Chapter 1513

Before Kisa could finish her sentence, the creaky wooden door was suddenly pushed open, and Gilbert stood coldly at the entrance.

"If you've got something to say, just say it.No need to stir up trouble here."

His eyes filled with disgust.

Kisa's heart sank.She averted his gaze and said, "I just want you guys to watch out for Sara.She's very likely working with David.She was responsible for the collapse in the basement of the Mullen residence."

Gilbert leaned against the doorway and lit a cigarette.

"She's more honest than you are," he said, his voice tinged with fatigue.

Kisa felt a sudden pang.

"So you don't believe me?" she asked.

Kelvin suddenly let out a cold laugh.
