

Fire 1526

Chapter 1526

Carolyn locked eyes with David, a sinister grin spreading across her face.

"If you don't believe me, let's go ask her together, shall we?"

With that, she flicked her lighter, igniting the explosives strapped to her chest.

Christopher followed suit.

Kisa's face went ghost-white, and she instinctively grabbed Madalyn, trying to escape the building.

But Madalyn was paralyzed with fear, unable to move. She screamed at Kisa through tears, "Run, just save yourself!"

BOOM! The detonations roared, sending a massive shockwave rippling through the air.

In the midst of the chaos, Kisa felt someone shield her and Madalyn from the blast.

Waves of pain and disorientation washed over them as the unknown protector held them close.

As Kisa drifted into unconsciousness, she caught a fleeting glimpse of their savior—it was David.

The earth-shaking explosions haunted Kisa's dreams, a constant reminder of the terror they'd just experienced.

anguished call for Madalyn laced

'Madalyn...What happened to her?'

jolted awake, wincing as pain shot through her

found

am I?'

and a fresh flower

she saw a courtyard, the stark

am I? What happened to Gilbert, Madalyn, and David?' As if in answer to her thoughts, the door young girl entered, carrying

Kisa's brow furrowed.

"Jolina?"

Jolina's face brightened.

you're awake!"

How did I end up with Jolina?' Jolina

up, and I'll bring you some chicken noodle dashed out of the

the chickens in the courtyard and the distant fields

the countryside? Jolina's hometown?' Jolina reappeared with a steaming bowl of chicken noodle eat something. You just woke filled

did I get here?