the day when she got to kick me out. But I beat her to it. I left and never told her so she was pissed." I explained.

213

10 Bonus

CHAPTER 29

"Why does she hate you so much?" Koda asked.

"Because dad knocked her up and then disappeared. She loved him. But he proved that he was just using her. He never stuck around to see me and when he left it was too late for her to have an abortion." I explained.

"Why didn't she put you up for adoption?"

"Because she's a spiteful bh. She figured that I would be a good bargaining chip if dad ever showed up again."

Koda looked a little pissed at that remark. I don't think he was expecting me to say something so underhanded. But I don't know what he expected from Evelyn. She was a bh and they knew that. I was just a means to an end with her. She'd made that perfectly clear and she let everyone who would listen that I was a mistake.

That she was pissed that she ever had me.

Honestly, I'm surprised that I lived through my first couple of years when I was dependent on her to live.

She's always made it obvious that she hates me and the second I was old enough to start taking care of myself, she let me.

She hated that I was always eating their food though, so when I met Ava she realized that I was more mature than I should be for my age and she started giving me those checks earlier than expected. Only because she knew that I needed it. Evelyn had started restricting my food at that point and Ava knew that it was child abuse. So she would give me the money but she would spread it out over the month instead of giving it all to me in one go.

When I got back to my house I walked inside and I turned the living room light on and I started walking to the kitchen and I stopped next to a darkened hallway next to me.

"How the fk did you get into my house?" I asked.

"You and I need to talk." Izzy said, coming out from the dark and into the light.

Fighter 30

CHAPTER 30

I stood there looking at Izzy and she wasn't wearing her usual get up. Her hair wasn't perfectly done, she wasn't wearing skin tight clothing or high heels.

She was actually looking really crappy compared to what she usually looked like.

"How many times do I have to beat you before you realize that I'm not going anywhere?" I asked.

"I just want to know why? Tyler and I were happy before you got here." She said. And I scoffed. "Oh please. You were Tyler's fk buddy and we all know that." I said, walking to the kitchen. I turned the coffee machine on and I started getting something to eat as she followed me, not pleased that I was dismissing her.

"I am the next Luna of this pack." She demanded.

"Well, isn't that up to them?" I asked.

"No. It's fate. You're their mate. You're meant to be the next Luna. But you can reject them and everything can go back to normal." She said.

I turned around to look at Izzy and I could tell that she wasn't acting like herself. She was slurring her words and she really didn't look too good. But she didn't look drunk.

"Izzy. What the fk have you taken?" I asked. But she grabbed onto the bench and stopped herself from falling over.

"Give me back my title." She yelled.

Oh my goddess, this bh is more delusional than I thought.

"You never had a title in this pack. Now what the fk have you taken?" I asked, getting in her face and looking at her eyes.

They were all glassy and I was surprised that she could see anything at all. She was definitely high on something, but I didn't know what.

"You're gonna regret ever taking them away from me." She said, pushing me away.

She started walking through my house before she collapsed onto the ground and I walked over to her and checked her pulse.

She was still alive so I grabbed my phone and dialed a number.

"Hello." Tyler answered.

"You might want to get over to my house. And bring whatever pack doctor you have." I said before hanging up before he could ask any more questions.

I went to the kitchen and wet a cloth and took it back to the living room and I started wetting Izzy's face and trying to wake her up. But nothing was working.

It was only about a minute later when Tyler showed up with Koda and Dean.

They saw me sitting there and they actually looked relieved that I was sitting up. But then they saw Izzy, so I told them everything that had happened. And that I know she took something but I don't know what.

When the doctor arrived, he agreed that she had overdosed on something.

Ava and Jacob arrived soon after that and then Theo.

My house was surrounded by people and Jacob walked over to me and asked about what happened.

Jacob wanted a complete play by play and everyone was listening. I told him that it wasn't important but he insisted. So I told him everything she said about me stealing her title as Luna. And she's pissed about it.

The triplets heard that as well and Koda and Dean both looked at Tyler with pissed off looks on their faces.

I was surprised at how Jacob reacted considering Izzy was his sister.

"She's such a delusional bitch." Jacob said.

"Jacob. She's your sister." Theo said.

"Yeah. Who needs fg help. Either you commit her or I will. This st has gone too far. Ever since she met the triplets she's been talking about being Luna." Jacob said.

"Didn't they meet when they were babies?" I asked.

"No. We weren't in the pack back then. We were apart of the pack but we were in California. Izzy moved here with dad when she was 7. She met the triplets and insisted that she was going to be the next Luna. You all just played along, thinking it was funny and cute. And now look at what she's doing. She broke into Nova's house, she's overdosed because she knows that her lifelong dream isn't going to come true. She needs help." Jacob yelled.

"Are you more pissed off because she overdosed or that she broke into Nova's house?" Tyler asked, staring at Jacob. And he suddenly didn't know what to say as he was looking at the triplets. 215

So I turned to face him and I patted him on the chest a couple of times.

"Nice going. Good luck." I said, walking back towards the kitchen to finish making my dinner.

They got Izzy out of my house and they took her to the pack hospital and her parents and brother went with her. I think Jacob was desperate to get out of my house after that.

But the triplets stayed as I sat at the table and ate my dinner. Afterwards I made a coffee and I sat back at the table.

"You guys do realize that I'm meant to be protecting you, right?" I asked.

"Izzy's had it in for you since you got here." Koda said.

"And I've handled everything that she's thrown at me. She didn't do anything to me tonight. She did it to herself." I said.

"She does drugs all the time. So, this was a deliberate overdose." Tyler said.

"No it wasn't." I said.

"What are you talking about?" He asked. And I looked at them, exasperatedly.

"Have you forgotten that I can read people's thoughts? She did this on purpose. And she wasn't trying to kill herself. She was just trying to get your attention. And doing it in my house was definitely going to get your attention. She'll take up tomorrow and probably accuse me of giving her a hot shot." I explained.

They all looked at each other like it was suddenly making sense to them. They thought that it made perfect sense that she would do something like that.

She'd get rid of me and her family wouldn't want anything to do with me, or the triplets.

She thinks of me as a huge threat because I'm the triplets' mate, but I'm also close with her mother and brother who she hasn't had much of a relationship with because they had been separated for so long. But her brother trained me as a werewolf and her mother was the one that has been communicating between my father and me.

"Do you know who my father is?" I asked. Causing the three of them to all look at me.

"No. Why would we know?" Dean asked.

"Just curious. I'm sure your dad would have asked Ava by now. I thought he might have told you." I said.

"No one has said anything to us about your dad." Tyler said.

"Do you want us to find out?" Koda asked.

CHAPTER 30

I thought about it for a moment but then I shook my head.

"No. Don't bother. If he wanted me to know then he would have shown his face by now." I said.

"If you're alright, we should get back to the packhouse." Dean said.

"No. Stay here." I demanded, looking behind me towards the kitchen window.

"What is it?" Tyler asked.

"Not a werewolf. And not a friendly." I said.

"Fae?" Koda asked.

"No. They'd be gone already because they'd be able to read my mind. I'm guessing a witch." I said, keeping my head on the side so I wasn't looking straight out the window. And I made sure that we kept our voices down. "Do you know how to take care of it?" Koda asked.

"Stay here." I said.

So I got up and I walked towards the stairs and I went to my room which was at the front of the house.

I opened the side window and I climbed out into the tree that was outside and I jumped from tree to tree until I could see someone perched in a tree that was several meters away.

The woman that was in the tree was staring into the house, watching the triplets. But she started looking around as if she was trying to see where I was.

I raised my hand and shot an energy blast out of it and broke the branch that she was perched on and she fell to the ground.

As soon as she was down, I jumped down and I ran at superhuman speed to where she was and forced her back to the ground before she could get up.

I stood over her and held my hand over her chest without touching her, but I was forcing her to stay on the ground as the guys ran out.

"Do you know her?" Koda asked.

"Nope. But she's about to tell me." I said.

The witch looked at me and hissed, obviously very defiant and not wanting to tell me anything.
