Fighter 91

CHAPTER 91

As soon as all the warriors were sorted out and we knew who was going and who was staying, we had to make arrangements to get them to California.

We were going to take the private jet that Grayson owned and we had to sort out the warriors.

But I headed home while they were doing that and I made sure that Jacob and the triplets were all occupied when I slipped out.

As soon as I got home I turned the computer on and I got onto the werewolf dark web and I started trying to find everything I could on the mysterious royal family that I had never heard of until today.

I thought I was only here to make sure that the triplets survived and carried on their family name. But now, I know that my purpose was a lot bigger than anyone let me know.

But someone obviously knew if they were leaving me all of these little presents telling me about the facility and what Ava was doing and giving me this information on the people that were planning on attacking.

I was trying to piece it all together.

I thought they were going to attack because they wanted to kill the triplets. But after watching that USB, they were all only talking about killing me so I couldn't reclaim the throne.

It didn't make any sense to me.

So I started researching the royal family and they went into hiding 200 years ago when the supernatural council attacked them and they knew that the only way the royal bloodline was going to continue was if no one knew who they were. So they changed their names and started living among the packs. Eventually, they just became part of the packs and no one questioned it anymore.

At least, not until I came along.

I even found a photo of the royal castle. It's abandoned but it still looks in pretty good condition for a place that's been sitting there for 200 years unoccupied.

I grabbed the photos that I received this morning and I started circling the faces of the people that I recognised in the photos. But unfortunately, there weren't too many.

I knew that I needed to figure this out and it needed to be now.

I needed to make sure that we all survived this. And the supernatural council needed to be disbanded. That was an absolute certainty.

1/4

And if they weren't willing to go back to their own people, I was going to be left with no choice.

but to kill them.

I found a bit of chatter about the supernatural council as well.

People were starting to panic because they couldn't find them. And that's because all of their cages have a binding spell around them. Even if the witches wanted to locate their leader, they weren't going to be able to. Not while they were being hidden by another witch.

I kept looking at the photos and the computer and I was trying to piece everything together.

Putting things together with what Ava was doing.

Was it all connected?

Did they all have the same goal?

Was Ava trying to produce a super warrior team in order to protect the royal family when Wesley tried to take back the throne?

I guess that did make sense. They are in this together.

And the royal family has already been forced into hiding once. Maybe they are trying to make sure that it doesn't happen again.

I heard something out the back of my house so I got up and I walked over and slammed the back door open.

"Jasper." I said, shocked.

"Hey Nova. Miss me?" He asked.

"What are you doing here? I thought you went back to the fae world." I said.

"I have been there. Well, I've been back and forth." He said.

"What are you doing here?" I asked.

"I was just checking." He said, looking at my back door.

"You're the one that's been leaving the messages." I said.

"You need to know how much trouble you're in"

"I already know that. But no one ever said anything to me about the royal family."

"The war is only there to distract you from the truth. The triplets are the ones being used. 214 You're the real target." Jasper said.

"Ava made me think that it was the other way around."

"They've been planning this for years. Ever since they found out who you are. What you are."

He said.

"So, everything's a lie. They sent me here to protect the triplets not knowing that they were my mates. And during this war, I am the real target. Why would they send me to this pack? I mean, it's so far out of the way." I said.

"Because they knew that Grayson would be the only Alpha that wouldn't help them. Grayson's family goes back generations. And 200 years ago, they were the chosen personal warriors of the royal family. Grayson still prides himself on that. And he will never do anything to stand in the way of you taking the throne back." Jasper explained.

"Why are you helping me? From where those photos were taken and the video, you were obviously at the meeting." I said.

"I go to all the meetings. They believe that I am helping them to attack you." He said.

"Right. But you're not?" I asked.

"I wouldn't be giving you any of this information if I wanted you dead. Grayson isn't the only one that comes from royal followers. My family does too." He said.

"You used to serve my family." I said.

"Yeah. If you win this war and you take back that throne, you will be the most powerful being on the planet. Every supernatural creature will have to come through you before they do anything." He explained.

"And that's why the supernatural council wanted to get rid of my ancestors. All because of fg power." I said.

"Yeah. All because of power." He said.

I sat on the back stairs and stared out into the forest that was right behind my house.

It was really quiet out here except for the birds in the trees and creatures running around the forest.

"Are you alright?"

"I'm not alright with any of this. Who the hell said that I wanted to be the one on the throne?" I asked.

"You don't?"

CHAPTER 91

"I don't know. I only found out today that there is a royal family." I said.

"What's going on at the meeting hall?" He asked.

"We're making plans to attack Ava's facility. Thanks to all of your information I've been finding missing women from that facility dead. So, we're putting a stop to it." I said.

"Good. It's about time someone did. I didn't know who else to send after her." Jasper said.

"I'm glad that you sent that stuff to me. I want to look her in the eye before I rip her to shreds." I said.

Jasper could tell that I was being torn in so many different directions right now that I couldn't hold my emotions in like I usually could.

I rarely show anger, but when I say that I can't wait to kill someone, that just proves how much the pressure is getting to me.

There's too many things happening all at once and we needed to start sorting them out. We had to start destroying the people that wanted to destroy us instead of just talking about it.

I was sick of talking about it. So, I was going to make sure that all of these little pieces started to disappear.

They were talking about bringing the fight to me.

Maybe I should take the fight to them.

It took a couple days of planning but once we were finished, Jacob agreed to stay at my place to take care of Rory and Grayson, the triplets and I headed to the airport.

We got on the private jet and flew back to California while the others were driving in large SUVs. So it was going to take them a while to get there, but it only took us a couple of hours. As soon as we arrived in California, we landed in Crescent City, which was on the other side of the forest and the rack wouldn't know that we were there

We checked into a hotel and the triplets made sure that we got the biggest room since the four of us would be staying there together.

I put my bag down as soon as I walked inside and I walked over to the large glass wall to see the ocean that was outside the window, past a little bit of forest.

I could see the lighthouse and everything from where I was standing.

It was breathtaking. I wanted to stay here forever. But of course, that couldn't happen.

Grayson came to our room straight away and we sat at the table and started going through the plans

We had blueprints of the facility and we all had to make sure that we knew what we were doing

"Do the warmors in the pack know that we're here and what we're doing?" Koda asked.

Treat They already know and they're waiting for us. As soon as we make a move then they will Grayson said

Aingh Well the warriors leh before us from Alaska, so they shouldn't be too far away." Koda said looking at bo watch

"We attack tomorrow Get some sleep. And post sess. I know that we can take out these bastards that are helping Ave. We'll save all the grip that are in there! Grayson said, looking "Yeah I know" I said

So Grayson left our app to go back to bus and I leaned back in the chair. Everything raced

Hough my mind that could barely express a sentence together

Koda walked over to me and got down in front of the chair that I was sitting on and rested

his head on my lap

CHAPTER 92

I started running my hands through his hair and he brought his arms up around my waist.

He looked up at me and he could tell that there was a lot bothering me right now. That everything was finally starting to make sense and I was the target all along.

They knew that I was confused, that I was upset and I just wanted to disappear to a place where we could just live a simple life instead of fighting with everyone and everything that comes for us. Koda got on his knees so he was facing me and he leaned forward and kissed me. Gently and softly.

He stood up and he grabbed onto my hands and he lifted me to my feet and led me towards the bedroom.

The other two followed without saying anything and Tyler closed the door to the room before he walked towards the bed.

Koda turned me to face him and he started slowly undressing me while looking me up and down the whole time.

He gently laid me down on the bed and he undressed in front of me before he leaned over me and started kissing me again.

Tyler and Dean got undressed before they climbed on the bed on either side of me.

Koda started kissing down my neck until he got to my breasts and he started sucking on both of them.

Tyler leaned over and started kissing me while I felt Dean's hands everywhere, sparking electricity wherever he touched.

I sat up on the side of the bed and Koda kneeled down in front of me and Tyler still moved. beside me, kissing me and I felt Dean trailing kisses up and down my back.

Koda kissed all the way down my stomach until he got to my thighs and he pushed them open as wide as they could go.

Tyler was kissing my neck and I lifted up my right arm and put it behind Dean's head as he was kissing that side of my neck.

Koda started moving his fingers up and down my slit and rubbing the pad of his thumb on my clit.

I leaned my head back, letting out a moan which Tyler quickly muffled with another kiss.

Dean moved to the side of me and I laid back on the bed while my legs were still hanging off 2/4 the side of the bed.

Koda moved in closer and he licked up and down my slit before he started sticking his tongue in and out of me.

I grabbed Dean's ck in my hand and started rubbing it up and down while Tyler put his in my mouth, moving it in and out really slowly.

Koda added a finger inside of me while he was licking the outside and then quickly added a second one.

Tyler pushed his ck so far in my mouth that I gagged a couple of times before he would pull it out again, but he would do it again. Moaning the whole time, showing that he was loving it. Koda was making me writhe underneath his touch and only Tyler was able to muffle my moans.

Koda pulled his fingers out of me and he climbed up on the bed further so we were face to face, but I kept concentrating on Tyler.

Koda lined himself up against me and he thrust straight in slowly but making sure his whole ck was inside of me.

He started moving slowly in and out of me and was kissing down my neck and chest until he reached my breast and started sucking on my n*5.

Tyler pushed himself all the way in my mouth again, letting out a final loud moan before he found his release in my mouth and he leaned down and kissed me. Our tongues dancing with each other. Him tasting himself in my mouth.

Tyler laid down next to me, facing me and pulling my hair out of the way when I turned to face Dean.

I gestured for him to come down to me and he leaned down so I could kiss him as well.

When he got back up again I leaned over slightly to get his ck in my mouth but I kept my hand on it at the same time.

I was still rubbing his ck while I was sucking on it at the same time.

Koda was still thrusting into me, moving slowly. A lot slower and more intimately than he ever had before.

It didn't take Dean long before he found his release and he pulled his ck out of my mouth and kissed me.

Koda put his thumb and forefinger on my chin and forced me to look at him now. 3/4

He stared me in the eye as he was thrusting in and out of me.

I wrapped my arms around his neck and he pulled my legs up to wrap them around his waist.

He started moving a little faster while he was staring me in the eye and he leaned down and started kissing my neck, causing me to moan out loud.

I could feel myself starting to get hotter. I got goosebumps all over and butterflies in my stomach.

I let out one last moan as I dug my nails into his back and I lifted my head off the bed as I came all over him.

He held his hand up behind my head so I wouldn't put it back down on the bed, and he thrust into me a couple more times before his movements became erratic and he filled me with his seed.

He put a hand on either side of my head, not wanting to get off of me or out from inside me. He leaned down and kissed me.

"I love you." He whispered.

"I love you too." I said back to him. "I love you all." I added.

We all needed to take a shower after that and then we got into bed.

None of us were sleeping but we weren't talking either.

We all had way too much on our minds tonight to get any sleep.

93

We all came together just after dawn at the edge of the forest. Grayson, the triplets, warriors and myself.

Grayson gave us one last wish of luck and word of encouragement before we shifted and ran off into the forest.

The town that was occupied by wolves was on the other side of the forest and even though it is Grayson's pack, we didn't want them to know that we were coming.

A lot of the warriors knew, but the man that he had left in charge didn't. Because we didn't know how far involved he was with what Ava was doing.

Honestly, after everything we had found I knew that Grayson was doubting a lot of people that he once knew and trusted with his life.

It was really horrible to feel. He put on a brave face and I always tried really hard not to hear what people were thinking, but sometimes they were too loud to ignore. And that's definitely been the case with Grayson.

He's been questioning himself a lot lately. Especially as an Alpha and a leader. I don't know how he could think this was his fault. But he was taking on all of the responsibility because he didn't know what his own pack members were doing.

We were on our way to sort it out and he would have to handle the fallout afterwards.

I know that won't be easy and he'll have a lot of questions to answer, especially because she's the Beta's mate, but the Beta didn't even know and I'll make sure everyone knows that as well. How was the Alpha meant to know when her own mate didn't.

It took us a couple hours to run through the forest before we got to the edge of the town and that's where we were met with the warriors that were protecting the rest of the pack.

They were waiting for us and we crept around the town until the facility came into view.

It wasn't right on the edge of the forest which was a problem because people would see us running through town, but that's what we had to navigate.

They'll notice their Alpha, but we didn't know who Ava had on her payroll.

Once it was coordinated with the warriors that we just met up with, we ran out from the forest and straight through town.

And as we suspected, there were people everywhere.

1/4

CHAPTER 93

But we were running down the main street to get to the facility and people knew to get the hell out of our way.

As soon as we reached the building we all split off and I ran around the back to the back door that was only a small metal door with a big lock on it. The front door was the main entrance and that's where most of the other people were entering from.

As soon as I got to the backdoor, I raised onto my back legs and I rested one paw on the wall while the other was on the lock on the door.

The lock melted under my touch and I pushed the door open.

As soon as I walked inside, I saw that it was abandoned down here. There wasn't anyone waiting for me.

It looked like a basement but I could hear all the shouting coming from upstairs as the battle had already started.

I found the stairs and I went up one flight to a floor that looked a little more sterile.

The floors were white tiles but the walls were still cement.

I heard shouting coming from a room at the end of the hall, so I started walking down that hall and I heard someone gasp.

I looked to my left and there was a human woman in a glass cell right beside me who looked scared when she saw me.

She was moving as far away from me as she could and I could see that she was pregnant.

"Relax. I'm not going to hurt you. I'm here to get you out." I said, letting her hear my thoughts. "How did you do that?" She asked.

"Trust me. I'm gonna get you all out." I said. But she sat there looking stunned.

I continued up the hallway, looking at all the women in the cell's and it was making me more and more pissed off,

I got to the room at the end of the hallway and Ava was on the ground gripping her chest while there were other people wearing surgical gowns and a human girl unconscious on the table.

I guess Theo just rejected Ava. He actually did it. I was impressed.

Well, that was until I saw Izzy standing over her mother trying to find out what was wrong her.

with

Izzy looked up and saw me standing there and I growled at her straight away.

CHAPTER 93

"What did you do to my mother?" She demanded to know.

"I didn't do anything. Yet. That would be your father who did that." I answered.

"My dad?" She asked, confused.

"Your father just rejected me." Ava said, barely able to catch her breath.

I looked at the other people in the room as they were inching towards the door to try and escape. So I slammed the door shut with my back legs, not letting them go anywhere.

I looked at the woman on the table and she was unconscious but then I saw a baby cot against the wall. And it wasn't empty.

They had just delivered her baby and she was still unconscious.

Is this when they were going to kill her?

"Nova. What the hell are you doing?" Ava asked, finally being able to stand up.

"Something I should have done a long time ago." I said, baring my teeth and getting down into the attack position.

"You are not going to hurt my mother." Izzy yelled. She shifted in a matter of seconds and she attacked me.

I was ready for it, and I flipped onto my back and used my four legs as leverage and kicked her across the room and she took out the other two people that had been trying to escape. I ran to the other side of the table and I touched the table that the woman was on and the cot beside her.

I closed my eyes and pictured the hallway outside of the room that I was in, and suddenly they were both gone.

I turned back to look at Ava and she stood there shocked.

"You're getting better." She said, looking impressed.

"Yeah. Thanks to you. I knew I had to get better so I could kill you." I said.

"I can explain all of this." She said.

"You want to create a super army of werewolves that are just like me." I said.

"Alright. Maybe you already know." She said.

"Yeah. Unlike you, I actually do my homework." I said.

I then heard a growl behind me and I turned around as Izzy was about to attack me but the door slammed open and a wolf ran inside and intercepted Izzy.

"Jacob." I yelled.

"I wasn't going to let you have all the fun. Deal with her. I've got my sister." He assured me.

So I turned back to Ava and I bared my teeth and got into position.

Ava knew that there was no talking to me right now so she started looking around frantically and she grabbed a bottle of a clear liquid that was on the bench against the wall and she threw it in my face.

It stung and I used my paw to try and get it out of my eyes as I roared with the pain.

She tried to run past me but she wasn't quick enough..

My eyes were still stinging but I managed to throw my paw out and grab a hold of Ava, causing her to scream as my claws dug into her back.

"Mom. No." Izzy screamed.

Ava fell to the ground and I stood over her. Letting her know who was the one that was going to kill her. The same wolf that she trained.

Fighter 94

CHAPTER 94

Jacob's surprise visit was keeping Izzy at bay but she was starting to fight her brother as well.

She was trying to get past him to try and save her mother, but he wasn't letting her. He knew that Ava needed to be stopped and not even Izzy was going to change his mind. Ava was trying to back up and away from me, but I wasn't letting her get too far.

I was standing over her, walking as she was trying to back away from me but she wasn't able

"Nova. Please. You have to understand what I am trying to do here." Ava said.

"You're killing innocent women." I growled.

"No. No one is dead. They're fine."

"I found five of them. They're dead. Once they get too old to have children and they aren't of any use to you anymore. You get rid of them." I yelled.

"Alright. I'm sorry. I know that you wouldn't have liked me doing this. You're so special that we needed more like you. To protect our species." She said.

"And what about your plan to kill me? The whole war is a distraction just to kill me. Why? Because I can't be controlled as easily as a new baby." I growled, snapping at her face. "I'm sorry." Ava said as the tears started streaming down her face.

I stood up straight to look down on her and look even more menacing than I did before.

"It's too late for sorry. And it's too late to save you." I said, strangely quiet.

Ava's eyes grew wider as I raised my paw and I pinned her to the ground with it.

She started screaming under the weight of my paw, but a red glow started emanating from her inside until she caught on fire and I pulled my paw back and she burnt from the inside out.

I stepped away as I heard Izzy screaming in my head and Jacob was standing on the other side, staring at his mother's charred body. Knowing that this was the only ending she was ever going to get.

I turned to face Izzy and Jacob looked at me before he turned around as well.

She then looked up at us and she started backing up against the wall as I walked over and stood beside Jacob.

"She knew all about it." I said to Jacob.

1/5

CHAPTER 94

"I know. I didn't think she had a clue. I didn't even know that she was here." Jacob said.
"It's your call." I said.

Tyler then burst into the room and Izzy actually looked relieved.

"Tyler. Look, your bh ex is trying to kill me." Izzy said.

But Tyler walked up beside me and stood there glaring at her.

That's when she realized that she was completely screwed and she'd been played.
"Jacob." I said.

But he just looked at me before he turned around and he walked out of the room.

He couldn't kill his sister, but he wasn't going to do anything to save her.

I looked at Tyler and he nodded at me before he stepped forward.

He'd put up with Izzy a lot longer than me and I thought that he had the right to finish her off.

He pinned her against the wall and attacked her while I listened to her gargled screams before they finally stopped and her lifeless body fell to the ground.

I shifted back to my human self and I found some scrubs in the room to put on.

I didn't want to scare the women in the hallway anymore than I already had.

So Tyler did the same thing.

"There's only about half a dozen women out there." I said.

"Yeah. They're the ones that are about to give birth. There are others on different levels." He said. So I nodded.

We walked out of the room and Grayson met us in the hallway with Koda and Dean.

"Ava?" Grayson asked.

"She's dead." I said.

"What about all these women?" Tyler asked.

"They're all human. But now they know what we are."

"If they give birth, the babies are going to have massive defects." I said.

"A lot of the babies that are born don't make it. Neither do the mothers." A woman said from the cell next to me.

"They die in childbirth?" I asked.

"Yeah. If they don't then the child does. There's only a few babies that survive and they are deformed in some way." She explained.

"Just like Bronson." I said, looking at Grayson.

"We can't leave them here. We'll take them home with us. They can stay in the houses that aren't occupied yet." Grayson said.

"What if they want to go home. They have families." I said.

"We promise not to mention who you are or what you are. We'll just say that we were kidnapped and impregnated." Another woman said.

"You've saved us. We aren't going to get you into trouble?" Another one asked.

"Are they telling the truth?" Grayson asked. So I turned to look at the women. Their thoughts were so loud and so powerful that I could barely tell them apart.

"Yeah. They're all telling the truth." I said.

"But what about when they have the babies?" Koda asked.

Sol unlocked all the cells and I stood in front of the women that I had just let out.

I muttered a few words to myself in latin as all the women looked up and stared straight at

"You're going to go home. You're going to say that you were raped but you were rescued. You will not tell anyone about wolves or about this facility. You will get a c-section a couple of weeks before you are due to have the baby. And if the baby looks like it's going to be special, not human. You will come and find me as soon as you suspect that the baby is special." I ordered.

"Yes, Nova." The women said in unison. And they all turned and walked out of the hallway and up the stairs without saying another word.

"You can Alpha command?" Grayson asked.

"No. But I can put spells on people and make them do what I want." I said.

"Good to know." Koda said, looking a little worried.

I found the other women on the other floors, stepping over dead bodies of people who worked at the facility and I did the same thing with all the other women and they left. They were going to go home and hopefully have a happy life. If that's even possible after what

Ava has done to them.

CHAPTER 94

They could potentially have babies that will need round the clock care after they're born or they will lose their babies.

There wasn't really an upside to this. But, at least they were free and going back to their families now.

"Alpha. In here." A warrior sang out.

So we all went to an office and it looked like the one that Ava was working out of.

"What is it?" Grayson asked.

"We've found so many files here. Some of these women have been pregnant more than once."

The warrior said.

"Well, where are the other babies? Are they the ones that died?" I asked.

"No. A lot of women have had miscarriages because their bodies can't handle the pregnancy. These women that just left, are the few that could handle it."

"But there's more missing women out there. This wasn't all of them." I said.

"I think a lot more dead bodies are going to be uncovered." Dean said.

I walked over to the window and Ava had a perfect view of the forest that was past the town.

"And I bet they're all buried in there." I said.

"That's close to where the others were found." Jacob said from the doorway.

"Yeah. National forests in California. Great dump sites for dead bodies." I said.

"There's nothing more we can do here. We'll notify the nearest sheriff and state police and let them take it from there." Grayson said.

I walked through the rest of the facility before I left and there were dead bodies everywhere. People that were protecting Ava and the work that she was doing here.

They were protecting her against their own Alpha and this is what they had to show for it.

As soon as we were clear of the building, a huge crowd had gathered down the street, where we were standing and we stood there waiting for a couple of warriors to run up to us.

One of them handed a detonator to Grayson and he made sure there was no one else inside using the mind link.

He then pushed the button and the whole place imploded on itself and was leveled in a matter of seconds.

The whole town had come out to see what was going on and Grayson was going to question 4/5 everyone that was left in the pack to make sure that they didn't know what was going on in that building.

But I imagine Ava kept it pretty close. Only the people inside would have known. She wouldn't have wanted to risk the Alpha finding out.

But when I turned around to look at the crowd, I noticed that almost everyone was looking at me. The stranger. The one person that they didn't know who was standing at the front with the Alpha and the triplets. had a feeling that they had no idea who I was.

Fighter 95

CHAPTER 95

As we were all standing in the street I realized that this section of the pack wasn't told that the triplets had found their mate. And I was getting a lot of really bad looks from the teenagers and some curious looks from the adults. The guys felt how uneasy I was feeling and they turned around to look at the crowd as well.

"You better get used to that. Not many teenagers are going to like you for a while." Koda said. "They just have to get over it." Dean said, putting his arm around my waist.

"Yeah. I guess so." I said.

I looked over and Jacob was standing off to the side by himself.

Dean let go of me and I walked over to Jacob.

"Why did you come here Jacob? You knew what was going to happen." I said.

"I know. And I needed to be here to believe it. To believe that my mother was capable of doing all of this. And she was. And so was my sister." He said.

"Jacob. Your father is going to need you now. More than ever." I said.

"Yeah. I kinda knocked him out with wolfsbane because he was the one that was going to come here. I couldn't let him see mom being killed." Jacob said.

"That's very noble of you. And very stupid." I said.

"I know. I'm gonna start heading home. I have to go and see him."

"Alright. Just let me know if you need anything. You know that I'm always here."

"I know. Thanks Nova." He said. And he started walking down the street and disappeared the smoke that was covering the street.

Tyler walked over and put his arms around my waist and rested his chin on my shoulder.

"Is he alright?" Tyler asked.

"No. But hopefully he will be. We have to help them. Him and his dad." I said.

"And we will." "Okay." I said.

Grayson started separating the pack members so he could talk to them immediately and he needed the triplets help. So I stayed with them but I just stood back and listened to what was 1/4 being said.

I didn't add anything or ask any of my own questions. It wasn't my place.

I just wanted to hear it for myself and the triplets agreed that I wasn't allowed to wander off on my own.

I looked around at all the people in the pack and it was a lot bigger than I realized. There were hundreds of people, if not more, that hadn't moved to Alaska.

I knew that we were going to be here today but we didn't get to talk to everyone today so the guys took me to the diner to get something to eat and then we walked back to the original pack house.

I was blown away when I saw it. Compared to the house that they live in now, this one was a fg mansion.

It was massive in white stone and two large wolf statues at the entrance of the stairs at the front of the building.

They showed me all around the packhouse and I couldn't believe how big it was.

There were omega's working in the packhouse because they had to keep it clean and tidy at all times, just in case the Alpha showed up at any moment.

We were taken to Tyler's room because his room had the biggest bed in this packhouse which had me wondering. How many people was he sharing a bed with in this room before I came along?

I didn't really care about asking the question right now.

We all went to the bathroom and had a shower and Koda gave me one of his shirts to wear to bed.

We were so exhausted from today that we crashed almost immediately as soon as we climbed into bed.

The next morning I woke up first and I grabbed a pair of shorts out of the cupboard and I went downstairs to get a coffee and I sat on the front patio with it.

I loved being here right now. There was no snow and it was nowhere near as cold as it was back at home. I was loving it right now.

But it wasn't long before I saw people walking past the packhouse, looking over to see the new girl that they hadn't been introduced to.

I saw warriors training in the field beside the packhouse and there were people off in the distance closer to town, going about their business.

It really just looked like a normal little town.

A place that looks pretty great to raise kids. But it's a shame that I wasn't raised here. I think I would have liked it.

And I would have grown up with the triplets before we knew that we were mates.

But since I'm an outsider, I didn't know what the hell was going to happen once these pack members find out what I am.

Are they going to try and reject me like the ones in Alaska? Am I going to have to save the Alpha's life again just so they will start to accept me?

That seems like a stretch to me. But we'll see what happens. We aren't even going to be staying here for that long.

"Hey, I was wondering where you went." Tyler said, walking out onto the patio and he closed the door behind him.

"Yeah. Just checking out the town. It's beautiful from up here." I said.

"Yeah. You can practically see the whole town from this hill."

"No kidding." I said. So he sat beside me and he put his arm around me and pulled me closer to him so I was resting against his side.

"Is everything else alright?" He asked.

"I don't know. Maybe I should go and ask those girls that keep wandering past the packhouse.

"I said. And he cleared his throat, obviously uncomfortable.

"You know that we had a life before we met you." He said.

"Yeah. So did I. But mine is constantly being flashed in your face. Except for Jacob, but you know the whole story with him. These chicks are just walking around giving me death stares." "They don't mean anything. Not anymore. Not since we met you."

"I know. But are they going to reject me like the others when they find out what I am? That I'm just like the same thing that Ava was trying to create?"

"None of that was your fault. What Ava was doing, that was not your fault. You had nothing to do with that."

"That's not true. I was born. I was born with all the abilities and no defects. That's what they were trying to recreate. So, it is my fault." 3/4

CHAPTER 95

"Alright. It's not your fault that you were born. And I wouldn't have it any other way." He said.

He grabbed my chin and forced me to look at him.

"I love you, exactly the way you are. I wouldn't change anything." He said, leaning forward and kissing me.

"I love you too...I never thought I would actually say this, but I actually can't wait to get back home." I said. And Tyler started laughing.

"You want to go back to the snow?" He asked.

"Well, we have to. There's a war headed that way."

"Oh damn it. Don't remind me."

"Sorry." I said. So he kissed me on the forehead and I rested my head back on his shoulder.

Dean and Koda then ran out the front of the packhouse.

"What's going on?" I asked.

"We have to get back to Alaska. Now." Koda said.

"Why?" I asked.

"Because they're under attack."

Fighter 96

CHAPTER 96

Tyler and I ran inside the house and grabbed what we could as fast as we could and Grayson was waiting for us in the SUV as soon as we got out the house and he drove us to the airport. We boarded the private jet and took off immediately.

"Do we know how much damage there is yet? How many people are there?" Dean asked.

"What are they? Species?" I asked.

"I don't know. I got the SOS from Theo. He was trying to evacuate all the women and children." Grayson said.

"I only had that one training session with the kids. I didn't have a chance to teach them anything of value." I said.

"We had to take down that facility. You said that you were going to go back and start hammering their training into them. Toughen them up." Tyler said.

But I turned to look out the window knowing that there was a lot more that I could do.

And right now, we didn't even know what the hell we were running into. I mean, there were so many things that I still had to teach them.

It was for this exact purpose but now they couldn't even protect themselves, let alone anyone else that they might be with. Younger kids, their siblings.

I was anxious the whole way back to Alaska and as soon as we landed, Koda got in the driver's seat because we knew that he would get us there faster while Grayson was in the front.

I slid in the middle of Dean and Tyler and we started speeding back to the pack, almost losing control of the car several times because of the black ice that was on the ground.

But we managed to get back in one piece and Koda pulled up in the middle of the town.

We all got out of the car and looked around to see that it was completely empty.

No one came out to see us, no one attacked us. There was absolutely no one.

I ran towards my house and I burst inside and down to the basement.

Rory was still locked up, but I ran back upstairs and looked around my house. There was no one there.

The triplets were at the packhouse looking for their mother and Grayson went to Theo's house.

CHAPTER 96

But everyone came out empty. No one was around.

I turned towards town and I started running into all of the businesses and checked them out completely. To make sure no one was hiding out the back of the building or anything like that. Grayson and the triplets checked the shelter but they came up empty there as well.

"This doesn't make sense." I said.

"None of it does." Grayson said.

"Where are the bodies? If they were attacked, where are the bodies? We weren't here so they wouldn't have kept the pack alive. They would have killed everyone looking for us." I said.

"I never thought of that. There's no bodies. Not even along the treelines." Koda said.

"Then where the hell did everyone go?" Dean asked.

"They have to be somewhere. Do you think Theo could have evacuated them and taken them somewhere else?" I asked.

"It's possible. We were looking at different locations in case this one was compromised. After we heard about the impending war when we thought that these people were only after the triplets." Grayson said. "Do you know which place he liked the most? That's where he would have led them."

"If they got out. They could be being held hostage somewhere." Tyler said.

"It would have taken a lot of people to control that amount of wolves." Grayson said. But I looked around at the abandoned town.

"Not necessarily. It depends on what attacked them." I said.

I walked over to one of the buildings and I bent down to see a scorched patch on the ground that had gone through the melted snow, right next to the diner.

"Witches?" Grayson asked.

"Or fae. It would have to be a very powerful fae though." I said.

"Why's that?" Dean asked.

"Fae's aren't as powerful as witches. But the elder fae's can be." I explained.

I turned back to look at the guys and I saw something moving out of the corner of my eye.

I ran to the triplets and stood in front of Grayson as someone came out from between a couple of houses.

CHAPTER 96

I wasn't sure who it was at first, but I was ready for them. Whoever it was.

But as soon as I got a good look, I stood up straight and I lowered my hands.

"Lexie." I yelled.

She stumbled out from between her house and the packhouse but she was bleeding a lot from the face and the stomach.

I ran over to her and I caught her before she fell.

"What the hell happened?" I asked, holding her in my arms.

"You need to go. Get the triplets and get the hell out of here." She said.

"What are you talking about? Who did this?"

"I don't know. They were powerful. They're still here. I hid because I knew that you would be coming back." Lexie said.

"Where is everyone else?" I asked.

"Theo got as many people out as he could. He said that the Alpha would know where." Lexie said. So I looked up at the Alpha and he nodded his head. "It's alright. We're gonna get you some help." I said.

"The Alpha can help me. You and the triplets need to get the hell out, now. You know what to do." She said.

"What are you talking about?" I asked.

"Parallel." She said.

"She's right. You have to go." Grayson said.

He moved around in front of me and he took Lexie out of my arms and he lifted her up in his arms.

"I'll make sure that she's alright. But if they're still here, you four need to leave." Grayson said.

"What the hell are you talking about?" Koda asked, getting frustrated because they couldn't understand what the hell we were talking about.

I looked at the triplets and then I looked back at Grayson.

"Get her out of here now. Her father is a doctor. He will save her." I said. And Grayson nodded his head.

"Be careful boys. Look out for each other. We'll be here when you get back." Grayson said, 3/4 turning around and leaving with Lexie.

"Nova. You are really starting to worry us." Tyler said.

"You should be." I said, looking past them.

They turned around and they saw people emerging from the woods and out from behind buildings and houses where they had been waiting to get us exactly where they wanted us. "Who are they?" Tyler asked.

"Witches." I said.

"Can you fight them?" Dean asked.

"There's too many." I said, looking around.

I stepped towards the triplets and I held on to Tyler and Dean and ordered Koda to grab a hold of my shirt.

They didn't know what the hell was going on, but they didn't argue with me.

I closed my eyes and started concentrating, muttering latin to myself.

Suddenly it felt like we were lifted off the ground but only seconds later we landed on the ground again really hard.

I opened my eyes and we were still in the same town, but all the witches were gone.

"What the fk just happened?" Koda asked.

"We're in the Parallel universe. A different realm. It looks the same as ours, but it's not." I said.

"Holy st. So, dad and the others aren't here?" Tyler asked.

"No. We're on our own." I said, looking around at the once again abandoned town.

Fighter 97

CHAPTER 97

I started walking towards the packhouse and the guys were still trying to wrap their minds around the fact that we were in a different dimension to everyone else. But we didn't have time to mess around. We needed to get the job done and get back home.

"Do you even have a plan here or are we just going to be stuck here?" Tyler asked as they ran to catch up to me.

"I have a plan. But firstly, I need to know where we're headed. And the packhouse has the best library." I said.

So we went inside and Koda showed me to the library where I started going through all the books.

"What are we looking for?" Tyler asked, going to a different bookshelf.

"Anything about Draconite." I said.

"What?" He asked, confused.

"It's an object. It holds a lot of power. But no one knows where it is. It's meant to be hidden in a book somewhere. Since you came to Alaska I've been thinking that the answer to this gemstone is somewhere in these books. It has to be. It's too much of a coincidence." I said.

"Because of the prophecy." Dean said.

"Exactly." I said.

"What prophecy?" Koda asked.

"Don't you listen to anything anyone else talks about? We came to Alaska because a prophecy told us that this is where we were going to find our mate. And we did." Dean explained. "But she knew where we were. That's why she's here." Koda said.

"The prophecy said that you had to come to Alaska to find me. There's something about this place that makes it special. The gemstone has to be here somewhere." I said.

"And what if it's in the other dimension?" Tyler asked.

"It can't be. With the amount of power it possesses, I would have felt it. I would have found it. I couldn't feel it there. But I can feel the power here. It's here somewhere. The whole dimension is practically glowing with power. We just need to pinpoint exactly where it is." I explained.

So we started grabbing books off the shelves and started going through them.

CHAPTER 97

The books that we didn't find any interest in were discarded on the floor and we'd move on to the next one.

I took several books to the table in the middle of the room and started going through them just as Dean sat down next to me.

"What is this gemstone supposed to do?" Dean asked.

"It's powerful. That's why I haven't come after it before. I mean, Ava didn't even know about it. I have been the only one trusted with this secret." I said. "Who told you about it?" He asked.

"Daisy. She's a fae. She had nothing to do with training me. I trust her. She didn't want this war. That's why she told me about this gemstone." I said.

"Alright. If you trust her then so do we." Koda said.

I was getting frustrated with each book that I was throwing on the floor and the guys could tell that I was getting really stressed out and really pissed off.

I needed to hurry up and find out where this gem was. But these books weren't being of any help.

And the guys couldn't do anything to calm me down right now. They knew that so they didn't even try.

"Hey. I think I found something." Dean said, turning the book around to show me. "Dragonspire Citadel." I said, looking at the name of the castle that it was showing the photo "It says that it once was ruled by the King and Queen werewolves. 200 years ago." Dean said. "My ancestors lived here." I said.

"It makes sense that it would be hidden there." Koda said.

"The castle is calling you home." Tyler said.

"I never said that I wanted to be Queen. But I need that gemstone."

"I think if you take the gemstone, you're accepting your role as Queen." Koda said.

I pulled the book in front of me and I read the whole chapter that was on the castle.

It didn't say that the gemstone was there, but that didn't surprise me.

The name of the castle was a dead give away and the fact that it used to be ruled by my family was just another indicator that it was calling to me to take back the throne. 2/4

CHAPTER 97

"You guys don't understand. I won't just be ruling the werewolves. I will be ruling all supernatural beings. That's what this is all about. That's what the supernatural council was about. Wesley wanted to wipe them out so he could be King again. Without them, he could have taken the throne." I explained.

"You need that gemstone. And if you become Queen of the entire Supernatural world. Then we will be right there with you." Koda said.

"You're not going to get scared off by that much power?" I asked.

"Not a chance." Tyler said.

So I nodded my head.

"The castle has a witches' shield over it in our world. It won't have that here. We'll find it easily.

"I said.

"Where is it?" Tyler asked.

"Just on the other side of the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge." I said.

"It won't take long to get there if we shift." Koda said.

So we went upstairs and we grabbed some clothes and shoved them in a bag that Koda was going to carry in his mouth as we ran as wolves.

Once we left the packhouse, we shifted and started running towards the National Refuge Forest.

As soon as we got there, we looked at each other before we started running through that forest.

We were nervous about going through this particular forest because we knew that it was full of the worst animals that Alaska has to offer. And we weren't sure if they were in this dimension or not. But we weren't taking any chances.

We were being hypervigilant.

It took two hours to run through the whole forest, watching out for animals that might attack us, but there weren't any. Which was lucky for us.

And when we made it to the other side, we followed a trail for another hour before the massive castle came into view.

I stopped for a moment to take it in. It looked so beautiful covered in snow with a picturesque lake behind it.

Just as we were about to start running again, I got this weird sense that we weren't alone.

CHAPTER 97

Koda started walking ahead of me when I lunged at him and tackled him out of the way as a stream of fire came heading in his direction.

We both got up and turned to look beside us to see where the fire came from.

And there was a massive dragon standing there, staring at us. And I protectively stood in front of Koda.

Tyler and Dean ran over to us, but I made sure that they were behind me as well.

"What the hell Nova. Get behind us." Tyler ordered.

"Not going to happen. Stay there. If anyone can beat this thing, it's me." I said.

They knew that I was telling the truth, but they were still very uncomfortable with me standing in the way of this dragon where they can't protect me.

But as I lowered down to the ground more, I bared my teeth and started to growl.

The dragon took one step closer to me before he stopped and he sniffed the air.

He then looked back at me and c*d his head to the side. And I slowly started to stand up straight, wondering what the hell this creature was doing. Is it going to attack or not?

Fighter 98

CHAPTER 98

I stood there staring at the dragon as it was doing the same to me. It was acting really strange. It kept sniffing the air before it looked back at me and the guys were getting even more tense behind me.

"What's it doing?" Koda asked.

"I don't know." I said.

"What's it thinking?" Dean asked.

"It's a dragon." I said. Letting him know that I can't hear the thoughts of animals. Especially not mythical ones.

We heard something loud coming towards us which caused us to look up and it was the wings flapping of another dragon.

It landed next to the one that we were already facing and the second one just landed calmly and I had no indication at all that it was going to attack us.

But the guys were edging up closer towards me, coming up the side of me so I wasn't so close to these creatures.

But suddenly the dragon that just landed reached its long leg out and I saw something slide down its leg and land on the ground beside it.

A woman then appeared with really long black hair wearing a blue ankle length dress with a slit right down the middle of the dress to her stomach, where it just covered her breasts and gold plating over her shoulders to attach the cape that hung behind her with that same gold plating around her waist.

She walked around the dragon and stood in front of it and smiled when she saw me standing there.

I don't know why, but I knew that I could trust her. It was a feeling that I got from her.

I shifted back into my human form and I grabbed the bag off of Koda so I could get dressed. The guys all growled and were yelling at me in my head that I was crazy. But I tried to block them out.

"Who are you?" I asked.

"Aurelia. The keeper of dragons." She said.

"What are you doing here?" I asked.

1/4

CHAPTER 98

"Waiting for you. My guard could smell the royal blood when he saw you. He's sorry for attacking you, by the way." She said.

"You can communicate with them?" I asked.

"Yes. And so can you. Once you get the hang of it."

"Why are you here?" I asked.

G

"I've been waiting a very long time for you to come and take back this throne. To put order back to the supernatural world. No one told me that it would be such a long wait, but they did tell me that I would be impressed when I finally met the next heir. They weren't kidding." She smiled.

"My mates want to know what you are? A witch? A fae? I can't tell them because I don't know." I said, looking at her confused.

She smiled at me again and looked back at the dragon.

"Time works differently in this dimension. A lot faster than in yours." She said.

"We've only been in this dimension for a couple of hours." I said.

"Well, it's been a lot longer back in your world." She said.

I looked back at the triplets nervously, not knowing how long they've had to hide out while waiting for us to return.

That scared me a lot.

"You're here for the gemstone." Aurelia said.

"Yeah."

"Well, we better get a move on. It's up at the castle." She said.

"You're just going to hand it over? Just like that?"

"I was told to guard it with the dragons until the next heir showed up. I've had people show up and try to take it. They were all fried by the dragons. No one has ever gotten close. But it's yours. It's your birthright. So, of course I am just going to hand it over." She said.

She started walking towards the castle and I looked back at the triplets.

I began to follow her. I could feel the hesitation from the triplets, but they were quick to follow as well. They weren't going to leave me alone with this woman.

They didn't trust her.

I didn't blame them. They didn't get the feelings that I did. They didn't sense danger like I did. 2/4

CHAPTER 98

And she wasn't dangerous to me. I knew that she wasn't.

It took us another hour to walk to the castle and we had to climb the stairs leading up to it. There were roughly 500 stairs to climb, but at the top were statues of wolves just like at the triplets California packhouse. These wolves were in dark stone, not white, but they were very similar.

And we walked through the massive front doors and I couldn't believe what I was looking at.

The castle was perfectly maintained. There wasn't anything out of place. And it was clean and tidy and massive.

We started walking down the main hallway until we came to another flight of stairs and we had to go to the top floor.

The top floor was five stories above us, so it seemed like a lot more stairs that we had to climb.

We walked down another hallway before Aurelia opened two more large mahogany doors and she took us inside that room.

She took us to the middle of the room and then stepped aside while I looked ahead of me and there was a case at the top of the room with a green gemstone set in a gold chain inside the case.

It was floating in the case with a light green glow around it.

"There it is." Aurelia said.

"I can feel it." I said.

"That's because it's yours. It's finally found its owner. It's been waiting for you just as long as I have."

I slowly walked forward towards the case and when I got right in front of it I took the lid off of the case.

"Nova." Koda said. But I didn't answer him.

I could feel the power of the gemstone. I could feel it calling to me.

It was pulling me towards it.

It belonged to me and I knew that just by looking at it. It was meant to be mine and no one else's.

It's been waiting for me, just like Aurelia said.

I reached out and grabbed a hold of the gemstone.

The chain hung over my hand while I looked at the stone.

But I grabbed the chain and I put it over my head and the gemstone was hanging down around my chest.

I turned around to look at the others and suddenly I felt a sudden torrent of power run through me and a green burst of energy flew out from the gemstone while I was wearing it and it knocked the guys off their feet.

But when they got up and they started growling until they took a look at me.

I could see myself in their minds.

My eyes were glowing green, my hair had turned completely white that was practically the same color as the snow and I looked down at the gem that was still glowing on my chest. "Are you alright?" Tyler asked.

"I'm great. Let's go get your family back." I said.

Fighter 99

CHAPTER 99

We were shown out of the castle and out the front door.

As I stepped outside and I was still standing at the top of the stairs I looked up and there were no longer two dragons flying around like there was earlier.

There were dozens of them flying around, screeching and wailing. Shooting out fire making a ring of fire around the top of the castle.

"That's all for you Nova." Aurelia said.

"They're gorgeous." I said.

"They're your protectors. They will never leave your side."

"I have to go home." I said.

"I know. And so do they." She said.

I looked at her and the triplets, who had shifted back into their human selves and Auralia was making it perfectly clear.

These dragons belonged in our world. At the castle in our world. They are protectors of the Royal family. My protectors since right now I was the only member of the royal family that was left.

We walked down the large flight of stairs and we walked to the clearing that was next to the castle.

Aurelia came down with us but she walked over to me and she held my hands.

"My job here is done. And it's been an honor to serve you."

"Where are you going?" I asked.

"My job is done. It's all up to you now. Good luck. Not that you need it. But, you have made the Moon Goddess extremely proud." She said. She then took a couple steps back away from me.

She stood there smiling at me when suddenly the wind picked up a bit and Aurelia turned into a mist and vanished in front of us.

She was gone.

She didn't teleport. She was just gone. And she wasn't coming back.

CHAPTER 99

"Are you alright?" Koda asked, walking up beside me.

"Yeah. We have to get home. We've been gone for too long." I said.

So I held their hands again, but this time Koda stood behind me and he held me around the waist instead of just holding onto my shirt.

After we felt the jolt of being thrown back into our world, I opened my eyes and saw that we weren't at the castle.

We were back in our town. And it was looking worse than when we left.

Buildings had been burnt down, some houses had been. The packhouse was gone. But the town was still abandoned.

"How long were we gone?" Dean asked, looking around at the damage.

Tyler looked at his watch which had the date and time on it.

It changed as we came back into this world. And he looked back up at us with a worried look on his face.

"We've been gone for two weeks." Tyler said.

"They've done all the damage here that they want. We just need to find the pack." Dean said. "They're hiding in the mountains." I whispered.

"How do you know that? And why are you whispering?"

"I know because I can feel them. And I'm whispering because we're still not alone here." I said.

I turned around and I saw someone walking out of one of the houses that hadn't been torched.

He was a warlock. Very powerful.

I took a step forward and I warned the guys to stay behind me. But it only took seconds for them to shift into their wolves, getting ready for whatever fight was about to happen.

The warlock walked closer to me but stopped suddenly when he saw the green glow on my chest and the look on my face. The determination.

"I see you found it." He said.

"And you're never getting your hands on it." I said.

"Do you really think you have what it takes to rule the supernatural?" He asked.

I took a step closer to him and stared him straight in the eyes.

"We're going to find out, aren't we?" I asked.

QUE +10 Bonu CHAPTER 99

Suddenly he disappeared in a cloud of black smoke, but I turned around to look at the triplets.

They were all looking around, wondering where he was. We couldn't see him. No one could see him.

I ran over and pushed Dean out of the way just as he materialized right where Dean had been standing and I raised my hand to his chest, causing a bright red glow to emanate from inside of him.

He started screaming, but he managed to pull away from me and he fell back grasping his chest.

People started emerging from all over the town and they were all witches. But they were now accompanied by fae's and werewolves.

It was still daylight so the vampires couldn't come out yet.

They surrounded myself and the triplets and I was looking around at all of them, finding out where they were and how many there were.

"We can take the werewolves." Koda said. And I nodded.

"Be careful." I said through our mind link.

"Same to you."

So the triplets split off from me and I saw them targetting the werewolves who looked like they were prepared for this fight. This is what they wanted.

But they underestimated how strong the triplets are. Especially when they're together and they can feed off of each other's energy.

But I didn't trust that. They were seriously outnumbered and I knew that they were going to be in for one hell of a fight and I couldn't guarantee that they were going to survive it. These enemies had been preparing for this for a long time. So I turned to face the triplets and I raised my hands towards them and shot out a green blast of energy which hit all of them. They all cowered for a moment before they stood back up tall and their eyes were glowing green before they attacked the werewolves that were in front of them.

I turned back to the warlock and I heard the whispering from the witches.

"She's wearing the amulet." One said.

"You can run away if you want. But just remember, once I kill this bastard, I am not going to make your life easy at all." I said to her.

So she stood her ground and was prepared to fight instead of having me trying to kill her for

I was fine with that.

The warlock got into position and I stood there watching him. He was muttering a spell to himself. He was preparing himself.

But once he threw an energy ball at me, I stopped it in the air and I turned it to ice and broke it into several jagged pieces and threw them at some of the witches that were watching. It hit them in the heart and they fell to the ground dead. Without me taking my eyes off the warlock the whole time.

"You said that she was untrained." The warlock yelled.

"Oh yeah, about that. I kinda lied about that." Jasper said, stepping forward.

I looked at him and c*d my head as he walked towards me.

"Nice necklace." He smirked at me.

"You set them up." I said.

"The whole thing was a set up. Lexie was never hurt. She just had to get you to the parallel."

He said.

"You bastard." I smirked.

"You needed to find your heritage." He said.

The warlock and witches and fae's started ascending on us, so Jasper stood behind me so we had all of our sides covered.

But when I looked over I could see that even with the extra strength that I gave the triplets, they were having trouble fighting the werewolves.

There were too many of them.

I took a step closer to them, but Jasper stopped me.

My emotions were clouding my powers.

Because right at that moment I heard a loud roar coming from the other side of the packhouse and suddenly Alpha Grayson broke through the forest with his head warrior right next to him and every other warrior that belonged in their pack. "We've got this. You get them." Grayson said to me. So I stepped back to face the warlock. And I smiled as I slowly raised my hands, causing a green glow that started at my hands and

The warlock stopped advancing on me as he knew that this was going to be one fight that he probably wasn't going to win.

I had the draconite on my side, which wasn't good for anyone but me.

But that didn't stop them.

The warlock gave the order and the witches and fae's started throwing whatever powers they had at us. So I grabbed Jasper by the arm and raised a shield over us so we wouldn't be hurt from it.

Their powers weren't getting through and weren't even putting a dint in the shield.

I looked around at all of them and I started laughing before I raised my head up and I whistled really loudly.

It only took seconds before the loud screeching started approaching in the sky. Several dragons appeared above the forest, zoning in on the people that weren't me.

I had to direct them so they wouldn't hurt the triplets or anyone from our pack. But they went straight for the witches and fae's that were gathered around us.

Dragon fire was worse than volcano lava. It was the hottest thing you could ever experience, but we were safe in the shield. And those witches and fae's were killed instantly. I then lowered the shield and Jasper stepped back so he could look up at the dragons that were now landing on top of the buildings that were remaining in town and they let out a loud roar as they perched themselves.

They were ready when I needed them.

But I looked back at the warlock and he was nervously looking around at the dragons. And his werewolves that were now getting destroyed.

"I hate being betrayed Jasper." The warlock said.

"Well, you're not going to live long enough to really hate him for it." I declared.

The warlock started turning around to look at his witches and fae's that were all lying on the ground, nothing but charred bodies in front of him now,

"You were never meant to be in charge." He yelled.

"Says who? My dad? Ava? I know that this war was a distraction to kill me. So I wouldn't take over the throne. But what you obviously don't know is that I am the one that has the supernatural council in cages right now. Wesley tried to take the throne by getting rid of me and then killing them." I said.

"Wesley was in on this from the beginning. He knew that you would go for the throne. He couldn't let that happen."

"You are such a fg it. I didn't even know about the throne until recently. I didn't know that I was royalty. And I definitely didn't know that this necklace was me declaring myself as the ruler of the supernatural. Wesley set you up, and now you're going to die for it. Jasper wasn't the only one that betrayed you. I hope it was worth it." I said.

He then looked behind me so I turned around and I saw Wesley standing next to a building.

He wasn't getting in on the fighting and he looked like he was ready to start running. "Jasper." I said.

"I got him." Jasper said, walking towards Wesley.

But Wesley took off running and Jasper wasn't going to let him get away.

When I turned back the warlock was running at me and he managed to tackle me to the ground and we tumbled across the snow and the dragons started roaring.

But I rolled over onto my back just as he was running at me again and I used my legs to kick him over my head and he landed on his back behind me.

I jumped to my feet and before he had a chance to get up, my claws protruded and I grabbed him by the front of the shirt knowing that my claws had just scratched down his chest as he let out a scream and I threw him against the closest building.

As soon as he hit the building with his back, he looked over at me and I raised both of my hands and shot a red energy blast directly at him. Hitting him in the chest. Burning through the scratches that I just gave him.

He tried to push off from the building but he was having more and more trouble moving as he was getting weaker.

When I knew that he couldn't move anymore, I lowered my hands and I walked over to him.

He could barely look up at me because he was so weak, but with my extended claws, I grabbed him by the neck and lifted him off the ground so I was actually looking up at him.

He had no more fight in him and that was obvious. He wasn't fighting back, he wasn't trying to get free. He could barely hold his head up.

So with one quick movement I snapped his neck and I used both of my hands to rip his head clean off of his body.

His body dropped to the ground and I dropped his head.

I turned around and saw the werewolves were still fighting.

But there were more enemy wolves than there was before.

I walked across the town center until I got to the battle with the werewolves and I told the triplets and the pack to back off.

They did what I said straight away and I was standing in front of the enemy wolves.

They didn't attack me, and they were all looking at the glowing green orb on my chest.

So I punched the ground in front of them and it caused the ground to start shaking before it collapsed under them creating a sinkhole that was covered in fire at the bottom of it.

The yelping and howling from those wolves lasted seconds before they hit the fiery bottom and I looked at the wolves on the other side of the sinkhole.

They all looked at me and then each other nervously.

They then lowered their front legs and bowed their heads to the ground. Surrendering to me. Grayson and his men gathered them up and brought them back around to where I was and the enemy wolves shifted back but my wolves all stayed in their wolf form.

"Please, spare our lives?" One of them asked.

"Why? You tried to kill us." I said.

"They told us that you were going to destroy the world. Kill the humans. We believed it." He said.

"Well, that's your fk up. Isn't it?" I asked.

Jasper then got back with a very badly beaten Wesley and threw him to the ground beside me.

"Nova. You're not going to kill your own father. Are you?" Wesley asked.

"You're not a father. You're just a sperm donor." I said, turning my back to him.

"What are we going to do with them all?" Koda asked.

"Lock them up for now. I'll decide what to do with them later." I said.

So the warriors took them to the dungeons that were under the packhouse.

The house was gone, but the basement and dungeon was still there. 3/4

Which meant, Wesley's mate and the supernatural council were still there as well.

My wolves started shifted back and grabbing clothes to cover up and I turned to look at Lexie.

"I'm sorry. Jasper told me about the parallel and I knew that you needed to go there. So when he asked me to do that, I knew that I had to." Lexie said.

"I thought you were going to die." I said.

"I know. I'm really sorry."

"You'll have plenty of time to make it up to her. I believe she will need a lady in waiting." Koda smirked as he walked up to us. And I looked back at Lexie with a smirk on my face as well. "So, it's true? You are the Queen?" Lexie asked.

"Apparently." I said.

"Well, we've got a lot of planning and decisions to make." Dean said.

"Yeah. Like who's going to come back to the castle with me."

"Well, us three. But we have to ask the rest of the pack members if they are willing to build a community around the castle. Now that it's not so hidden." Koda said. And I nodded my head. "I want to get some other st sorted out first. Before we make those decisions."

"Like what?" Tyler asked.

"There's a lot of people that need to go on trial." I said. And he nodded his head.
