Fighter 31

CHAPTER 31

Koda wanted to take the witch back to the dungeon and handle this properly but I just looked at him like he was an i***t. He didn't understand why I wasn't letting her go and letting them deal with it.

"She'll break out of your dungeon the second you turn your back. If she's as powerful as I think she is then she'll evaporate and go wherever the hell she wants." I explained.

"So, what do we do?" Dean asked.

"We get the answers out of her right now and kill her. Getting rid of the body so no one can find her." I said, looking down at the witch but she just hissed at me again.

"I need to let our father know." Koda said, walking away from us.

"Is he always so by the book?" I asked.

"Yeah. Pretty much. He's the oldest so he needs to be more responsible." Tyler said.

But I looked down at the witch again and I squeezed my hand even tighter and she started grunting as it was getting harder to breathe.

"If you know me at all witch, you know that I can torture you for hours before you finally beg for death. Is your boss really worth that?" I asked. And she looked at the guys frantically and then back at me.

She looked around the forest at the back of my house and the houses that were next to mine, but they were far enough away that no one knew what we were doing here.

"He's going to kill me." She grunted out.

"What the f**k do you think I'm going to do to you b***h?" I asked.

But she was still hesitant about telling me anything.

So I took a step back and I raised my hand, causing her to be lifted off the ground with a tight grip around her and I slammed her against the side of my house.

"You know who you're f*****g with. You must really want a death wish if you keep refusing to talk." I said.

"You're a traitor." She spat at me. And I scoffed.

"No, I'm not. I'm not evil, you are. I'm a werewolf, you're not." I said.

"You're a witch." She said.

CHAPTER 31

"Yeah. That's where the evil part came in." I spoke like she was an i***t.

She was looking around again like she was waiting for someone to come and help her. So I told the guys to keep a look out behind me while I dealt with this thing in front of me. "Who the hell hired you?" I asked.

"I told you. He will kill me." She said.

She was really starting to piss me off and she was deliberately thinking about other things that weren't her boss.

She was smart. She knew that I could read minds. So she made sure that I couldn't see who her boss was. She wasn't thinking about him. And it was taking a lot of effort to not think about him.

I raised my other hand to face her and her eyes went wide, knowing what was coming.

So I looked at her, giving her one last chance.

But she closed her mouth and looked at me with a determined look on her face.

So a long stream of red energy started coming out of my hand, hitting her right in the chest, causing her to scream.

Koda came back with his father at the same time as I was doing that.

Alpha Grayson stood there in shock for a moment, before he approached us and I lowered the hand that was burning the witch.

"I was told that you can't lock her in the dungeon." Grayson said.

"That's right. I need to get the information out of her now. But she's not talking. She's actually tougher than I thought." I admired.

"Well, what are you going to do once you get the information?"

"Not sure yet. Killing her is probably the best option. We don't want her to go back to the boss and tip him off that we possibly might know who he is." I said.

"She's young." Grayson said. And I stood there staring at the girl for a moment.

"She's 21." I said. And the witch hissed at me again.

"Stay out of my head bitch."

"Hey, you came to me. Don't forget that." I said.

So Grayson walked closer to her and started asking her a series of questions.

2/4

CHAPTER 31

If she refused to answer, I would do something that would cause pain but she still didn't talk.

She was really scared of their boss so I was starting to think that she wasn't going to talk. She'd prefer death over telling him that she betrayed him. Even if it was under torture.

We were out there for a couple of hours when we realized that she definitely wasn't going to say anything,

So I forced her back onto the ground and I looked at the triplets and their father.

Grayson nodded his head, so I held her in place and I pointed my other hand at her

I shot a line of intense fire straight into the middle of her chest, causing her to catch on fire and evaporate immediately,

Killing a witch is a lot different than a person. Once she caught on fire, her whole body lit up and then the fire simmered down and all that was left was ash.

It was actually pretty clean.

I walked back into my house after that and Grayson went back to his house. But the triplets followed me.

"You know, I got my own place so I could have some privacy." I said.

"Well, there was just a witch watching you through the window. Koda said.

"Actually, I think she was watching you." I said.

"I don't like leaving you here alone." Tyler said, but I just scoffed at him.

"Go home. I'll be fine. I'll see you tomorrow." I said.

So I walked upstairs to my bedroom and I grabbed some clothes out of the wardrobe and I made sure the curtains were closed completely.

I had a shower and I washed my hair and stood under the hot water for as long as possible.

When I got out of the shower, I walked into my room wearing a towel and I got dressed.

I then brushed my hair and made sure that it didn't have any knots in it before I put it in a ponytail and then I walked back downstairs.

I jumped when I saw Tyler sitting on the couch still, but the other two were gone.

I didn't say anything as I went to the kitchen and I cleaned up from dinner and I put the clean dishes away.

"If you're staying, there's a spare room upstairs." I said.

CHAPTER 31

"I know. I helped build the house." He said. And I turned to look at him strangely.

"You're the Alpha."

"I know. But we also do charity work. Dad says that it improves our image."

"Okay. I guess if that's what you have to do. You better not have put any secret passages into my house or anything."

"I promise." He said.

"I'm going to bed. You obviously know where the guest room is. So, goodnight." I said, turning around to walk back upstairs.

When I got to my room, I climbed into bed with a book and I heard Tyler coming upstairs.

I sat there listening for a moment because he stopped at the top of the stairs.

I knew that he was thinking about it, but he went towards the guest room instead of coming to mine.

So I turned the light off and I went to sleep.

Fighter 32

CHAPTER 32

I had a pretty restless night sleep that night and I had to get up several times to check the perimeter around the area like I had been doing ever since I arrived in town.

And when I woke up at 6am in the morning I went to the kitchen to get a coffee and I sat at the table looking into the living room and out the front window.

"Morning." Tyler said, walking downstairs.

"Morning." I said.

"How did you sleep?" He asked, walking over to the coffee pot.

"Just fine. The same as usual."

"Really? Why did you get up four times during the night?"

"I had to check the perimeter of the town."

"Do you do that every night?" He asked, sitting at the table.

"Yeah. I have to. You saw how easy it was for that witch to sneak up on us yesterday."

He sat there looking at me for a moment, obviously now knowing what to say but maybe now he was starting to understand how serious I was taking this job.

I guess they didn't like to think of them as my job since I'm their mate. But I think of them as my targets to protect. And they don't like it. "Well, what would have happened if you found something last night?" Tyler asked.

"I would have dealt with it." I said, staring out the window like it was no big deal. It really wasn't a big deal for me. I was trained for this. "What's the plan here? Everyone is coming after us so how are we going to fend them all off?" Tyler asked.

"That's what I'm here for."

"But you can't fight them all off at the same time. Not if they have all joined forces." He said.

"Tyler. Would you just relax? I know what I'm doing. We know what we're doing. All of us that have come here to protect you." I insisted.

Koda and Dean got back to the house just after that and also poured themselves a coffee and sat at the table where Tyler and I were sitting. 1/5

CHAPTER 32

"What did dad find out about the witch?" Tyler asked.

"Nothing. There's no information floating around about witches anywhere." Dean said.

"Well, she wouldn't say anything except that she's terrified of that boss." Koda said.

"But we don't know who the boss is." Tyler said.

*10 Bonu

"He commands all the witches. He's a warlock and he doesn't mess around. She wasn't strong which meant she was just here to observe. Not to fight. He isn't ready to attack yet. He's still gathering information." I said. "Do you know who he is?" Koda asked.

"No."

"Well, how can we find out?" Dean asked.

"Scarlet is already trying to find out. She's been trying to find out for months. But no one talks about him. He has them terrified. They would rather die than be left at the mercy of him." I explained. "And we don't know where to look for him." Tyler said.

"If you're thinking about taking the fight to him then you can forget it. You're never going to find him." I said.

"How are we meant to win this fight?" Dean asked.

I looked at all three of them and the looks on their faces. They were expecting me to come up with something brilliant, but there was no brilliant plan. Right now, we just needed to keep these people away from the triplets. At all costs.

And the triplets obviously thought that there was some massive plan already in place but there was nothing like that. Us being here is what was going to protect them.

We had a few tricks up our sleeves but that was it. Right now, we just have ways of holding them off. Killing the little attacks that they throw at us.

We didn't have anything if these species all gathered together to fight as one and destroy this pack.

I just got up and put my cup in the sink before I walked upstairs.

I got changed into a black and red sports top, matching tights, socks and sand shoes.

I walked back downstairs and down to the basement where I had set up all my exercise equipment in one room and the other room was the soundproof firing range.

CHAPTER 32

As soon as I walked down to the gym I heard the guys following me and once they got downstairs, they couldn't believe at how I had set up the whole basement. They helped build the house but they never imagined that the basement could be used like this.

I turned on the air vents to get the air circulating from outside and I started with a bit of cardio and then I did some weight training.

After that I went into the firing range but I put a wooden cutout of a person down the end of the room and I stood up the other end of the room with the throwing knives.

The guys were standing behind me and I had six knives in my hand and I threw them fast and efficiently in only a matter of seconds. Hitting the target in the head with every knife.

I had guns on the wall as well, but I preferred the knives. I did use guns if I had to, but I used the knives mostly. I always carried a knife around with me. They were easier to hide. "How often do you train like this?" Koda asked.

"Every day."

"Really? Even when you were living with your mother?" Tyler asked.

"I had to find somewhere else to train when I was living in her house. But now I'm in my own house and I don't have to hide it." I explained.

We all stayed in the basement for a couple of hours before we went upstairs and we got a call from the Alpha.

I didn't even have a chance to get changed before we left my house and walked up the road to theirs.

We went into the living room and Ava was there with Theo, Jacob and Izzy.

"We have been trying to find out more about the witches. They seem to be the ones that are making the most moves towards us. But there is nothing. We can't find anything on any witches." Grayson said.

"Did you expect them to advertise whenever they come to town to try and kill your sons?" I asked.

"Nova. Respect." Ava said.

"Why? He's not my Alpha. I don't have an Alpha." I said.

"How the hell are we meant to stop them if we don't know where they are or how many there are?" Grayson asked.

CHAPTER 32

"Nova." Ava said.

"What do you mean?" Tyler asked, confused.

+10 Bonus

"She knows when they're near. And if there's more than one. She can sense them. That's why we had to hurry up and get her here." Ava explained.

The triplets all looked at me and I couldn't believe that they were surprised by that after what they saw last night. But I guess there's still a lot that they don't understand about me. "Do you know if there's any near us now?" Grayson asked.

"No. Not at the moment. But I still have to do another perimeter check."

"My patrols are out there. Ava said that you were doing checks all night last night." Grayson said.

"It's part of the job." I said.

"We're not your job." Dean snapped at me.

"Well, she obviously doesn't respect the mate bond." Izzy said.

"Just because I like your mother and brother, doesn't mean I am going to go easy on you. I beat you once, I'll do it again." I said, staring at Izzy. So she sat back on the couch with her arms crossed.

She got even worse when she realized that no one was going to come to her defense.

"How do I keep my boys safe?" Grayson asked.

"Nova. Tell them." Ava said. But I looked at her for a moment before I looked around the room.

"There are a few ways that we can keep them safe. From keeping them in the packhouse until the threat is gone to removing them from here entirely." I said.

"Where are we going to go? They're going to be looking all over the country for us." Dean said.

"I'm not talking about the country." I said.

"Nova is able to open portals to different realms." Ava said.

"You want to take them to a different realm?" Grayson asked.

"That will be the last option but if it needs to be done, I'm prepared to do that." I said.

And the triplets looked at each other like they were worried that it might come to that. But I said that it was only a last option. When nothing else worked. Or if someone got too close to them and we needed to get them out of here in a hurry. A15

CHAPTER 32

They didn't seem too pleased with it, but I didn't care. I was going to do what needed to be done in order to keep them safe.

CHAPTER 33

When I got back to my house I had a shower and I got dressed into some clean clothes instead of the sweaty gear that I had been working out in and when I went back downstairs Dean was in the living room waiting for me. "Don't you guys have a life?" I asked.

"We did. Before we realized we had a mate." He said.

"I'm not your responsibility. I told you, keep your distance." I said going to the kitchen.

"You know that we can't. Not until the bond is severed."

"Wow. Won't Izzy be happy when that happens." I said, sarcastically.

"Are you really going to reject us?"

"I never said that I was going to do that. But I never said that I wasn't. I don't know what the hell to do. I don't feel the mate bond like you. I'm not even 18 yet and because of what I am, I don't know if I am ever going to feel the bond like you do." I said.

"Well, at least you're honest. But I don't care about that. We feel the bond and as far as we do, we're not going anywhere."

"Do what you want. I'm going for a hike." I said, walking towards the back door. But he was on his feet and following me out the back door before I could barely even finish the sentence.

I closed the door behind us and I started hiking the trail that led from my back door and I started weaving through several different trails as I was checking things out to make sure that everything was alright and there were no threats hanging around.

The wolves that were on patrol would stop and look at us, but they would get on their way pretty quickly.

"So, your friends with all species?" Dean asked.

"I do have friends of all species."

"That's pretty cool. I guess. Except for vampires. You know that we are common enemies."

"I know that. They're not my enemy. I'm part vampire."

"How the hell does that happen? How did you happen?" He asked.

"Wow! That's not offensive at all." I said.

"I'm not trying to be rude. I've heard of hybrids. But I've never heard of anyone like you." He said.

"Well, I guess I am the exception."

"Do you know how it happened?"

"Genetics. I believe my father sought my mother out because of her heritage. Hoping that the experiment would be successful. And it was." I said, not looking at him as he stopped walking and stared at me.

"Wait a minute." He said, grabbing my arm and stopping me from walking. But I still wouldn't look at him. "You're an experiment?" He asked.

"Yeah. But I'm not supposed to know."

"How did you find out?"

"I snuck into Ava's office one night. I looked at my file. It said that the experiment was successful and my father was pleased with the results." I said, looking off in the distance. So Dean forced me to look at him and he stared me straight in the eye. "I'm sorry. I had no idea."

"How could you? No one is meant to know."

"That's why you're so detached. Isn't it? Why you won't get too close to us. You keep saying that you've got a job to do."

"I was bred to be a soldier. And I know that since I've proven to be successful, they're gonna keep trying to make more like me. Whatever Ava says, don't trust her. She's not who she says she is." I said.

He looked really surprised at my admission there. He thought that I loved Ava, but it's all an act.

Ever since I found out who Ava was and what she was really doing with my father, I've been waiting for her to stab me in the back. I'm waiting for it and I expect it.

So it's not going to happen to me.

"I'm sorry." Dean said, backing away from me.

"For what?" I asked. And I focused on what he was thinking.

"I was mind linking my brothers. They just heard everything you said." He thought to himself.

"You asshole. Are they going to keep their f*****g mouths shut?" I asked.

"Yeah. They won't tell anyone. They're still listening. They're pissed." He said.

CHAPTER 33

"I know. I can hear them. In your head." I said.

We hiked the perimeter and then went back to my house and when we got there Tyler and Koda were waiting for us.

"I really don't want to talk about this." I said getting a bottle out of the fridge.

"We can have Ava kicked out of the pack." Koda said.

"Why? She's the Beta's mate. I hate her daughter but I'm friends with Jacob. And from what I can tell, he doesn't know anything about this. He's too much of a friend for me to lose." I said.

None of them liked hearing me talk about another unmated male like that, but they better get used to it. I've never really been one to make friends with a lot of girls. I'm more likely to make friends with guys than girls. I've always been like that.

"Alright. What do you want us to do?" Tyler asked.

"Nothing. Pretend like you never heard it. I don't want Ava to know that I know."

"What's your plans for Ava?" Dean asked.

"I haven't gotten that far yet." I said, sitting at the table.

I knew that they didn't want her to get away with what she was doing to their mate, but there was nothing that they could do about it right now. They just had to suck it up and live with it. That's all there was to it. I needed to make sure that they were going to keep their mouths shut.

They stayed at my house for most of the day until they finally had to go and tend to some Alpha duties while I stayed back at the house.

I was sitting in my bedroom writing in a notebook when I heard someone walking up the stairs.

"I'm in here Jacob." I sang out.

So he came to my bedroom and opened the door.

"This is a pretty nice house." Jacob said.

"Yeah. I guess." I said, turning around to look at him.

"Are you alright?" He asked, sitting on the edge of my bed.

"I'm fine. What are you doing here anyway? I thought your father was teaching you how to be a Beta." I said.

"He has been. But I don't think I'm going to be Beta."

"Why not?"

"The triplets hate me. Because I'm friends with you."

"No. I think they hate you because they suspect that something has happened between us two."

"So you haven't told them?" He asked, surprised.

"Did you think I was going to tell the triplets that we used to hook up? Do you want them three coming after you because I'm pretty sure they will kill you." I said.

"Well, secrets don't stay secret forever."

"Have you told anyone here about us?" I asked. He looked at me really hesitant before he nodded his head.

"Who?" I demanded.

"Izzy."

"Are you f*****g crazy. She's the last person you should tell. She's gonna run straight to the triplets and tell them." I yelled.

"I had to tell someone."

"Jacob. I'm their mate. They aren't going to do anything to me. But they will f*****g kill you. And she isn't going to realize that before she tells them. Not if she thinks it's going to get rid of me you f*****g idiot." I yelled.

"I'm screwed." He said.

"Let's go." I said, standing up.

"Where?"

"To find your damn sister."

Fighter 34

CHAPTER 34

Jacob and I left my house and we walked all through the werewolf community looking for Izzy but we couldn't find her anywhere. So we needed to head towards the human town.

When we got there we started looking around the school and then around the town looking for her before we finally found her in the diner with her friends.

When we walked inside Izzy glared at me when she saw me with her brother but we walked straight over to the booth and all of her friends stopped talking when they saw us. "What the hell do you want, w***e?" Izzy asked.

"I just wanted to explain something to you. A little home truth if you will." I said.

"And what might that be?" She asked.

"I wouldn't go and tell the triplets what Jacob told you. You might want to keep it to yourself." I said.

"You don't have to talk in code. All of my friends here already know that you were sleeping with my brother." She said.

"Alright then. I won't talk in code. I'm the triplets mate. They aren't gonna hurt me. They aren't gonna do anything to me. They aren't even going to reject me. They already told me that. They're in too deep already. But if they find out about your brother, they will kill him. Now, I know that you don't want that to happen so you might want to contain this little bit of information. Otherwise you're never gonna see your brother again. Is that what you want?" I asked.

She looked at me and then at Jacob and he practically had a pleading look on his face.

But then she looked really sorrowfully at Jacob. And I stood up straight staring at her.

"Oh s**t. She's already told them." I said.

"What!?" Jacob yelled.

"You need to get the hell out of town." I said.

"When did you tell them?" Jacob asked.

"I saw them about an hour ago. They were doing something for the pack. I don't know. But you only told me last night about you two and I just assumed that they would reject her because she's a slut." Izzy said. "She's not a f*****g slut. You are. And a f*****g idiot." Jacob yelled, storming out of the diner.

CHAPTER 34

"Wow. I really can't wait to see how you're going to get yourself out of this one." I said, walking away.

I followed Jacob down the street and he was walking at a pace that was more than a human could walk at and he was pissed. And scared. And nervous.

I could hear all of his thoughts and I started getting a headache as I was listening to everything.

Jacob was really screwed here and his sister is the one that did it to him.

"Do you know where they are?" Jacob asked.

"No. They're helping their dad with some Alpha duties. I don't know how long that's going to take." I said.

"Can you buy me some time?" He asked.

"You're leaving?"

"I have to. They are going to kill me."

"I know. Alright. I'll try and buy you some time. But we have to hurry." I said.

So once we reached the forest we started sprinting back to the pack and Jacob went back to the Beta house and I went to the packhouse.

I went inside and saw that no one was there. So I sat in the living room, waiting for them to come back.

I was sitting there for about two hours before Grayson got back to the house with the triplets.

They all stopped to look at me but Grayson was oblivious to everything. He just greeted me before he went to his office and I stood up to face the guys.

"Wait here. There's something we need to take care of next door." Koda said.

"Jacob's already gone." I said. And he stopped reaching for the door.

"He knew that we were coming?" Dean asked.

"Izzy admitted that she told you. And Jacob knew that you were gonna kill him. No one would stop you because he was messing around with the Alpha's mate. Listen, whatever happened between me and Jacob was before I had ever seen you. I came here that first time and I knew that we were mates. I could sense it. Not like you can, but I knew that we were. When I went back to California I told him that it couldn't happen again. It was too dangerous for him. I never told him why. He didn't know until he got here." I explained.

CHAPTER 34

"How many others have there been?" Koda asked.

"What?" I asked, confused.

"How many other guys have you f****d?" Koda yelled.

"I don't know. How many girls have you f****d?" I yelled back.

Tyler grabbed Koda's arm and pulled him back as he was starting to advance on me.

They knew that I was right. There's no way these guys were virgin's and I am positive that they've slept with more people than I have.

"Alright. We've all got history before we met each other. Do you want Nova to go and kill all the girls that you've slept with?" Tyler asked.

"Would there be any girls left in the pack if I did?" I asked.

"Probably not between the three of us." Dean said softly.

"This is why I told you not to get too close. You are getting too f*****g involved with me. It can't happen. I am here to protect you. To keep you alive. You know that I'm not meant to survive. Everyone is waiting for the war so I can protect you three and die doing it. No one wants me as your Luna. So, why don't we just give it up now. If you don't reject me now then the second I turn 18, I'll reject you. It's the only way that any of this is ever going to f*****g work." I yelled.

I pushed past the three of them and stormed out the front door, slamming it behind me.

I went back to my house and I slammed the front door of my house as well.

I started pacing around the living room and kitchen trying to calm down. Trying to keep my s**t together. But it wasn't easy.

Right now I felt like I was going to break something.

I was so frustrated. I hated everything about my life right now. The way that I was conceived, the way I was raised, the way I am being used now.

I would love nothing more than to fall in love and actually have a normal life with my mates. But it's not possible.

I went down to the gym downstairs and I started laying into the punching bag until I broke it. So I grabbed another punching bag and hung it up.

I heard someone walking down the stairs and I turned around to see that it was Koda.

"Has anyone told you that you will die in the war?" He asked.

"They don't have to. Remember." I said.

"Right. Because you can hear what they're thinking." He said.

"They all know that I'm not going to survive. Jacob is the only one that would argue with his mother about it. He would think about those arguments. Forgetting that I could hear him. He was defending me. Promising to make sure that I didn't die." I said. And Koda looked down. Finally understanding the sort of relationship that Jacob and I had and how much I needed him around. He was the only one that believed in me.

"I'm sorry. I guess we should have just trusted you." He said.

"Yeah. You should have. But I understand why you don't." I said.

He started walking closer to me.

"Do you really want us to just reject you because everyone else thinks that you're going to die?

He asked.

"Isn't that how it works? I get rejected and left to fend for myself?" I asked.

"Have you ever considered that maybe you're not here to protect us? But we're meant to protect each other?" He asked.

Actually, that thought had never crossed my mind. No one had ever mentioned anything like that to me before. Why would they? I mean, I've been trained to believe that the triplets are to stay out of harm's way and I am the one to protect them.

Koda walked even closer to me until he was right in front of me and I could feel his breath fan across my face.

I looked up at him and he had a strange look on his face as well. He was looking at me like he was starting to understand me.

He reached up and cupped my cheek with one of his hands and used his other hand to move my hair out of my face.

I could hear Koda's heart beating just as hard as mine was and he suddenly leaned down and kissed me.

I didn't pull away. I wrapped my arms around him and deepened the kiss. Feeling like my whole body was on fire and Koda wrapped his arms around my waist. Every spark filling me with more and more lust the longer he touched me.

Fighter 35

CHAPTER 35

Neither of us two wanting to or able to let go of each other, Koda wrapped his hands around my thighs and lifted me off the ground.

I wrapped my legs around his waist and he carried me over to the bench that I used when I was lifting weights.

He laid me on my back and stood up, staring down at me as he slowly took his shirt off and he leaned over me with one leg on the bench and the other one on the floor beside me.

I wrapped my legs around him again, trying to get him as close to me as possible and he leaned right down to kiss me again. Resting his hands on the bench above my head.

He slowly lifts up and pulls away from my mouth so he can grab the bottom of my shirt and he pulls it over my head and he lifts me up to sit up so he could undo my bra.

He released my breasts and he growled as he looked down at me and my exposed boobs that are right in front of him and he cups my face with both of his hands and pulls me back into a deep and passionate kiss.

He laid me back down on the bench and he undid my pants and pulled them off of me along with my panties and he tossed them to the side.

I leaned up and grabbed the hem of his shorts and I pulled them down, releasing his massive erection.

I wasn't a virgin and I wasn't naive when it came to s*x but looking at Koda had my heart going pretty fast for a moment.

He was a lot larger than I had expected but he pushed me back down so I was laying on my back and he started kissing and teasing my n****e while cupping the other breast and kneading it before he changed sides and started kissing that n****e while he was kneading the other breast.

I moaned at the feeling he was bringing to my sensitive n*****s and I felt my arousal start to spill from my p***y and the aroma of it was filling the room.

Koda growled again as he smelt it as well and he kissed up my chest and my neck, back to my mouth.

His tongue danced in my mouth with my own and I felt his erection pressing between my thighs, making me ache for him. Needing him inside of me.

He started rubbing his massive c**k along the slit of my p***y, making me moan into his mouth.

I was writhing under him, wanting him to finally give me what I wanted. But he seemed happy to tease me for a little while before he gave me what I wanted.

He pushed the tip of his c**k inside of me and then pulled it out again.

I wrapped my legs around his waist and he pushed the tip in again before pulling it out again.

"Oh f**k. Stop teasing me." I moaned. Causing him to chuckle at me.

He grabbed both of my wrists and pinned them above my head and he stared down into my eyes as he pushed his entire c**k inside of me in one quick thrust.

I squirmed slightly at the intrusion and he kept it still for a moment while I got used to the size of him and how full I felt with him inside of me.

He never took his eyes off of my face, watching my every expression as I waited for him to keep going.

He started thrusting in and out of me really slowly, but I started moving my hips against his and he moaned as he leaned down to kiss me again.

I moved my legs further up his waist so he could get inside of me deeper and he pulled his face away from mine.

"Oh f**k, yeah." He moaned.

He let go of my hands and I wrapped them around his back while he grabbed onto the bench to keep his balance and he started pushing further inside of me and quickened his pace. His c**k hitting that sweet spot that so few men could find.

Every touch of his hand on my skin felt like electricity that I couldn't get enough of.

I arched my back on the bench and Koda started moving faster inside of me as I was moving my hips in sync with him.

"Oh f**k. You are incredible." Koda moaned before leaning down to kiss me again.

I moved my hands to his face and I pulled him down to keep his face near mine. I kept kissing him. Impatiently. Like I couldn't get enough of it.

In truth, I really couldn't.

I pulled my legs off from around Koda's waist and I pushed him off of me.

When I got up I pushed him onto the mat on the floor so he was on his back and I climbed over him so I was straddling him.

I saw the slick smile on his face as soon as I started to take control and I reached around to grab his c**k in my hand.

I pumped it a couple of times, making Koda moan uncontrollably, before I put it back inside of

He reached up to grab my breasts while I placed my hands on his thighs behind me to give me a bit of balance as I took over.

I started moving forward and backward, sliding along his d**k, making him growl and moan almost at the same time.

A sound that made me even wetter and more excited for him.

He grabbed my waist and started moving me up and down and as I got into the rhythm of it, he let go of my waist and I put my hands on his chest and I started riding him like a professional cowgirl. I felt goosebumps coming up on my skin, which was the first sign that I was getting close.

I kept riding Koda as he laid back enjoying every second of it. His hands roaming my whole body, wherever he could touch me.

I started feeling the butterflies in my stomach and before I knew it, I cried out as my orgasm took over and erupted through my whole body. The most intense orgasm I have ever had in my life.

Koda started thrusting his hips upwards as I rode out the last spasms of my orgasm and he was really quick to climax himself once I had.

I collapsed on his chest before I rolled off of him and I laid next to him on the mat on the floor.

"I bet you weren't expecting that when you followed me home." I said. And he started laughing.

"I definitely did not." He said, breathlessly. "But I am going to start following you home more often."

I started laughing as I laid there staring up at the ceiling and he rolled onto his side to look at

"I never thought you would ever come near any of us like that." He said, playing with my hair.

"Well, I wasn't planning on it." I admitted.

"I meant what I said before. We're not going to reject you. And you're not in charge of protecting us. We're going to protect each other."

I didn't know what to say to that. I was conditioned to believe something completely different for years while I was training. But he's saying that I wasn't alone anymore. When everyone has always told me that I was meant to do everything on my own. He leaned over and kissed me again, and I didn't push him away.

"My brothers are going to f*****g hate me." Koda said. And I started laughing.

"f**k. Now I'm gonna have to throw them a bone." I said and he started laughing. "That's a good way of looking at it. Wait...oh f**k..." Koda said, sitting up suddenly. "What?" I asked, confused.

"I didn't use protection. Alpha's are known for getting she-wolves pregnant if they don't use protection. Oh f**k..." He said, hitting his head into his hands.

CHAPTER 36

As Koda sat there starting to freak out I laid back and watched him and waited for him to stop.

He was rambling about a lot of crap but I just waited for him to finish.

"Why aren't you freaking out?" He asked, turning to look at me.

"Because you obviously think I'm an idiot." I said.

"What?" He asked, confused.

"I'm on birth control." I said.

"What sort of birth control?" He asked.

"I got it from a clinic in California that caters to werewolves. But it's not part of your pack so Ava doesn't know about it. I got a needle that lasts for a year plus the implant that goes in my arm that lasts for six months. They're a lot stronger than the birth control that humans get."

"You're on two types of birth control?"

"Well, I wasn't going to take any chances. I got them after I knew that I was mated to triplets. I knew that this could go anyway. And I wasn't going to risk Ava's experiment to go any further." I explained.

He looked at me really confused before he finally realized what I meant.

"You don't want kids because they will inherit your powers."

"I'm not saying that I never want kids. But I've gotta keep you three alive first. I wasn't going to risk getting pregnant now." I explained.

He laid down next to me, letting out a huge sigh of relief.

It was true that I did want kids, but I was created as part of an experiment and I wasn't going to let anyone come near any child of mine and probe them and test them and treat them like a lab rat.

I didn't plan on ever having children while Ava was around or if my father ever shows his face.

He wasn't getting his hands on my kids either.

After Koda and I finally relaxed I grabbed my clothes and I headed upstairs and then up to the second floor of the house.

I walked into my bedroom and I threw my clothes in the dirty hamper and I went to my bathroom to have a shower.

I wasn't in it for long before I heard the shower door open behind me and Koda got in.

He took the soap off of me and finished washing me.

"I know that you could probably hear everything I was thinking, but I need to say it out loud. That was the best I have ever had in my life." He said, leaning down and kissing my shoulder from behind.

"I couldn't hear what you were thinking."

"Really?"

"Yeah. There's a little secret about me being able to read people's minds. I can turn it on and off whenever I want. When I don't want to hear what people are thinking then I turn it off. I only listen when I think someone is lying to me." I explained.

He turned me around to face him and he looked me straight in the eye.

"You dirty little liar." He said. And I smirked at him.

"At least it kept you on your toes." I said.

"Yeah. I'm not gonna tell my brothers that. I want to see how they handle it." He said. And I chuckled.

"They're in my living room."

"You can hear them?"

"Yeah. My hearing is a little better than yours."

We finished our shower and Koda had to put on his clothes that he wore over to my house but I put on clean fresh clothes.

We went downstairs and both Tyler and Dean stared at us as we walked downstairs.

I wasn't listening to what they were thinking because they looked at both of us with wet hair and it was obvious that we were just in the shower.

I ignored them and went to the kitchen to get a coffee.

I got them a coffee as well and I sat at the table while no one was saying anything.

"Is there a reason you broke into my house?"

"The door wasn't locked." Dean said.

"That's not an excuse. You still broke in."

CHAPTER 36

"What have you two been up to?" Tyler asked. And I looked over at Koda who had a guilty looking smile on his face.

Tyler and Dean looked at each other, confused and that's when I started listening to what they were thinking.

They were thinking of a lot of scenarios but absolutely none of them were right. I think they didn't want to know what we had really been up to.

"Oh, for f**k's sake. Are you two really that dumb?" I asked, causing them both to snap their heads over and look at me.

"Well, it's not what we expected." Dean said.

"Me either." Koda said, grabbing his coffee and sitting at the table.

"What's going on? Why are you here?" I asked.

"Because of that fight that we had earlier. But it looks like Koda has already made up for it." Tyler said with a hint of jealousy in his voice.

Tyler gave me an 'I told you so' look but I just rolled my eyes.

"I already told her that she's not here to protect us. I don't care what training she's had. We're going to protect each other. And we're not going to let her die in this f*****g war." Koda said.

I could see that the other two felt the exact same way. They weren't going to let me die and we were going to protect each other.

We were sitting there talking about it for a while when I suddenly stood up and I went to the front door.

I opened it and I could hear girls cheering in the distance.

"That's the cheerleading squad from school." Dean said.

But I walked outside without saying anything and they followed me.

I walked towards the voices and I came to a clearing on the other side of the pack where the cheerleaders were practicing and I stood off to the side watching them.

They all noticed when the triplets came and stood next to me. They looked thrilled that the Alpha's were watching their practice. But I was looking at one in particular. "Who's that?" I asked.

"Which one?" Tyler asked.

"The red head off to the left." I said. So they all turned back to look.

CHAPTER 36

"That's Olivia. She goes to school with us." Koda said.

"She's a fae." I said.

"What?" Tyler asked, shocked.

"Why haven't I seen her before?"

"I don't know. I don't really pay much attention to her." Dean said.

"None of you have gotten close to her? I thought you were all a bunch of male whores."

"Well, Koda is." Tyler said. And Koda hit him over the back of the head.

"No. She's never shown any interest in us so we've stayed clear." Koda said.

"She's a f*****g fae." I said.

"A good one, or a bad one?" Tyler asked.

That was a brilliant question. She'd never made herself known to me, but only Daisy had ever made herself known to me because she was the one training me with my powers.

I didn't know any other faeries. And I don't know if she was here for good or evil. If she was sent here to watch the triplets or if she was here to help them. Maybe Daisy sent them.

But I wasn't going to take any chances.

So I grabbed my phone out of my back pocket and I zoomed in on Olivia and I took a photo of her.

I sent it to Daisy immediately to see if she recognised her and I knew that she would get back to me as soon as she could.

I had to stop the triplets from acting on their protective instincts and I got them out of that clearing. Just in case she was a friend, not an enemy. But we'd know soon enough. And then we had to be careful how we approached her. How we handled her. Because that b***h got past me and I didn't even know that she was here. I don't know how long she'd been here.

I just felt her presence and that's when I followed it to the training.

She was up to something. But we couldn't act until we knew what it was.

Fighter 37

CHAPTER 37

As it was getting darker that night, I had done another sweep of the perimeter but the triplets came with me this time.

I told them what to look for. The stuff that I looked for that didn't belong to wolves. Stuff that would indicate that a different species was hanging around.

They actually seemed to like learning about all of this stuff that I was teaching them. They remind me of what I was like when I first shifted and Ava told me that I was a whole bunch of species.

I had to learn to control my powers. They just had to learn about those species and make sure that they knew what they were dealing with.

When we got back to my place it was after dark and as soon as I walked inside and turned the light on, Koda grabbed me around the waist and all three of them jumped in front of me as they saw a man standing in the middle of my living room.

"Would you relax? He's not going to hurt me." I said, pushing forward between them.

"I see you lot are growing closer." Logan said.

"What are you doing here?" I asked, sitting at the table and taking my shoes off.

"I was worried about you. I haven't seen you for a while."

"Really? Are you worried because I've chosen to live in a werewolf pack and not with vampires? Or are you worried because it's harder for you to spy on me now?" "You know that I have always cared about you. You just said it yourself, I would never hurt you."

"He said.

"Then stop skulking around like this. Let me know that you're coming to my house instead of just breaking in. How the f**k did you get in anyway?" I asked. "Well, I had a little help." He said.

"Tell Scarlett that I am going to kick her ass when I see her next. Just because she's a witch doesn't give her the right to give vampires permission to enter my f*****g house." I snapped.

"Don't be mad at her. I had to make sure that you were alright."

"Logan. I'm fine. But that's not why you're really here. So spill it or I'll find out my way." I threatened him.

"I heard that some vampires are on the move. Headed this way. They're cutting through

CHAPTER 37

Canada. It's not clear what their intention is but they are leaving a lot of bodies behind them." He said. "Are you sure that they're vampires and not animal attacks?"

"You know that we can make them look like animal attacks. They're not even trying to hide it."

"That doesn't make any sense. Why would they want us to know that they're coming?" I asked, confused.

"That's what I'm gonna find out. I need to make sure that you don't do anything stupid while I'm gone."

"Logan. I've been taking care of myself just fine without you in my life. I don't need you walking back in and telling me what to do. If they get too close to this pack then we will attack. We will defend." I insisted. "Alright. Well, I'm heading towards them now and I'll see what I can find out. Be careful." He said looking at the triplets before he walked out the front door.

"Does this mean that it's started?" Dean asked.

"No. I don't think this means anything. Yeah, they are headed this way. But mature vampires know better than to leave bodies laying around like that." I said, standing up.

I was thinking about it and everything that Logan said. I was trying to think of vampire behavior and that is completely out of the ordinary.

"But new vampires aren't disciplined." I said.

"What are you talking about?" Koda asked.

"New vampires don't know to stay under the radar. They are driven by their blood lust. They don't know how to cover their tracks, they don't know how to control themselves. It takes years for them to develop that sort of discipline."

"What are you trying to say?" Tyler asked.

"I think someone has created all of these vampires and now they can't control them. They've sent them this way, probably telling them that they will be rewarded if they kill you. And whoever created them is just letting them go." I said. "How is this going to be contained?" Dean asked.

"The Vampire council will step in if it gets too bad. They do not want their existence known to humans. I'll be surprised if they even make it this far." I said.

I walked over to the bookshelf that was built into the wall in the living room and I started looking at the numerous books that I've already collected.

2/4

CHAPTER 37

I grabbed the one that I was looking for and I took it to the table.

It said 'THE VAMPIRE COUNCIL' on the front of it.

"This is the history of the council. They've been documenting everything ever since they were created." I explained.

"And they publish books?" Tyler asked, skeptically.

"Of course not. I stole it." I said casually, opening the book and starting to look through it.

I opened it to just past half way where I found where the current council members are listed.

They've lost some council members along the way. Either through battle or that member did something wrong that was punishable by death. They are pretty strict about their rules. And no one is exempt from those rules. Not even the council members.

"That's Alexander. He's the longest serving member of the council. He's personally executed four council members over the years because they broke the rules of the vampire society." I explained, pointing out a picture of him. Which was really more of a painting because it was done so long ago. Before camera's even existed.

"And what happens if he gets involved?" Koda asked.

"He'll order all of them to die. But that's not what worries me. If he comes to Canada or Alaska then he might want to stop in here."

"Dad would never allow a vampire to just show up. Not like Logan does." Tyler said.

"Alexander won't wait for an invitation. And he won't come here looking to make friends." I said.

They all looked at me worriedly and we all knew that we needed to take this information to their father. But I wasn't sure how Grayson was going to react.

I didn't really want him sending wolves after the vampire army that was coming. But I also didn't want Alexander to show up here. He's one of them who wants the triplets dead. And that asshole is wicked strong.

There's a reason why he's feared, even among his own kind.

He's not one to give second chances, he doesn't show mercy and he doesn't stop once he's decided that someone is marked for death.

I didn't know what the hell I was going to do about this.

CHAPTER 37

Logan said that he was going to go and check it out. And I know that he won't do anything to hurt me.

But I also know that he will try and protect me before he even considers the triplets. He doesn't care about them at all. He just wants to get me out of here.

He's been thinking that ever since he arrived here.

He hates that I'm here and he's been trying to figure out a way to get me back to California. Knowing that he has to find the right way to persuade me because I was trained to protect the triplets and I won't just leave them open to attack. Nothing was going to work in their favor here. So I needed to come up with something to stop this army. I needed to get them to change directions or something. But I didn't know how the hell I was going to do that.

So the guys decided that we just had to go and tell their father. And I told them to go on without me. I had some more research to do.

They all looked hesitant, but they finally left and I started going through the rest of the books on my bookshelf.

Fighter 38

CHAPTER 38

I stood there looking at all the books on my bookshelf and I would pull one out and look at it for a second before I put it back and kept looking.

I did that for a few minutes until I knew that the guys were gone and they weren't watching me anymore.

They wanted me to go to the packhouse with them, but I had other plans.

Besides, I didn't really feel comfortable in the packhouse. I knew that a lot of wolves didn't like me there because they knew that there was something different about me.

They didn't know what it was, but they knew that I was different and they didn't like it.

So, as soon as I knew that the guys were gone I went upstairs to my room and I walked into my closet.

I pulled a loose board away from the back wall and I pulled out a very old and ancient looking book.

I grabbed a bag that was sitting next to it and I took it out to my bedroom floor and I sat down.

I pulled out three candles and I lit them and then I put three crystals between the candles and I opened the book.

I started searching through it for the right spell that I needed.

Once I found it I sat on the floor with my legs crossed and my arms resting on my legs.

I took a deep breath before I started reading out the incantation.

"Malum ens, te ipsum ostende.

Malum ens, te ipsum ostende.

Daemon, qui me laedere vult, te ipsum revela.

Daemon, qui me laedere vult, te ipsum revela."

The room started getting really windy and I looked around, trying to push the hair out of my face when I looked down at the crystals. They were starting to glow. The glow that they were emanating started to join together in the middle of the circle and a picture formed inside of the glow.

It was a picture of a woman. A vampire. It was the one that created the army.

CHAPTER 38

10 Bones

I didn't know her name, but now I knew what she looked like. And that was all I needed.

I stared at the picture of her for as long as I needed to before I stopped the spell.

I blew out the candles and I put everything back hidden in my closet.

I grabbed my sketch book and I did a rough sketch of the girl that had created this army of new vampires and I went downstairs to where my computer was.

I hacked into the dark web and I started searching to see what chatter was happening about this woman.

Not much was said about her. They never say her name but I was just sitting there and watching. I didn't want anyone to know that I was on this site.

Whenever I got on the dark web, it was only to observe and see what I could find out. I never asked questions because that would draw attention to me.

I just needed to know where to look to find out what I needed.

Suddenly the door burst open and Grayson barged into my house with the triplets behind him.

"Seriously. Doesn't anyone know how to knock anymore?" I asked.

"Are there vampires headed this way?" Grayson asked.

"Yeah. And I'm trying to find out where they are and what they are doing. Once I figure that out then I might be able to redirect them." I said.

"How are you going to do that?" Koda asked.

"The less you know, the better."

"Don't give me that s**t. Tell me what you're going to do."

"Fine. But I'm doing it alone. You three are not coming with me, do you understand?" I demanded.

"Yeah. We understand." Tyler said.

"If I can get close to them then all I need is to redirect the leader. The one who created them into thinking that you three are somewhere else. In a different state. So they will turn around and go back to the states." I explained. "How close do you need to get?" Dean asked.

"I choose not to answer that."

They didn't like me being so evasive but I meant what I said. The less they knew, the better.

Otherwise they would want to come and probably try to protect me. And that wasn't 2/4 happening. I wasn't going to let it happen.

I had trained way too hard for something to happen to them because they were trying to protect me.

"Do you have a plan?" Grayson asked.

"I'm slowly coming up with one. But you need to keep these three in line." I said to him.

"Excuse me. We are the next Alpha's of this pack. We don't need to be kept in line." Koda snapped.

"Apparently you do because you're all thinking the same thing right now. That you're coming with me whether I like it or not." I said.

"Stop reading our minds." He demanded.

"I told you. I only do it when I think people are lying to me."

"Do what you have to. I'll make sure they stay put." Grayson said. He turned to look at the triplets and then he left. But the triplets didn't go anywhere.

They actually made themselves very comfortable in the living room while I was on the computer.

I wasn't used to having people around me all the time. I got so used to being alone all the time because of the way Evelyn and Henry were. They never wanted me around and I definitely didn't want to be around them. So having people hanging around all the time was just weird for me.

I guess this is what it felt like to be in a pack.

"I'm not sleeping with you tonight Tyler so forget it." I said, while still looking at my computer.

Koda started laughing and Tyler just threw his arms up in the air.

"Why the hell is Koda the lucky one?" He asked.

"Because he was just there at the right time. You should have followed me home after our fight." I said, still not looking at them.

"Well, I will next time."

"That means he's going to start a fight with you just so he can follow you home." Koda said.

"I know." I said without batting an eye about it.

I think I might be the only girl in the world who really knows what men are thinking. So, they didn't need to tell me what they were going to do.

CHAPTER 38

When it came to teenage guys and s*x, it didn't matter what species they were, they all thought the same way.

Dean eventually turned on the TV and they started watching a movie while I was still on the computer doing something and it wasn't too long before Tyler was asleep on the floor and Dean and Koda were asleep on either side of the couch.

So I closed my computer and I took it upstairs to my bedroom.

I put it on my bedside table and I walked into the wardrobe and I reached up to the shelf and I grabbed a backpack that was already packed. It was my 'go' bag that was always packed in case I had to leave in a hurry. It had everything I needed in it.

And I walked over and opened my bedroom window and I climbed down the tree that was outside my window and I started walking towards the back of the house where the forest was.

Fighter 39

CHAPTER 39

I walked through the forest behind the pack as I was headed towards town. I didn't want anyone to see me even though it was late and a lot of people were in bed.

I heard wolves patrolling the area but thanks to my heightened senses, I was able to avoid them pretty easily. And I didn't have the same scent as a normal werewolf. I was able to hide my scent if I really concentrated. And this was one of those times when I really needed to hide

I didn't want any warriors running back and telling the triplets which way I went or that they saw me at all.

I got to town in the middle of the night and I kept walking through the forest until I came across my old house and I could hear Evelyn and Henry inside.

They were still awake and by the sounds of it, they were both drunk. They had their music up loud but they were screaming at each other.

It wasn't long before I heard Henry hit Evelyn and I looked through the window to see her on the floor of the living room. But he was also bleeding from the head and I saw a broken beer bottle in Evelyn's hand.

I just shook my head and kept walking past the house.

I got back into the forest and I knew when I reached the border of the triplets pack.

So I turned back to look and I made sure that no one had managed to sneak up on me and no one was watching me and I kept walking.

I had managed to walk a really long way through the Alaskan wilderness by the time day broke.

I knew that now was the time I should be moving. Because I knew that the vampires wouldn't be. They would have found shelter from the sun by now. And this is my chance to get as close to them as possible.

I wasn't walking for too long before I started looking around at where I was.

There was nothing around me. Nothing but forest and I knew that there was no going back now. I was committed to this and I needed to see it through.

I found a tree that looked really sturdy and I jumped up to the bottom branch and pulled myself onto it.

CHAPTER 39

I managed to climb up pretty high and I could see a long way in the distance from here.

I could tell that it wasn't all wilderness. Pretty soon I would be coming to a lot of areas where there was no forest or any cover at all.

Not that I needed it, but I didn't want people to see me either.

I had to pretend like I was just another hiker out here if I ran into anyone.

That shouldn't be too hard. I made sure that I was dressed like a hiker. It was a good cover in case I ran into any humans who might ask questions about me being out here alone. I sat in that tree for several minutes before I saw them run under the tree and they stopped to look around.

"How the f**k did we lose her?" Koda yelled.

"I don't know. She's fast." Tyler said.

"She couldn't have gotten that far away." Dean said.

I looked down at them shaking my head. So I reached into my bag and I pulled out a gun.

I jumped down from the tree and landed on my feet on the ground right behind the guys. "You didn't lose me. I knew that you were following me." I said.

So they all turned around and stared at me.

Before they had a chance to say anything, I raised the gun and I shot the three of them in quick succession.

They never had a chance to dodge the tranquilizer darts that were filled with wolfsbane.

I knelt down between them and I grabbed my phone out and I called their father.

I explained to him what happened and where I was. So he was going to send someone to come and get the triplets.

He was pretty concerned that I drugged them, but I knew that crap would be out of their system in no time. He just had to get here before they woke up.

He was sending some warriors in cars to come and collect them.

So I got up and I took a few steps away from them.

I raised my hand and I placed a protection spell over them so no one would be able to touch them except for their own pack. It had to be a very specific spell. But I didn't have the time to wait for the warriors to get here and I didn't want to risk anyone hurting them since they seemed to be on a lot of hit lists right now.

CHAPTER 39

I left them where they were, with the protection around them. No one could get through that spell because it was my own creation. Not a generic spell. If it was generic then any witch could get through it. But since I created it, I was the only one that could break it.

Which is why I made it so only their pack members could collect them.

I turned around and started running through the forest, trying to make up time for what I lost while I was dealing with the triplets.

It wasn't too long before I broke through the forest and there was nothing but land and hills in front of me.

I didn't have time to stop. So I kept running across the vast plains, getting small glimpses of the beauty of what Alaska had to offer.

By nightfall I had run 100 miles, only because I ran a hell of a lot faster than humans. And I found somewhere to camp for the night next to a lake.

I set up a fire and I looked at the map to see how much further I had to go.

I knew where I would be heading off this army but I was hoping that because they were new vampires and still developing their skills that it would hold them back a bit.

And there was no doubt in my mind that there would be fighting among that army. New vampires didn't know how to get along and didn't like to share food. So, that was going to work in my favor. But it was also going to work against me.

It meant that they were going to be killing a lot more people tonight, but I just couldn't get to them in time.

I was exhausted and I knew that I wouldn't be any good to anyone if I was too tired when I found them.

I needed to rest. But I then heard a couple of voices walking up behind me and I knew that rest wasn't going to come easily to me.

I turned my head around to see two guys walking towards me.

"Hi there." One of them said.

Humans. I should have known. Guys who think they can hike the Alaskan mountains and live to tell the tail.

If they don't come across any bears then they might get lucky.

"There's a campsite about 10 miles from here." I said.

"Why aren't you staying there?" The second guy asked.

CHAPTER 39

"Because I don't play well with others." I said, turning back to look at the calm lake.

"Well, maybe we like that in a woman." The first guy said.

"If I wanted company then I would have invited you to stay. But I didn't. So get lost."

"You've got a real mouth on you." The first guy said.

"You have no idea." I said.

"I think we need to teach this b***h a lesson." The second guy said.

So I rolled my eyes and I stood up and faced the guys.

I walked right up in front of them and they both looked at me with wicked and evil eyes, like they had very unhonorable intentions.

So I grabbed each of them by their hair and I slammed their heads together hard enough that it knocked them both out.

"Assholes." I said.

I dragged them both over to a tree that wasn't far from where my camp was and I sat them both up on either side of the tree and I grabbed my rope and tied it around them so they couldn't get loose. I walked back over to my camp and I laid down, using my bag as a pillow and I went to close

CHAPTER 40

I woke up as the sun was rising over the lake the following morning.

It was really early and when I got up I put out the fire and I started packing my stuff up into my bag again and I turned to see the two guys still tied to the tree glaring at me. "How'd you sleep?" I asked.

"This isn't funny bitch." One of them said.

"Well, I was going to untie you until you said that. Now I think I'm just gonna leave you there for the bears." I said.

"You can't do that." The other one yelled.

"Watch me." I said picking up my bag and I started walking past them.

I walked a few feet past them when they started arguing with each other.

So I whistled at them and when they turned to look at me I threw a small knife towards them.

I knew that it was just out of reach so they would have to work pretty hard to get it. But if they wanted it desperately enough, they'd get it.

I then turned around and kept walking away from them.

As soon as I was out of their sight I started running again.

I knew that if I kept up this pace then I would get to Canada by nightfall. And hopefully I will be able to find them either tonight or tomorrow night. It really depended on how close they had gotten to us.

I could possibly get them tomorrow if I could find where they planned on hiding during the day.

That would be the best time to do it, but I wasn't sure if I would be able to find them.

The forests are so dense in a lot of the country and from what I hear, they aren't even sticking to the forest.

They're going into populated areas to feed.

I didn't even know how many vampires were in this army.

I just knew that it was enough to catch the attention of the wrong kind of people.

I tried to block everything else out and not worry about anything and I just needed to get to the Canadian border.

CHAPTER 40

If I could beat them to the border then it was better for us. I needed to get them to change their route. They needed to start going back down south.

I knew that I wouldn't be able to bring back the people that they had killed, but I also wanted to be able to save as many as I could,

I didn't want to send them back towards the towns that they had already attacked. Or any town for that matter,

By the time the sun started setting I realized that I was close to the border so I just kept running.

I didn't stop, even though my body was starting to tell me to.

When I got to the border, the guards were checking all cars that were entering Canada and they were being really cautious about everyone. There were more guards on than usual as well. And it didn't take a genius to know why.

It's because of the attacks.

Humans probably think that there's a serial killer on the loose or something like that. I mean, that's the only thing that would make sense to them.

So I stayed back in the forest and I undressed completely and put my clothes in my bag.

I then shifted into my wolf and I grabbed the bag in my mouth and I started running further away from the crossing until I came to a river.

It was the easiest way to get into Canada in wolf form because wolves are protected and if anyone saw me then they wouldn't try and stop me for ID or anything like that. Once I crossed the river and got to the other side, I was seen by one guard but he just stood there and stared at me.

I was guessing that it was because of my size. I was probably the biggest wolf he had ever seen. And I was carrying a bag in my mouth which would have looked really odd. But before he could get the attention of anyone else, I took off away from the crossing and straight into the forest again.

It was getting late at this point and I had made it over the crossing. That was my goal for today.

I knew the vampires were still in Canada and I decided to stay in my wolf form while running through the forest because it was quicker and the moon gave my wolf the energy that she needed to run faster and to actually keep going further.

CHAPTER 40

It wasn't too long before I started hearing the voices.

They were off in the distance but there were a lot of them.

They sounded out of control. Like a bunch of college kids on spring break or something. Only a lot more dangerous.

I started running towards the sounds and I was glad to see that there weren't any towns near Us.

But that's when I heard a lot of them complaining that they were hungry. That's not something I wanted to hear.

It meant they were going to seek out a town to feed. And even when there are warnings about potential dangers, you'll always find at least one group of people, mostly teenagers, that don't follow the rules.

They sneak out after curfew. They misbehave and think it's all just one big joke.

I had to get to them before they got to a town and started feeding.

I kept running until I got close enough that I knew they were going to be coming past me at any second.

So I climbed the nearest tree and got up as high as I could without them seeing me.

They are vampires so they have enhanced sight, smell and hearing. So I took a couple of deep breaths and then controlled my breathing and heart rate to where no one would be able to detect it.

I started seeing a whole group of vampires walking through the forest.

They were really loud and some of them were messing around like teenagers, others were fighting like they wanted to kill each other and none of them were being quiet.

I scanned the area until I saw a woman who looked to be in her 20's, at least that's how old she was before she was turned, with long brown curly hair and crimson red eyes. She was the target.

She was the one that wasn't behaving like a lunatic, but she wasn't trying to control her army either.

"Once we get to Alaska, the council will have to take me back. Once those triplets are out of the way, Alexander will have to welcome me back. I'll do the impossible and get that freak hybrid out of the way as well. I know this will work." She thought to herself while smiling as she was watching all the other vampires.

CHAPTER 40

She wants to get back in good with Alexander? She's definitely going about it the wrong way.

Her vampires killing so many people and leaving so much destruction is going to get her killed by Alexander.

What a f*****g i****t.
