

Fire 1514

Chapter 1514

"Tomorrow, you take Thomas and get out of here."

Gilbert's eyes were especially cold, sending a shiver down Kisa's spine. She clenched her hands tightly and spoke in a low voice, "She spilled the soup on purpose and poured it onto her own hand."

He closed his eyes slightly, his face filled with endless impatience and disappointment.

He restrained his temper and growled, "Can you stop with the excuses already? Bringing you two back was a colossal mistake. Tomorrow, I want you both out of here and gone for good!"

The man seemed to have returned to his initial callousness.

'It was I who had wrongly accused him, hated him. And it was because of me that he ended up in this mess. How could he not despise me?' she thought in her mind. Gilbert did not seem to want to look at her. He turned to Sara and said, "I'll take care of the rest. You go have Kelvin look at your hand."

Then he turned and went to cook.

a smug smile before wiping her shoulder and walking cooking in front of the meal was ready, he did not even call her to

it was Sara who pretended to be kind and came over shake her off, but thinking that Sara was good at acting, she suppressed her disgust out tomorrow, okay? She barely escaped from David's clutches, and if she ends up that was both soft and kind, tears welling up in her

been torturing me in

Kisa laughed inwardly.

plead for me, but in reality, she's just trying to make herself

Kelvin chuckled

by David? She did like me, we have been friends for years. We shouldn't be so suspicious of each other. I believe she won't harm us. The argument in silent the whole time, but she was inwardly