CHAPTER 81

The werewolf council all stood there staring at Bronson and then staring at me, holding the gun.

None of them moved at first. They were in shock. But then one of them grabbed the gun out of my hand and he tried to open it to empty the shells out of it.

He didn't know how it worked because it was a homemade gun. I needed something that would hold a shotgun shell but was also easy to hide.

I turned to face the council and the whole five of them were staring at me, looking me up and down.

I wasn't sure what they were expecting. But this is what they were getting. I guess I looked more normal than they expected.

"So, do you assholes have any names?" I asked.

"Of course. I'm the leader Anders, this is Mitchell, Magnus, Edison and Davis." Anders introduced me.

"All men. What a fg surprise." I said, rolling my eyes. "So, are you going to tell me what the fk you want with me or do you want me to guess?" I asked.

"You need to learn your place." Magnus said.

"If

you expect me to show you any respect then you're delusional. You just had me kidnapped. And for what? Are you planning on killing me?" I asked. "Why would we do that?" Anders asked.

"I don't know. You tell me. You're the ones that wanted me." I insisted.

"We don't plan on killing you. But you are going to come in really handy for us." Davis said.

"You want to use my powers." I said.

"Well, you are very unique." Edison said.

That's what all of this was about? They want me for my powers? Lexie's mother died because the council wants me powers?

What was the point of any of this? I can't believe that this is actually happening.

I looked around to see where I was when I realized that it wasn't the Canadian border.

I looked around and there wasn't much snow on the ground. Not like there was back home. +10 Bon

CHAPTER 81

Canada wouldn't have any snow on the ground yet.

We were still in Alaska but I was confused. I have a great sense of direction.

What the hell did Bronson do to me? I mean, what was he really mumbling when he was talking?

If he's dad's kid, then he might have powers like me. But the fae and witch part of me, which is what can use teleportation, is on my mother's side. Wesley only has werewolf and vampire. So that doesn't make sense.

"Are you alright?" Anders asked.

"Where are we?" I asked.

"I thought werewolves were great at directions."

"Yeah. We usually are. What the hell have you done to me?" I asked.

"Bronson did it. We gave him a spell. A spell that anyone can do. You don't need to have powers to mutter a few lines in latin." Mitchell said.

"What the hell is going on?"

"Well, Grayson and his triplets have been deemed to be a massive pain in our asses. So, we're getting rid of them. And you're going to help us." Magus said.

"Get fucked." I said.

"Oh, you are going to help us otherwise you will be forever sorry." He said, taking a step closer to me.

"What the hell could they have possibly done to you? They never leave Alaska." I said.

"You don't know?" Anders asked.

"Know what?"

"Grayson has been trying to rally Alpha's against us. They believe that we are not doing a good enough job so he wants to take us out. To replace us." Anders said. "Well, you did just hire that freak to kidnap me. So, I might have to agree with Grayson on that one." I said.

They all growled at me, but I stood there firmly and didn't show them an ounce of fear. Probably because I wasn't afraid.

"You don't know who you are messing with." Magnus threatened.

"Actually, I'm starting to think that you don't know who I really am." I said.

"You're the triplets mate. We know that." He said.

"Is that all?" I smirked.

They looked at each other, confused. They really didn't know what the hell I was. Not even after Bronson called me his brother. How could they not put it together if I am related to that thing.

Unless, they don't know the truth behind him either.

I assumed that the werewolf council knew everything that the wolves in the country were up supernatural heritage to me.

I took a step back from the five wolves in front of me and they looked at me strangely.

They looked concerned now that they obviously haven't done their homework.

"You really should have left well enough alone. There are so many other crimes being committed right under your nose and you come after Grayson because he is challenging you? What about the wolves that are actually breaking the law? Hurting innocent humans. The one rule for us even being here, being created by the Moon Goddess is to protect humans. And they are being herded and hurt because of a rogue wolf." I explained. "Who?" Anders demanded.

"It's too late for that now. You really don't deserve to be the werewolf council. You don't deserve to even breathe the same air as Grayson. He's more of a werewolf than you will ever be." I said.

They looked very displeased with what I was saying, but as I was standing there and moving backwards from them I wanted to see if they were alone.

I needed to know if there were wolves waiting for their go ahead to attack me.

Did they bring back up or are they ignorant enough to think that they could take me on their own?

And after finding out that they think I'm just a normal wolf, I think they believe that they can take me on my own.

My eyes started changing color and Maya was trying to break through. She was forcing her way through and I was having a lot of trouble controlling her. She's never done this before. She's never been so angry before that she's forced herself so much.

CHAPTER 81

She wants to kill them so much that I can't even control her.

I started taking deep breaths to control her, but that wasn't working.

In a matter of seconds, I was pushed to the back of my mind and Maya had taken over.

She shifted into her black and white wolf and she stood there snarling at the council.

They all jumped back when they saw the size of my wolf, knowing that it wasn't normal for a she-wolf to be this big. To be the size of an Alpha.

They all shifted in unison and were ready for this fight. They were ready to take me on and they lined up in a straight line, right in front of me. That was their biggest mistake.

"Maya." I said.

"They want to kill our boys. They aren't going near them. Ever." Maya growled in my head.

I wasn't in control of anything now. Maya was doing it.

She put a foot forward and looked down at the ground before she looked back up and her eyes were glowing white.

All five of the council members stopped and stood up straight, staring at Maya.

She didn't get distracted though.

She raised her head to the sky and the moon was shining down bright on her.

A streak of light came down from the moon and shone directly onto Maya, giving her more power than she had ever felt before.

She reared up on her back legs, and when she landed on her two front legs, the ground started to shake.

Suddenly the snow picked up off the ground and started swirling around the air, around Maya.

The snow then turned to ice and it darted towards the council, stabbing them and cutting them all over.

It got Mitchell straight through the eye and he dropped where he was standing. The icicles started getting bigger and sharper as she was throwing them at the council, without her even touching them. They tried to retreat, but they didn't get very far.

The ice stabbed them at all angles and then they caught on fire. Causing the council members to catch on fire from the inside.

Maya walked closer to where they were and seeing that they were all dead, she allowed me to take control again.

I shifted back into my human self and I was surrounded by the dead bodies of the council, but

I was so exhausted that I collapsed to the ground. Right in the middle of them.

Fighter 82

CHAPTER 82

"Nova." A voice screamed in the distance.

I lifted my head up, slightly. I was covered in sweat, breathing heavily while I was surrounded by snow.

I didn't have the strength to call back. I didn't have the strength to even look up properly.

I saw some figures in front of me, running towards me. But they were all blurry. I couldn't make sense of anything right now.

My whole mind was in shambles.

I felt the warm hands on my bare skin before Koda took off his shirt and he put it on me since my clothes had been torn to shreds.

He helped me up and I was looking around, nothing was coming into view properly. I could feel my head pounding and I stumbled as I tried to walk.

Koda grabbed my arm but then I was plunged into darkness as I felt myself fall to the ground.

TWO DAYS LATER

"How long is she going to stay like this?" Tyler asked.

"I don't know. The doctor said that she will wake up when she wakes up. Obviously something happened out there in the forest but we don't know what." Dean said. "She killed the fg council. How the hell is dad going to make that go away?" Koda asked.

"Koda. What was she doing with the council? Bronson took her to the people that hired him. Don't you think that maybe it was them?" Tyler asked.

"Of course I have thought about that. But why would they want her? Why would they do all of that to get their hands on her?" Tyler asked.

"They said that they wanted my power." I said in a really raspy voice.

Suddenly there were three bodies on the bed with me, fussing over me and checking to make sure that I was alright.

"Get the doctor." Tyler yelled out.

"I'm fine. I'm just exhausted after what Maya did." I said.

I finally opened my eyes and I could see properly. My vision was coming back into focus and I saw three very worried faces looking back at me.

CHAPTER 82

The doctor rushed in then and asked the triplets to leave.

He checked all my vitals and I was still hooked up to an IV because he said that I needed fluids. But it looks like I will be alright.

I sat up a little on the bed as the triplets came back in and I realized that I wasn't at home.

They had brought me back to the packhouse and I was in Koda's bedroom.

"How long have I been here?" I asked.

"You've been unconscious for two days." Koda said.

"You said that the council wanted you for your powers." Dean said.

"Yeah. But that didn't make any sense to me, because they didn't know that I was different from a normal wolf." I said, getting breathless while I was talking.

"I don't understand." Dean said.

"They said that your dad is trying to rally Alpha's to go against the council. So they took me to use my power to kill you and your dad. But they didn't know that I was different. I can only assume that they were going to use me as your mate. They were going to use our bond to make you comply with whatever they wanted to do." I explained.

"So, you killed them?" Koda asked.

"I had nothing to do with that. Maya took over. I couldn't stop her. She's never done that before. She's never been able to do that before. What's going to happen? She killed the werewolf council. That's not going to go unnoticed." I said, starting to panic.

"Don't worry about that. We'll talk to dad. We'll tell him everything that you just said."
Tyler

said.

"Why don't we go and do that now?" Dean asked.

So Tyler and Dean left and Koda laid on the bed next to me.

He intertwined his fingers with mine as he laid there staring at the ceiling.

"I'm sorry that I left like that. I know that if I didn't, Bronson was going to kill you. And the other two." I said.

"I know. You were protecting us. I get that. I just hate that you had to... We found Bronson while we were out there. It looks like the Shadow is out of business." Koda said.

"I guess he is. I'm just glad that gun worked. I mean, I know that it works. I didn't know if it would work on him." I said.

We laid there staring up at the ceiling together and I still felt tired. Even though I had been unconscious for the last two days.

I rolled over onto my side, as much as I could with the IV in my arm, and I rested my head on Koda's chest.

I laid there listening to him breathe and his heart beating in his chest.

He wrapped his arms around me, really tightly.

"I really didn't think I was going to see you again." Koda admitted.

"I wouldn't have gone if I didn't think I could handle it. I don't want to leave you either." I said.

"But you didn't know he was going to take you to the council."

"I know. But I knew that I could handle it."

He tightened his grip around me and kissed me on the top of my head.

"I am tying you to this bed and you're never running off again." He said.

I scoffed, but I knew that he was somewhat serious when he said that.

Tyler and Dean came back into the room and laid down on the bed as well.

We all stayed there not saying anything until I fell asleep again. Still in Tyler's tight warm and safe grip.

I didn't know what was going to happen now the council was gone.

I didn't know what was going to happen to me because I killed them.

They were going to kill Grayson and the triplets.

I knew that I was going to have to face the consequences of what I had done. And I would have to answer to the werewolf community.

I don't have any proof that they were going to come and kill my mates. That's just what they told me.

And for all I know, they had people back at their base destroying evidence as we speak.

But I knew that I would deal with it when the time came..

Right now, I was just going to enjoy what was probably my last days as a free wolf. With my

When I woke up the next morning I walked down to the kitchen and the omega was in there getting breakfast ready for the Alpha family. But I just told her to ignore me while I got a coffee.

Grayson came to the dining room as I walked in and he smiled when he saw me.

"I'm glad to see you up. You weren't looking too good earlier." He said.

"Yeah. I just needed rest." I said.

"Well, the boys were worried sick about you. I've never seen them like that before." He said.

I sat at the table with Grayson while the omega brought him his coffee and then went back to the kitchen.

"Alpha Grayson. Did they tell you what the council was going to do?" I asked.

"Yeah. Dean and Tyler told me that they were coming for me and the boys. You stopped them." He said.

"I killed the werewolf council. I don't know what that means. I haven't been in this world long enough to know what is going to happen next." I said. But he put his paperwork down and he looked straight at me.

"I've been on the phone with Alpha's all night. With people that are still at headquarters of the council building. Nothing is going to happen to you. Because no one knows that you killed them." He said. But I looked at him really confused. How could no one know that I was the one that did it?

"I don't understand." I said.

"They never told anyone what they were doing because they knew that they would be put on trial and executed if they killed me and my children. We have done absolutely nothing to prove that we are a threat to them." Grayson explained.

"So, the werewolf council went rogue?" I asked.

"Yeah. Pretty much. And everyone believes that they met up with someone on the road that they trusted when they shouldn't have and it cost them their lives." He explained.

A

"Okay. So, they don't know about me. That's good. That's the way we want to keep it." I said.

"Yeah. We don't want people to know that you exist because you are too valuable. And now because of your powers. If people come hunting you, my boys will never survive if anything happens to you." He said.

"Well, I'm not going anywhere." I said. And he smiled at me.

The guys came downstairs a little while later and we all had breakfast together.

I'd learnt that Izzy had been released from the dungeon and she was back at home, but she was on probation at the moment. If she stepped out of line one more time, then she would be doing a lot more serious time in the dungeon. Not just a couple of days.

The guys walked me home afterwards because I still had a lot of work to do there and they wanted to help. But we had to be careful about being seen together, so we weren't affectionate towards each other in public and we started getting to work as soon as I got home.

I had to check on Rory as soon as I got there and Jacob had been feeding her, but otherwise, she was fine.

I got back on the computer and I started trying to track down all of these missing women.

But it wasn't long before my computer got a hit on one of the newest names that I put into the computer.

"What's that?" Tyler asked.

"One of the oldest victims. She was taken 15 years ago when she was 25. She was only just found." I said.

"Alive?" Dean asked.

"No. They found her body dumped in Yosemite. She'd be 40 now but it says here that it looks like she was only dead for about a month before she was found. She was found 6 months ago." I said.

"Where was she for those 15 years?" Tyler asked.

"There are photos of her going into Ava's facility. And that's it." I said.

One human victim had turned up and she's dead. Does that mean we're going to find more like her or does that just mean that she was accidentally killed?

I wish I could really think that it was an accident. But we know that it wasn't. She was a loose end that they needed to get rid of.

I grabbed her missing poster and I wrote 'deceased' on it along with the dates.

Maybe if we could find more than we could put them in order and it might give us a timeline or some indication of what they are doing to these poor women. Apart from my theories. +10 Bonu CHAPTER 83

The guys had started acting a little weird that afternoon while I was trying to get some work done but they were messing around in the house and doing things that they wouldn't tell me about.

I just let them go, hoping I would be able to find something to do with these missing women but that one body was the only one that's been found.

As far as I knew, the rest were still missing.

Jacob showed up that afternoon and he walked over to the table where I was sitting.

"Do you ever stop working?" He asked.

"Can't. Need to find out what the hell Ava is doing with these women." I said.

"And you will. But you need to take it easy. You just had a bit of a scare."

"I'm sitting at a computer. I'm not running around the woods hunting anything. Anyway, what are you doing here?" I asked.

"Well, the guys asked me to come and stay here so I can take care of Rory." He said.

I looked at him really confused. Why would he need to take care of Rory if I'm here? I can do it on my own. I have been doing it and she's fine and alive. "You need a break." Koda said, walking into the room with Tyler and Dean.

"No. What I need is to get this work done." I said.

"It'll be there waiting for you when you get back. I've already packed you a bag and we're going, whether you like it or not." Dean said.

"And where the hell are we meant to be going?" I asked.

"That's a surprise." He said. I turned back to look at the computer.

"I hate surprises." I said.

But suddenly Koda picked me up from the chair and put me over his shoulder to carry me out of the house.

"Are you fg kidding me? Put me down you lunatic." I yelled.

The car was already waiting out the front so Koda put me in the backseat and Tyler slid in next to me while the other two got in the front seat.

"We don't have time for this." I protested.

"We always have time for a break." Dean said.

CHAPTER 83

"Spoken like a true Alpha." I said, sarcastically. "Are you at least going to tell me where we're going?" I asked. "Nope." Koda said.

So I sat in the backseat silent almost the whole way. And it was a fair way as well.

We were in the car for almost 3 hours before we finally pulled up out the front of a five-star spa resort overlooking beautiful snow covered mountains with massive ski slopes everywhere.

I got out of the car and looked up at the resort that looked like a really fancy cabin made of wood, but it was a hell of a lot nicer and bigger.

I was in awe of the place when suddenly I felt someone hold my hand.

"What is this?" I asked, looking at Tyler.

"Do you really not know what tomorrow is?" He asked. And I had to think about it for a minute.

"No." I said.

"Let's just assume that's because she was unconscious for two days." Koda said.

"It's your 18th birthday tomorrow. So, we thought we would celebrate in style." Dean said.

"Holy st. It's not tomorrow." I said, confused.

"Yeah. It is. Come on. Let's go get checked in." Tyler said, pulling me inside while the bellboy came out to get our bags.

Did I really lose that much time while I was unconscious and being preoccupied with the missing women?

My birthday snuck up on me and I had no idea that it was even here yet.

As soon as we went inside Koda checked us in and we went to the penthouse suite. I looked around the room in awe.

It was the most gorgeous suite I had ever seen in my life. And the biggest.

I wandered around the whole place and there were two bedrooms with massive beds, but even one of those beds would fit the whole lot of us. There was so much living space that I was starting to think my whole house could fit in this suite.

It was so clean and luxurious. I really didn't have any words for it. I'd never been treated to anything like this before.

I couldn't believe they did all of this for me. Especially since we were meant to be keeping a low profile.

But we're away from the pack and I guess they really wanted to make my birthday special.

I opened the doors to the massive balcony that was just ours and there was light snow on the railing but the rest of it had been cleaned off and there was a large table set up on the balcony with champagne, horderves and roses. There were rose petals scattered along the table, down to the ground so I followed them to the spa that was sitting on the balcony with rose petals also floating in the steaming water.

"Wow." I said, softly.

I heard the cork being popped off the champagne and I turned around to see Koda pouring four glasses and he handed them out to all of us.

"What do you think?" Dean asked, looking out at the view as it was already dark and the lights of the small ski town were lighting up like little twinkle lights from where we were.

The hotel was on a mountain and we were above the whole town. Looking down on everything.

"I think it's perfect." I said, staring at the view.

Dean walked up behind me and put his arms around my waist and rested his chin on my shoulder.

Tyler and Koda walked up beside me as I was leaning forward on the railing. But my eyes started moving over towards the hot tub and the steam coming off it meaning that even though it was on the balcony, it was still going to be really nice and warm in there,

I looked around at our surroundings and there were no other penthouses, we took up the whole top floor, but there wasn't anyone around that could see up to where we were if we kept the balcony lights off.

So I started to slowly walk over to the hot tub and the guys were all watching me.

"We packed your bathing suit." Tyler said.

"Who said anything about a bathing suit?" I asked, giving them a wry little smile and I slowly pulled my top off over my head.

They all moved towards the hot tub as I lowered my pants and they were out of their clothes before I was.

Koda undid my bra for me and I slid my panties off and we got in the hot tub with our champagne.

As soon as I got in, Koda grabbed a hold of me and pulled me in front of him and he wrapped his legs around my waist to keep me there and I leaned back, resting on his chest while the other two were in front of us.

I was enjoying the peace and quiet at the moment. There was no sound, there was nothing to distract me from this moment.

We couldn't even hear the noise from the town.

It was cold outside, but being in the hot tub made it worth it. And I didn't feel cold as long as I was sitting in the warm water.

"Dinner is going to be here soon." Koda said, nibbling on my neck.

"I really don't want to get out of here right now." I said.

"Neither do we." Tyler said.

"How long have you guys been planning this?"

"Not long. We knew that we had to do something special to get you away from all the headaches of back home." Dean said.

"Don't tell me that you got this penthouse at the last minute." I said.

"Well, we kind of own the place. So, it was easy." Tyler said. And I looked over at him, a little impressed.

"So, you're saying that we can come back here whenever we want?" I asked. And he started chuckling.

CHAPTER 84

"Yeah. If you want." He said. And I leaned my head back on Koda's chest.

"I think I can handle that." I said.

I started feeling Koda getting excited as I was pressed up against him and even though my eyes were closed, I started smiling without moving. "What's that smile for?" Dean asked.

"Ask Koda." I said. And they started laughing.

"I doubt you two could have lasted this long." Koda defended.

"I'll take that bet." I teased. But then Dean grabbed me by the ankles, causing me to lightly scream, and yanked me towards him and out of Koda's grip.

I found myself sitting on Dean's lap, our bear chests pressed up against each other and he put his hand behind my head and started kissing me.

He was already standing at attention himself so it made me wondering how long he'd really been holding off while he was teasing Koda about it.

I felt hands roam up my back as Tyler started kissing my neck.

"I thought you said that dinner would be here soon." I said.

"And you said that it could wait." Tyler whispered between kisses.

Koda was off to the side of the hot tub, rubbing himself as he watched his brother's brutal assault on my lips and neck. Assault probably isn't the right word, since I definitely wasn't fighting back. Instead I was leaning into it.

I felt Dean line himself up at my entrance and he pushed his ck inside of me, causing a moan out of my lips which Tyler quickly muffled by pulling my head around to face him and started kissing me.

Dean held my hips, lifting me up and down his ck as I felt Tyler press up against my back.

I lifted my arms to wrap around Tyler's neck as he started kissing down my neck and he stopped at my marking spot which made me moan even louder.

Dean leaned forward to kiss my neck and down my chest before he started kissing the other side of my neck.

The both of them were hitting the proper spots.

I had three mates, so it made sense that I would get marked in three different spots. And it looks like they are trying to find out where those spots are right now.

CHAPTER 84

I was still moving up and down on Dean's ck while I was pressed between the two of them and I was holding the side of the hot tub that was behind Dean's head to give myself a little leverage so I could have a little more control over my movements and how fast I was going, I also made sure that I controlled how high I was moving up and down his shaft. Making myself move all the way to the tip before I would move back down on it.

Dean started moaning even louder when I started doing that.

"fk yeah. Don't stop doing that." He moaned, as I looked down at him. He still had his hands on my waist but he wasn't controlling how fast I was moving anymore.

Tyler reached around and started kneading my breasts while he was behind me.

Dean started nipping at my neck and marking spot before he pulled back to look at me.

"Can I mark you?" He asked, causing me to stop and stare intently into his beautiful eyes.

Fighter 85

CHAPTER 85

I could tell that all three guys were waiting for my response and I really didn't want to seem insensitive here. I wanted to be marked by them and I wanted to mark them, more than anything. It was in our nature. But there was more to this than they were thinking about right now.

"If we mark each other, will the whole pack know straight away? You're Alpha's." I said.

"We're not the ruling Alpha's yet. The pack won't know. And the marks can be covered up with makeup. You don't have to worry about that." Koda said, leaning over and rubbing his hand gently over my neck.

So I looked back at Dean and he was looking back at me expectantly.

"Yes." I answered.

So he leaned forward and started kissing me.

I started moving up and down on his ck again, smaller movements and more controlled. Dean's canines protruded from his gums and Tyler moved my hair out the way for me.

I placed my hands on Dean's shoulders as he leaned forward and he sunk his teeth into my neck, making me leap over the edge of my orgasm that completely snuck up on me. But it was the most intense orgasm I have ever had in my life. It was surreal.

He pulled his teeth from my neck and licked over the top of it to seal the mark as I was still coming down from the intensity of my climax.

I felt my canines protrude and Dean c*d his head to the side and I let Maya come forward slightly. I helped her guide me because this was new territory for me. She let me know where his marking spot was. Once I had found it I started kissing and licking the spot before I sunk my teeth in, cutting through skin and muscle until I hit bone.

At the same time Dean's movements became erratic as he found his release inside of me, so I pulled my teeth out and I licked the mark to seal it.

I leaned back to look at him and he pulled me closer to kiss me.

He pulled out of me and he got out of the hot tub while Tyler pulled me back towards him but Dean came back with towels for everyone.

Tyler stood me up and wrapped a towel around me before he wrapped one around himself. +10 Bonu

CHAPTER 85

He led me inside and I was surprised when the guys stayed outside.

I didn't know why they weren't coming in as well, but once we went into the bedroom Tyler closed the door most of the way, leaving it open slightly and he spun me around to face him. He moved my wet hair out of my face and he leaned down to kiss me.

Before I could ask about the other two, Tyler was already walked me backwards to the bed and he laid me down gently on the bed and pulled the towel off of me and he leaned down on top of me.

We moved up further on the bed so we were on it fully as he was exploring my whole body with his hands as he kissed me.

I felt him rubbing my v*a with his fingers, feeling my arousal spilling out on his fingers and lubricating myself before he removed his towel and he lined himself up and slowly pushed inside of me.

I wrapped my arms around his back, digging my fingernails into his back as he started thrusting into me slowly but he picked up the pace pretty quickly.

I grabbed a hold of the blankets that were next to me and scrunched them up in my hands, feeling the intensity of his touch.

He pulled himself out of me for a moment, only to grab my waist and flip me onto my stomach.

He then pushed himself back inside of me as he was standing on the floor at the end of the bed.

He put his hands on my chest and forced me onto my knees and my back was against his chest as he was thrusting in and out, in and out, picking up speed as we were getting in sync with each other in this position.

I couldn't stop the loud moans escaping my mouth and Tyler was sucking and nipping on the other side of my neck.

I could feel myself getting hotter and getting closer to finding my release again.

I felt Tyler's canines skim across my skin on my neck, giving my goosebumps.

He sunk his teeth into me from behind, making me moan even louder and I fell over the brink of my second orgasm that night.

Tyler held his hands at the front of my chest, holding me while I rode out the spasms that were assaulting my whole body right now.

Once Tyler let go of me I leaned forward and I pulled away from him, causing his ck to fall out of me and I grabbed a hold of his arm and pulled him onto the bed. I forced him onto his back and I climbed on top of him, cupping the side of his face with my hand as I started kissing him, uncontrollably.

He lined himself up against and slid inside of me and I used my other hand to hold onto the bed frame behind Tyler's head and I started riding him faster and faster.

I heard the door open a little and I didn't need to turn around to see that it was Koda.

He climbed onto the bed next to us and I felt his hand running up my back as I was moving faster on top of Tyler.

He was getting dangerously close to his release and my canines came out and I leaned down and bit into his neck.

His movements became erratic as he found his release as my teeth dug right into his neck.

When I pulled them out, and licked it to seal it over.

Tyler looked back over at me and kissed me again. Placing both hands on the side of my face he kissed me with passion and intimacy.

I was starting to feel really strange.

I knew that Dean was out on the balcony still and Tyler was right here with me. But I could feel the way that they were feeling. It felt strange. Koda was laying on the bed next to us, propped up on one of his arms, running his hand up and down my arm.

"I love you baby." Tyler said.

"I love you too." I said.

His ck fell out of me and I rolled over to the side of him and he leaned over me and kissed me again before he got up.

I looked to the other side of me and Koda was laying there, just staring into his face.

"Are you alright?" He asked.

"Yeah. I think so." I said.

"It's a lot. Being marked by one Alpha is pretty intense. You're being marked by three. If you still want me to." Koda said.

"Of course I do." I said.

"You can feel how they are feeling?" He asked.

"Yeah. I've been able to know what they're thinking, but not how they're feeling. This is really strange." I said.

"It's going to get worse when I mark you. I'll understand if you want to wait for me to do it." He said.

But I placed my hand on the side of his face and I slowly leaned over and started kissing him.

"I don't want to wait. I can handle it." I said. So he smiled at me and he leaned over on top of me. Still not wearing any clothes, and leaned down kissing me.

CHAPTER 86

Koda wasn't as impatient as his brothers. He was taking his time. Every kiss, every touch was more passionate, more loving, warm and tender.

He took his time and he made sure that I was completely comfortable with everything before he went any further.

He was afraid that it was going to be too much for me. But he underestimated how tough I could be.

I know that being marked by an Alpha can be intense, I didn't know what it would be like being marked by three.

I actually didn't know that I would be able to feel all of their feelings after I had been marked by them.

But even without being marked by Koda right now, I knew how he felt.

It was pouring out of him in waves and it was impossible for me not to feel it.

He leaned on me completely but leaned on his arms on either side of my body and I leaned back to grab the bed frame as he started kissing down my jawline, down my neck, my marking spot and down to my chest where he started sucking on my n* *e.

He moved to the other breast before he started kissing his way back up to my mouth.

Kissing me slowly, our tongues dancing with each other.

I wrapped my arms around his neck, running my fingers through his hair as he sucked my bottom lip in his mouth before he let it go.

He leaned forward and licked my bottom lip again, teasing me a little before he started kissing me again.

He adjusted himself and started rubbing the tip of his ck along my entrance, getting me more excited. And himself.

I moaned slightly as Koda rested on one arm again, leaning off to the side of me slightly as he kept rubbing it up and down me.

I threw my head back into the pillow, moaning as the scent of my arousal was filling the room.

Koda growled lowly as he was staring down at my face, staring into my eyes and he leaned down and kissed me as he finally pushed inside of me.

All three of them were similar but so different at the same time.

Which I was so grateful for. And I never knew that Koda was really capable of being so gentle. He was always the take-charge type with the guys, but I saw a different side of him and I'm guessing that I'm the only one who saw this side of him. When we were alone, which wasn't often.

He pushed all the way to the hilt and slowly pulled out and back in again.

Normally, I would have thought that this was painfully slow. But right now, I don't think I would have it any other way.

When he wasn't kissing me, he was staring into my eyes.

My arms were wrapped around his neck and my hands were running through his hair.

He pushed my head backwards into the pillow and started kissing my neck, around both sides.

I didn't know where he was going to mark me because the others had already marked me on either side of my neck but he really looked like he knew what he was doing.

He managed to get his hands underneath me and lifted me slightly off the bed.

I rested on my elbows while he was still moving in and out of me, hitting that perfect spot every time. Causing me to get closer every time he hit it.

But as he had his hand underneath me, he pulled me forward a little more and his canines protruded.

He stopped and looked at me for a moment first.

"Are you sure?" Koda asked. And I nodded my head.

"Absolutely." I whispered in a moan.

He didn't dig his teeth into the part where my neck met my shoulder.

He leaned over further and he sunk his teeth in, just behind Tyler's mark and my whole body erupted.

As my orgasm swept over me, I also felt my body start to course with electricity and feel like it was on fire. In a good way.

Koda pulled his teeth out of my neck and sealed the mark, but he laid there looking at it for a moment.

"What?" I asked.

"It's beautiful." He said. And he looked back into my eyes and kissed me again.

CHAPTER 86

My canines came out and Koda c*d his head to the side so I could bite into his neck and I felt his whole body tense up just as his orgasm reached its peak and spilled inside of me.

"By the way, happy birthday." Koda whispered in my ear. So I looked over at the clock and it was just after midnight. It was my 18th birthday. And that made more sense to me now as to why the guys wanted to mark me tonight. Which I am not complaining about.

Koda laid on top of me for a moment, trying to catch his breath again before he got up and he reached his hand out.

When I got up I realized that I was pretty wobbly on my feet and he chuckled at me so he carried me to the bathroom and he started the shower.

We got in together and Koda quickly washed himself before he washed me and then he gave me a really warm robe from the cupboard and I put it on and I put on some slippers before we went back out to the balcony with Tyler and Dean. As soon as I walked out there, I saw the table was full of food and I looked at them strangely.

"Yeah. We called them and told them to bring dinner up now." Tyler said.

"This looks great." I said.

"Are you hungry?" Dean asked, pulling the chair out for me.

"Starving." I said.

So we sat there eating dinner together, even though it was a really late dinner.

I was feeling really exhausted now and I noticed that Koda was keeping a close eye on me.

He knew that it must be pretty intense for me right now, feeling everything that the guys were feeling. And he could feel what I was feeling. They all could.

But all I was feeling was how happy I was right now. And I didn't want this holiday to end.

I didn't want to go back to reality.

I didn't want to go back to an impending war. A rogue werewolf who was experimenting on humans.

I didn't want to go back to my life where the people I was meant to trust most in the world want me dead.

I wanted to stay right here. In this beautiful place with these great guys who would literally die for me.

CHAPTER 86

I've never had that before. And until now, I didn't realize just how deeply they felt for me.

But there was no denying it anymore. They couldn't hide their feelings from me and I couldn't hide mine from them.

I guess we were way past those days anyway. This is how we were going to be now and I wouldn't want it any other way. No matter what I was told as I was growing up.

Fighter 87

CHAPTER 87

We managed to finish that bottle of champagne over dinner while we were eating and looking at the view. But we were also just enjoying the company.

For once we were together and we weren't talking about anything serious. We were just being here together.

They actually had me laughing pretty hard telling me stories of them as they were growing up.

The mischief they used to get into. The stunts that they used to play on people and on each other.

The fights that they used to get into when they were younger and how serious some of them got.

They even told me about Tyler and Dean almost killing each other because they both had a crush on the same girl.

They were pretty pissed at Koda for telling me that, but I was still laughing. Especially when I found out that the girl ended up leaving the pack to be with another guy who was also an Alpha and she was just stringing them along.

I thought that was the best kind of girl for them if it wasn't me.

And I could also feel how happy they felt right now to see me laugh the way that I was. They hadn't seen it before.

They'd never seen me this happy. And honestly, I hadn't ever been this happy. Not in my whole life I don't think.

And they were the ones to thank for it.

We stayed awake for a while that night before we finally went to bed in the other bed that we hadn't already used.

I was cushioned between the guys and I fell asleep pretty quickly.

They knew that I was getting really tired so they suggested that we go to bed.

I wasn't sure what time it was when I got up but as soon as we did we ordered breakfast and then we got dressed and headed downstairs.

We went to the rental rooms downstairs and the guys helped me pick out some ski's and we all went out to hit the slopes together.

"Have you ever skied before?" Dean asked.

"Do I look like a person that has ever skied before?" I asked.

"Alright. Well, this is going to be interesting. You're good at everything else that we see you do. Let's see how good you are at this." He teased me. "Oh goddess. I'm never going to live this down." I said.

Koda laughed at me but he grabbed my hand as we went outside and we went to the smallest slope out there to start off with.

Dean and Tyler were showing off by flying down the massive slopes and I rolled my eyes at them. But Koda stayed by my side the whole time.

He gave me a crash course in what to do and he promised to stay by my side the whole time.

I told him that I was going to kill him if he didn't, but he laughed at me again.

We got started on the slopes and I had a hard time picking this up. I fell heaps on the small slope but Koda was always there to help me up.

"You'll get the hang of it. Especially after the amount of times that we come here. You'll become a natural in no time." Koda said as he was helping me up. "Yeah. But I'm not sure it's going to happen on this trip." I said.

"What's the matter Nova? Can't get the hang of it?" Tyler teased as he was walking back up the slope.

"You do realize that I can still kick your ass." I said.

"Not on skis." He laughed trying to run up the slope so I couldn't go after him.

"Don't worry about them. They always show off around this place. They're really competitive, especially with each other when it comes to skiing." Koda said.

"I'm gonna hurt them so bad." I said.

"I'd like to see that." Koda said. And I smirked at him.

"Good. Cause I'm having s*x with you tonight and not them." I said.

Koda got a very amused look on his face before he turned his head and realized that a couple of humans were standing near us and they heard what I said. I pressed my lips tightly together to stop from laughing, while Koda was looking around trying to do the same thing.

But when they walked off, we both started laughing.

"I can only imagine what they are thinking of me right now." I laughed.

CHAPTER 87

"You can read their minds." Koda said.

"I don't want to." I said. So Koda started laughing again.

We spent all morning on the slopes and then we headed back to the resort to get some lunch.

and there was a nice fire going in the lobby and Koda and I walked in together to see Tyler and Dean in the restaurant and bar area.

They were sitting at a table and there were three girls sitting at the table with them.

"What the actual fk?" I asked, staring at them.

Tyler and Dean suddenly looked over at me and Koda. Realizing that I didn't like what I was seeing, they quickly said goodbye to the girls and came over to us.

"Really?" I asked.

"It happens every time we come here. Mostly because they love to show off their testosterone. *Koda said.

"Don't be mad baby. We were just talking. We never touched them." Dean said. And I looked at him strangely. "Did they touch you?" I asked.

Tyler looked away and Koda stared at Dean, also waiting for him to answer. "And remember, I can read minds so don't bother lying to me." I added.

"We pushed their hands away the second they tried." Dean said.

I could tell that he was telling the truth, but I still felt like they needed to be punished.

"Well, that sealed the deal. You two can share a bed tonight. I'm sleeping with Koda." I said, walking into the restaurant.

I sat at a different table and the guys walked over to join me as I was looking at the menu.

We ordered lunch and the guys, who didn't look like teenagers because of their size and build, ordered drinks for us.

It didn't really matter anyway. I have a fake ID that's never let me down before.

All through lunch I could tell that Tyler and Dean were worried that I was serious about not sleeping in the same bed with them tonight.

I didn't really mean it. But I was going to make them sweat on it for the rest of the day.

And Koda was acting like he was on cloud nine.

The rest of the day the whole three of them stayed by my side and helped me learn to ski and I was actually starting to have fun out there in the snow without always falling down.

By the time we got up to our room, the guys were acting really weird again.

Tyler made sure that he went into the room first and when I tried to push past them, Koda pushed me up against the wall and started kissing me.

It was a nice distraction, but it wasn't good enough.

When I finally got inside I saw that the whole room had been decorated for my 18th birthday. Gold and silver balloons, a cake, presents, everything. "When the hell did you do all this?" I asked.

"We arranged it. And made sure that it was done by the time we got back today." Dean said.

"You guys didn't have to do this." I said, walking further into the room and looking around.

There were more rose petals scattered all around the room. Leading from the door to the inside of the suite, leading to both of the bedrooms and out to the balcony.

I stood there staring at everything for a really long time, not saying anything.

"What's wrong? You don't like it?" Dean asked, worried.

"No. I just realized that I've never actually had a birthday before." I said.

Fighter 88

CHAPTER 88

I knew the guys didn't really understand what I was trying to say. But the truth was, I had never had a birthday cake before. I'd never had balloons, I'd never had presents. No one ever celebrated my birthday.

Evelyn never gave a st and Wesley was never there. He didn't even call me or send me a card on my birthday. It was just the same old monthly check that I got. It was nothing special. And I wasn't even getting that until I turned 13. "You mean, you've never had anything as special as this?" Koda asked.

"No. I mean, a cake, and presents and balloons." I said.

They all looked at each other with a bit of shock on their faces and then it changed to a little bit of anger.

"Well, that's never going to happen again. Not while you're with us." Dean said.

I hugged and kissed them all for what they had done for me.

It's more than anyone else has ever done and they really went out of their way to make sure that it would be something that I liked.

So we all had dinner first and then we had cake.

After that I opened the presents that they got me.

They got so many presents that it was unbelievable.

There was jewelry, clothes and bags. Everything a girl would want. And I was going to actually put these things to good use. Even if I didn't before. I was definitely going to now.

I got so much jewelry that they ended up buying me a jewelry box as well to keep it all in.

It really was the perfect birthday.

And I couldn't stay mad at Tyler and Dean after that.

So when I suggested the hot tub again, they were more than willing.

We had another late and exhausting night that night before we finally got some sleep.

But when I woke up the next morning, I just laid there staring at the ceiling.

"What's wrong?" Tyler asked, rolling over to face me.

"I was just thinking." I said.

1/5

CHAPTER 88

"I know. What about?" He asked.

"I don't want to go home." I said, looking at him. So he put his hand on my waist and forced me to roll over and face him.

"None of us do. But we have to eventually." He said.

"I know. But this trip has been perfect. I don't want to go back to the chaos and the backstabbing and the disloyalty." I said.

So Tyler wrapped his arms around me and pulled me close to him, like a nice big warm bear hug.

We waited for Koda and Dean to wake up before we went skiing again that morning and then we got some lunch before we had to pack up and leave the resort.

We all had the same feeling when we were driving back home.

None of us wanted to return to our normal lives again.

We all wanted to stay in that protective bubble where we just were and pretend like everything in the world is perfect.

They pulled up in front of my house and I started taking all of my stuff inside and that's when I realized that there had been a few changes since we'd been gone. And we'd only been gone for two nights.

I stood on the patio of my house and Koda walked out beside me.

"Is everything alright?" He asked.

"No. There's more people here. I can hear them. They're thoughts. Everything." I said.

"Really?" He asked.

"Have more pack members arrived from California?" I asked.

"Maybe. We have to go and see."

"Yeah. I'll come too. I want to go and see the Supernatural council." I said.

So the four of us walked up to the packhouse and as soon as we walked in the three guys were practically tackled by three other guys that were just as big as them.

I just made sure that I stepped out of the way so I wasn't taken down with them.

The triplets looked really happy to see them and hugged them when they actually got to their feet again.

But then the three strangers looked at me strangely.

"Oh. This is Nova. Nova, these are our best friends from back home. This is Aiden, Julian and Anthony. Well, Tony." He said.

"It's nice to meet you all." I said.

"It's nice to finally meet you. We've heard so much about you." Aiden said.

"I can only imagine." I said.

"It wasn't all bad." He said.

"Well, whatever it was, I'm sure it's true." I said. And they laughed.

"Good to know." Julian said.

"Alpha Grayson. I am only here to see if I can go down to the basement?" I asked.

"Absolutely. I'll go with you." He said.

So Grayson and I went down to the basement and the supernatural council were all still in their cages looking pretty depleted so I pulled up a chair and sat in the middle of the cages. "It's nice of you to remember that we are here." Vampire Lincoln said.

"I never forgot. I just wanted to make sure that you knew what a f*d up mistake you made by betting on the wrong horse." I said.

"What are you talking about?" Fae Nicole asked.

"You bet on Wesley. That was the wrong horse. And now I've not only got you all locked cages but I have that bh by the balls." I said.

"What do you want? Are you going to kill us?" Witch Celine asked.

"You're no good to me dead. But we do need to find a new supernatural council."

"We worked our asses off to get to that table. You can't take it away like that." Wolf Elias growled.

you. Well, congratulations. You did that to yourself." I said.

"We will do anything." Nicole said.

"What are we going to do with them?" Grayson asked.

"I'm not sure yet. Do people know that they're missing?"

"Yeah. But that's as far as it has gone. No one knows where they are." He said.

"That's good. We'll keep it to ourselves for now. But we'll have to figure out what to do with them soon." I said.

I had to get back home so I went to the living room and I said goodbye to the guys.

I was surprised when the triplets hugged and kissed me goodbye. We were meant to be keeping a low profile, but they said that their friends won't say anything. They'll make sure of

So I left and I went back home where Jacob was sitting on the couch watching TV.

"Is she still alive?" I asked.

"She is. She's been a real pain in the ass and demanded that I let her go." He said.

"Well, that's not going to happen."

"Hey, your computer has been going off all day today and yesterday."

So I walked over to the computer and I turned it on and I started searching through the files that I had received.

I'd received notifications about the missing women that have been found.

"Five of the missing women have been found. They were the older ones. The ones that were kidnapped first." I said. "Are they alive?" He asked.

"No. They're all dead." I said.

So I started typing and I hacked into a government site where I pulled up their autopsy reports.

Jacob looked really nervous about me doing that but no one could trace my computer. I made sure of it.

"Holy shit." I said.

"How many other women have they killed while trying to make more of me?" I asked.

"Why would they even be doing that?" Jacob asked, confused.

"They're creating an army. An unstoppable army." I said.

Fighter 89

CHAPTER 89

I relayed all this information to Grayson so he was aware of the situation and what I am assuming Ava is doing. He has spoken to Theo in length and he had no idea what she was up humans.

But I didn't know how he was going to handle this situation.

I was keeping my eye on Jacob as he kept finding out more and more horrible stuff about his mother. But he seemed to be taking it in his stride. He wasn't letting it affect him by distracting him from finding out more and more information. Jacob had completely separated himself from the situation and he is treating her as just a rogue wolf. Not his mother.

I was wondering what was going to happen when he finally comes face to face with her though.

Theo was being kept up to date on everything that we were finding out but I hadn't seen him.

So I wasn't sure how he was taking it. And the guys weren't telling me anything.

I'm guessing he wasn't taking it too well. I don't blame him. That's his mate. And he knows that what she is doing is punishable by death. It's not something that anyone was looking forward to.

I know that I was the driving force behind the whole thing, but I couldn't imagine what he was going through or what he was going to do when he saw her either.

She was oblivious to everything that was going on back here at the pack. But we knew that we had to act quick, before the new batch of women that they have in there end up dead.

Wesley showed up at my house while Jacob and I were working and we hid all the files that we had under the computer and back in their folders so he couldn't see what was going on. "What do you want Wesley?"

"I was hoping that I could see Rory. I know that she has to be really lonely in the basement." Wesley said.

"Who says she's in the basement?"

"I'm not stupid Nova. Can I please see my daughter?" He asked. And I shot him a murderous glance. +10 Bonu

CHAPTER 89

"No." I snapped.

"Nova..." He began to say.

"I'm your daughter. Not her. I'm the one that you brought into this world and the same one that you tried to take out of this world. But you consider her to be your daughter? Get f*d Wesley, and get out of my house." I yelled, opening the laptop back up.

I started getting more alerts on the computer and he was looking at me strangely but I just turned to stare at him and he knew that I wasn't going to waver on him seeing Rory. So he hung his head and turned around and left.

Since I took his mate and Rory away from him, he was looking more and more disheveled everyday.

"I don't think a quick visit would hurt." Jacob said.

"It hurts me." I snapped. And that was the end of that conversation.

I looked at the alerts that I got on my computer and it was more names that were being matched with people in the system.

I started looking through the missing persons fliers and I matched the person with the name that came up on my screen. So I grabbed that flier and I wrote 'deceased' on them. "How many does that make?" Jacob asked.

"12. And they're the ones that were kidnapped first. The earlier ones." I said.

"Who is giving you these fliers?"

"I don't know. Which is starting to worry me. I can't even sense them." I said.

"Well, it's someone who obviously knows how to hide from you." Jacob said.

12 women had already lost their lives because of what Ava was doing. That's 12 too many and I wasn't sure how many others we were going to find dead or that we were going to find missing.

It was scaring me. And I knew that we couldn't sit around any longer. This needed to come to a stop. We needed a plan and we needed it now.

Izzy was out of the dungeon so we needed to be careful because she would definitely warn her mother if she found out that we were going to California.

The triplets ended up showing up at the house with Aiden, Julian and Anthony.

They all came inside being rowdy misfits but the guys looked like they were having fun now that their friends were here.

"Hello baby." Dean said, walking over to me and kissing me.

"Hi. You're in a good moon. Are you drunk?" I asked. "We've only had a couple of drinks." Tyler said. "He means a couple of bottles." Aiden said, laughing. "Yeah. I can tell. I need you three to sober up." I said.

But they were acting like lunatics and I knew that I wasn't going to get anything out of them while they were like this.

So I grabbed my phone and I went onto the patio.

"Hello." Grayson answered.

"Hey. It's Nova. I was going to try and talk to the guys but they're drunk in my house right now and I can't get any sense out of them." I said.

"They're always like that when they get with their friends."

"Well, I've found 12 women that have turned up dead that have all been associated with Ava. And I know that there are more out there. Dead and alive. I think we need to move on that facility. We have to find out what the hell they're doing and we have to do it soon. Before more women lose their lives." I said.

"I didn't realize there were so many. Do you think it's a good idea to move on them now? I mean, she's the one that wants to start this war to kill you."

"I know that, sir. But if she's dead then she won't be able to order it." I said.

"It could prevent the war altogether." He said.

"Exactly." I said.

"Alright. We'll get together tomorrow after the boys have sobered up and we'll work something out. We'll work out a game plan." He said.

"Great. I'll talk to you then." I said.

When I went back inside I stopped as soon as I closed the door as I saw Dean surfing on my coffee table and Tyler started walking down the stairs modeling my lingerie.

"What the actual fk?" I asked.

"I don't even know what to say about this." Jacob said.

I stood there staring at them for a bit before I started to ignore them and I walked back over to the table.

I explained everything to Jacob and he didn't seem too pleased but I told him that I needed him to stay back here at the pack just in case there is any trouble while we're gone. I'm not going to ask him or his dad to help stop his mother. "Nova. Why don't you start modeling for us?" Koda asked.

"No thanks. I'm good." I said.

"You look so much better in that lingerie than Tyler does."

"I should hope so. By the way Tyler, whatever you've put on you can keep. I doubt it's even going to fit me anymore." I said.

"Do I get a piece of your lingerie? It's hot." Julian asked.

I froze where I was sitting, next to Jacob, and I slowly turned my head to look at the triplets.

They may be drunk, but they're still my mates and that was not on. Ever.

"What?" Julian asked, plopping on the couch, not understanding what he just did.

"Wait a minute. You don't know what you just did wrong?" I asked.

"No." He said.

"We know that you don't want to announce your relationship with the triplets because Izzy is a bitch." Anthony said. And I looked at Jacob. But when I looked at the triplets, they weren't having fun anymore and they were all glaring at Julian and Anthony.

"I'm not just screwing the guys. I'm their fg mate." I said. Almost immediately Julian and Anthony's faces both dropped like they knew they were about to get their asses kicked.

"Guys. Please don't kill them. I swear, we did not know that. We didn't know you found your mate, you never told us." Aiden said, jumping in to try and defend his friends. "I think you guys should leave. Now." I said, getting up from the table.

I positioned myself between the triplets and the other three. They all agreed that it would be best and I told the three of them to sit down and I would get them some coffee. They were growling and I knew that they couldn't help it because they were drunk, but I wasn't going to let them kill who I assumed were their best friends from back home. So I got their coffees and they sat in the living room sobering up while I was sitting on the coffee table in front of them.

CHAPTER 89

When they finally passed out, I sighed with relief and Jacob visibly relaxed as well.

That was a conflict that we avoided. And I knew that they would be easier to talk to when they wake up.

Tyler will freak out though because he's going to be waking up in my lingerie.

So I grabbed my phone and I stood back and took a couple photos while they were all passed out.

Jacob started laughing and I went back to the table to keep working.

CHAPTER 90

Jacob left a few hours after that and when I decided to call it a night, I put a blanket over the triplets and I went upstairs.

I had a shower and I got into bed.

It had to be about the middle of the night when I was woken up by the guys arguing as they came into my bedroom and I put my head up to see what was going on. "What the fk are you arguing about?" I asked.

"They're paying the piss out of me because I was wearing your underwear." Tyler said.

"Guys, leave him alone." I said, putting my head back down on the pillow.

"Thank you baby." Tyler said.

"I got photos." I said in a really sleepy voice.

"Hey!" Tyler yelled, but the others started laughing.

They all got into bed with me and Tyler didn't know where his clothes were so he got on one side of me while he was naked and the other two got on the other side.

It didn't take long for me to go back to sleep and since I was already facing Tyler, he pulled me closer to him and I put my head on his chest.

"We're sorry baby. We shouldn't have come over here like that." Koda said, pressing up behind me and wrapping his arm around my waist. "It was interesting." I said.

"You left for a while. What was that about?" Dean asked.

"I had to go and see your father. We're making plans to attack the facility." I said. And they all put their heads up to look at me. "Are you serious?" Tyler asked.

"I found a few more of the women that were abducted by Ava. They're dead. We have to stop her." I explained.

"Damn. Alright. Whatever happens, you know that we'll be there with you." Dean said.

"And hopefully that will prevent the war that she's planning." I said.

"So, she won't have a chance to kill you." Tyler said.

CHAPTER 90

"That's what we're hoping for. But I don't even know if she's the one that's behind the war or if she's just taking advantage of it." I said. "That's why dad's starting to bring over more of our pack. So they can help protect us and you through the war that's coming." Koda said. "We don't have to talk about this now. Go back to sleep." Tyler said, stroking my hair.

And he didn't have to tell me twice. Once they stopped talking to me and asking questions, I went to sleep pretty quickly.

When I woke up the next morning I had to feed Rory and then I went on a hike around the perimeter while the guys were still sleeping it off. When I got back to the house there was an envelope taped to the back door of my house.

I looked around everywhere to see if anyone was lurking around but I couldn't see anyone.

I went inside and it looked like the guys had just woken up.

"Did you guys hear anything?" I asked.

"When?" Koda asked.

"This morning. While I was gone. There's another envelope on my backdoor." I said.

"We just got up. We didn't hear anything." Tyler said. So I opened the envelope and it was full of surveillance photos and a USB drive.

The photos looked like a meeting of some sort. A meeting between a lot of people, of different species. And I put the USB into my computer.

"Alright. I know that we all know what we're meant to be doing but we need to keep meeting like this because things in Alaska keep changing." The man said.

"They are taking over more of their pack from California. The Alaska pack is growing. Whatever we're going to do, we need to do it now." A woman in the audience said.

"None of us are going to let that hybrid take her rightful place. Wesley has already agreed that he will take his seat on the throne of the werewolf community. He's already taken out the supernatural council so we don't need to worry about them. And Wesley's daughter Nova, never needs to know that she is the heir of the lost werewolf royal family." The man at the front said.

"I think we need to hold off for a little while." Wesley said, standing up.

"What the fk is he doing there?" Koda asked.

CHAPTER 90

"Let's see. He might be trying to stop it in order to save his mate." I said.

"Why should we stop it? I mean, Nova is the most powerful being on Earth. The only other person that scares me more than her is the Moon Goddess herself. And whatever god these people pray to." The man said, referring to the other species that were in the crowd.

"We can't stop now. We need to move forward with the plan and get rid of her." A man yelled.

The whole crowd was cheering and Wesley sat back down.

He didn't try very hard to stop them from attacking me.

"The royal family went into hiding 200 years ago." Dean said.

I didn't know what to say so I just went to have a shower and get dressed and Grayson showed up after that so we all sat around the table and I showed him everything that I had found on the computer and all the missing women's fliers. And we showed him the USB.

He started looking at me a lot differently after that, now that he knew that I was the missing heir to the throne.

"That makes sense why you have three mates." Grayson said.

"I don't care about the royal title or whatever the fk they are talking about. We're just going to stop this war. They aren't killing the triplets and they aren't killing me." I said.

"Well, after showing me all of this I think it's really important to go after Ava's facility as soon as possible. Before anyone else dies." He said.

"Yeah." I said.

"Are you okay?" Tyler asked.

"Yeah. Things are just suddenly starting to make a lot more sense to me." I said.

"You're a princess." He said.

"And I'll be damned if Wesley is ever crowned King." I said.

They all agreed on that so Grayson called a meeting at the meeting hall of all his warriors.

We all went to it and Grayson and the triplets were the ones telling them what they thought the triplets needed to know. Just that all species are coming to kill the triplets and possibly Grayson too.

And they are going to try and kill me first so I can't protect the triplets. So the warriors also need to help protect me.

We're going to be attacked by so many creatures that none of us really knew what to expect.

CHAPTER 90

But before that we needed to sort out who was going to come to California with us.

We told them about the facility and they were all put under Alpha orders not to tell anyone about the facility or about Ava.

Theo was at the meeting and so was Jacob. They already knew all of this but they didn't say anything.

They knew what needed to be done so they were told by the Alpha that they were staying at the pack while we took care of the facility. They couldn't be there when it happened.

Theo just asked that we call him before we attacked. He needed to do something but it was going to happen moments before we attacked.

The triplets looked at me while I was leaning against the wall on the side of the room and I was looking at Theo and Jacob.

knew what Theo was talking about. He was going to reject his mate of over 20 years right before we attacked the facility. So Grayson agreed to that one request.
